Neil Warner and Rose Wood, two popular stars, supported by Darrell Vinton and a strong company, will be the great attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, this week. The performances are for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen. The scenes of the Fall of the Bastile are the Storming of the Bastile, the quarrel scene, the duel, the "Marseillaise" by the people of Paris and the execution by guillotine; in some of which the stage will be massed with the wild Revolutionists.

See cast in announce programme.

The San Francisco Legions will escort the delegation of Oakland from the ferry to the Opera House to-night.

FIGARO furnishes the programme for the Grand.

The Corsican Brothers will be the bill for Saturday and Sunday nights. A special feature of the performance will be the permission given by the management to participate in the grand masquerade scene, lasting from 30 to [illegible] minutes, for which there are already many applicants.

Mr Warner will [illegible] at the Grand later in the season in the character part of Sir Giles Overreach, in which character he has no equal on the stage.

Orpheum Opera House.

voice and is so vivacious and pleasing in manner as to suggest a comparison with Aimee in both the Call and Chronicle. She will become a great favorite, if not a Mascot. Senors Rodrigues, Labrada, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio. Those who have appeared have impressed their audience very favorably.

A change of opera most every night. Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week's attraction for Mr. Thornton's third week will be the sensational drama, Tried for Treason.

Mr. Thornton is doing better work, and he is ably supported by the competent stock company that is Morosco's good fortune to have at his popular house.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company is the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; Jas. T. Kelly, the comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Laura Ashby, equilibristic wonder; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Miss Kitty O'Neill, the Stanley Sisters and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

That well constructed play of standard worth, The Ticket-of-Leave Man, will be this week's bill at the People's. The management have taken every pains to stage the piece in such a manner that it will compare favorably with its production in other theatres.

Business pans out well at the People's.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

This week the new people are the Miranda Sisters, George R. Brooke, comedian, and Miss Della Turner, vocalists. Ned Barry's new spectacular naval first part, introducing the full company in full naval uniform, on board the good ship Nancy Lee, will commence the performance.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino gives a new act, Watkins' Party. Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Fletcher & Essner's Wonderland.

The Wonderland has changed hands. Messrs Fletcher & Essner have purchased this museum and theatre combined, where performances are given every afternoon at two and evening at eight o'clock.

This week is the first of Robinson & Cole's Great International Circus of 50 performers; a 42-foot ring on the stage, in which six lady aerial artistes, ten double somersault throwers, ten high vaulters and four funny clowns present their various specialties.

WHEN WOMEN VOTE.

Won't it be funny when women vote,
If they act as silly as the men:
The barrels of flour they'll have to "tote,"
The wheelbarrows they'll trundle then,
Will she pay her bills like a little man,
Or hedge with a pretty pinkshued note:
Will it be a game of catch as-catch can
When women vote:

Won't it be funny to have it said
Of some political sweet girl-bride,
"She's actually gone and shaved her head,
Made a bet on the losing side."
Will they bet their boots and their chewing gum,
And the pretty bonnets on which they dote:
Will we think the millennium has come
When women vote?

"So Jenkins has gone to the bad, eh? Well, well, he used to be a clever fellow. What did you say he was doing?" "He's paragrapher on a Buffalo newspaper.

Minister — "I'm going up to Chicago today, Deacon Jones. I had a call last night) and — Deacon Jones (absent-mindedly —"What did you hold?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Porcine, "I'm mighty afraid of ghosts, but then I keep them away from me by wearing an emelet around my neck.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are nine lady vocalists this week.

Farini's Grand Australian Circus united with the World's Circus opens for a short season at Central Park, Market and Eighth streets, on Feb. 21st. Popular prices will rule. Announcement in FIGARO in due time.

The musical sketch artists, Martin & Lonsdale, do a remarkably strong act. Both have more than usually good voices, which harmonize finely in their duets, and the lady dresses with elegance and taste. They are a strong card in any house.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good.

Mr., Farmer (reading catalogue) — Two legs, after Landseer. Farmer—But where is Landseer? I don't see him. Mrs. Farmer—Why, surely you don't suppose he would stay there with those two ferocious-looking brutes after him. I know I shouldn't if I were in his place.

Tourist (to stage driver in the Yellowstone region) — Are there any wonderful curiosities to be seen in this region, driver? Stage driver—Wonderful curiosities! Well I should say there were! Why, you drop a rock down that gorge, come back in three days and you can hear the echo.

Oculist—When did your eyes first become inflamed? Patient — Yesterday I went up to a lady to speak to her and the peak of her bonnet — Oculist — I see. We have many such cases. Use this lotion and be careful while the present fashion lasts to do your talking to ladies by telephone.

Miss Westend — Here are cards for my cousin's wedding reception; but as it is in Chicago, of course I can't go. In sending my card should I write "Congratulations" or anything? Chicago Aunt — Certainly, my dear; write on it, "Many happy returns."

A health writer says "the washtub an excellent gymnasium." But will our young ladies take kindly to it? As Mr. Pawn says in Shakespeare's works: "Ay, there's the rub. And it is the "rub" that makes a washtub unpopular as a gymnasium.

Mr. Pickleby — Do you know, Miss Dewitt, you looked charming at the ball the other night. Miss Dewitt — No, no; I don't believe it. Mr. Pickleby — Oh, but you did. Actually, I didn't recognize you at first.

Jack—Well, Clara made her debut at the reception as Cleopatra last night. Jack's Sister — Did she come out with honor? Jack, doubtfully—No-o, she didn't come out with much on her.

"Hello, Jones, where are you going?" "Getting ready to develop my gold mine." "What machinery do you use?" "None. I'll take my wife along. She is the best person to find bidden pockets I know of."

"Ah, you are out with Miss Bromley?" Oh, no. She made me a present last night. I asked her for her hand, and she gave me the best thing that." "Take mine."

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

John J. Ruddy is welcome to town. He heralds the coming, as advance representative, of Chas. H. Hoyt's amusing comedy, "A Hole in the Ground," that will be the drawing attraction at the New Bush next week. See cast in extra programme advertised elsewhere in FIGARO. It is very Hoyty in arrangement.

Miss Alice Vincent, of the Carleton Opera Company, while out with a party on horseback at Pasadena, on the 10th inst., was thrown from her horse and broke her left arm. The accident was caused by her horse becoming frightened by a bicycler.

The comicalities of Radcliffe, the grotesque dancing of Starr and the Cameronmen-like march of the pretty girls on the trail are three of the laughable features in Robinson Crusoe.

The Crystal Slipper has been a great go in Chicago. Its return engagement was as good as its first one.

Some legislaturer with weak legs and niggardly purse has introduced a bill in "his body" at Albany to make the New York managers provide a seat for every ticket purchaser, under a penalty of $100 for first offense and a revocation of their license for the second. If he would include in it the compulsary providing on the part of the managers of cigars, drinks and lunches as well, the bill might have a chance of passing.

Emma Nevada is shortly to dedicate the new Teatro Nevada, which has been named in her honor at Rio Janeiro.

Proctor's new Twenty-third Street Theatre New York, will be dedicated on the 11th with Neil Burgess' Company in A Country Fair.

A new variety theatre called the Phœnix Park has been opened at One Hundred and Forty-eighth street, near Third avenue, New York.

William Aymar, a noted bareback rider of Gardner's Circus, died lately at Jamaica, West Indies, of intermittent fever. He was the son of Walter Aymar, of the Aymar training school at Fordham.

The electric chair for the execution of criminals has been lugged into a new sensational play. The chair of death, the mask and the battery are all introduced in the scene, and at the critical moment when the fatal button is about to be touched by the Sheriff the "supers" shout, "Saved! Saved!" as a District Telegraph boy rushes on waving a pardon from the Governor. Thrilling tableau—curtain.

Charlie Cook goes ahead of Modjeska. He has started out already.

The Legions of Select Knights of A. O. U. W. of San Francisco, who have the benefit entertainments at the Grand Opera House this week, met the Grand Legion Officers and Select Knights of Oakland at the Oakland ferry and escort them in parade to the Opera House last night.

Suppose that Radcliffe should swallow that cigar some night.

Mme. Modjeska will not play the Northern circuit, at least on the dates contemplated.

Ben and Idalene Cotten play Sacramento this week and put in a week at the Bijou on the 25th.

The Press Club will have an overflowing house at their benefit at the Baldwin on the afternoon of the 14th. Their valentine is assured.

The twenty-first anniversary of the organization of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks will be held at the Baldwin Theatre Sunday night, Feb. 17, and the Elks will celebrate their arriving at age in great style. Manager Al Hayman has kindly donated the use of the theatre for that night without charge. Once or twice a year the Elks give a ladies' social and always invite a lady to act for the night as president. Mme. Modjeska has been invited to act as president on this occasion, and has accepted the invitation to preside. As Robert M. Eberle is chairman of the entertainment committee, the invited guests are assured that the recitations and musical selections will be of the first order. The lower part of the house will be reserved for ladies and their escorts. The tickets are complimentary, and can only be obtained from members of the organization. The programme will be a souvenir for the ladies attending.

In the "Fall of the Bastile," this week at the Grand, 200 people will be massed on the stage in the scene of the storming of the Bastile, and in the grand old song, the "Marseillaise," all the voices will be heard.

The first annual entertainment of the Press Club of San Francisco will be given at the Baldwin Theatre Thursday afternoon, Feb. 14th. An olio performance will be given in which the leading members of the dramatic profession will participate. Manager Al Hayman has offered the Baldwin Theatre for the occasion, and the managers of the Alcazar, Bush and Orpheum Theatres and the Tivoli Opera House have promised to lend their aid. In addition to the talent from the various theatres, a large number of well [illegible] artists have volunteered

EVENING EDITION

TUESDAY.....FEBRUARY 12, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

This is the last week of Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company, and the famous burlesque of Robinson Crusoe will be the bright attraction for the week. Farnie's work stands at the head of this line of business, and the second act of his burlesque has as funny lines and comical grotesque situations in it as any on the stage. The Indian march, the trial by jury and the entire action on the island have the elements of fun in them. Lydia Thompson, of course, is the dashing Crusoe, and the cast, as will be seen by referring to it, calls for the full number of her company.

The piece went a little stiff the first night, but will go smooth enough after to-day's rehearsal.

As the Chronicle says: "The company have grown in favor and the audiences have been made up of the best of our theatre-goers, a compliment not often paid to burlesque performances."

The company is talented. The ladies act with charming grace and spirit and the comedians distinguish themselves in the fun-making and burlesquing lines.

On Friday evening a souvenir benefit will be tendered to Miss Thompson, upon which occasion every lady attending will be presented with a beautiful cabinet portrait of Miss Thompson.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it, and we are pleased to note the full and fashionable audiences that grace his handsome theatre.

—o—

"A Hole in the Ground," by one of the best of that Dickens of farcical comedy writers, Chas. H. Hoyt, will be next week's bill at this theatre. It comes to us with all the popular impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska appears in her great character of Rosalind in "As You Like It" for her farewell week, with the exception of Friday night, when Mary Stuart will be reproduced for that night only.

Mme. Modjeska is a charming Rosalind, the best on the stage to-day. Mr. Vanderfelt is an exceptionally good Orlando, and it is the best bit of acting he has given us. The Jacques of E. J. Henley is excellent. Mr. Osbourne has made a careful study of Touchstone, and skillfully avoids making him clownish.

The ladies of the cast are very acceptable, and the representation is a very enjoyable one.

On Thursday afternoon, St. Valentine's Day, the testimonial performance tendered to the Press Club, by the united talent of our theatres, comes off at this theatre. The bill is one of the best ever presented here, and includes operatic, dramatic and specialty numbers.

See programme elsewhere in FIGARO for details.

The Elks' invitation ladies' night, Mme. Modjeska presiding, on Sunday night.

J. K. Emmett, in "Fritz," next week.

Alcazar Theatre.

Joe. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, supported by the Alcazar company.

Mr. Grismer's Snorkey, a new departure for him, and Miss Phoebe Davies' Peachblossom, also a new departure, are well played, and with the Laura Courtland of Miss Brandon and Mr. Branscombe as Ray Trafford called for merited acknowledgement from the audience.

Under the Gaslight for this week only.

Monday evening Mr. Eddie Kilday takes a benefit, when The Banker's Daughter will be given. A full house is in order for that occasion.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, two popular stars, supported by Darrell Vinton and a strong company, are the combined attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, this week. The performances are for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch ing of the Bastile, the quarrel scene, the duel, the "Marseillaise" by the people of Paris and the execution by guillotine; in some of which the stage is massed with the wild Revolutionists.

Mr. Warner's impersonation of Robert Landry is strong and effective, and Miss Rose Wood gives rare mental power and womanly grace to the heroine, Catharine Duval. Darrell Vinton does his usually good acting as Abbe Latour, Miss May Nannary makes many a strong point in Coriscette, one of the people, and the support is evenly good.

The stirring scenes of the French Revolution are well staged. The great Bastile towers above you in one, with the maddened populace around it. The awful guillotine is presented in working order on the stage, and realism, in acting and scenes, is the feature of the Fall of the Bastile at the Grand.

The San Francisco Legions escorted the delegation of Oakland from the ferry to the Opera House last night, and plumed knights made a handsome show in the auditorium.

FIGARO furnishes the programme for the Grand.

The Corsican Brothers will be the bill for Saturday and Sunday nights. A special feature of the performance will be the permission given by the management to participate in the grand masquerade scene, lasting from 30 to 45 minutes, for which there are already many applicants.

Mr. Warner will continue at the Grand later in the season in his great part of Sir Giles Overreach, in which character he has no equal on the stage.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany made a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She will become a great favorite, if not a Mascot. Senorita Goyzueta, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senors Rodrigues, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio. Those who have appeared have impressed their audience very favorably.

A change of opera most every night. Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction for Mr. Thornton's third week will be the sensational drama, Tried for Treason.

Mr. Thornton is doing better work, and he is ably supported by the competent stock company that is Morosco's good fortune to have at his popular house. He plays the dual role of the play very spiritedly.

Vienna Garden Theatr —Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company is the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; Jas. T. Kelly, the comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Laura Ashby, equilibristic wonder; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Miss Kitty O'Neill, the Stanley Sisters and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

That well constructed play of standard worth, The Ticket-of-Leave Man, will be this week's bill at the People's. The management have taken every pains to stage the piece in such a manner that it will compare favorably with its production in other theatres.

Business pans out well at the People's.

Frank Huffman holds the managerial reins.

Miss Laura Hulick has captivated the audiences at the People's Theatre this week. She is the best lady dancer on the vaudeville stage to-day, young, pretty, graceful and modest. Her wardrobe is the best that has been seen on the stage for some time. Miss Hulick is very versatile. In addition to her dancing she is an expert on the banjo.

Farini's Grand Australian Circus united with the World's Circus opens for a short season at Central Park, Market and Eighth streets, on Feb. 21st. Popular prices will rule. Announcement in FIGARO in due time.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good.

Jim Saywell is one of the reddest-headed traveling men on the road. He was sitting at his desk in the store the other day, when another traveling man came over from across the street. "Do you know," said the visitor, "that you remind me very much of Clay?" "Indeed," said Jim, in a tone that showed a great deal of quiet satisfaction, "do you mean Henry Clay?" "Oh, no! I mean that common red clay they make bricks of."

"Do you play cards?" asked a polite stranger of a traveling man in a Pullman car. "No, sir." "Indeed. I must be mistaken, then. I thought I heard you talking in the hotel about a little game of euchre you had with a friend." "Very likely. But I always forget how to play cards as soon as I get aboard a railway train."

Amelia—Swear not by the moon, the inconstant moon. Augustus—Then, what shall I swear by? "Swear by that which you hold invaluable; something which is dearer to you than all things else; something that you cannot live without." Then, Amelia, I love you! I swear it by my salary."

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Mr. Madaigan, advance representative of J. K. Emmett, who opens at the Baldwin next week, is in town sending out his paper.

Maurice Hageman contributes a very readable article on Japanese theatres in the Sunday Chronicle of Feb. 10th.

The Alcazar Dramatic Club will produce the military drama, "Enlisted for War; or, The Home Guard," at Saratoga Hall on March 5th, under the management of Mr. Thos. J. Crowley. Dancing will follow after the performance.

Will P. Adams, treasurer of the Alcazar, has resigned, and Sol Bloom, formerly assistant treasurer, has been appointed to the position.

An expert accountant estimates that over $50,000,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry have been stolen from would-be star actresses in the past twenty years. When one contemplates the losses that these struggling artists have sustained in the pursuit of their professional duties it becomes heart-rending.

Chas. W. Barry, an old time New York actor, a leading man at the Bowery in the long ago and author of "Escaped from Sing-Sing," died of paralysis, Jan. 28 h. on the Grand Opera House stage, Columbus, Ohio, aged 60. He leaves a widow and child. Mr. Barry played a star engagement at the Adelphi in this city when Ned Buckley had it.

Eben Plympton will shortly begin a stellar tour in "Belphegor." So the papers say. But we think the Plimpton would show to better advantage in "Bullfrog." He is a good croaker and an immense sweller.

John J. Ruddy is welcome to town. He heralds the coming, as advance representative, of Chas. H. Hoyt's amusing comedy, "A Hole in the Ground," that will be the drawing attraction at the New Bush next week. See cast in extra programme advertised elsewhere in FIGARO. It is very Hoyty in arrangement.

The comicalities of Radcliffe, the grotesque dancing of Starr and the Cakewalk-like march of the pretty girls on the trail are three of the laughable features in Robinson Crusoe.

The Crystal Slipper has been a great go in Chicago. Its return engagement was as good as its first one.

The first annual entertainment of the Press Club of San Francisco will be given at the Baldwin Theatre Thursday afternoon, Feb. 14th. An olio performance will be given, in which the leading members of the dramatic profession will participate. Manager Al Hayman has offered the Baldwin Theatre for the occasion, and the managers of the Alcazar, Bush and Orpheum Theatres and the Tivoli Opera House have promised to lend their aid. In addition to the talent from the various theatres, a large number of well known and clever artists have volunteered their services. Mr. Robert M. Eberle will act as stage manager. The box office now open for sale of seats at Baldwin Theatre.

Some legislaturer with weak legs and niggardly purse has introduced a bill in "his body" at Albany to make the New York managers provide a seat for every ticket purchaser, under a penalty of $100 for first offense and a revocation of their license for the second. If he would include in it the compulsary providing on the part of the managers of cigars, drinks and lunches as well, the bill might have a chance of passing.

Charlie Cook goes ahead of Modjeska. He has started out already.

The Legions of Select Knights of A. O. U. W. of San Francisco, who have the benefit entertainments at the Grand Opera House this week, met the Grand Legion Officers and Select Knights of Oakland at the Oakland ferry and escort them in parade to the Opera House last night.

Suppose that Radcliffe should swallow that cigar some night.

Mme. Modjeska will not play the Northern circuit, at least on the dates contemplated.

Ben and Idalene Cotton play Sacramento this week and put in a week at the Bijou on the 25th.

Albert Hosmer opens at the People's Theatre Feb. 18th in the sensational drama of A Life for a Lash.

The twenty-first anniversary of the organization of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks will be held at the Baldwin Theatre Sunday night, Feb 17, and the Elks will celebrate their arriving at age in great style. Manager Al Hayman has kindly donated the use of the theatre for that night without charge. Once or twice a year the Elks give a ladies' social and always invite a lady to act for the night as president. Mme. Modjeska has been invited to act as president on this occasion, and has accepted the invitation to preside. As Robert M. Eberle is chairman of the entertainment committee, the invited guests are assured that the recitations and musical selections will be of the first order. The lower part of the house will be reserved for ladies and their escorts. The tickets are complimentary, and can only be obtained from members of the organization. The programme will be a souvenir for the ladies attending.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are nine lady vocalists this week.

Miss Jennie Melvo, danseuse; Zola Vera vocaliste, and Annie Lennetta, ærialist, are the new people this week.

Jennie Melvo, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Bob McDonald Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny act, The Three Plumbers, and the amusing Spanish Can Can are original and very clever. Dunham, Berkeley and McDonald are having everything their own way this week.

EVENING EDITION

WEDNESDAY ..... FEBRUARY 13, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

This is the last week of Lydia Thompson and her Burlesque Company. Robinson Crusoe will be given for the last time to-night.

Owing to the general demand, the bright and popular burlesque of Penelope will be revived for Miss Thompson's last nights to-morrow evening, and will keep the stage the rest of the week.

This is the classical story of the love of Icarius' fair daughter for the disguised Ulysses and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso, right wittily, musically and most pleasingly told. The costumes and appointments of Penelope are rich and elegant. The Amazon March in the last act is the handsomest dressed one ever seen here, and star and company appear at their best in its lines.

All the papers commend the performance of this burlesque. The Chronicle, in speaking of its last week, says: "The company have grown in favor and the audiences have been made up of the best of our theatre-goers, a compliment not often paid to burlesque performances."

On Friday evening a souvenir benefit will be tendered to Miss Thompson, upon which occasion every lady attending will be presented with a beautiful cabinet portrait of Miss Thompson.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it, and we are pleased to note the full and fashionable audiences that grace his handsome theatre.

—o—

"A Hole in the Ground," by one of the best of that Dickens of farcical comedy writers, Chas. H. Hoyt, will be next week's bill at this theatre. It comes to us with all the popular impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska appears in her great character of Rosalind in "As You Like It" for her farewell week, with the exception of Friday night, when Mary Stuart will be reproduced for that night only.

Mme. Modjeska is a charming Rosalind, the best on the stage to-day. Mr. Vanderfelt is an exceptionally good Orlando, and it is the best bit of acting he has given us. The Jacques of E. J. Henley is excellent. Mr. Osbourne has made a careful study of Touchstone, and skillfully avoids making him clownish.

The ladies of the cast are very acceptable, and the representation is a very enjoyable one.

On Thursday afternoon, St. Valentine's Day, the testimonial performance tendered to the Press Club, by the united talent of our theatres, comes off at this theatre. The bill is one of the best ever presented here, and includes operatic, dramatic and specialty numbers.

The Elks' invitation ladies' night, Mme. Modjeska presiding, on Sunday night.

J. K. Emmett, in "Fritz," next week.

Alcazar Theatre

Joe. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, supported by the Alcazar company.

Mr. Grismer's Snorkey, a new departure for him, and Miss Phoebe Davies' Peachblossom, also a new departure, are well played, and with the Laura Courtland of Miss Brandon and Mr. Branscombe as Ray Trafford called for merited acknowledgement from the audience.

Under the Gaslight for this week only.

Monday evening Mr Eddie Kilday takes a benefit, when The Banker's Daughter will be given. A full house is in order for that occasion.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, two popular stars, supported by Darrell Vinton and a strong company, are the combined attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, this week. The performances are for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, [illegible] of United Workmen. The scenes the "Marseillaise" by the people of Paris and the execution by guillotine; in some of which the stage is massed with the wild Revolutionists.

Mr. Warner's impersonation of Robert Landry is strong and effective, and Miss Rose Wood gives rare mental power and womanly grace to the heroine, Catharine Duval. Darrell Vinton does his usually good acting as Abbe Latour, Miss May Nannary makes many a strong point in Cerisette, one of the people, and the support is evenly good.

The stirring scenes of the French Revolution are well staged. The great Bastile towers above you in one, with the maddened populace around it. The awful guillotine is presented in working order on the stage, and realism, in acting and scenes, is the feature of the Fall of the Bastile at the Grand.

The San Francisco Legions escorted the delegation of Oakland from the ferry to the Opera House Monday night, and plumed knights made a handsome show in the auditorium.

The Corsican Brothers will be the bill for Saturday and Sunday nights. A special feature of the performance will be the permission given by the management to participate in the grand masquerade scene, lasting from 30 to 45 minutes, for which there are already many applicants.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany made a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She will become a great favorite, if not a Mascot. Senorita Goyzueta, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senora Rodriguez, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio. Those who have appeared have impressed their audience very favorably.

A change of opera most every night. Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week's attraction for Mr. Thornton's third week will be the sensational drama, Tried for Treason.

Mr. Thornton is doing better work, and he is ably supported by the competent stock company that is Morosco's good fortune to have at his popular house.

Mr. Thornton plays the dual role of Lester Franklin and Sergeant Copeland very acceptably. Mr. Brophy as Marville and Elleford as Ryan do full justice to the parts. The Margaret of Miss Tittel is played with force and feeling, and the Indian maiden of Helen Harlow is a pretty picture.

A Double Life, a startling drama, for next week, the last of Mr. Thornton's engagement.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company is the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; Jas. T. Kelly, the comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Laura Ashby, equilibristic wonder; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Miss Kitty O'Neill, the Stanley Sisters and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

That well constructed play of standard worth, The Ticket-of-Leave Man, will be this week's bill at the People's. The management have taken every pains to stage the piece in such a manner that it will compare favorably with its production in other theatres.

Business is improving at this little theatre, as it should, for a good performance of The Ticket-of-Leave Man is given, with every attention to detail.

EVENING EDITION

THURSDAY.....FEBRUARY 14, 1889

FULL PROGRAMMES of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco can be found in FIGARO—the only paper that has them.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The Press Club benefit at the Baldwin this afternoon was a success. The theatre was crowded.

Mrs. Lottie Chappelle, professionally known as Lottie Beaumont, has filed papers for divorce from Chas. Chappelle, charging him with infidelity, desertion and failure to provide.

Camilla Urso and her company of artists, who open at the Grand Opera House very shortly, are having finely executed lithographs made by H. R. Crocker & Co., and we shall see them in all the prominent show windows in a few days.

Marquise, a comedy in three acts by M. Victorien Sardou, was produced at the Vaudeville Theatre, Paris, Feb. 13th, and was not a success. The first act recalls some of Sardou's best work, the second act is dreary and tedious and the third act is almost vulgar. The play was very coldly received by a very brilliant audience, including many of the notables of Paris.

Mr. Madaigan, advance representative of J. K. Emmett, who opens at the Baldwin next week, is in town sending out his paper.

Will P. Adams, treasurer of the Alcazar, has resigned, and Sol Bloom, formerly assistant treasurer, has been appointed to the position.

An expert accountant estimates that over $50,000,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry have been stolen from would-be star actresses in the past twenty years. When one contemplates the losses that these struggling artists have sustained in the pursuit of their professional duties it becomes heart-rending.

Chas. W. Barry, an old time New York actor, a leading man at the Bowery in the long ago and author of "Escaped from Sing-Sing," died of paralysis, Jan. 28th, on the Grand Opera House stage, Columbus, Ohio, aged 60. He leaves a widow and child. Mr. Barry played a star engagement at the Adelphi in this city when Ned Buckley had it.

Eben Plympton will shortly begin a stellar tour in "Belphegor." So the papers say. But we think the Pimpton would show to better advantage in "Bullfroger." He is a good croaker and an immense sweller.

John J. Ruddy is welcome to town. He heralds the coming, as advance representative, of Chas. H. Hoyt's amusing comedy, "A Hole in the Ground," that will be the drawing attraction at the New Bush next week. See cast in extra programme advertised elsewhere in FIGARO. It is very Hoyty in arrangement.

"Natural Gas," which has recently caught the town and set everybody talking, is dramatically one of the most remarkable pieces that ever was written. It would be a colossal inaccuracy to call it a play, but Mr. John Russell has managed to make it one of the hits of the season, nevertheless.

Next season the woods will be full of so-called society actresses. The latest names announced are Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., Emma Means of Cincinnati, and a Miss Moynahan from Ottawa, Canada. Can't Louise Aldrich protect the stage and the public against these young and ambitious persons?

Next season Radcliffe should swallow that star some night.

Ben A[illegible]d Idalene Cotten play Sacramento th[illegible]'s week and put in a week at the Bush the 25th.

Albert Hosmer opens at the People's Theatre Feb. 18th in the sensational drama of A Life for a Lash.

The twenty-[illegible] anniversary of the organization of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks will be held at the Baldwin Theatre Sunday night, Feb. 17, and the Elks will celebrate their arriving at age in great style. Manager Al Hayman has kindly donated the use of the theatre for that night without charge. Once or twice a year the Elks give a ladies' social and always invite a lady to act for the night as president. Mme. Modjeska has been invited to act as president on this occasion, and has accepted the invitation to preside. As Robert M. Eberle is chairman of the entertainment committee, the invited guests are assured that the recitations and musical selections will be of the first order. The lower part of the [illegible] reserved for ladies and their

A PRICELESS RELIC.

On the night of May 21st last, the most brilliant audience ever seen in this country assembled in the Metropolitan Opera House to do honor to Lester Wallack. The foremost people of the land, the leading spirits in art, literature, society and finance struggled for a place and for a chance to join in the general homage of the occasion.

In this week's issue of Truth I present my readers with the most interesting and valuable remembrance of that historic event. There was, fortunately, one man present who had the foresight to appreciate the fact that probably Mr. Lester Wallack would not appear in public again, and that certainly such an assemblage of brilliant theatrical lights would never—at least in his lifetime—be grouped together under one roof.

That man was Harry Edwards, scholar and actor. How wisely he judged, subsequent events have proved.

Armed with a large sheet of parchment, pen in hand, and a bottle of ink hung by a cord round his neck, Mr. Edwards waited for Mr. Wallack, and as he stepped from the stage with the deafening plaudits of the immense audience ringing in his ears, he obtained his trembling signature, following this inscription:

A REMEMBRANCE
WALLACK TESTIMONIAL,
METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE,
MAY 21, 1888

Then the many other great stars who were present crowded round, anxious to complete the record of the most memorable night even in their own distinguished and eventful careers. Edwin Booth, Lawrence Barrett, Jos. Jefferson, Helen Modjeska, Rose Coghlan, A. M. Palmer, Selina Dolaro, John Gilbert, W. J. Florence, Katherine Rogers, Rosina Voker, Frank Mayo, Jos. Wheelock and others signed their names to the document.

And it is an exact reproduction of this priceless and interesting "remembrance" that I present with this issue of Truth.

It is interesting, for it marks an event that must of a necessity remain forever interwoven with the stage history of this country.

It is priceless, for the grave makes its duplication impossible. The original document is practically the property of the Players' Club, and it will soon be handed to them and received with much ceremony and gratitude.

Harry Edwards is indeed a fit person to conceive and carry out the idea of this scroll of remembrance. It must always be a source of pride to him, that to his forethought is due this record of professional friendship and admiration for a departed brother in art.—[New York Truth.

The accompanying fac simile of the autographs is upon a separate page of the paper, so that it can be readily removed for framing, and it must prove an invaluable addition to the treasures of every artist.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Miss Laura Mulick has captivated the audiences at the People's Theatre this week. She is the best lady dancer on the vaudeville stage to-day, young, pretty, graceful and modest. Her wardrobe is the best that has been seen on the stage for some time. Miss Mulick is very versatile. In addition to her dancing she is an expert on the banjo.

Cort's Standard, Seattle, Feb. 11th: Ashley & Hess, Leoni & Nelson, S. G. Beasley, Florence Wood, McKee & Franks, Miller Bros., Derville Family, Ward & Lee, Carroll & Nealey, Bessie Bell, Lizzie Latour, Lillie Murphy and Ida Howell.

The Spanish dance, La Jota Aragonesa, as danced by Patricio Gutierrez and Senorita Lopez, of the Spanish Opera Co., is a model of graceful gyrations, an undulating Andulusian poem.

The managers at the Comique see no reason why they should make many changes in their programme so long as last week's has proved so good.

Death of Colonel Goshen.

Colonel Goshen died in New Jersey Feb. 12th. He stood seven feet, two inches, in his stockings, measured two feet, six inches, across the shoulders, twenty-eight inches through the chest, and weighed 630 pounds. He was formerly in the employ of Barnum's Circus. He could shoulder a live cow with ease, and many of his feats of strength were marvelous. He played an engagement with Gen. Tom Thumb and his troupe at the Bush Street Theatre, in 1877, in Jack the Giant-Killer. During his illness he had four men to attend him and it took their combined strength to move him about in bed with a block and tackle. The Colonel was about 70 and was born

Miss Jennie Melvo, danseuse; Zola Vera vocalliste, and Annie Lennetta, serialist, are the new people this week.

EVENING EDITION

THURSDAY.....FEBRUARY 14, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Owing to the general demand, the bright and popular burlesque of Penelope has been revived for Miss Thompson's last nights, and will keep the stage the rest of the week.

This is the classical story of the love of Icarius' fair daughter for the disguised Ulysses, and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso, right wittily, musically and most pleasingly told. The costumes and appointments of Penelope are rich and elegant. The Amazon March in the last act is the handsomest dressed one ever seen here, and star and company appear at their best in its lines.

All the papers commend the performance of this burlesque. The Chronicle, in speaking of its last week, says: "The company have grown in favor and the audiences have been made up of the best of our theatre-goers, a compliment not often paid to burlesque performances."

On Friday evening a souvenir benefit will be tendered to Miss Thompson, upon which occasion every lady attending will be presented with a beautiful cabinet portrait of Miss Thompson.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it, and we are pleased to note the full and fashionable audiences that grace his handsome theatre.

—o—

"A Hole in the Ground," by one of the best of that Dickens of farcical comedy writers, Chas. H. Hoyt, will be next week's bill at this theatre. It comes to us with all the popular impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska appears in her great character of Rosalind in "As You Like It" for her farewell week, with the exception of Friday night, when Mary Stuart will be reproduced for that night only.

Mme. Modjeska is a charming Rosalind, the best on the stage to-day. Mr. Vanderfelt is an exceptionally good Orlando, and it is the best bit of acting he has given us. The Jacques of E. J. Henley is excellent. Mr. Osbourne has made a careful study of Touchstone, and skillfully avoids making him clownish.

The ladies of the cast are very acceptable, and the representation is a very enjoyable one.

The Elks' invitation ladies' night, Mme. Modjeska presiding, on Sunday night.

J. K. Emmett, in "Fritz," next week.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, supported by the Alcazar company.

Mr. Grismer's Snorkey, a new departure for him, and Miss Phoebe Davies' Peachblossom, also a new departure, are well played, and with the Laura Courtland of Miss Brandon and Mr. Branscombe as Ray Trafford called for merited acknowledgement from the audience.

Under the Gaslight for this week only.

Monday evening Mr. Eddie Kilday takes a benefit, when The Banker's Daughter will be given. A full house is in order for that occasion.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, two popular stars, supported by Darrell Vinton and a strong company, are the combined attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, this week. The performances are for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen. The scenes of the Fall of the Bastile are the Storming of the Bastile, the quarrel scene, the duel, the "Marseillaise" by the people of Paris and the execution by guillotine; in some of which the stage is massed with the wild Revolutionists.

Mr. Warner's impersonation of Robert Landry is strong and effective, and Miss Rose Wood gives rare mental power and womanly grace to the heroine, Catharine Duval. Darrell Vinton does his usually good acting as Abbe Latour. Miss May Nannary makes many a

The stirring scenes of the French Revolution are well staged. The great Bastile towers above you in one, with the maddened populace around it. The awful guillotine is presented in working order on the stage, and realism, in acting and scenes, is the feature of the Fall of the Bastile at the Grand.

See cast in announce programme.

The Corsican Brothers will be the bill for Saturday and Sunday nights. A special feature of the performance will be the permission given by the management to participate in the grand masquerade scene, lasting from 20 to 45 minutes, for which there are already many applicants.

The dual role of the Corsican brothers is one of Mr. Warner's strongest melodramatic characters, and a strong cast and frequent rehearsals will insure an effective performance of this thrilling play.

Orpheum Opera House.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Company have proved a deservedly drawing card.

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany made a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She will become a great favorite, if not a Mascot. Senorita Goyzueta, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senors Rodriguez, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Alessio. Those who have appeared have impressed their audience very favorably.

La Tempestad to-night with both primas and entire company in the cast.

The hit of the season so far, Campanone, will be repeated Friday night.

Saturday matinee, Mariana.

El Barberillo de Lavapies for Saturday night presents for both prima donnas and the Spanish Ballet.

A change of opera most every night. Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction for Mr. Thornton's third week will be the sensational drama, Tried for Treason.

Mr. Thornton is doing better work, and he is ably supported by the competent stock company that is Morosco's good fortune to have at his popular house.

Mr. Thornton plays the dual role of Lester Franklin and Sergeant Copeland very acceptably. Mr. Brophy as Marville and Fielford as Ryan do full justice to the parts. The Margaret of Miss Tittel is played with force and feeling, and the Indian maiden of Helen Harlow is a pretty picture.

A Double Life, a startling drama, for next week, the last of Mr. Thornton's engagement.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2 000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company is the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; Jas. T. Kelly, the comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Laura Ashby, equilibristic wonder; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Miss Kitty O'Neill, the Stanley Sisters and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

That well constructed play of standard worth, The Ticket-of-Leave Man, will be this week's bill at the People's. The management have taken every pains to stage the piece in such a manner that it will compare favorably with its production in other theatres.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Sacho, Dolph Levin's latest sensation, and the two sparrers, McCauley and McElwain, are the big cards at the Cremorne this week.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies of the company are heard to good advantage in well selected songs.

Sam Lucas, the famous genuine colored minstrel and comedian, is singing at the Olympic, Denver, together with his estimable wife. Mrs. Lucas plays the violin, cornet, mandolin, guitar banjo, orchestra bells and other instruments. Mr. Lucas and wife have a long engagement at the Olympic. Sam sings his song, "I'm the Father of a Little Black Coon," with gusto since Mrs. Lucas has presented him with a nine pound girl baby.

It is the Spanish Can-Can, not the French, at the Eureka this week. So far Berkeley leads the company with the high kick.

Theatre Comique, Spokane Falls, Feb. 11th: Ella Summerton, Lillie Forrest, Ray Filburn, Allen & Forrest, Madge Darrell, Grace Carleton, Heeley Bros., Stella Leaton, Mabel Pearl the Moores, Bertha Sanger and Mason & Titus. The Great Derville Family, Eugene Ward, Geyer & Lord. May Forrest and Eva Wood for Feb. 18th.

M. B. Leavitt's Rentz Santley Co. open at New York Feb. 18th.

Heretofore variety performances in Denver began at midnight and ended at daybreak, but the authorities have "shut down" on all performances after midnight.

Death of Colonel Goshen.

Colonel Goshen died in New Jersey Feb. 12th. He stood seven feet, two inches, in his stockings, measured two feet, six inches, across the shoulders twenty-eight inches through the chest, and weighed 630 pounds. He was formerly in the employ of Barnum's Circus. He could shoulder a live cow with ease, and many of his feats of strength were marvelous. He played an engagement with Gen. Tom Thumb and his troupe at the Bush Street Theatre, in 1877, in Jack the Giant-Killer. During his illness he had four men to attend him and it took their combined strength to move him about in bed with a block and tackle. The Colonel was about 70 and was born in Egypt.

Retirement of Kate Claxton.

Kate Claxton will retire from the stage permanently in about three weeks. This decision is due to the sickness of Miss Claxton and to the fact that having acquired a handsome competency she feels that she can afford to take a rest.

Feb. 13th, at the Grand, Minneapolis, for the first time in fourteen years she failed to fill her engagement.

Young Lady—"What is this ornament I have on worth?" Dealer—"Seventy-five cents." "O, dear! It was given to me as a Christmas present and I thought it cost $5." "Yes, miss. That was the price before Christmas."

Mrs. Minks—So you now live on Blank street. Is that locality respectable? Mrs. Winks (with asperity)—I live there. Mrs. Minks (much hurt)—Well, I think you might give a civil answer to a civil question.

The woman—I think the women will shortly do all the work now done by men.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Mme. Modjeska is highly indignant at the manner with which Mr. Barrett has treated her and states that she will compel Managers Nixon & Zimmerman to keep their original contract with her, which was for thirty weeks for $36 000. They then turned the contract over to Barrett, who forwarded a contract to Mme. Modjeska to sign. It cuts the season down from thirty to twenty-eight week, made the payment of the salary depend upon the liability of Mr. Booth not being able to appear, when the salary was not to run on, and it did not state that she was to be a joint star with Mr. Booth. By the terms of the contract she would only have been a leading lady; and, as Modjeska justly says, that with her position on the stage as a star, it would simply be throwing herself into the background to accept the place of leading lady to anybody. Only the Susie Man o' Arlie would have attempted such an arrangement.

T. A. Kennedy, the mesmerist, and Jas. T. Kelley and Walter Le Roy, in their notably clever performance of Muldoon and Mulcahey in Muldoon's Picnic, is the combined attraction for Kennedy's last week at the Bijou.

In the action of divorce against Marie Temple, actress, by her husband, Mr. Izard, H. W. Leslie, proprietor of the Lyric Theatre, London, the co-respondent from whom damages are claimed, was sentenced by the court to pay Izard $5,000.

The Press Club benefit at the Baldwin yesterday was a success. The theatre was crowded.

Mrs. Lottie Chappelle, professionally known as Lottie Beaumont, has filed papers for divorce from Chas. Chappelle, charging him with infidelity, desertion and failure to provide.

Camilla Urso and her company of artists, who open at the Grand Opera House very shortly, are having finely executed lithographs made by H. R. Crocker & Co., and we shall see them in all the prominent show windows in a few days.

Marquise, a comedy in three acts by M. Victorien Sardou, was produced at the Vaudeville Theatre, Paris, Feb. 13th, and was not a success. The first act recalls some of Sardou's best work, the second act is dreary and tedious and the third act is almost vulgar. The play was very coldly received by a very brilliant audience, including many of the notables of Paris.

Mr. Madaigan, advance representative of J. K. Emmett, who opens at the Baldwin next week, is in town sending out his paper.

An expert accountant estimates that over $50 000 000 worth of diamonds and jewelry have been stolen from would-be star actresses in the past twenty years. When one contemplates the losses that these struggling artists have sustained in the pursuit of their professional duties it becomes heart-rending.

Eben Plympton will shortly begin a stellar tour in "Belphegor." So the papers say. But we think the Plympton would show to better advantage in "Bullfroger." He is a good croaker and an immense sweller.

John J. Ruddy is welcome to town. He heralds the coming, as advance representative, of Chas. H. Hoyt's amusing comedy, "A Hole in the Ground," that will be the drawing attraction at the New Bush next week. See cast in extra programme advertised elsewhere in FIGARO. It is very Hoyty in arrangement.

The twenty-first anniversary of the organization of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks will be held at the Baldwin Theatre Sunday night, Feb. 17, and the Elks will celebrate their arriving at age in great style. Manager Al Hayman has kindly donated the use of the theatre for that night without charge. Once or twice a year the Elks give a ladies' social and always invite a lady to act for the night as president. Mme. Modjeska has been invited to act as president on this occasion, and has accepted the invitation to preside. As Robert M. Eberle is chairman of the entertainment committee, the invited guests are assured that the recitations and musical selections will be of the first order. The lower part of the house will be reserved for ladies and their escorts. The tickets are complimentary, and can only be obtained from members of the organization. The programme will be a souvenir for the ladies attending.

Rich and Harris, the Boston managers, are looking for an uptown theatre on Broadway New York, in which to establish a permanent vaudeville entertainment.

John F. Harley has retired from the management of Duncan B Harrison's Pay-master Company. Dissatisfaction with Harrison is the cause.

Ben Teal and George Jessop have written a melodrama called The Coston Light, which will be made known in New York next fall.

Mrs. Agnes Booth, the leading lady of the Madison Square Theatre company, is paid $250 per week for her services. She is worth it.

Nina Boucicault has been engaged for one of the leading parts in Harbor Lights, and will make her first appearance in the cast in Boston.

The chorister who goeth to the seaside in summer to wear her fancy bathing suit gets wofully left, and turns red with shame when she looks upon the costume (?) of the society

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are nine lady vocalists this week.

Miss Jennie Melvo, danseuse; Zola Vera vocalist, and Annie Lennetta, serialist, are the new people this week.

Jennie Melvo, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Bob McDonald Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny act, The Three Plumbers, and the amusing Spanish Can Can are original and very clever. Dunham, Berkeley and McDonald are having everything their own way this

EVENING EDITION

FRIDAY.....FEBRUARY 15, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

This (Friday) evening a souvenir benefit is tendered to Miss Thompson, upon which occasion every lady attending will be presented with a beautiful cabinet portrait of Miss Thompson.

Owing to the general demand, the bright and popular burlesque of Penelope has been revived for Miss Thompson's last nights, and will keep the stage the rest of the week.

This is the classical story of the love of Penelope, fair daughter for the disguised Ulysses and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso, right wittily, musically and most pleasingly told. The costumes and appointments of Penelope are rich and elegant. The Amazon March in the last act is the handsomest thread one ever seen here, and star and company appear at their best in its lines.

All the papers commend the performance of this burlesque. The Chronicle, in speaking of its last week, says: "The company have grown in favor and the audiences have been made up of the best of our theatre-goers, a compliment not often paid to burlesque performances."

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it, and we are pleased to note the full and fashionable audiences that grace his handsome theatre.

—o—

"A Hole in the Ground," by one of the best of that Dickens of farcical comedy writers, Chas. H. Hoyt, will be next week's bill at this theatre. It comes to us with all the popular impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska appears in her great character of Rosalind in "As You Like It" for her farewell week, with the exception of Friday night, when Mary Stuart will be reproduced for that night only.

Mme. Modjeska is a charming Rosalind, the best on the stage to-day. Mr. Vanderfelt is an exceptionally good Orlando, and it is the best bit of acting he has given us. The Jacques of E. J. Henley is excellent. Mr. Osbourne has made a careful study of Touchstone, and skillfully avoids making him clownish.

The ladies of the cast are very acceptable, and the representation is a very enjoyable one.

The Elks' invitation ladies' night, Mme. Modjeska presiding, on Sunday night.

J. K. Emmett, in "Fritz," next week.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, supported by the Alcazar company.

Mr. Grismer's Snorkey, a new departure for him, and Miss Phoebe Davies' Peachblossom, also a new departure, are well played, and with the Laura Courtland of Miss Brandon and Mr. Branscombe as Ray Trafford called for merited acknowledgement from the audience.

Under the Gaslight for this week only

Monday evening Mr. Eddie Kilday takes a benefit, when The Banker's Daughter will be given. A full house is in order for that occasion.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner and Rose Wood, two popular stars, supported by Darrell Vinton and a strong company, are the combined attraction at the Grand Opera House in the powerful melodramas, The Fall of the Bastile and The Corsican Brothers, this week. The performances are for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen. The scenes of the Fall of the Bastile are the Storming of the Bastile, the quarrel scene, the duel, the "Marseillaise" by the people of Paris and execution by guillotine; in some of which the stage is massed with the wild Revolutionists.

Mr. Warner's impersonation of Robert Landry is strong and effective, and Miss Rose Wood gives rare mental power and womanly grace to the heroine, Catharine Duval. Darrell Vinton does his usually good acting as Abbe [illegible]. Miss Mae Nannery makes many a

The stirring scenes of the French Revolution are well staged. The great Bastile towers above you in one, with the maddened populace around it. The awful guillotine is presented in working order on the stage, and realism, in acting and scenes, is the feature of the Fall of the Bastile at the Grand.

See cast in announce programme.

FIGARO furnishes the programme for the Grand.

The Corsican Brothers will be the bill for Saturday and Sunday nights. A special feature of the performance will be the permission given by the management to participate in the grand masquerade scene, lasting from 30 to 45 minutes, for which there are already many applicants.

The dual role of the Corsican brothers is one of Mr. Warner's strongest melodramatic characters, and a strong cast and frequent rehearsals will insure an effective performance of this thrilling play.

Orpheum Opera House.

Cantelle & Pastor's Madrid Opera Company have proved a deservedly drawing card.

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany made a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She will become a great favorite, if not a Mascot. Senorita Goyzueta, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senors Rodriguez, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio. Those who have appeared have impressed their audience very favorably.

The hit of the season so far, Campanone, will be repeated to-night.

Saturday matinee, Crispino.

El Barberillo de Lavapies for Saturday and Sunday nights and Sunday matinee presents both prima donnas and the Spanish Ballet.

A change of opera every night. Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction for Mr. Thornton's third week will be the sensational drama, Tried for Treason.

Mr. Thornton is doing better work, and he is ably supported by the competent stock company that is Morosco's good fortune to have at his popular house.

Mr. Thornton plays the dual role of Lester Franklin and Sergeant Copeland very acceptably. Mr. Brophy as Marville and Hilford as Ryan do full justice to the parts. The Margaret of Miss Tittel is played with force and feeling, and the Indian maiden of Helen Harlow is a pretty picture.

The mechanical effects of the play are finely done, particularly the ship scene. The attendance shows marked improvement

A Double Life, a startling drama, for next week, the last of Mr. Thornton's engagement.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

The opening company is the Pavanelli Troupe, famed for their grotesque musical acts; Jas. T. Kelly, the comedian, and Miss Annie Sanford (late of the Tivoli) in musical sketches; Miss Laura Ashby, equilibristic wonder; Miss Annie Suits, soubrette and songstress; Harry Orndorff, Miss Kitty O'Neill, the Stanley Sisters and others, not forgetting the somewhat different comedian in his popular specialties.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions next week at the Vienna, consisting of the Stirk Family, 5 Jolly Voyagers, the troupe of Russian Skaters (late of Barnum's Circus), the three King Sisters, three Classical Gymnasts, Annie Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

The People's Theatre.

That well constructed play of standard worth, The Ticket-of-Leave Man, will be this week's bill at the People's. The management have taken every pains to stage the piece in such a manner that it will compare favorably with its production in other theatres.

FULL PROGRAMMES of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco can be found in FIGARO—the only paper that has them.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

John H. McDonald, an unassuming young man 23 years of age, ticket taker at the World's Museum, Boston, has fallen heir to $100 000 under the will of his uncle, Lieut.-Gov. James H. McDonald, of Escanaba, Mich.

The Knickerbockers and San Francisco cross bats on Sunday, at Central Park, Market and Eighth streets. To be followed at 3.30 by Miss Myrtle Peck and Miss Lizzie Williams in a 15-mile running race. Game called at 1:30. Admission to all, 25 cents.

During the coming week John S. McMahon, the Apollo Belvidere of the arena, an acknowledged champion equestrian and general athlete, will divide the honors with the everywhere popular Farini according to advertisement elsewhere in our columns.

Sig. Rio, Dolph Levino's latest sensation, and the two sparrers, McCauley and McEwen, are the big cards at the Cremorne this week.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. Nine ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

Sam Lucas, the famous genuine colored minstrel and comedian, is singing at the Olympic, Denver, together with his estimable wife. Mrs. Lucas plays the violin, cornet, mandolin, guitar, banjo, orchestra bells and other instruments. Mr. Lucas and wife have a long engagement at the Olympic. Sam sings his song, "I'm the Father of a Little Black Coon," with gusto since Mrs. Lucas has presented him with a nine pound girl baby.

It is the Spanish Can-Can, not the French, at the Eureka this week. So far Berkeley leads the company with the big kick.

Theatre Comique, Spokane Falls, Feb. 11th: Ella Summerton, Lillie Forrest, Roy Filburn, Allen & Forrest, Madge Darnell, Grace Carleton, Hedley Bros., Sylvia Leaton, Mabel Pearl the Mooree, Bertha Sanger and Mason & Titus. The Great Derville Family, Eugene Ward, Coyne & Lord, May Forrest and Eva Wood for Feb. 18th.

M. B. Leavitt's Rentz Santley Co. open at New York Feb. 18th.

Heretofore variety performances in Denver began at midnight and ended at daybreak, but the authorities have "shut down" on all performances after midnight.

Theatrical manager (to applicant for position)—Do you think you would make a good walking gentleman? Actor (assuringly)—Um-er—how far up the Sacramento Valley are you going?

Negritt—How often does your father whip you? Little Johnnie—Whenever he gets a nickel out of his pocket. When he finds all his money gone he pitches into me.

Simpson (tremulously)—Emma, darling, say yes, and there will be another—Noise (outside)—Big breach-of-promise case. Extra!

Collins—"Oh, if you only loved me as warmly as I do you—" Nellie—"We would both be cremated, I fear."

When a stylish girl goes down the street all the young men feel a sort of blind impulse to follow the fashion.

Boy, paw, was there a best man

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Charlotte Tittel will shortly go out on the road with a new play, supported by a strong company, under the management of a successful Eastern manager.

Maurice Barrymore and Georgie Drew Barrymore are booked to play an eight weeks' San Francisco engagement at the Alcazar next Summer. "Mothe" and Mr. Barrymore's comedy, "Transfusions," will be two of the plays of their repertoire.

A dispatch from Omaha of the 15th says, "A special from Hastings announces the death of Edwin Clifford, of the Clifford Dramatic Co., who died there on the 14th of paralysis of the brain. He was taken ill there two weeks ago while playing in Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." This is not the Percy Clifford who traveled in the interior of the state with a company some two years ago.

T. A. Kennedy, the mesmerist, and Jas. T. Kelley and Walter Le Roy, in their notably clever performance of Muldoon and Mulcahey in Muldoon's Picnic, is the combined attraction for Kennedy's last week at the Bijou.

Camilla Urso and her company of artists, who open at the Grand Opera House very shortly, are having finely executed lithographs made by H. R. Crocker & Co., and we shall see them in all the prominent show windows in a few days.

John J. Ruddy is welcome to town. He heralds the coming, as advance representative, of Chas. H. Hoyt's amusing comedy, "A Hole in the Ground," that will be the drawing attraction at the New Bush next week. See cast in extra programme advertised elsewhere in FIGARO. It is very Hoyty in arrangement.

Kate Claxton will retire from the stage permanently in about three weeks.

The twenty-first anniversary of the organization of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks will be held at the Baldwin Theatre Sunday night, Feb. 17, and the Elks will celebrate their arriving at age in great style. Manager Al Hayman has kindly donated the use of the theatre for that night without charge. Once or twice a year the Elks give a ladies' social and always invite a lady to act for the night as president, Mme. Modjeska has been invited to act as president on this occasion, and has accepted the invitation to preside. As Robert M. Eberle is chairman of the entertainment committee, the invited guests are assured that the recitations and musical selections will be of the first order. The lower part of the house will be reserved for ladies and their escorts. The tickets are complimentary, and can only be obtained from members of the organization. The programme will be a souvenir for the ladies attending.

Rich and Harris, the Boston managers, are looking for an uptown theatre on Broadway New York, in which to establish a permanent vaudeville entertainment.

Ben Teal and George Jessop have written a melodrama called The Coston Light, which will be made known in New York next fall.

Nina Boucicault has been engaged for one of the leading parts in Harbor Lights, and will make her first appearance in the cast in Boston.

The name of William Young's new play which Mr. Lawrence Barrett will produce next fall is Ganelon.

J. M. Hill will open the new Union Square Theatre New York, Monday evening March 4th with Helen Barry as the first attraction.

The Fourteenth Street Theatre New York, under the management of J. W. Rosenquest, is becoming known as the house of productions. A half dozen new plays have be successfully launched there this season.

DEATH OF JAMES H. CUMMINGS.

James H. Cummings, a performer well known in every section of the Union, died in this city, after a lingering illness, on the 15th inst., at the early age of 37. Lung troubles forced him to relinquish his engagement as long as six years ago from the team of Delehanty & Cummings, and he lay at the point of death in this city for several weeks. After getting about again he formed a partnership with Harry Ornstoff, but was never strong enough to hold out in professional service long. Jas. H. Cummings was universally liked by everybody. He was what Frank Daniels would call a "brainy man." A quick intelligence, a pungent wit and humor and a genial spirit were his distinctive characteristics. Though virtually an invalid and fighting for years against the ravages of disease, he never gave way to moroseness under his infliction, but bore it courageously, manfully and with a rare geniality of temperament unto the end. The funeral will take place on Sunday at 10:30 A M from his late residence, 203 Powell street. Interment, Eiks' Plot, Laurel Hill Cemetery.

"Miss Brooks" said he "are you fond of chestnut?" "Yes" she answered. And then he fell on his knees and told her the "old, old story."

Gilhooly—"Capital is the child of labor." Gus De Smith—"Yes, but I notice the parent is often ashamed to associate with the offspring."

Bride—"Will you love me in the next world, darling?" Hubby—"That depends on what kind of an angel they make of you."

EVENING EDITION

SATURDAY.....FEBRUARY 16, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco and the only paper that publishes their full programmes

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

To-night and Sunday night, last appearances of Lydia Thompson and her fair burlesquers in Penelope, the best piece in her repertoire.

This is the classical story of the love of Icarius' fair daughter for the disguised Ulysses, and his adventures on the enchanted island of Calypso, right wittily, musically and most pleasingly told. The costumes and appointments of Penelope are rich and elegant. The Amazon March in the last act is the handsomest dressed one ever seen here, and star and company appear at their best in its lines.

Manager Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre and its elegant appointments is the theme of praise from all who have seen it, and we are pleased to note the full and fashionable audiences that grace his handsome theatre.

—o—

"A Hole in the Ground," by one of the best of that Dickens of farcical comedy writers, Chas. H. Hoyt, will be next week's bill at this theatre. It comes to us with all the popular impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

Baldwin Theatre.

Modjeska appears in her great character of Rosalind in "As You Like It" for her farewell performance to-night.

Mme. Modjeska is a charming Rosalind, the best on the stage to-day, and the company render fine support. The representation is a very enjoyable one.

The Elks' invitation ladies' night, Mme. Modjeska presiding, on Sunday night.

J. K. Emmett, in "Fritz," next week, supported by his own company. Mr. Emmett presents a new version of "Fritz," and as his engagement is limited to next week his admirers will have to be prompt in their attendance.

Alcazar Theatre.

Joe. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, supported by the Alcazar company.

Mr. Grismer's Snorkey, a new departure for him, and Miss Phoebe Davies' Peachblossom, also a new departure, are well played, and with the Laura Courtland of Miss Brandon and Mr. Brandcombe as Ray Trafford called for merited acknowledgement from the audience.

Under the Gaslight for this week only.

Monday evening Mr. Eddie Kilday takes a benefit, when The Banker's Daughter will be given. A full house is in order for that occasion.

Grand Opera House.

Neil Warner, supported by Darrell Vinton, Miss May Nannary and a strong company, give their last performances at the Grand Opera House to-night and Sunday nights in that thrilling play, The Corsican Brothers, for the joint benefit and under the auspices of Triumph, Jordan, Upchurch and San Francisco Legions, Select Knights, Ancient Order of United Workmen.

The dual role of the Corsican brothers is one of Mr. Warner's strongest melodramatic characters, and a strong cast and frequent rehearsals will insure an effective performance of this thrilling play.

A special feature of the performance will be the permission given by the management to participate in the grand masquerade scene lasting from 30 to 45 minutes, for which there are already many applicants.

See cast in programme.

FIGARO furnishes the programme for the Grand.

Orpheum Opera House.

Cantelle & Pastor's Madrid Opera Ocompany have proved a deservedly drawing card.

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany is a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She is a great favorite, if not the Mascot of the Company. Senorita [illegible] has also Senores Rodrigues, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierres proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio. Those who have appeared have impressed their audience very favorably.

The hit of the season so far, Campanone, was repeated last night to the thorough enjoyment of a large audience.

El Barberillo de Lavapies for Saturday and Sunday nights and Sunday matinee presents both prima donnas and the Spanish Ballet.

A change of opera every night. Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week's attraction for Mr. Thornton's third week has been the sensational drama, Tried for Treason.

Mr. Thornton plays the dual role of Lester Franklin and Sergeant Copeland very acceptably Mr. Brophy as Marville and Hickford as Ryan do full justice to the parts. The Margaret of Miss Tittel is played with force and feeling, and the Indian maiden of Helen Harlow is a pretty picture,

The mechanical effects of the play are finely done, particularly the ship scene. The attendance shows marked improvement

A Double Life, a startling drama, for next week, the last of Mr. Thornton's engagement. With the capacious stage and its scenic appointments, ably supported by the competent stock company that is Morosco's good fortune to have at his popular house, Mr. Thornton's sensational play will have a strong presentation.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2 000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

Sunday is the last night of the Pavenelli Troupe, Jas. T. Kelly, Annie Sanford, Miss Laura Ashby, the Stanley Sisters and others.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions next week at the Vienna, consisting of the Stirk Family, 5 Jolly Voyagers, the troupe of Russian Skaters (late of Barnum's Circus), the three King Sisters, three Classical Gymnasts, Annie Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

The People's Theatre.

That well constructed play of standard worth, The Ticket-of-Leave Man, has been this week's bill at the People's.

Business is improving at this little theatre, as it should, for a good performance of The Ticket-of-Leave Man is given, with every attention to details, the people all play well and please their audiences. When Manager Huffman's contemplated improvements are carried out the theatre will be a strong claimant for public favor.

Albert Hosmer commences an engagement here next week in the drama depicting frontier life in Texas, entitled A Life for a Lash. The play has plenty of vim in it.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

This week the new people are the Miranda Sisters, George R. Brooks, comedian, and Miss Della Turner, vocaliste. Ned Barry's new spectacular naval first part, introducing the full company in full naval uniform, on board the good ship Nancy Lee, will commence the performance

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

The new people for next week are Hattie Stuart, Joe Bowers, Signor Antonio Martinez, Maria Leona, Gardner & Bernard, May Madison and Clarence Boyd.

Friday evening, Feb. 22nd, a farewell benefit will be given Arnold and Gardner, who have played a long and successful engagement. Geo. H. Wood and Raymon Moore head the list

EVENING EDITION

MONDAY.....FEBRUARY 18, 1889

FULL PROGRAMMES of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco can be found in FIGARO—the only paper that has them.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

John H. McDonald, an unassuming young man 23 years of age, ticket taker at the World's Museum, Boston, has fallen heir to $100,000 under the will of his uncle, Lieut.-Gov. James H. McDonald, of Escanaba, Mich.

The Knickerbockers and San Francisco crossed bats on Sunday, at Central Park, Market and Eighth streets; followed at 3:30 by Miss Myrtle Peck and competitor in a 10-mile running race. The Knicks won in a score of 6 to 5. The race rounded out in a dead heat at the finish.

During the present week John S. McMahon, the Apollo Belvedere of the arena, an acknowledged champion equestrian and general athlete, will divide the honors with the everywhere popular Farini according to advertisement elsewhere in our columns.

Sancho, Dolph Levino's latest sensation, and the two sparrers, McCauley and McElliwain, are the big cards at the Cremorne this week.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. Nine ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

Sam Lucas, the famous genuine colored minstrel and comedian, is singing at the Olympic, Denver, together with his estimable wife. Mrs. Lucas plays the violin, cornet, mandolin, guitar banjo, orchestra bells and other instruments. Mr. Lucas and wife have a long engagement at the Olympic. Sam sings his song, "I'm the Father of a Little Black Coon," with gusto since Mrs. Lucas has presented him with a nine pounc girl baby.

M. B. Leavitt's Rose Santley Co. open at New York Feb. 18th.

Heretofore variety performances in Denver began at midnight and ended at daybreak, but the authorities have "shut down" on all performances after midnight.

DEATH OF JAMES H. CUMMINGS.

James H. Cummings, a performer well known in every section of the Union, died in this city, after a lingering illness, on the 15th inst., at the early age of 37 years. Troubles forced him to relinquish his engagement as long as six years ago with the team of Delehanty & Cummings, and he lay at the point of death in this city for several weeks. After getting about again he formed a partnership with Harry O'Neill, but was never strong enough to go out to professional service. Jas. H. Cummings was universally liked by everybody. He was what Frank Queen would call a "hearty man." A manly, outstanding nose, a pungent wit and a kind and genial spirit were his distinctive characteristics. Though virtually an invalid and fighting for years against the ravages of disease, he never gave way to moroseness under his infliction, but bore it courageously, manfully and with a rare geniality of temperament unto the end. The funeral took place on Sunday, and was largely attended. Interment, Elks' Plot, Laurel Hill Cemetery.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Charlotte Tittel will shortly go out on the road with a new play, supported by a strong company, under the management of a successful Eastern manager.

Maurice Barrymore and Georgie Drew Barrymore are booked to play an eight weeks' San Francisco engagement at the Alcazar next Summer. "Mothe" and Mr. Barrymore's comedy, "Transfusions," will be two of the plays of their repertoire.

A dispatch from Omaha of the 15th says, "A special from Hastings announces the death of Edwin Clifford, of the Clifford Dramatic Co., who died there on the 14th of paralysis of the brain. He was taken ill there two weeks ago while playing in Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." This is not the Percy Clifford who traveled in the interior of the state with a company some two years ago.

T. A. Kennedy, the mesmerist, and Jas. T. Kelley and Walter Le Roy, in their notably clever performance of Muldoon and Mulcahey in Muldoon's Picnic, is the combined attraction for Kennedy's last week at the Bijou.

Camilla Urso and her company of artists, who open at the Grand Opera House very shortly, are having finely executed lithographs made by H. R. Crocker & Co., and we shall see them in all the prominent show windows.

Kate Claxton will retire from the stage permanently in about three weeks.

Rich and Harris, the Boston managers, are looking for an uptown theatre on Broadway New York, in which to establish a permanent vaudeville entertainment.

Ben Teal and George Jessop have written a melodrama called The Coston Light, which will be made known in New York next fall.

Nina Boucicault has been engaged for one of the leading parts in Harbor Lights, and will make her first appearance in the cast in Boston.

The name of William Young's new play which Mr. Lawrence Barrett will produce next fall is Ganelon.

J. M. Hill will open the new Union Square Theatre New York, Monday evening March 4th with Helen Barry as the first attraction.

The Fourteenth Street Theatre New York, under the management of J. W. Rosenquest, is becoming known as the house of productions. A half dozen new plays have be successfully launched there this season.

W. J. Scanlan will sail for England at the end of April to begin his tour in Liverpool.

A number of ladies and gentlemen of New York have formed an association for the purpose of erecting a public statue of Charlotte Cushman.

May Baker, the leading snake charmer of America, died recently at the General Hospital, Buffalo, of tetanus, caused by accidentally running a wood splinter under her thumb nail.

The will of the late John Robinson, the Cincinnati circus magnate, is to be contested by a surviving brother, who claims that he is the only legal next of kin to the deceased and that the evidence in his possession will confirm his statement.

All the Australian theatres have billiard rooms attached for the accomodation of the audience.

A Boston paper says: "Since Boucicault and his plays have been neglected by the public he goes around lamenting that the stage is in a bad way."

The French censor has refused to license "Jacques l'Eventreur" (Jack the Ripper).

Joseph Jefferson, William J. Florence, Miss John Drew and John Gilbert are likely to head a combination next season.

Owing to illness Albert Niemann, the veteran German tenor, will not come to America as has been announced. So Paul Kalich will share the leading tenor roles with Herr Alvary.

"Say, Cholley," asked one newsboy of another, "wha's a payin' teller?" "He's de man what pays out de money." "An' wha's a receivin' teller?" "He's de man what takes in de money." "An' what's de cashier?" "He's de feller what gits away wid de money."

When it is a man who is about to be told a secret he shuts the door. When it is a woman she pens it to make sure there is no one listening out-side.

The era of sensations: Edward—"And will you be my bride, Dora?" Dora—"No, darling; but I'd elope with you for the fun of the thing."

Johnny Dumpsey—"Pa, what is an ante-deluvian?" Mr. Dumpsey—"It is the kind of dream you have, my son, when you go to bed hungry."

"Miss Brooks," said he "are you fond of chestnut?" "Yes," she answered. And then he fell on his knees and told her the "old, old story."

Simpson (remorseful)—Emma, darling, say yes, and there will be another—Newsboy (outside)—Big breach-of-promise case! Extra!

When a stylish girl goes down the street almost all the young men feel a sort of blind impulse to follow the fashion.

Tramp—Say, now, was there a beat man

EVENING EDITION

MONDAY.....FEBRUARY 18, 1889

Notice to Stage Managers.

We cannot make changes in Programmes after two (2) P. M. All changes handed in after that hour will have to lay over until next day.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

A Hole in the Ground, one of the best plays of that Dickens of farcical comedy writers, Chas. H. Hoyt, will be this week's bill at this theatre. It comes to us with all the popular impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

Baldwin Theatre.

J. K. Emmett, in "Fritz," this week, supported by his own company. Mr. Emmett presents a new version of "Fritz," and as his engagement is limited to this week his admirers will have to be prompt in their attendance. His easy and jaunty way, his fine voice and presence, and his personal magnetism have given Emmett a stronger hold on the public than any other Dutch comedian.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This evening Mr. Eddie Kilday takes a benefit, when The Banker's Daughter will be given. A full house is in order for that occasion.

The Banker's Daughter, Bronson Howard's notably good and successful play, with its clever dialogue and bright comedy element, will entertain the Alcazar audiences this week.

That the play will be effectively rendered is a foregone conclusion.

Matinee, Washington's Birthday.

Standard Theatre.

This cosy theatre re-opens on Saturday night with Katie Mayhew and a talented company, embracing Miss Clyde Heron, Miss Alice Stevens, Miss Rita Mann, Miss Hattie Atkinson, Harry Mainhall, J. J. Wallace, W. F. Rochester, Frank Valerga, Chas. Gray, Messrs. Riddle, Miller and others. Mr. Alfred Singer, lessee and manager, assures us he has come to stay permanently at the Standard, having a good show of Eastern attractions booked to follow in due time. An elegant new drop curtain and new scenery is being painted by Strauss, the landscape painter. The theatre will be re-carpeted and placed in most inviting order in every respect.

The Standard's opening bill will be Coleman's sterling comedy, "The Jealous Wife," concluding with the musical burlesque of "Ill-treated Il Trovatore."

Orpheum Opera House.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Company have proved a deservedly drawing card.

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany is a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She is a great favorite, if not the Mascot of the company. Senorita Goyzueta, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senors Rodriguez, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor cent d'Allesio. Those who have appeared have impressed their audience very favorably.

El Barberillo de Lavapies for Saturday and Sunday nights and Sunday matinee presented both prima donnas and the Spanish Ballet and proved itself to have the popular elements of

To-night the Spanish Opera Company appear in the popular opera of Boccaccio. The sale of seats is large.

A change of opera every night. See programme for the week in the Orpheum's advertisement elsewhere.

Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

Extra matinee, Washington's Birthday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

Stormy Waters, a startling drama, for this week, the last of Mr. Thornton's engagement. With the capacious stage and its scenic appointments, ably supported by the competent stock company that is Morosco's good fortune to have at his popular house, Mr. Thornton's sensational play will have a strong presentation.

Again Mr. Thornton will play a dual role, Harry Hastings and Sir Henry Carruthers. Mr. Brophy is the scheming villian, who nearly succeeds in his plots. Miss Tittel, as Richard's unacknowledged wife, has a part which she will play with great feeling.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions this week at the Vienna, consisting of the Stirk Family, 5 Jolly Voyagers, the troupe of Russian Skaters (late of Barnum's Circus), the three King Sisters, three Classical Gymnasts, Annie Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

The People's Theatre.

Albert Hosmer commences an engagement here this week in the drama depicting frontier life in Texas, entitled A Life for a Lash. The play has plenty of vim in it.

Mr. Hosmer has made himself very popular with a large class of our theatre-goers, and Manager Huffman will find it difficult to accommodate them all this week.

We understand Mr. Hosmer's engagement is limited to four weeks.

The company in support are very good, and the specialties introduced are of the best.

The little house is in a prosperous condition. Business improves every week.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people for this week are Hattie Stuart, Joe Bowers, Signor Antonio Martinez, Maria Leona, Gardner & Bernard, May Madison and Clarence Boyd.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialities.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Friday evening, Feb. 22nd, a farewell benefit will be given Arnold and Gardner, who have played a long and successful engagement. Geo. H. Wood and Raymon Moore head the list of volunteers.

Central Park The First Circus.

Farini's Great Australian Circus, united with McMahon's Great World's Circus, will give a short circus season at Central Park, commencing on Thursday night.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's lady riders are noted for their daring and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. First matinee Washington's Birthday: two performances a day after, afternoon and evening.

Mechanics' Pavilion The 6-Days Race.

The great World's International 6-day-go-as-you-please race commences at the Pavilion on Thursday at 10 P. M. The money awards offered by Manager Hall have brought here the champions of the world to compete against each other for the valuable prizes. There can be no doubt but that the race will be one of the most noted ones in history. The struggle between the best men in the world will be an earnest one, and with the aid of our vitalizing and even climate to help the contesting champions record smashing is confidentially looked for.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino's fine spectacular piece, entitled Sapho, is the great feature of the bill this week. It is full of new effects and musical specialties and is a great go. Levino is an artist in his line of business.

Mabel Harrison, Reta Gardner, Susie Levino, Effie Hull, Maggie Gordon and others form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Belle Almont, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale, composed by Matt Trayers, entitled The Needle. Tommy Morris introduces his original specialty, entitled Whiskers 10 Cents a Bag. This is followed by the laughable comedy, entitled Brown's Bad Boy. The evening winds up with the amusing act, "Nothing Else to Do."

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

In assuming the management of the Bella Union stage next week Mr. Chas. Reese comes to us credited to full honors from the Comique, Butte City, where he has occupied the same position for many months. He brings with him from the North Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher and Geo. W. Drew. Our local talent will have to look well to their laurels.

Standard, Seattle, new people for week of Feb. 18th: Valvo, Marzelle, Flora Story, Del Bartino, Lillie Bailey, Annie Devere and Mamie Milledge.

Den Howe has assumed the management of the Theatre Comique, Butte City. It goes without saying that he will meet with decided success in this arrangement.

Standard, Portland, Feb. 18th: Gerry Sisters, Fitz & Devine, Camillo, Schwert Bros., Ida Howell and all the old favorites of last week.

The Clifford Sisters were the recipients of several baskets of flowers on Friday, Feb. 15th, at the close of their engagement with the Perry Bros. in Los Angeles.

Heretofore variety performances in Denver began at midnight and ended at daybreak, but the authorities have "shut down" on all performances after midnight.

Elite Theatre, Tombstone, Feb. 18th: Clifford & Hickey, Lillie Stailey, Vernie Vernell, Post & Ashley, Tillie Bouton, Harry Conley, Ella Gardner and Chas. A. Keene.

During the present week John S. McMahon, the Apollo Belvidere of the arena, an acknowledged champion equestrian and general athlete, will divide the honors with the everywhere popular Farini according to advertisement elsewhere in our columns.

Theatre Comique, Spokane Falls, new people for week of Feb. 18th: Derville Family, Frankie Howard, Geyer & Lord, May Forrest and Eva Wood.

The variety theatre in Eugene City, Or., was burned at 5 o'clock A. M. Feb. 18th. Nothing was saved. The loss is estimated at about $1500. This was the theatre that lately came under the control of Manager Cort.

Sapho, Dolph Levino's latest sensation, and the two sparrers, McCauley and McEllwain, are the big cards at the Cremorne this week.

In Butte City Frank Monroe & Co. have a little place, the Pleasure Theatre, and present this week the Oatley Sisters, Whitney & McCree, Hughes & Oxford, the Kherns, Lillie Carroll, Dolly Merton, Master Haney, Ace Levoy, Mabel Rivers and Mattie Bear.

Elm St. Theatre, Trinidad, Col., Feb. 18th: Eva Irvine, Paul Gilfort, Minnie De Witt, Henderson & Troxell, Freddie Peasley, Will Barron, May Henderson and Eva Irvine.

Sam Lucas, the famous genuine colored minstrel and comedian, is singing at the Olympic, Denver, together with his estimable wife. Mrs. Lucas plays the violin, cornet, mandolin, guitar, banjo, orchestra bells and other instruments. Mr. Lucas and wife have a long engagement at the Olympic. Sam sings his song, "I'm the Father of a Little Black Coon," with gusto since Mrs. Lucas has presented him with a nine pound girl baby.

T. A. Kennedy, the mesmerist, and Jas. T. Kelley and Walter Le Roy, in their notable clever performance of Muldoon and Mahoney in Muldoon's Picnic, is the combined attraction for Kennedy's last week at the Bijou.

Palace Theatre, Port Townsend, Feb. 18th: Foster & Wolf, Hettie Wescott, Kitty Lawton, Dan Mason, Amy Santley, Ella Kennedy, Lillie Graves and the Misses Barnet, White, Mellen, Leroy, Lum & Wagner. On Friday evening, March 1st, Billy Kennedy, the popular amusement director, will take a complimentary benefit.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. Nine ladies are hired to accompany in well selected songs in the olio.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The twenty-first anniversary of the B. P. O. E., celebrated by Golden Gate Lodge, No. 6, at the Baldwin Theatre on Sunday evening, was a successful event. The programme was opened with an overture by the Baldwin Theatre orchestra, followed by a short address by Brother Dudley. The programme was made up of musical numbers, vocal and instrumental. Modjeska was the observed of all observers as she sat in the proscenium box. She was generous with her applause, giving it with a pretty smile and gentle grace. Echoing Brother Dudley's sentiment we cry, Long Live the Elks!

Pauline Hall thinks the reason why Lotta Russell refuses to wear tights is because her knees and ankles are in exceedingly bad shape, somewhat after the Langtry style.

Louis James and his wife, Marie Wainwright, have agreed to separate. Mrs. James will sail for Europe in March, and will remain abroad until the Fall season commences.

The benefit to Eddie Kirkby last night was a substantial one. The house was well filled, The Banker's Daughter was finely played, and the chink of silver sounded melodiously in Eddie's ear.

Mabel Bert has left M Kee Rankin. She appeared in Philadelphia, Feb. 18th as Rachel in Held by the Enemy. Her New York debut will be at the Grand Opera House March 11th.

Lawrence Barrett, the sonsie man, wires that Modjeska will play with Booth next season, her denial to the contrary notwithstanding. Well, as time proves all things we shall see what we shall see.

Mme. Modjeska, with the aid and consent of Manager Hayman, will give a benefit matinee performance at the Grand Opera House, Washington's Birthday, for the aid of St. Joseph's Day Home, under the charge of the Sisters of the Holy Family. The box sheet for sale of tickets will be ready Thursday morning at Sherman & Clay's.

Coquelin and Hading opened at Palmer's, N. Y., Feb. 18th, in L'Etrangere, and drew a large audience. Coquelin denies that there was any unpleasantness between Mme. Hading and himself in San Francisco, but declares that after this engagement is ended he will never play with Hading again.

Fred Ward begins his annual engagement at the Baldwin next week. The first week will be given to The Mountebank, while the second will be devoted to William Tell, characters that Mr. Warde has never appeared in here before.

Howard Taylor, who was in the printing business here ten years ago, is the father of the following plays since his taking up residence in New York: The Little Pauper, Crissy, Nina, Drummer in Petticoats, Spasms (the two latter are farce-comedies) Infatuation, The Widow, The Flaxen Charmer, Dimples, The Little Sinner, Chick, The Pretty Teamster and one other as yet unchristened. We may classify Snowflake, his play produced at the Grand Opera House as its opening attraction, as the god-mother of the brood.

Charlotte Tittel will shortly go out on the road with a new play, supported by a strong company, under the management of a successful Eastern manager.

Maurice Barrymore and Georgie Drew Barrymore are booked to play an eight weeks' San Francisco engagement at the Alcazar next Summer. "Moths" and Mr. Barrymore's comedy, "Transfusions," will be two of the plays of their repertoire.

A dispatch from Omaha of the 15th says, "A special from Hastings announces the death of Edwin Clifford, of the Clifford Dramatic Co., who died there on the 14th of paralysis of the brain. He was taken ill there two weeks ago while playing in Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." This is not the Percy Clifford who traveled in the interior of the state with a company some two years ago.

Camilla Urso and her company of artists, who open at the Grand Opera House Thursday, have had finely executed lithographs made by H. R. Crocker & Co., and we shall see them in all the prominent show windows.

Kate Claxton will retire from the stage permanently in about three weeks.

The Edison Theatre, Paris, after having lost $5,000,000 for its projectors, has closed its doors.

Helen Dauvray will travel under H. C. Miner's management for three years to come.

Rich and Harris, the Boston managers, are looking for a down-town theatre on Broadway New York in which to establish a permanent vaudeville entertainment.

The Musin concert company is drawing near.

The will of the late John Robinson, the Cincinnati circus magnate, is to be contested by a surviving brother, who claims that he is the only legal next of kin to the deceased and that the evidence in his possession will confirm his statement.

Effie Ellsler follows the Grismers at the Alcazar.

A Boston paper says: "Since Boucicault and his plays have been neglected by the public he goes around lamenting that the stage is in a bad way."

Mestayer is going to burlesque Othello. He will make him a touch. He can't help it.

J. M. Hill will open the new Union Square Theatre New York, Monday evening March 4th with Helen Barry as the first attraction.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Barrett's New Bush Street Theatre.

A Run in the Ground, one of the best plays of that Dickens of farcical comedy writers, Chas. H. Hoyt, will be this week's bill at this theatre. It comes to us with all the popular impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Ramden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle was marked for its fashionable audience, and people were turned away from all three circles, as the house overflowed everywhere.

See cast in programme advertisement.

Baldwin Theatre.

J. K. Emmett, in "Fritz," this week, supported by his own company. Mr. Emmett presents a new version of "Fritz," and as his engagement is limited to this week his admirers will have to be prompt in their attendance. His easy and jaunty way, his fine voice and gentleness, and his personal magnetism have given Emmett a stronger hold on the public than any other Dutch comedian.

Mr. Emmett is an admirable German, and plays true to nature; he has to respond to repeated encores. Miss Barrington renders good support. Fritz himself is a handsome animal; at times he plays the exigencies of the play kill him [illegible].

Next week, Frederick Warde in The Mountebank.

Alcazar Theatre.

Joe. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

The Banker's Daughter, Bronson Howard's comedy good and successful play, with its clever dialogue and bright comedy element, is entertaining the Alcazar audiences this week.

The performance is a good one, and the piece is effectively played. Mr. Grismer is the hero of the piece; John Strebelow is a part that seems to suit him to a nicety. Miss Davies' Lillian and Miss Brandon's Florence prove the versatility of these favorites.

No Mar better understands the value of a sufficient number of people on the stage and handsome settings than does Mr. Grismer, and he finds a ready helper in Manager Wallenrod, and as a consequence we are given the picture complete in every detail.

Next week's attraction will be Michael Strogoff, a character which Mr. Grismer invests with soldierly force and dignity. The piece is to be staged with great effects.

Matinee, Washington's Birthday.

Grand Opera House.

Thursday evening the Handel and Hayden society will present for the first time H. J. Stewart's new oratorio "The Nativity," at the Grand. Special features of the concert will be the playing of Madame Camilla Urso, the celebrated violinist, of Mendelssohn's concerto "The Inflammatus" from the "Stabat Mater." A fugue in C minor by Mr. John Parrott, Jr., and the Hallelujah Chorus from "The Messiah" will be rendered. A deal of interest is taken by our musical loving society people in some of the features of the programme.

Orpheum Opera House.

Castelle & Pastor's Madrid Opera Company have proved a deservedly drawing card.

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany is a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She is a great favorite, if not the Mascot of the company. Senorita Goyzueta, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senors Rodriguez, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio. Those who have appeared have impressed their audience very favorably.

To-night the Spanish Opera Company appear in the popular opera of Tela de Arana. The sale of seats is large.

A change of opera every night. See programme for the week in the Orpheum's advertisement elsewhere.

Opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

Extra matinee, Washington's Birthday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

Stormy Waters, a startling drama, for this week, the last of Mr. Thornton's engagement. With the capacious stage and its scenic appointments, ably supported by the competent stock company that is Morosco's good fortune to have at his popular house, Mr. Thornton's sensational play will have a strong presentation.

Again Mr. Thornton will play a dual role, Harry Hastings and Sir Henry Caruthers. Mr. Brophy is the scheming villian, who nearly succeeds in his plots. Miss Tittel, as Richard's unacknowledged wife, has a part which she will play with great feeling.

Vienna Garden Theatre—Re-opening.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2 000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions this week at the Vienna, consisting of the Stirk Family, 5 Jolly Voyagers, the troupe of Russian Skaters (late of Barnum's Circus), the three King Sisters, three Classical Gymnasts, Annie Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

Albert Hosmer commences an engagement here this week in the drama depicting frontier life in Texas, entitled A Life for a Lash. The play has plenty of vim in it.

Mr. Hosmer has made himself very popular with a large class of our theatre-goers, and Manager Huffman will find it difficult to accommodate them all this week.

We understand Mr. Hosmer's engagement is limited to four weeks.

The company in support are very good, and the specialties introduced are of the best.

The little house is in a prosperous condition. Business improves every week.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people for this week are Hattie Stuart, Joe Bowers, Signor Antonio Martinez, Maria Leona, Gardner & Bernard, May Madison and Clarence Boyd.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Professional matinees given every Sunday.

Friday evening, Feb. 22nd, a farewell benefit will be given Arnold and Gardner, who have played a long and successful engagement. Geo. H. Wood and Raymon Moore head the list of volunteers.

Central Park—The First Circus.

Farini's Great Australian Circus, united with McMahon's Great World's Circus, will give a short circus season at Central Park, commencing on Thursday night.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's lady riders are noted for their daring and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. First matinee Washington's Birthday; two performances a day after, afternoon and evening.

Mechanics' Pavilion—The 6-Days Race.

The great World's International 6-day-go-as-you-please race commences at the Pavilion on Thursday at 10 P. M. The money awards offered by Manager Hall have brought here the champions of the world to compete against each other for the valuable prizes. There can be no doubt but that the race will be one of the most noted ones in history. The struggle between the best men in the world will be an earnest one, and with the aid of our vitalizing and even climate to help the contesting champions record smashing is confidentially looked for.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino's fine spectacular piece, entitled Sapho, is the great feature of the bill this week. It is full of new effects and musical specialties and is a great go. Levino is an artist in his line of business.

This week, first appearance of Morton & Goldie.

Barth & Lorraine, the elastic swells, together with Jack McCauley and Tom McElwain, sparrers. The sparrers are doing some very clever work.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Original Theatre Comique.

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morins, Josie Lescor, Belle Almont, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale, composed by Matt Trayers, entitled The Needle. Tommy Morris introduces his original specialty, entitled Whiskers 10 Cents a Bag. This is followed by the laughable comedy, entitled Brown's Bad Boy. The evening winds up with the amusing act, "Nothing Else to Do."

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are nine lady vocalists this week.

The favorite musical sketch artists, Martin & Lonsdale, are the new faces this week. They open in their latest success, Flirtation.

Rose Lonsdale, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Bob McDonald Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny act, The Three Plumbers, and the amusing Spanish Can-Can are original and very clever. Dunham, Berkeley and McDonald are having everything their own way this week.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Wilson & Cameron, the California grotesque team; Filson & Earl, sketch artists, and the Donaldson Brothers, the contortionists who set the medical faculty of kangaroo land in wonder at their defiance of the laws of nature in their contortions, arrived from Australia to-day. They gave a performance in the Hawaiian Opera House, Honolulu, Feb. 11th, to a large audience.

Wilson & Cameron report that the show business is generally good in Australia and that the Gaylor-Silbon Combination is reaping a harvest of "punds." Hicks' Minstrels are also doing well.

The track for the six-day walking match was surveyed and lined out by the city surveyor. It is eight laps to the mile. If only one man covers 525 miles in the race he gets all the terminal money; if only two, 60 and 40 per cent; if three go over the line the percentages will be 50, 30 and 20; and so on in ratio until if ten should make 525 miles, a thing hardly possible, the first man would receive 40 per cent and the last man to make the score 4 per cent of a half of the receipts and prize money.

Mme. Girard Geyer's wonderful fountain and classical groupings is the strongest attraction the Wigwam management have played. On every side it was conceded to surpass anything of the kind ever attempted in this city.

In assuming the management of the Bella Union stage next week Mr. Chas. Reese comes to us credited to full honors from the Comique, Butte City, where he has occupied the same position for many months. He brings with him from the North Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher and Geo. W. Drew. Our local talent will have to look well to their laurels.

Standard, Seattle, new people for week of Feb. 18th: Valvo, Marxelle, Flora Story, Del Bartino, Lillie Bailey, Annie Devere and Mamie Milledge.

Den Howe has assumed the management of the Theatre Comique, Butte City. It goes without saying that he will meet with decided success in this arrangement.

Standard, Portland, Feb. 18th: Gerry Sisters, Fitz & Devine, Camillo, Schwert Bros., Ida Howell and all the old favorites of last week.

Elite Theatre, Tombstone, Feb. 18th: Gilbert & Hickey, Lillie Bailey, Vernie Vernell, Post & Ashley, Tilne Bouton, Harry Cobley, Ella Gardner and Chas. A. Boone.

During the present week John S. McMahon, the Apollo Belvidere of the arena, an acknowledged champion equestrian and general athlete, will divide the honors with the everywhere popular Farini [illegible] to advertisement elsewhere in these columns.

Theatre Comique, Spokane Falls, new people for week of Feb. 18th: Derville Family, Frankie Howard, Geyer & Lord, Maggie Forrest and Eva Wood.

The variety theatre in Eugene City, Or., was burned at 5 o'clock A. M. Feb. 18th. Nothing was saved. The loss is estimated at about $1500. This was the theatre that lately came under the control of Manager Cort.

Sapho, Dolph Levino's latest sensation, and the two sparrers, McCauley and McEvoy, are the big cards at the Cremorne this week.

In Butte City Frank Monroe & Co. have a little place, the Pleasure Theatre, at present this week the Oatley Sisters, Whitney & McCree, Hughes & Oxford, Mack Simms, Lillie Carroll, Dolly Morton, Maud Haney, Ace Levoy, Mabel Rivers and Mattie Blair.

Elm St. Theatre, Trinidad, Col., Feb. 18th: Edna Irvine, Paul Gufort, Minnie Witt, Henderson & Troxell, Freddie Bradley, Will Barron, May Henderson and Eva Irvine.

GOOD-BY OR HOWDY-DO.

Say good-by or howdy-do—
What's the odds betwixt the two?
Comin'—goin' every day—
Best friends first to go away—
Grasp of hands you'd ruther hold
Than their weight in solid gold.
Slips their grip while greeting you
Say good-by or howdy-do.

Howdy-do and then good-by—
Mixes just like laugh and cry;
Deaths and births, and worst and best
Tangled their contrariest;
Every jinglin' weddin' bell
Skeerin' up some funeral knell—
Here's my song and there's your sigh;
Howdy-do and then good-by

Say good-by or howdy-do—
Just the same to me and you;
'Taint worth while to make no fuss,
'Cause the job's put up on us;
Some one's running this concern
That's got nothing else to learn—
If He's willing we'll pull through,
Say good-by or howdy-do!

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Chas. Frohman is making preparations for the staging of Robert Ellsmere. Vanderfelt, now supporting Modjeska, will play the title role and will start at once for New York. John T. Sullivan, now in Europe with Mansfield, will have the part of Richard Langham, Ellsmere's friend. Dorothy Dorr will create the role of Catherine, Ellsmere's wife. Ada Dyas may take the female comedy part.

Fanny Rice has signed to remain at the New York Casino another year.

Louis Harrison has introduced his new topical song, "When Chung-a Lung Reaches High C," into "The Pearl of Pekin." It has made a decided hit.

Howard P. Taylor, the old California dramatist who has resided in New York for the last ten years, arrived from the East to-day.

Mr. Phil. J. Stressinger, late assistant manager of the Waverly Theatre, Chicago, has arrived in San Francisco. He will assume a position of trust at the Orpheum. Mr. Stressinger was very popular with the newspaper fraternity of Chicago, and it will not be long before he will make himself a favorite. Mr. Stressinger is accompanied by his wife, who is in ill health, and it was more on her account that he accepted the flattering offer made him.

The widow of Frank E. Rae died at Hartford, Feb. 6th, and was buried by the side of her husband in Evergreen Cemetery by the Actors' Fund.

Harbor Lights was a dead failure at Wallack's, N. Y., but it has been a financial success ever since.

Charles Hoyt says he has made $7,000 on A Midnight Bell—$4 000 on its production in San Francisco and $3,000 for a one-half interest sold to his partner, Mr. Thomas.

A Hole in the Ground, turned away a great many people from the New Bush last night.

J. K. Emmet has decided to call his new play Uncle Joe instead of Fritz in a Madhouse.

Whistling station agent Lawton is still supplying information as to Hole in the Ground train to the delayed passengers, and is still ambitious of becoming superintendant. His melodious whistling solos are as enjoyable as ever.

Said Pasha opens for a two weeks' engagement at the Star Theatre in New York next week.

Ben Teal and Geo. Jessop have written a melodrama called "The Coston Light," which will illuminate the New York stage next fall.

Hoyt is cute enough to move his black-stockinged girls around on his dramatic checkerboard every season so that the different cities get a new deal. Misses Hoyt, Comstock and Stevens are missing from the "Hole in the Ground," and in their place we have some pretty new girls—tailor-made girls—all of the same size.

Mme. Modjeska, with the aid and consent of Manager Hayman, will give a benefit matinee performance at the Grand Opera House, Washington's Birthday, for the aid of St. Joseph's Day Home, under the charge of the Sisters of the Holy Family. The box sheet for sale of tickets will be ready Thursday morning at Sherman & Clay's.

Coquelin and Hading opened at Palmer's, N. Y., Feb. 18th, in L'Etrangere, and drew a large audience. Coquelin denies that there was any unpleasantness between Mme. Hading and himself in San Francisco, but declares that after this engagement is ended he will never play with Hading again.

Pauline Hall thinks the reason why Lillian Russell refuses to wear tights is because her knees and ankles are in exceedingly bad shape, somewhat after the Langtry style.

Louis James and his wife, Marie Wainwright, have agreed to separate. Mrs. James will sail for Europe in March, and will remain abroad until the Fall season commences.

Mabel Bert has left McKee Rankin. She appeared in Philadelphia, Feb. 18th, as Rachel in Held by the Enemy. Her New York debut will be at the Grand Opera House March 11th.

Lawrence Barrett, the sonsie man, wires that Modjeska will play with Booth

Fred Ward begins his annual engagement at the Baldwin next week. The first week will be given to The Mountebank, while the second will be devoted to William Tell, characters that Mr. Warde has never appeared in here before.

Howard Taylor, who was in the printing business here ten years ago, is the father of the following plays since his taking up residence in New York: The Little Pauper, Crissy, Nina, Drummer in Petticoats, Spasms (the two latter are farce comedies), Infatuation, The Widow, The Flaxen Charmer, Dimples, The Little Sinner, Chick, The Pretty Teameter and one other as yet unchristened. We may classify Snowflake, his play produced at the Grand Opera House as its opening attraction, as the god-mother of the brood.

Mr. Grismer is the abused husband and Miss Davies the unappreciative wife in the "Banker's Daughter" at the Alcazar this week.

WEDNESDAY..... FEBRUARY 20, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

☞ Extra matinees at the Bush, Alcazar, Orpheum and Vienna on Friday, Washington's Birthday.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

A Hole in the Ground, one of the best plays of that Dickens of farcical comedy writers, Chas. H. Hoyt, will be this week's bill at this theatre. It comes to us with all the popular impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Bamden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle is nightly filled with fashionable audiences, and people are turned away from all three circles, as the house overflows everywhere.

Extra matinee Washington's Birthday. Regular matinee Saturday.

Baldwin Theatre.

J. K. Emmett, in "Fritz," this week, supported by his own company. Mr. Emmett presents a new version of "Fritz," and as his engagement is limited to this week his admirers will have to be prompt in their attendance. His easy and jaunty way, his fine voice and presence, and his personal magnetism have given Emmett a stronger hold on the public than any other Dutch comedian.

Mr. Emmett is an admirable German, and plays true to nature; he has to respond to repeated encores. Miss Barrington renders good support. Plimlimmon is a handsome animal; it is a pity the exigencies of the play kill him so soon.

Next week, Frederick Warde in The Mountebank.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

The Banker's Daughter, Bronson Howard's notably good and successful play, with its clever dialogue and bright comedy element, will entertain the Alcazar audiences this week.

The performance is a good one, and the piece is effectively played. Mr. Grismer is the hero of the piece; John Strebelow is a part that seems to suit him to a nicety. Miss Davies' Lillian and Miss Brandon's Florence prove the versatility of these favorites.

No star better understands the value of a sufficient number of people on the stage and handsome settings than does Mr. Grismer, and he finds a ready helper in Manager Wallenrod, and as a consequence we are given the picture complete in every detail.

Next week's attraction will be Michael Strogoff, a character which Mr. Grismer invests with soldierly force and dignity. The piece is to be staged with great effects.

Matinee, Washington's Birthday.

Grand Opera House.

Thursday evening the Handel and Hayden Society will present for the first time H J Stewart's new oratorio "The Nativity," at the Grand. Special features of the concert will be the playing of Madame Camilla Urso, the celebrated violinist, of Mendelssohn's concerto "The Inflammatus" from the "Stabat Mater." A fugue in C minor by Mr. John Parrott, Jr., and the Hallelujah Chorus from "The Messiah" will be rendered. A deal of interest is taken by our musical loving society people in some

Orpheum Opera House.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Company have proved a deservedly drawing card.

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany is a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She is a great favorite, if not the Mascot of the company. Senorita Goyzueta, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senors Rodrigues, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio. Those who have appeared have impressed their audience very favorably.

To-night the Spanish Opera Company appear in the popular opera of "Innocencia." The sale of seats is large.

A change of opera every night. See programme for the week in the Orpheum's advertisement elsewhere.

Opera matinee Sunday.

Extra matinee, Washington's Birthday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

Stormy Waters, a startling drama, for this week, the last of Mr. Thornton's engagement. With the capacious stage and its scenic appointments, ably supported by the competent stock company that is Morosco's good fortune to have at his popular house, Mr. Thornton's sensational play has a strong presentation.

Again Mr. Thornton plays a dual role, Harry Hastings and Sir Henry Caruthers. Mr. Brophy is the scheming villian, who nearly succeeds in his plots. Miss Tittel, as Richard's unacknowledged wife, has a part which she plays with great feeling.

Next week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy in the funniest of all comedies, Muldoon's Picnic.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2 000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions this week at the Vienna consisting of the Stirk Family, 5 Jolly Voyagers, the troupe of Russian Skaters (late of Barnum's Circus), the three King Sisters, three Classical Gymnasts, Annie Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

Extra matinee Washington's Birthday.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

Albert Hosmer commences an engagement here this week in the drama depicting frontier life in Texas, entitled A Life for a Lash. The play has plenty of vim in it.

Mr. Hosmer has made himself very popular with a large class of our theatre-goers, and Manager Huffman will find it difficult to accommodate them all this week.

We understand Mr. Hosmer's engagement is limited to four weeks.

The company in support are very good, and the specialties introduced are of the best.

The little house is in a prosperous condition. Business improves every week.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people for this week are Hattie Stuart, Joe Bowers, Signor Antonio Martinez, Maria Leona, Gardner & Bernard, May Madison and Clarence Boyd.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Matinees every Sunday.

Friday evening, Feb. 22nd, a farewell benefit will be given Arnold and Gardner, who have played a long and successful engagement. Geo. H. Wood and Raymon Moore head the list of volunteers.

Chas. Reese will assume the management of the stage Monday, February 25th, and bring

NEXT WEEK

Central Park—The First Circus.

Farini's Great Australian Circus, united with McMahon's Great World's Circus, will give a short circus season at Central Park, commencing on Thursday night.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's lady riders are noted for their daring and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. First matinee Washington's Birthday; two performances a day after, afternoon and evening.

Mechanics' Pavilion The 6-Days Race.

The great World's International 6-day-go-as-you-please race commences at the Pavilion on Thursday at 10 P M. The money awards offered by Manager Hall have brought here the champions of the world to compete against each other for the valuable prizes. There can be no doubt but that the race will be one of the most noted ones in history. The struggle between the best men in the world will be an earnest one, and with the aid of our vitalizing and even climate to help the contesting champions record smashing is confidentially looked for.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino's fine spectacular piece, entitled Sapho, is the great feature of the bill this week. It is full of new effects and musical specialties and is a great go. Levino is an artist in his line of business.

This week, first appearance of Morton & Goldie.

Earth & Lorraine, the elastic swells, together with Jack McCauley and Tom McEllwain, sparrers. The sparrers are doing some very clever work.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Belle Almont, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale, composed by Matt Trayers, entitled The Needle. Tommy Morris introduces his original specialty, entitled Whiskers 10 Cents a Bag. This is followed by the laughable comedy, entitled Brown's Bad Boy. The evening winds up with the amusing act, "Nothing Else to Do."

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are nine lady vocalists this week.

Rose Lonsdale, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Bob McDonald Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The funny act, The Three Plumbers, and the amusing Spanish Can-Can are original and very clever. Dunham, Berkeley and McDonald are having everything their own way this week.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

We hear that the Mascot Theatre, Sacramento, is suffering a stress of very bad weather, and that the Comique will close in March. Manager Browne is too careful a manager to take any chances when business is bad.

Billy Frasier, the well known light weight pugilist, who fought Jack Dempsey, Jack McAuliff and others, is now preaching. Feb. 17th he delivered a sermon in Boston before the Young Men's Christian Association. Those who heard him say he will surely make his mark as a speaker.

Bernard Dyllyn, of the Hallen & Hart Co., has signed with My Aunt Bridget Co. for next season.

Lieut. Traiss is the only one of H. W. Williams' Co. who is coming to California with Williams' Number Two Co.

John Kernell will go with Tony Pastor's traveling company the present season. In the Fall he will head the Kernell, Lester & Williams' London Specialty Company.

Martin & Lonsdale, the fine musical sketch team, will leave for Portland on Wednesday, Feb. 27th, to open at Clinton's Theatre Royal on March 4th for a long engagement. They carry with them elegant new wardrobes and a lot of entirely new and original sketches.

The young Appollo, Leslie Morosco, will make his grand slide for life from the dome of the theatre to the stage next week at Morosco's.

Fred T. Herbert, Whiting Bros., Miss May Waldron, Mills & Mills, Pat Foy, Wilson & Marks and Cummings & La Mouse are the new people at the Fountain Theatre, Kansas City, this week.

Wilson & Cameron, the California grotesque team; Filson & Earl, sketch artists, and the Donaldson Brothers, the contortionists who set the medical faculty of kangaroo land in wonder at their defiance of the laws of nature in their contortions, arrived from Australia 20th. They gave a performance in the Hawaiian Opera House, Honolulu, Feb. 11th, to a large audience.

Wilson & Cameron report that the show business is generally good in Australia and that the Gaylor-Silbon Combination is reaping a harvest of "punds." Hicks' Minstrels are also doing well.

The track for the six-day walking match was surveyed and lined out by the city surveyor. It is eight laps to the mile. If only one man covers 525 miles in the race he gets all the terminal money; if only two, 60 and 40 per cent; if three go over the line the percentages will be 50, 30 and 20; and so on in ratio until if ten should make 525 miles, a thing hardly possible, the first man would receive 40 per cent and the last man to make the score 1 per cent of a half of the receipts and prize money.

The Clifford Sisters left on Wednesday to fill an engagement at the Theatre Comique, Butte City. Booked by FIGARO Agency.

Mme. Girard Geyer's wonderful foun[illegible] and classical groupings is the strongest attraction in the Wigwam management have played. On every side it was conceded to surpass anything of the kind ever attempted in this city.

In assuming the management of the Bella Union stage next week Mr. Chas. [illegible] seems to be credited to full comers from the Comique, Butte City, where he [illegible] the same position for many months. He brings with him from the North Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher and Geo. W. Drew. Our local talent will have to look well to their laurels.

During the present week John S. McMahon, the Apollo Belvidere of the [illegible], the acknowledged champion equestrian and general athlete, will divide the honors with the everywhere popular Farini according to advertisement elsewhere in our columns.

Sapho, Dolph Levino's latest sensation, and the two sparrers, McCauley and McEllwain, are the big cards at the Cremorne this week.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. Nine ladies are

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Mme. Janauschek will follow the Grismers at the Alcazar, if report speaks truly. She is playing this week in Kansas City.

The widow of Frank E. Rae died at Hartford, Feb. 6th, and was buried by the side of her husband in Evergreen Cemetery by the Actors' Fund. The memory of that good old couple, who were residents with us for several years, though Frank was a little too declamatory at times, can awaken none but the kindliest of thoughts. They passed through the vicissitudes of an always struggling professional life from the days of '44, when Frank first took to the boards at Mitchell's Olympic Theatre, 444 Broadway, New York, to a ripe old age with garments unsullied by vice. Honored be their memories.

The Wednesday matinee at the Bush yesterday was the largest ever given at the theatre. All three galleries were filled.

The Twenty-Fourth Industrial Exposition of the Mechanics' Institute will open at the Pavilion on August 27th and close October 5th. The art department will be attractive in oil and water-color painting, black and white sculpture and photography. A musical programme will be rendered every afternoon and evening by an orchestra of fifty eminent performers. At all times everything possible will be done by the management for the comfort and convenience of visitors.

Fred Ward begins his annual engagement at the Baldwin next week. The first week will be given to The Mountebank, while the second will be devoted to William Tell, characters that Mr. Warde has never appeared in here before.

Joseph Wheelock had counted a great deal upon the play that Mrs. Mary H. Fiske was writing for him, one act of which she had completed at the time of her death.

After sinking $15 000 of her own on the production of Macbeth, and about as much more for Eugene Tompkins, Mrs. Langtry is satisfied that the venture is a failure. The business done was simply "rocky."

The Bunch of Keys Co., after their Omaha engagement, April 10th, jump direct to San Francisco on the Golden Gate special, and open at the New Bush Street Theatre.

Maude Granger has purchased a new play from J. K. Tillottson, entitled Dens and Palaces, which will be produced at Niblo's Garden, N. Y., March 4th, with Miss Granger as the star.

Prof. Herrmann, the magician, has been the recipient of many social honors at Washington, D. C.

The Emma Abbott Opera Co. are singing to excellent business in the South.

Howard P. Taylor, the old California dramatist who has resided in New York for the last ten years, arrived from the East Wednesday.

Mr Phil. J. Stressinger, late assistant manager of the Waverly Theatre, Chicago, has arrived in San Francisco. He will assume a position of trust at the Orpheum. Mr. Stressinger was very popular with the newspaper fraternity of Chicago, and it will not be long before he will make himself a favorite. Mr. Stressinger is accompanied by his wife, who is in ill health, and it was more on her account that he accepted the flattering offer made him.

Mme. Modjeska, with the aid and consent of Manager Hayman, will give a benefit matinee performance at the Grand Opera House, Washington's Birthday, for the aid of St. Joseph's Day Home, under the charge of the Sisters of the Holy Family. The box sheet for sale of tickets will be ready Thursday morning at Sherman & Clay's.

Henry E. Dixey will be seen next season in the long-promised burlesque of Faust.

Walter Gale, the Happy Jack of the Denman Thompson Company, will sail for England June 5

Thatcher, Primrose and West will put a piece entitled Up to the Times on the road next season.

Mr. James Barrows, who has made a hit in Le Moyne's part in The Wife company, has been engaged to play the Irish sergeant in the coming production of Shenandoah.

W. L Mullaly, the leader, has severed his connection with Dickstein's Minstrels, and joins the Natural Gas. He signed a contract with John Russell for another season, also.

Why is it that when the daughter of a corner grocery store keeper deserts the mercantile for the stage and her aim to play small parts all the papers announce that another society belle has decided to go on the stage?

Sophie Eyre has at last succeeded in finding a play of which she thinks highly. Its name is Larissa. The anticipation of its prospective success has had a beneficial effect upon the physical and mental ailment under which she has been suffering since her arrival from London in New York. A. M. Palmer has kindly placed at her disposal Palmer's Theatre for a matinee performance at an early date.

The summer tour of Thatcher, Primrose and West's Minstrels has been completely arranged. Under Hayman's management they will play for fifteen weeks, their tour beginning at Kansas City and extending through this state, Virginia, Nevada, Utah and Colorado. At many points they are to receive large certainties. The company will number sixty people, and it will be

THURSDAY.....FEBRUARY 21, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

☞ Extra matinees at the Bush, Alcazar, Baldwin and Vienna on Friday, Washington's Birthday.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

A Hole in the Ground, one of the best plays of that Dickens of farcical comedy writers, Chas. H. Hoyt, will be this week's bill at this theatre. It comes to us with all the popular impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Ramden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle is nightly filled with fashionable audiences, and people are turned away from all three circles, as the house overflows everywhere.

Extra matinee Washington's Birthday. Regular matinee Saturday.

Baldwin Theatre.

J. K. Emmett, in "Fritz," this week, supported by his own company. Mr. Emmett presents a new version of "Fritz," and as his engagement is limited to this week his admirers will have to be prompt in their attendance. His easy and jaunty way, his fine voice and presence, and his personal magnetism have given Emmett a stronger hold on the public than any other Dutch comedian.

Mr. Emmett is an admirable German, and plays true to nature; he has to respond to repeated encores. Miss Barrington renders good support. Plimlimmon is a handsome animal; it is a pity the exigencies of the play kill him so soon.

Next week, Frederick Warde in The Mountebank.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

The Banker's Daughter, Bronson Howard's notably good and successful play, with its clever dialogue and bright comedy element, will entertain the Alcazar audiences this week.

The performance is a good one, and the piece is effectively played. Mr. Grismer is the hero of the piece; John Strebelow is a part that seems to suit him to a nicety. Miss Davies' Lillian and Miss Brandon's Florence prove the versatility of these favorites.

No star better understands the value of a sufficient number of people on the stage and handsome settings than does Mr. Grismer, and he finds a ready helper in Manager Wallenrod, and as a consequence we are given the picture complete in every detail.

Next week's attraction will be Michael Strogoff, a character which Mr. Grismer invests with soldierly force and dignity. The piece is to be staged with great effects.

Matinee, Washington's Birthday.

Grand Opera House.

This (Thursday) evening, the Handel and Hayden Society will present for the first time H. J. Stewart's new oratorio "The Nativity," at the Grand. Special features of the concert will be the playing of Madame Camilla Urso, the celebrated violinist, of Mendelssohn's concerto "The Inflammatus" from the "Stabat Mater." A chorus of 200 voices, under the direction of Mr. John Parrott, Jr., will render the choral numbers.

Orpheum Opera House.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Company have proved a deservedly drawing card.

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany is a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She is a great favorite, if not the Mascot of the company. Senorita Goyzueta, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senors Rodriguez, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allessio. Artists and company have impressed their audiences very favorably.

To-night the Spanish Opera Company appear in the popular opera of "El Anillo de Hierro," (The Ring of Iron). The sale of seats is large.

Extra matinee, Washington's Birthday.

A change of opera every night. See programme for the week in the Orpheum's advertisement elsewhere.

Opera matinee Sunday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

Stormy Waters, a startling drama, for this week, the last of Mr. Thornton's engagement. With the capacious stage and its scenic appointments, ably supported by the competent stock company that is Morosco's good fortune to have at his popular house, Mr. Thornton's sensational play has a strong presentation.

Again Mr. Thornton plays a dual role, Harry Hastings and Sir Henry Caruthers. Mr. Brophy is the scheming villian, who nearly succeeds in his plots. Miss Tittel, as Richard's unacknowledged wife, has a part which she plays with great feeling.

Next week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy in the funniest of all comedies, Muldoon's Picnic.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, an assurity that the performances will be first-class.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions this week at the Vienna consisting of the Stirk Family, 5 Jolly Voyagers, the troupe of Russian Skaters (late of Barnum's Circus), the three King Sisters, three Classical Gymnasts, Annie Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

Extra matinee Washington's Birthday.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

Albert Hosmer commences an engagement here this week in the drama depicting frontier life in Texas, entitled A Life for a Lash. The play has plenty of vim in it.

Mr. Hosmer has made himself very popular with a large class of our theatre-goers, and Manager Huffman will find it difficult to accommodate them all this week.

We understand Mr. Hosmer's engagement is limited to four weeks.

The company in support are very good, and the specialties introduced are of the best.

The little house is in a prosperous condition. Business improves every week.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Next week, The Crimes of a Great City, a sensational melodrama

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people for this week are Hattie Stuart, Joe Bowers, Signor Antonio Martinez, Maria Leona, Gardner & Bernard, May Madison and Clarence Boyd.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Matinees every Sunday.

Friday evening, Feb. 22nd, a farewell benefit will be given Arnold and Gardner, who have played a long and successful engagement. Geo. H. Wood and Raymon Moore head the list of volunteers.

Chas. Reese will assume the management of the stage Monday, February 25th, and bring

Central Park—The First Circus.

Farini's Great Australian Circus, united with McMahon's Great World's Circus, will give a short circus season at Central Park, commencing on Thursday night.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's lady riders are noted for their daring and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. First matinee Washington's Birthday; two performances a day after, afternoon and evening.

Mechanics' Pavilion The 6-Days Race.

The great World's International 6-day-go-as-you-please race commences at the Pavilion on Thursday at 10 P. M. The money awards offered by Manager Hall have brought here the champions of the world to compete against each other for the valuable prizes. There can be no doubt but that the race will be one of the most noted ones in history. The struggle between the best men in the world will be an earnest one, and with the aid of our vitalizing and even climate to help the contesting champions record smashing is confidentially looked for.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino's fine spectacular piece, entitled Sapho, is the great feature of the bill this week. It is full of new effects and musical specialties and is a great go. Levino is an artist in his line of business.

This week, first appearance of Morton & Goldie.

Barth & Lorraine, the elastic swells, together with Jack McCauley and Tom McElwain, sparrers. The sparrers are doing some very clever work.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Mabel Harrison, Reta Gardner, Susie Levino, Effie Hull, Maggie Gordon and others form the female staff of the company.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Belle Almont, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale, composed by Matt Trayers, entitled The Needle. Tommy Morris introduces his original specialty, entitled Whiskers 10 Cents a Bag. This is followed by the laughable comedy, entitled Brown's Bad Boy. The evening winds up with the amusing act, "Nothing Else to Do."

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The three La Martine Bros., M'lle Garretta (whose Australian emu debuts as a performer), Miss Minnie Pierce and Miss Helen Conklin are the novelty features at the Vienna next week.

Miss Kittie Wilson, character vocalist, and Louie O'Dell, comedian and dancer, are next week's new faces at the Comique.

Billy Arnold had a big benefit at the Bella Union last night. Billy has a host of friends.

Miss Edith Montrose has separate fencing contests, to a finish, with Prof. Melville and Capt. Martin at Seaside Gardens, Sunday. We are preparing the Professor's and the Captain's obituaries. Information appertaining thereto thankfully received at this office.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Co. open at the Orpheum March 4th. This will be their first visit to California.

Kennedy, the mesmerist, and the talented and versatile Stirk Family and Charley Nelson will sail for Australia Tuesday.

We hear that the Mascot Theatre, Sacramento, is suffering a stress of very bad weather, and that the Comique will close in March. Manager Browne is too careful a manager to take any chances when business is bad.

Bernard Dyllyn, of the Hallen & Hart Co., has signed with My Aunt Bridget Co. for next season.

Lieut. Trairs is the only one of H. W. Williams' Co. who is coming to California with Williams' Number Two Co.

John Kernell will go with Tony Pastor's traveling company the present season. In the Fall he will head the Kernell, Lester & Williams' London Specialty Company.

Martin & Lonsdale, the fine musical sketch team, will leave for Portland on Wednesday, Feb. 27th, to open at Clinton's Theatre Royal on March 4th for a long engagement. They carry with them elegant new wardrobes and a lot of entirely new and original sketches.

The young Appollo, Leslie Morosco, will make his grand slide for life from the dome of the theatre to the stage next week at Morosco's.

Wilson & Cameron, the California grotesque team; Filson & Earl, sketch artists, and the Donaldson Brothers, the contortionists who set the medical faculty of kangaroo land in wonder at their defiance of the laws of nature in their contortions, arrived from Australia 20th. They gave a performance in the Hawaiian Opera House, Honolulu, Feb. 11th, to a large audience.

Wilson & Cameron report that the show business is generally good in Australia and that the Gaylor-Silbon Combination is reaping a harvest of "pounds." Hicks' Minstrels are also doing well.

The Clifford Sisters left on Wednesday, to fill an engagement at the Theatre Comique, Butte City. Booked by FIGARO Agency.

Mme. Girard Geyer's wonderful fountain and classical groupings is the strongest attraction the Wigwam management have played. On every side it was conceded to surpass anything of the kind ever attempted in this city.

In assuming the management of the Bella Union stage next week Mr. Chas. Reese comes to us credited to full honors from the Comique, Butte City, where he has occupied the same position for many months. He brings with him from the North Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher and Geo. W. Drew. Our local talent will have to look well to their laurels.

Sapho, Dolph Levino's latest sensation, and the two sparrers, McCauley and Mc-Cain, are the big cards at the Cremorne this week.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. Nine ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

Wright is cute enough to move his black-stockinged girls around on his dramatic checkerboard every season so that the different [illegible] look like new ones.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Mme. Janauschek will follow the Grismers at the Alcazar. Effie Ellsler follows the tragedienne with the hard name to spell.

The Washington's Birthday matinee at the Bush was very large. All three tiers were filled.

W. H. Powers will scatter the Ivy Leaf around the Alcazar stage some time this season.

Mrs. Chas. J. Edmonds will be Kiralfy's Dame Barbara the rest of the season.

Manager Leavitt has made some great bookings for his new Bush Street, albeit he is very quiet about it.

Patti will visit us once more but not for a year yet, so we shall have time to save a few more dollars for the fair singer.

Frank Aiken, a favorite on the slope, will be in the cast of Little Lord Fauntleroy when it has its California presentation.

Geo. C. Staley will star here in a new play by Scott Marble next season.

Mr. Adolph Sutro has addressed a long and exhaustive open letter to the Legislature of California for the preservation of the seals on Seal Rocks. He argues that as there are over 15,000 seals about the immediate entrance to the harbor, the killing of a few on the rocks at the Cliff House would only frighten the rest away, but that they would go no farther than the Farallones, Point Reyes, Point San Pedro and other rockeries along the coast. His argument is well taken and we hope it will have its effect at Sacramentoo. The entire letter is too long to admit of reprinting in our columns.

J. H. Haverly of minstrel managing fame is in town with the intent of sailing for Australia on a non-professional visit very shortly.

Farini and McMahon's Circus have made an instantaneous hit. The large tent is filled at every performance. The entertainment is first-class in every respect. They remain for a short season only.

Next week will be the last of the Spanish Opera Co. at the Orpheum, and the best of programmes has been arranged. The repertoire is as follows: Zampa for Monday night and Saturday matinee; Juramento, Tuesday; Wednesday, benefit of Sra. Alemany, Galatea in 2 acts by Masse and a concert.

Thursday evening and Sunday matinee, Traviata; Friday evening, benefit of Senor Labrada, Gerra Santa (Michael Strogoff) with introduction of new Spanish dance, repeated on Saturday evening; Sunday evening, Grand Duchess and benefit of Senor Gutierrez.

The widow of Frank E. Rae died at Hartford, Feb. 6th, and was buried by the side of her husband in Evergreen Cemetery by the Actors' Fund. The memory of that good old couple, who were residents with us for several years, though Frank was a little too declamatory at times, can awaken none but the kindliest of thoughts. They passed through the vicissitudes of an always struggling professional life from the days of '44, when Frank first took to the boards at Mitchell's Olympic Theatre, 444 Broadway, New York, to a ripe old age with garments unsullied by vice. Honored be their memories.

The Twenty-Fourth Industrial Exposition of the Mechanics' Institute will open at the Pavilion on August 27th and close October 5th. The art department will be attractive in oil and water-color painting, black and white sculpture and photography. A musical programme will be rendered every afternoon and evening by an orchestra of fifty eminent performers. At all times everything possible will be done by the management for the comfort and convenience of visitors.

"Spike" Hennessy and "Kid" McCoy who are doing the safe cracking act in "The Stow away" were royally entertained recently in St. Joseph Mo., by some of the old friends and sympathizers of the James' gang. McCoy was formerly a leading spirit in the depredations of the famous James brothers, and was always called upon to do the fine work. Has he reformed? And who would not be an actor?

Fred Ward begins his annual engagement at the Baldwin next week. The first week will be given to The Mountebank, while the second will be devoted to William Tell, characters that Mr. Warde has never appeared in here before.

After sinking $15 000 of her own on the production of Macbeth, and about as much more for Eugene Tompkins, Mrs. Langtry is satisfied that the venture is a failure. The business done was simply "rocky."

The Bunch of Keys Co., after their Omaha engagement, April 10th, jump direct to San Francisco on the Golden Gate special, and open at the New Bush Street Theatre.

Maude Granger has purchased a new play from J. K. Tillottson, entitled Dens and Palaces, which will be produced at Niblo's Garden, N. Y., March 4th, with Miss Granger as the star.

Prof. Herrmann, the magician, has been the recipient of many social honors at Washington, D. C.

Three horses and as many jockeys will be employed in the realistic race scene in A County Fair in which Neil Burgess will appear at Proctor's new Twenty-third Street Theatre, New York.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

A Hole in the Ground, one of the best plays of that Dickens of farcical comedy writers, Chas. H. Hoyt, will be this week's bill at this theatre. It comes to us with all the popular impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Ramden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle is nightly filled with fashionable audiences, and people are turned away from all three circles, as the house overflows everywhere.

See cast in programme advertisement.

Baldwin Theatre.

J. K. Emmett, in "Fritz," to-night, supported by his own company, for the last time.

Frederick Warde commences his engagement at the Baldwin next week as Belphegor in The Mountebank, supported by his own company, with E. J. Henderson, Adele Belgarde and Stella Boniface in the leads. The play is a standard one of the emotional class, though it has not been performed in this city for a long time.

Alcazar Theatre.

Joe. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

The Banker's Daughter, Bronson Howard's notably good and successful play, with its clever dialogue and bright comedy element, will entertain the Alcazar audiences this week.

The performance is a good one, and the piece is effectively played. Mr. Grismer is the hero of the piece; John Strebelow is a part that seems to suit him to a nicety. Miss Davies' Lillian and Miss Brandon's Florence prove the versatility of these favorites.

No star better understands the value of a sufficient number of people on the stage and handsome settings than does Mr. Grismer, and he finds a ready helper in Manager Wallenrod, and as a consequence we are given the picture complete in every detail.

Next week's attraction will be Michael Strogoff, a character which Mr. Grismer invests with soldierly force and dignity. The piece is to be staged with great effects.

Orpheum Opera House.

Cantelis & Pastor's Madrid Opera Company have proved a deservedly drawing card.

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany is a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She is a great favorite, if not the Mascot of the company. Senorita Goyzueta, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senors Rodriguez, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Seno Vincent d'Allesio.

By general request, the popular opera of La Tempestad will be given to-night and for Sunday matinee.

Sunday evening, Donna Juanita.

Next week, last week of the Opera Company. Monday, Zampa.

Tuesday night, Juramento.

A change of opera every night. See programme for the week in the Orpheum's advertisement elsewhere.

Opera matinee Sunday.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

Stormy Waters, a startling drama, for this week, the last of Mr. Thornton's engagement. With the capacious stage and its scenic appointments, ably supported by the competent stock company that is Morosco's good fortune to have at his popular house, Mr. Thornton's sensational play has a strong presentation.

Again Mr. Thornton plays a dual role, Harry Hastings and Sir Henry Caruthers. Mr. Brophy is the scheming villian, who nearly succeeds in his plots. Miss Tittel, as Richard's unacknowledged wife, has a part which she plays with great feeling.

Next week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy in the funniest of all comedies, Muldoon's Picnic.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, and is making a very popular family theatre.

Sunday, last night of the Stirk Family, the troupe of Russian Skaters (late of Barnum's Circus), the three King Sisters, and the three Classical Gymnasts.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions next week at the Vienna: M'lle Garretta and her bevy of trained pigeons, cockatoos, parrots and, for the first time, her Australian emu; the three famed gymnasts, La Martine Brothers; Miss Minnie Pierce, aerial artiste; Helen Conklin, Chas. Morrell and his banjo, Annie Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

The People's Theatre.

Albert Hosmer commences an engagement here this week in the drama depicting frontier life in Texas, entitled A Life for a Lash. The play has plenty of vim in it.

Mr. Hosmer has made himself very popular with a large class of our theatre-goers, and Manager Huffman will find it difficult to accommodate them all this week.

We understand Mr. Hosmer's engagement is limited to four weeks.

The company in support are very good, and the specialties introduced are of the best.

The little house is in a prosperous condition. Business improves every week.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Next week, The Crimes of a Great City, a sensational melodrama.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people for this week are Hattie Stuart, Joe Bowers, Signor Antonio Martinez, Maria Leona, Gardner & Bernard, May Madison and Clarence Boyd.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; the Whalens; F. J. Tierney, Burnell, John P. Brace, Judd London, Talbot & Cunningham, Eva Mackey and other old favorites remain.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Matinees every Sunday.

Chas. Reese will assume the management of the stage Monday, February 25th, and bring with him many new Eastern faces.

The new people for next are: Charles Reese, Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher, Geo. Drew, Jennie Hayward, Della Turner and Lou Hayden.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino's fine spectacular piece, entitled Sapho, is the great feature of the bill this week. It is full of new effects and musical specialties and is a great go. Levino is an artist in his line of business.

This week, first appearance of Morton & Goldie.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Gibbons & Ford, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

Mabel Harrison, Reta Gardner, Susie Levino, Effie Hull, Maggie Gordon and others form the female staff of the company.

Central Park—The First Circus.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent dan skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Mechanics' Pavilion The 6-Days Race.

The great World's International 6-day-go-as-you-please race is the sensation of the town at the Pavilion. The money awards offered by Manager Hall have brought here the champions of the world to compete against each other for the valuable prizes. There can be no doubt but that the race will be one of the most noted ones in history. The struggle between the best men in the world will be an earnest one, and with the aid of our vitalizing and even climate to help the contesting champions it is no wonder that they are smashing the records. The walkers are making great time.

Frank Hart, the colored mercury, made 131 1-8th miles in his first 24 hours, beating the record for that time by nearly three miles, and winning the $500 purse hung up for any man that could do it.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Belle Almont, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale, composed by Matt Trayers, entitled The Needle. Tommy Morris introduces his original specialty, entitled Whiskers 10 Cents a Bag. This is followed by the laughable comedy, entitled Brown's Bad Boy. The evening winds up with the amusing act, "Nothing Else to Do."

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Miss Kittie Wilson, the character vocalist and male impersonator, and Louis O'Dell, vocalist, comedian and dancer, put in new appearances next week.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company. There are nine lady vocalists this week.

The favorite musical sketch artists, Martin & Lonsdale, are the new faces this week. They open in their latest success, Flirtation.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The three La Martine Bros., M'lle Garretta (whose Australian emu debuts as a performer) Miss Minnie Pierce and Miss Josie Conklin are the novelty features at the Vienna this week.

Miss Kittie Wilson, character vocalist, and Lizzie O'Dell, comedian and dancer, are this week's new faces at the Comique.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company at the Orpheum March 4th, will be their last visit to California.

Kennedy, the mesmerist, and the talented and versatile Sisk Family and Charley Nelson will sail for Australia Tuesday.

Bernard Dyllyn, of the Hallen & Hart Co., has signed with My Aunt Bridget Co. for next season.

Lieut. Travis is the only one of H. W. Williams' Co. who is coming to California with Williams' Number Two Co.

John Kernell will go with Tony Pastor's traveling company the present season. In the Fall he will head the Kernell, Lester & Williams' London Specialty Company.

Martin & Lonsdale, the fine musical sketch team, will leave for Portland on Wednesday, Feb. 27th, to open at Cline's Theatre Royal on March 4th for a long engagement. They carry with them elegant new wardrobes and a lot of entirely new and original sketches.

The young Apollo, Leslie Morosco, will make his grand slide for life from the dome of the theatre to the stage this week at Morosco's.

Wilson & Cameron, the California grotesque team; Filson & Earl, sketch artists, and the Donaldson Brothers, the contortionists who set the medical faculty of kangaroo land in wonder at their defiance of the laws of nature in their contortions, arrived from Australia 20th. They gave a performance in the Hawaiian Opera House, Honolulu, Feb. 11th, to a large audience.

Wilson & Cameron report that the show business is generally good in Australia and that the Gaylor-Silbon Combination is reaping a harvest of "punds." Hicks' Minstrels are also doing well.

Mme. Girard Geyer's wonderful fountain and classical groupings is the strongest attraction the Wigwam management have played. On every side it was conceded to surpass anything of the kind ever attempted in this city.

In assuming the management of the Bella Union stage this week Mr. Chas. Reese comes to us credited to full honors from the Comique, Butte City, where he has occupied the same position for many months. He brings with him from the North Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher and Geo. W. Drew. Our local talent will have to look well to their laurels.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. Nine ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

Hoyt is cute enough to move his black-stockinged girls around on his dramatic checkerboard every season so that the different cities get a new deal. Misses Hoyt, Tyrrell and Stevens are missing from the "Hole in the Ground," and in their place we have some pretty new girls—tailor-made girls—all of the same size.

The Bunch of Keys Co., after their Omaha engagement, April 10th, jump direct to San Francisco on the Golden Gate special, and open at the New Bush Street Theatre.

Maude Granger has purchased a new play from J. K. Tillottson, entitled Dens and Palaces, which will be produced at Niblo's Garden, N. Y., March 4th, with Miss Granger as the star.

Prof. Herrmann, the magician, has been the recipient of many social honors at Washington, D. C.

Three horses and as many jockeys will be employed in the realistic race scene in A Country Fair in which Neil Burgess will appear at the Tivoli Opera House, Market Street

GOOD-BY OR HOWDY-DO.

Say good-by or howdy-do—
What's the odds betwixt the two?
Comin'—goin' every day—
Best friends first to go away—
Grasp of hands you'd rather hold
Than their weight in solid gold.
Slips their grip while greeting you
Say good-by or howdy-do.

Howdy-do and then good-by—
Mixes just like laugh and cry;
Deaths and births, and worst and best
Tangled their contrariest;
Every jinglin' weddin' bell
Skeerin' up some funeral knell—
Here's my song and there's your sigh;
Howdy-do and then good-by.

Say good-by or howdy-do—
Just the same to me and you;
'Taint worth while to make no fuss,
'Cause the job's put up on us;
Some one's running this concern
That's got nothing else to learn—
If He's willing we'll pull through,
Say good-by or howdy-do!

—JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Mme. Janauschek will follow the Grismers at the Alcazar. Effie Ellsler follows the tragedienne with the hard name to spell.

W. H. Powers will scatter the Ivy Leaf around the Alcazar stage some time this season.

Mrs. Chas. J. Edmonds will be Kiralfy's Dame Barbara the rest of the season.

Manager Leavitt has made some great bookings for his new Bush Street, albeit he is very quiet about it.

Patti will visit us once more but not for a year yet, so we shall have time to save a few more dollars for the fair singer.

Frank Aiken, a favorite on the slope, will be in the cast of Little Lord Fauntleroy when it has its California presentation.

Geo. C. Staley will star here in a new play by Scott Marble next season.

Mr. Adolph Sutro has addressed a long and exhaustive open letter to the Legislature of California for the preservation of the seals on Seal Rocks. He argues that as there are over 15,000 seals about the immediate entrance to the harbor, the killing of a few on the rocks at the Cliff House would only frighten the rest away, but that they would go no farther than the Farallones, Point Reyes, Point San Pedro and other rookeries along the coast. His argument is well taken and we hope it will have its effect at Sacramentoo. The entire letter is too long to admit of reprinting in our columns.

J. H. Haverly of minstrel managing fame is in town with the intent of sailing for Australia on a non-professional visit very shortly.

Farini and McMahon's Circus have made an instantaneous hit. The large tent is filled at every performance. The entertainment is first-class in every respect. They remain for a short season only.

This week will be the last of the Spanish Opera Co. at the Orpheum, and the best of programmes has been arranged. The repertoire is as follows: Zampa for Monday night and Saturday matinee; Juramento, Tuesday; Wednesday, benefit of Sra. Alemany, Galatea in 2 acts by Masse and a concert.

Thursday evening and Sunday matinee, Traviata; Friday evening, benefit of Senor Labrada, Gerra Santa (Michael Strogoff) with introduction of new Spanish dance, repeated on Saturday evening; Sunday evening, Grand Duchess and benefit of Senor Gutierrez

The widow of Frank E. Rae died at Hartford, Feb 6th, and was buried by the side of her husband in Evergreen Cemetery by the Actors' Fund. The memory of that good old couple, who were residents with us for several years, though Frank was a little too declamatory at times, can awaken none but the kindliest of thoughts. They passed through the vicissitudes of an always struggling professional life from the days of '44, when Frank first took to the boards at Mitchell's Olympic Theatre, 444 Broadway, New York, to a ripe old age with garments unsullied by vice. Honored be their memories.

The Twenty-Fourth Industrial Exposition of the Mechanics' Institute will open at the Pavilion on August 27th and close October 5th. The art department will be attractive in oil and water-color painting, black and white sculpture and photography. A musical programme will be rendered every afternoon and evening by an orchestra of fifty eminent performers. At all times everything possible will be done by the management for the comfort and convenience of visitors.

Said Pasha goes to New York for the first time this week at the Star Theatre.

"Spike" Hennessy and "Kid" McCoy who are doing the safe cracking act in "The Stow away" were royally entertained recently in St. Joseph Mo., by some of the old friends and sympathizers of the James' gang. McCoy was formerly a leading spirit in the depredations of the famous James brothers, and was always called upon to do the fine work. Has he reformed? And who would not be an actor?

Fred Ward begins his annual engagement at the Baldwin this week. The first week will be given to The Mountebank, while the second will open with William Tell, characters that Mr. Warde has never appeared in here before.

After sinking $15 000 of her own on the production of Macbeth, and about as much more for Eugene Tompkins, Mrs. Langtry is satisfied that the venture is a failure. The business done was simply

EVENING EDITION

MONDAY.....FEBRUARY 25, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

A Hole in the Ground, that has done the best week's business ever recorded at the Bush, is in its last week. It is presented with all the impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Ramden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle is nightly filled with fashionable audiences, and people are turned away from all three circles, as the house overflows everywhere every night.

See cast in programme advertisement.

Baldwin Theatre.

Frederick Warde commences his engagement at the Baldwin this week as Belphegor in The Mountebank, supported by his own company, with E. J. Henderson, Adele Belgarde and Stella Boniface in the leads. The play is a standard one of the emotional class, though it has not been performed in this city for a long time. Wilson Barrett revived a new version in London and made a run with it. Mr. Warde also plays a new adaptation, with which he achieved a success in the East.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This week's attraction will be Michael Strogoff, a strong, picturesque and intensely dramatic play, that has opportunities for scenic as well as dramatic sensations that hrve been carefully taken advantage of by the management. The play will be produced in a spectacular form, and will be staged with great effect.

No star better understands the value of a sufficient number of people on the stage and handsome settings than does Mr. Grismer, and he finds a ready helper in Manager Wallenrod, and as a consequence we are given the stage pictures complete in every detail.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company have been engaged for an extra week, in which they will produce an entire new repertoire of grand and comic operas, that have proved a deservedly drawing card.

The Orpheum has an opera boom. Senora Alemany is a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She is a great favorite, if not the Mascot of the company. Senorita Goyzueta, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senors Rodriguez, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four mediums, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio.

To-night, Zampa.

Tuesday night, the grand opera of Juramento.

Bijou Theatre.

Ben Cotton and his daughter, Idalene Cotton, are the attractions at the Bijou Theatre in a series of comedy dramas, supported by their own company Ben, who ranks as the best negro performer on the stage, plays a darky character in each of the four plays that are to be given, while the talented Miss Idalene does the soubrette and heroines.

Monday and Tuesday, The Old Home.

Wednesday and Thursday, Black Diamonds, a comedy drama.

Friday night and Saturday matinee, Wild Flowers, a sensational play.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy in the funniest of all comedies, Muldoon's Picnic. What was at first only a sketch, has been elaborated so as to include Morosco's whole company. The piece now is full of fun, catching songs, nimble dances and humorous situations.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen has purchased this old established family resort, and has greatly improved it every way, at an outlay of some $2,000.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, and is making a very popular family theatre.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions this week at the Vienna: M'lle Garretta and her bevy of trained pigeons, cockatoos, parrots and, for the first time, her Australian emu; the three famed gymnasts, La Martine Brothers; Miss Minnie Pierce, aerial artiste; Helen Conklin, Chas. Morrell and his banjo, Annis Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

The new Vienna is in the popular swim and has had its turn of turning people away.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

This week, The Crimes of a Great City, a sensational melodrama. Mr. Hosmer appears in his great characters of "A party by the name of Johnson" and "Old Kirby."

Mr. Hosmer has made himself very popular with a large class of our theatre-goers, and full houses are to be seen at this little theatre every night.

The company in support are very good, and the specialties introduced are of the best.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week are: Chas. Reese, Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher, Geo. Drew, Jennie Hayward, Della Turner and Lou Hayden.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino's fine spectacular piece, entitled Sapho, is the great feature of the bill this week. It is full of new effects and musical specialties and is a great go. Levino is an artist in his line of business.

The Buffalo Trio, formed of those clever performers and harmonious vocalists, Mason, Miller and Mason, and Miss Flora Hastings, the popular vocalist, are the new faces this week.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Hayes and Marion, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

On Friday night, March 1st, Jack McCauley and Dick Townsend in an eight-round contest.

Central Park—The First Circus.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

The patronage has been excellent since the opening night Even the rain has had but little if any effect upon the numbers in attendance.

Mechanics' Pavilion The 6-Days Race.

The great World's International 6-day-go-as-you-please race is the sensation of the town at the Pavilion. The money awards offered by Manager Hall have brought here the champions of the world to compete against each other for the valuable prizes. There can be no doubt but that the race will be one of the most noted ones in history. The struggle between the best men in the world will be an earnest one, and with the aid of our vitalizing and even climate to help the contesting champions it is no wonder that they are smashing the records. The walkers are making great time.

Frank Hart, the colored mercury, made 131 1-8th miles in his first 24 hours, beating the record for that time by nearly three miles, and winning the $500 purse hung up for any man that could do it.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Kittie Wilson, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Kittie Wilson, the character vocalist and male impersonator, and Louis O'Dell, vocalist, comedian and dancer, put in new appearances this week.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Louis O'Dell in his pleasing parlor pastime. This is followed by the laughable comedy, entitled Thompson's Dead. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Dark Deeds.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Mr. James Tiernan, the great baritone, and Musical Fletcher, the universal favorite, are the new people added to the strong bill presented this week.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, James Tiernan, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill, as it has proved a great attraction.

The Eureka gives a matinee every Sunday at 2 P. M

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Manager Harris wants to sign Julian "Umpire" Mitchell, of A Hole in the Ground Co., for umpire for the California League.

The Eureka Music Hall had a good attendance last night. The new people were warmly greeted and the entire bill had not a frosty number in it.

Gus Guerrero and Courtwright will run a fifty mile race for $500 as soon as the six-day race is over. The race will come off at the Pavilion, starting at 10 P. M. to-morrow night.

The score of the leaders in the six-day race stood at 3 P. M. to-day: Moore, 410½; Hart, 409; Howarth, 405; Pat Guerrero, 365; Vint, 352, and Old Sport, 339. Moore, Hart and Howarth were making running spurts around the track, struggling for advantages, joined once in awhile by Old Sport for a lap or two, Moore showed exhaustion, Hart had his left leg bandaged up, and Howarth was troubled some with bleeding at the nose; otherwise they are doing quite well.

The six-day race draws largely. To-night's visitors will see in addition to the regular men on the track a ten-mile race between Gus Guerrero and Cartwright, the short distance champion of England, for $100; to start at 10 P. M.

The young lady who poses against some upright planks in the circus for the knife-thrower to hurl his knives at, and see how close he can come to her without hitting her, had a startling experience last night. The first knife thrown pierced the flesh of her arm hidden by the drapery, and the feat became an actually "impaling" one. She stood the test without moving until the knife was withdrawn, which was the first intimation the thrower had of the situation. That young lady has nerve—but not enough to pose for that knife-thrower any more.

The three La Martine Bros., M'lle Garretta (whose Australian emu debuts as a performer), Miss Minnie Pierce and Miss Helen Conklin are the novelty features at the Vienna this week.

A newly improved gallery at the Wigwam and a reconstructed stage at the People's Theatre add largely to the comfort of their patrons.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Co. open at the Orpheum March 4th. This will be their first visit to California.

Kennedy, the mesmerist, and the talented and versatile Stirk Family and Charley Nelson sailed for Australia to-day.

John Kernell will go with Tony Pastor's traveling company the present season. In the Fall he will head the Kernell, Lester & Williams' London Specialty Company.

The young Appollo, Leslie Morosco, will make his grand slide for life from the dome of the theatre to the stage this week at Morosco's.

Wilson & Cameron, the California grotesque team; Filson & Earl, sketch artists, and the Donaldson Brothers, the contortionists who set the medical faculty of kangaroo land in wonder at their defiance of the laws of nature in their contortions, arrived from Australia 20th. They gave a performance in the Hawaiian Opera House, Honolulu, Feb. 11th, to a large audience.

In assuming the management of the Bella Union stage this week Mr. Chas. Reese comes to us credited to full honors from the Comique, Butte City, where he has occupied the same position for many months. He brings with him from the North Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher and Geo. W. Drew. Our local talent will have to look well to their laurels.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Bill Mestayer met Frank Lawton, the railroad agent of A Hole in the Ground, en route, and said in his bluff way, "Hello, Frank, what makes you so thin?" "Whistling." "D——d if I don't have a whistling part in my next piece," was the fat one's reply.

Poor Harry Russell, who has been ill for a long time, is now an inmate of the Almshouse.

Charles O. Maubry is under treatment at a private insane asylum. Domestic difficulties and the morphine habit have undermined his once vigorous constitution.

Chas. A. Byrne and Arthur Wallack have just finished an emotional play called Gwendolen, which is exceedingly well suited to a female star. The scenes of the new play are laid in England.

James A. Herne's Drifting Apart seems to have made a hit with society people of Chicago, and large theatre parties were the rule at nearly every performance last week.

Mme. Janauschek will follow the Grismers at the Alcazar. Effie Ellsler follows the tragedienne with the hard name to spell.

W. H. Powers will scatter the Ivy Leaf around the Alcazar stage some time this season.

Mrs. Chas. J. Edmonds will be Kiralfy's Dame Barbara the rest of the season.

Manager Leavitt has made some great bookings for his new Bush Street, albeit he is very quiet about it.

Patti will visit us once more but not for a year yet, so we shall have time to save a few more dollars for the fair singer.

Frank Aiken, a favorite on the slope, will be in the cast of Little Lord Fauntleroy when it has its California presentation.

Geo. C. Staley will star here in a new play by Scott Marble next season.

J. H. Haverly of minstrel managing fame is in town with the intent of sailing for Australia on a non-professional visit very shortly.

Farini and McMahon's Circus have made an instantaneous hit. The large tent is filled at every performance. The entertainment is first-class in every respect. They remain for a short season only.

This week will be the last of the Spanish Opera Co. at the Orpheum, and the best of programmes has been arranged. The repertoire is as follows: Juramento, to-night; Wednesday, benefit of Sra. Alemany, Galatea in 2 acts by Masse and a concert.

Thursday evening and Sunday matinee, Traviata; Friday evening, benefit of Senor Labrada, Gerra Santa (Michael Strogoff) with introduction of new Spanish dance, repeated on Saturday evening; Zampa for Saturday matinee; Sunday evening, the Grand Duchess and benefit of Senor Gutierrez.

Said Pasha goes to New York for the first time this week at the Star Theatre.

Fred Ward begins his annual engagement at the Baldwin this week. The first week will be given to The Mountebank, while the second will open with William Tell, characters that Mr. Warde has never appeared in here before.

The Bunch of Keys Co., after their Omaha engagement, April 10th, jump direct to San Francisco on the Golden Gate special, and open at the New Bush Street Theatre.

Maude Granger has purchased a new play from J. K. Tillottson, entitled Dens and Palaces, which will be produced at Niblo's Garden, N. Y., March 4th, with Miss Granger as the star.

Prof. Herrmann, the magician, has been the recipient of many social honors at Washington, D. C.

Three horses and as many jockeys will be employed in the realistic race scene in A County Fair in which Neil Burgess will appear at Proctor's new Twenty-third Street Theatre, New York.

A Hole in the Ground, turned away a great many people from the New Bush last week.

Henry E. Dixey will be seen next season in the long-promised burlesque of Faust.

Bernard Dyllyn, of the Hallen & Hart Co., has signed with My Aunt Bridget Co. for next season.

Hoyt is cute enough to move his black-stockinged girls around on his dramatic checkerboard every season so that the different cities get a new deal. Misses Hoyt, Comstock and Stevens are missing from the "Hole in the Ground," and in their place we have some pretty new girls—tailor-made girls—all of the same size.

FACTS FROM NEW YORK.

Little Lord Fauntleroy continues to draw crowded houses at the Broadway Theatre.

An International Match is a failure at Daly's and is not drawing very well. The Taming of the Shrew is underlined for an early revival.

Mrs. Langtry's present engagement at the Fifth Avenue is a disappointment. The house was about half full at every performance of Macbeth, and As You Like It did not draw much better.

J. Wesley Rosenquest's first season as manager of the Bijou Opera House is a most successful one and shows a handsome profit up to date.

Mrs. Potter's Cleopatra was a financial success at Palmers Theatre.

Last week a contract was signed between Joseph Jefferson and Wm. J. Florence to star jointly next season.

It is a fact that Fanny Davenport has made more money with La Tosca than she did with Fedora.

EVENING EDITION

TUESDAY.....FEBRUARY 26, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

A Hole in the Ground, that has done the best week's business ever recorded at the Bush, is in its last week. It is presented with all the impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Ramden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle is nightly filled with fashionable audiences, and people are turned away from all three circles, as the house overflows everywhere every night.

See cast in programme advertisement.

Baldwin Theatre.

Frederick Warde commences his engagement at the Baldwin this week as Belphegor in The Mountebank, supported by his own company, with E. J. Henderson, Adele Belgarde and Stella Boniface in the leads. The play is a standard one of the emotional class, though it has not been performed in this city for a long time. Wilson Barrett revived a new version in London and made a run with it. Mr. Warde also plays a new adaptation, with which he achieved a success in the East.

Mr. Warde's work is good and well sustained throughout, and at times he rises to a high pitch of dramatic power. The support is generally good and the play is well worth seeing. The old melodramas have still a great hold on the people.

An extra performance on Sunday night, when Damon and Pythias will be given.

Next week a diversified bill: William Tell, Virginius and Gaston Cadol.

Alcazar Theatre.

Joe. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This week's attraction will be Michael Strogoff, a strong, picturesque and intensely dramatic play, that has opportunities for scenic as well as dramatic sensations that have been carefully taken advantage of by the management. The play will be produced in a spectacular form, and will be staged with great effect.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are very acceptable in their parts which they play to the evident satisfaction of the large audiences.

No star better understands the value of a sufficient number of people on the stage and handsome settings than does Mr. Grismer, and he finds a ready helper in Manager Wallenrod, and as a consequence we are given the stage pictures complete in every detail.

Next week will see the latest London success, The Calthorpe Case, presented for the first time in America.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company, that have proved a deservedly drawing card, have been engaged for an extra week, in which they will produce an entire new repertoire of grand and comic operas.

Sra. Alemany is a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She is a great favorite, if not the Mascot of the company. Senorita Goyzueta, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Alessio.

To-night, the grand opera of Juramento.

A change of opera every night. See programme for the week in the Orpheum's advertisement elsewhere.

Last opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

Bijou Theatre.

Ben Cotton and his daughter, Idalene Cotton, are the attractions at the Bijou Theatre in a series of comedy dramas, supported by their own company Ben, who ranks as the best negro performer on the stage, plays a darky character in each of the plays that are to be given, while the talented Miss Idalene does the soubrette and heroines.

There is a certain geniality and go in the Cottons and their pieces that make them both popular favorites.

To-night, The Old Home.

Wednesday and Thursday, Black Diamonds, a comedy drama.

Friday night and Saturday matinee, Wild Flowers, a sensational play.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy in the funniest of all comedies, Muldoon's Picnic. What was at first only a sketch, has been elaborated so as to include Morosco's whole company. The piece now is full of fun, catching songs, nimble dances and humorous situations.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen still continues his improvements at the Vienna. He is having the stage stocked with entire new scenery, and a family restaurant opens on the Sutter street front this week.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, and is making a very popular family theatre.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions this week at the Vienna: M'lle Garretta and her bevy of trained pigeons, cockatoos, parrots and, for the first time, her Australian emu; the three famed gymnasts, La Martine Brothers; Miss Minnie Pierce, aerial artiste; Helen Conklin, Chas. Morrell and his banjo, Annie Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week, The Crimes of a Great City, a sensational melodrama. Mr. Hosmer appears in his great characters of "A party by the name of Johnson" and "Old Kirby," giving force and strength to his dramatic scenes, and humor and naturalness to his drunken ones. In E. N. Thayer, Walter Von Rosen, Robert E. Vernon, Miss Lillian Lawrence, and the company generally, he has good material in his casts.

Mr. Hosmer has made himself very popular with a large class of our theatre-goers, and full houses are the rule.

The pier scene in the third act, in which a steamer is seen to arrive and depart and a ship's boat rescue a drowning man is a very effective one.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," will be next week's bill.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week are: Chas. Reese, Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher, Geo. Drew, Jennie Hayward, Della Turner and Lou Hayden.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino's fine spectacular piece, entitled Sapho, is the great feature of the bill this week. It is full of new effects and musical specialties and is a great go. Levino is an ler and Mason, and Miss Flora Hastings, the popular vocalist, are the new faces this week.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Hayes and Marion, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

On Friday night, March 1st, Jack McCauley and Dick Townsend in an eight-round contest.

Central Park—The First Circus.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

The patronage has been excellent since the opening night. Even the rain has had but little if any effect upon the numbers in attendance.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Mechanics' Pavilion—The 6-Days Race.

The great World's International 6-day-go-as-you-please race closes Wednesday night at 10 o'clock. The walkers have done great work. The score of the leaders at 2 P. M. to day was: Moore, 410½; Hart, 409; Howarth, 405.

To-night at 10 o'clock a 10 mile race will be run by Gus Guerrero and Cartwright for $100.

The walkers are making great time, and the struggle has been a very close one and promises to be so to the end, to morrow night.

Frank Hart, the colored mercury, who made 131 miles in his first 24 hours, beating the record for that time by nearly three miles, and winning the $500 purse hung up for any man that could do it, is the favorite for winner.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Kittie Wilson, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Kittie Wilson, the character vocalist and male impersonator, and Louis O'Dell, vocalist, comedian and dancer, put in new appearances this week.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Louis O'Dell in his pleasing parlor pastime. This is followed by the laughable comedy, entitled Thompson's Dead. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Dark Deeds.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill, as it has proved a great attraction.

EVENING EDITION

WEDNESDAY..... FEBRUARY 27, 1889

FULL PROGRAMMES of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco can be found in FIGARO—the only paper that has them.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The score of the leaders in the six-day race stood at 4 P. M to-day: Moore, 502; Hart, 503; Howarth, 456; Pat Guerrero, 402; Vint, 363, and Old Sport, 376. Moore and Hart were trailing each other around the track, with Hart six laps ahead. These will be the only walkers that will reach the 525 limit at 10 to-night.

Martin & Lonsdale left for the North yesterday. They are booked ahead for 3 months.

Manager Harris wants to sign Julian "Umpire" Mitchell, of A Hole in the Ground Co., for umpire for the California League.

The young lady who poses against some upright planks in the circus for the knife-thrower to hurl his knives at, and see how close he can come to her without hitting her, had a startling experience on Monday. The first knife thrown pierced the flesh of her arm hidden by the drapery, and the feat became an actually "impaling" one. She stood the test without moving until the knife was withdrawn, which was the first intimation the thrower had of the situation. That young lady has nerve—but not enough to pose for that knife-thrower any more.

The three La Martine Bros., M'lle Garretta (whose Australian emu debuts as a performer), Miss Minnie Pierce and Miss Helen Conklin are the novelty features at the Vienna this week.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Co. open at the Orpheum March 4th. This will be their first visit to California.

In assuming the management of the Bella Union stage this week Mr. Chas. Reese comes to us credited to full honors from the Comique, Butte City, where he has occupied the same position for many months. He brings with him from the North Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher and Geo. W. Drew. Our local talent will have to look well to their laurels.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

Hoyt is cute enough to move his black-stockinged girls around on his dramatic checkerboard every season so that the different cities get a new deal. Misses Hoyt, Comstock and Stevens are missing from the 'Hole in the Ground," and in their place we have some pretty new girls—tailor-made girls—all of the same size.

BASEBALL.

The California League directors meet this week to adopt a schedule and transact other preliminary business for their season, which opens at the Haight Street ground on March 24th.

With the exception of Sacramento, the California League clubs are all made up and are as follows:

San Francisco — Iocell and Meegan, pitchers; Swett and Stockwell, catchers; Powers, first base; Hanly, second base; Doyle, third base; Donohue, shortstop, and Stockwell, Levy and Perrier in the outfield.

Oakland—Fudger and Coughlan, pitchers; Hardie and Dugdale, catchers; Dooley, first base; McDonald, second base; Smalley, third base; O'Neil, shortstop, and Hardie, Long and Cahill in the outfield

Stockton—Fairhurst and De Pangher, catchers; Baker, Harper and Hunolt, pitchers; Selna, first base; Byrne, second base; Stickney, third base; Whitehead, shortstop, and Moore, Sweeney and Howard in the outfield.

Sacramento will fill in its list this week, and there are so many new names on this list that no one can judge the strength

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Manager Rosenquest is making extensive preparations at the Fourteenth Street Theatre for a handsome production of James A. Herne's Drifting Apart on March 4th, with Catherine C. Herne and Mr. Herne and Mr. Herne as the stars, supported by a strong company, including Ida Mulle, Al Follin and Mrs. Frank E. Rea, who was recently reported dead, but is very much alive.—[Eddy's Squib.

What is the matter with the telegraphic dispatches? Every paper in 'Frisco published an obituary of Mrs. Rea, FIGARO included. It would not be a bad idea for some enterprising knight of the scissors to collect them and send them to the lady for Sunday reading. We never know the warm place we hold in the hearts of our friends until we are dead.

It comes to me through the gossips of the profession, and they are legion, that the announced separation of a certain pair of stars is not wholly due to a belief that such a course is financially better than that pursued by them up to this time.—[Eddy's Squib.

The Little Tycoon is doing a phenomenal business in the West and South. R. E. Graham has returned to the east and as General Knickerbocker has scored a greater success than ever. The San Francisco engagement of The Little Tycoon begins March 18th at the Bush Street Theatre.

Pauline Hall, who is being extensively boomed by the bicycle clubs in the West, will blossom out as a star next season at the head of a new comic opera company.

The statement that one of the graduates of the Boucicault school has been offered $4 a week to ush at one of the New York leading theatres is without foundation in fact.

Conried's Opera Company open at the Grand Opera House March 11th, for two weeks, in The King's Fool

An Uncle Tom's Cabin troupe, with five Topsies, gave a performance of Hamlet recently with six Hamlets and twelve ghosts.

Anxious enquirer is informed that a farce is not necessarily funny. We have seen farces that were positively funereal.

First nights are so popular that some of our leading managers are considering the advisability of having nothing else.

It is said that Mrs. W. J. Florence will retire permanently from the stage at the close of this season.

Fanny Davenport authorizes the statement that she will be married shortly to Melbourne McDonnell.

There is no mistaking the fact that Mrs. Langtry's legs, as they are to some extent exposed in the costume of Rosalind, are not a howling success. They are straight, to be sure, but, oh my, how narrow!

Bill Mestayer met Frank Lawton, the railroad agent of A Hole in the Ground, en route, and said in his bluff way, "Hello, Frank, what makes you so thin?" "Whistling." "D——d if I don't have a whistling part in my next piece," was the fat one's reply.

Poor Harry Russell, who has been ill for a long time, is now an inmate of the Almshouse.

Charles O. Maubry is under treatment at a private insane asylum. Domestic difficulties and the morphine habit have undermined his once vigorous constitution.

Chas. A. Byrne and Arthur Wallack have just finished an emotional play called Gwendolen, which is exceedingly well suited to a female star. The scenes of the new play are laid in England.

James A. Herne's Drifting Apart seems to have made a hit with society people of Chicago, and large theatre parties were the rule at nearly every performance last week.

This week will be the last of the Spanish Opera Company at the Orpheum. The repertoire is as follows:

Thursday evening and Sunday matinee, Traviata; Friday evening, benefit of Senor Labrada, Gerra Santa (Michael Strogoff) with introduction of new Spanish dance, repeated on Saturday evening; Zampa for Saturday matinee; Sunday evening, the Grand Duchess and benefit of Senor Gutierrez

'Stranger" Richards has picked up a halt and a skip, since last year, that is very taking.

Hoyt is writing a play which he will arrange for Stockwell, "A Texas Steer."

FACTS FROM NEW YORK.

Little Lord Fauntleroy continues to draw crowded houses at the Broadway Theatre.

An International Match is a failure at Daly's and is not drawing very well. The Taming of the Shrew is underlined for an early revival.

Mrs. Langtry's present engagement at the Fifth Avenue is a disappointment. The house was about half full at every performance of Macbeth, and As You Like It did not draw much better.

J. Wesley Rosenquest's first season as manager of the Bijou Opera House is a most successful one and shows a handsome profit up to date.

Mrs. Potter's Cleopatra was a financial success at Palmers Theatre.

Last week a contract was signed between Joseph Jefferson and Wm. J. Florence to star jointly next season.

It is a fact that Fanny Davenport has made more money with La Tosca than she did with Fedora.

EVENING EDITION

WEDNESDAY.....FEBRUARY 27, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

A Night in the Ground, that has done the best week's business ever recorded at the Bush, is in its last week. It is presented with all the improvisations of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "Italian-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with rivulets of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Ramden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle is nightly filled with fashionable audiences, and people are turned away from all three circles, as the house overflows everywhere every night.

See cast in programme advertisement.

Baldwin Theatre.

Frederick Warde commences his engagement at the Baldwin this week as Belphegor in The Mountebank, supported by his own company, with E. J. Henderson, Adele Belgarde and Ste la Bonifece in the leads. The play is a standard one of the emotional class, though it has not been performed in this city for a long time. Wilson Barrett revived a new version in London and made a run with it. Mr Warde also plays a new adaptation, with which he achieved a success in the East.

Mr. Warde's work is good and well sustained throughout, and at times he rises to a high pitch of dramatic power. The support is generally good and the play is well worth seeing. The old melodramas have still a great hold on the people.

An extra performance on Sunday night, when Damon and Pythias will be given.

Next week a diversified bill William Tell, Virginius and Gaston Gadol.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This week's attraction will be Michael Strogoff, a strong, picturesque and intensely dramatic play, that has opportunities for scenic as well as dramatic sensations that have been carefully taken advantage of by the management. The play will be produced in a spectacular form, and will be staged with great effect.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are very acceptable in their parts which they play to the evident satisfaction of the large audiences.

No man better understands the value of a sufficient number of people on the stage and handsome settings than does Mr. Grismer, and he finds a ready helper in Manager Wallenrod, and as a consequence we are given the stage pictures complete in every detail.

Next week will see the latest London success The Calthrope Case, presented for the first time in America.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company, that have proved a deservedly drawing card, have been engaged for an extra week, in which they will produce an entire new repertoire of grand and comic operas.

Sra Alemany is a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She is a great favorite, if not the Mascot of the company. Senorita Goyneta, the other prima donna, has also made a success and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senors Rodrigues, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio.

To-night, the magnificent opera of Galatea.

A change of opera every night. See programme for the week in the Orpheum's advertisement elsewhere.

Last opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

Bijou Theatre.

Ben Cotton and his daughter, Idalene Cotton, are the attractions at the Bijou Theatre in a series of comedy dramas, supported by their own company Ben, who ranks as the best negro performer on the stage, plays a darky character in each of the plays that are to be given, while the talented Miss Idalene does the soubrette and heroines.

There is a certain geniality and go in the Cottons and their pieces that make them both popular favorites.

To-night and Thursday, Black Diamonds, a comedy drama.

Friday night and Saturday matinee, Wild Flowers, a sensational play.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy in the funniest of all comedies, Muldoon's Picnic. What was at first only a sketch, has been elaborated so as to include Morosco's whole company. The piece now is full of fun, catching songs, nimble dances and humorous situations.

LeRoy ranks as one of the best Muldoons on the Eastern stage, and the flavor of Kelly's Mulcahy has a local celebrity. The piece has a good cast, and its fun and humor is irresistibly presented.

In the third act, young Leslie Morosco does an artistic tight-wire act, changing his costume on the wire, and finishing with a grand Japanese slide for life, from the dome of the theatre to the stage, and Miss Minnie Tittel, Jessie Norton and others add specialties.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen still continues his improvements at the Vienna. He is having the stage stocked with entire new scenery, and a family restaurant opens on the Sutter street front this week.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, and is making a very popular family theatre.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions this week at the Vienna: M'lle Garretta and her bevy of trained pigeons, cockatoos, parrots and, for the first time, her Australian emu; the three famed gymnasts, La Martine Brothers; Miss Minnie Pierce, aerial artiste; Helen Conklin, Chas. Morrell and his banjo, Annie Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week, The Crimes of a Great City, a sensational melodrama. Mr. Hosmer appears in his great characters of "A party by the name of Johnson" and "Old Kirby," giving force and strength to his dramatic scenes, and humor and naturalness to his drunken ones. In E N. Thayer, Walter Von Rosen, Robert E. Vernon, Miss Lillian Lawrence, and the company generally, he has good material in his casts.

Mr. Hosmer has made himself very popular with a large class of our theatre-goers, and full houses are the rule.

The pier scene in the third act, in which a steamer is seen to arrive and depart and a ship's boat rescue a drowning man is a very effective one.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," will be next week's bill.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week are: Chas. Reese, Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher, Geo. Drew, Jennie Hayward, Della Turner and Lou Hayden.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

HARRY KELLER'S SPECIALTY &

THEIR FIRST VISIT TO CALIFORN

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino's fine spectacular piece, entitled Sapho, is the great feature of the bill this week. It is full of new effects and musical specialties and is a great go. Levino is an artist in his line of business.

The Buffalo Trio, formed of those clever performers and harmonious vocalists, Mason, Miller and Mason, and Miss Flora Hastings, the popular vocalist, are the new faces this week.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Hayes and Marion, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

On Friday night, March 1st, Jack McCauley and Dick Townsend in an eight-round contest.

Central Park—The First Circus.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

The patronage has been excellent since the opening night. Even the rain has had but little if any effect upon the numbers in attendance.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Mechanics' Pavilion—The 6-Days Race.

The great World's International 6-day-go-as-you-please race closes this evening at 10 o'clock. The walkers have done great work. The score of the leaders at 2 P. M. to-day was: Hart, 503; Moore, 502; Howarth, 456.

Frank Hart, the colored mercury, who made 131 miles in his first 24 hours, beating the record for that time by nearly three miles, and winning the $500 purse hung up for any man that could do it, is the favorite for winner.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Kittie Wilson, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Kittie Wilson, the character vocalist and male impersonator, and Louis O'Dell, vocalist, comedian and dancer, put in new appearances this week.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Louis O'Dell in his pleasing parlor pastime. This is followed by the laughable comedy, entitled Thompson's Dead. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Dark Deeds.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Mr. James Tiernan, the great baritone, and Musical Fletcher, the universal favorite, are the new people added to the strong bill presented this week.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, James Tiernan, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill, as it has proved a great attraction.

THURSDAY..... ...FEBRUARY 28, 1889

FULL PROGRAMMES of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco can be found in FIGARO—the only paper that has them.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

There is one donkey in town that for a time refused to support the press. He holds the fort at the Alcazar, and he has four legs. Sometimes he knows his cue and goes on. More times he won't and don't.

The Grismers are getting Youth ready for the Alcazar patrons. It will follow The Calthorpe Case and will be produced on a grand scale. The Veteran Guard of California, G. A. R., will assist in the battle scene.

Sra. Alemany took her benefit last night, and at the end of the drinking song in Galatea was showered with bouquets and white doves by her admirers. It is the custom in Europe to throw the doves from the boxes onto the stage, but it is a long time since it has been done in San Francisco. In the short concert which followed the fair prima donna sang the Kiss Waltz (by Arditi) divinely and had to repeat it. The last number was La Paloma. All we can say is it has never been sung here before. This must have been the feeling also of another enthusiastic admirer, for he threw his hat onto the stage when the little lady made her reappearance. We suppose that is the Spanish way of conceding to an artist such as she is the first place.

Charles Coghlan denies the report that he has joined the blue ribbon army.

John A. Stevens is at work on a new play, which will be called Breach of Trust. Good title.

W. T. Carleton is having the biggest season he has ever encountered. He is about thirty thousand dollars ahead up to date.

Lewis Morrison's Faust has certainly caught on in Philadelphia. It is playing to good houses at Herrmana's Broad St. Theatre, where it will remain until the week of March 11th.

Edgar Strakosch and Frank H. Paul will conduct a Spring season of English opera with a company comprising the strongest elements of the late Kellogg Opera Co. Hattie Avery will be the prima donna.

Manager Rosenquest is making extensive preparations at the Fourteenth Street Theatre for a handsome production of James A. Herne's Drifting Apart on March 4th, with Catherine C. Herne and Mr. Herne and Mr. Herne as the stars, supported by a strong company, including Ida Mulle, Al Follin and Mrs. Frank E. Rea, who was recently reported dead, but is very much alive.—[Eddy's Squib.

What is the matter with the telegraphic dispatches? Every paper in 'Frisco published an obituary of Mrs. Rea, FIGARO included. It would not be a bad idea for some enterprising knight of the scissors to collect them and send them to the lady for Sunday reading. We never know the warm place we hold in the hearts of our friends until we are dead.

The Little Tycoon is doing a phenomenal business in the West and South. R. E. Graham has returned to the cast and as General Knickerbocker has scored a greater success than ever. The San Francisco engagement of The Little Tycoon begins March 18th at the Bush Street Theatre.

First nights are so popular that some of our leading managers are considering the advisability of having nothing else.

It is said that Mrs. W. J. Florence will retire permanently from the stage at the close of this season.

There is no mistaking the fact that Mrs. Langtry's legs, as they are to some extent exposed in the costume of Rosalind, are not a howling success. They are straight, to be sure, but, oh my, how narrow!

This week will be the last of the Spanish Opera Company at the Orpheum. The repertoire is as follows: To-night, Traviata; Friday evening, benefit of Senor Labrada, Gerra Santa (Michael Strogoff) with introduction of new Spanish dance, repeated on Saturday evening; Zampa for Saturday matinee; Sunday evening, the Grand Duchess and benefit of Senor Gutierrez; Sunday matinee, Traviata.

Hoyt is writing a play which he will arrange for Stockwell, "A Texas Steer."

THE HEAVY STAGE VILLAIN.

He Suffers all Sorts of Ignominy and Has no Redress.

A writer in the London Playgoer describes the stage villain of the London stage as a gentleman who wears a clean collar and smokes a cigarette. That is how we know he is a villain. In real life it is difficult to tell a villain from an honest man, and this gives rise to mistakes; but on the stage villains wear clean collars and smoke cigarettes, and thus all fear of blunder is avoided. He has no power of repartee. The good people in the play say rude and insulting things to him, but he can never answer them—can never think of anything clever to say in return. "Ha, ha; wait till Monday week," is the most brilliant retort that he can make, and he has to get into a corner by himself to think of even that.

The stage villain's career is always easy and prosperous to within a minute of the end of an act or the play as the plot requires. Then he gets suddenly let in by the comic man. It always happens so. Yet the villain is intensely surprised each time. He never seems to learn anything from experience. A few years ago he used to be blessed with a hopeful and philosophical temperament, which enabled him to bear up under these constantly recurring disappointments. It was "no matter," he would say. Crushed for the moment though he might be, his buoyant heart never lost courage. He had a simple, child-like faith in providence. "A time will come," he would remark, and this idea consoled him. Of late, however, this trusting hopefulness appears to have forsaken him. We are sorry for this; we always regarded it as one of the finest traits in his character.

The stage villain's love for the heroine is sublime in its steadfastness. Nothing can alter his affection. She hates him, and insults and taunts him to an extent that is withering and unladylike. Every time he attempts to explain his devotion to her the hero comes in and knocks him down, or the comic man catches him making love to her and tells the "villagers" or the "guests," and they come around and nag him. We should think that the villain must grow to positively dislike the comic man before the piece is over. Notwithstanding all this he still hankers after her and swears she shall be his.

Really, the villain is not a bad-looking fellow, and, from what we know of the market, we should say there are plenty of other girls who would jump at him; yet, for the sake of settling down with this dismal young female for his wife, he is prepared to go through a laborious and exhausting course of crime and to be bullied and insulted by everyone he meets. His love sustains him under it all. He robs and forges and cheats and lies, and murders and arsons. If there were other crimes he could commit to win her love he would, for her sweet sake, commit them cheerfully. But he does not know any others and she still does not love him and what is he to do?

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Cort's Standard, Portland, Feb. 25th, new people: Millar Bros., Herne and Howard, Miss Bessie Bell, Jennie Melville, Nellie Lewis, Allen & Forres, Jennie Dixon and Millie Davenport.

Manager Harris wants to sign Julian "Umpire" Mitchell, of A Hole in the Ground Co., for umpire for the California League.

The three La Martine Bros., M'lle Garretta (whose Australian emu debuts as a performer), Miss Minnie Pierce and Miss Helen Conklin are the novelty features at the Vienna this week.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Co. open at the Orpheum March 4th. This will be their first visit to California.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

BASEBALL.

The California League directors meet this week to adopt a schedule and transact other preliminary business for their season, which opens at the Haight Street ground on March 24th.

With the exception of Sacramento, the California League clubs are all made up and are as follows:

San Francisco — Incell and Meegan, pitchers; Swett and Stockwell, catchers; Powers, first base; Hanly, second base; Doyle, third base; Donohue, shortstop, and Stockwell, Levy and Perrier in the outfield.

Oakland—Fudger and Coughlan, pitchers; Hardie and Dugdale, catchers; Dooley, first base; McDonald, second base; Smalley, third base; O'Neil, shortstop, and Hardie, Long and Cahill in the outfield.

Stockton—Fairhurst and De Pangher, catchers; Baker, Harper and Hunolt, pitchers; Selna, first base; Byrne, second base; Stickney, third base; Whitehead, shortstop, and Moore, Sweeney and Howard in the outfield.

Sacramento will fill in its list this week.

There are so many new names on this list that no one can judge the strength of each club, and it would be a wild conjecture to predict anything as to the outcome until they have all played a few games.

EVENING EDITION

THURSDAY.....FEBRUARY 28, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Sawtelle's New Bush Street Theatre.

A Hole in the Ground, that has done the best week's business ever recorded at the Bush, is in its last week. It is presented with all the impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Bamden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle is nightly filled with fashionable audiences, and people are turned away from all three circles, as the house overflows everywhere every night.

See cast in programme advertisement.

Baldwin Theatre.

Frederick Warde commences his engagement at the Baldwin this week as Belphegor in The Mountebank, supported by his own company, with E. J. Henderson, Adele Belgarde and Stella Boniface in the leads. The play is a standard one of the emotional class, though it has not been performed in this city for a long time. Wilson Barrett revived a new version in London and made a run with it. Mr. Warde also plays a new adaptation, with which he achieved a success in the East.

Mr. Warde's work is good and well sustained throughout, and at times he rises to a high pitch of dramatic power. The support is generally good and the play is well worth seeing. The old melodramas have still a great hold on the people.

An extra performance on Sunday night, when Damon and Pythias will be given.

Next week a diversified bill William Tell, Virginius and Gaston Cadol.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This week's attraction will be Michael Strogoff, a strong, picturesque and intensely dramatic play, that has opportunities for scenic as well as dramatic sensations that have been carefully taken advantage of by the management. The play will be produced in a spectacular form, and will be staged with great effect.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are very acceptable in their parts which they play to the evident satisfaction of the large audiences.

No star better understands the value of a sufficient number of people on the stage and handsome settings than does Mr. Grismer, and he finds a ready helper in Manager Wallenrod, and as a consequence we are given the stage pictures complete in every detail.

Next week will see the latest London success, The Calthorpe Case, presented for the first time in America.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company, that have proved a deservedly drawing card, have been engaged for an extra week, in which they will produce an entire new repertoire of grand and comic operas.

Sra Alemany is a decided hit, musically, dramatically and personally. She is a great favorite, if not the Mascot of the company. Senorita [illegible]rnets, the other prima donna, has also made a success, and Baritone Labrada jumped into fame at once by his wonderfully clever performance of Campanone in the opera of that name. Frances is one of the best lyric tenors we have ever had here.

Senors Rodriguez, Higuera, Vargas and Gutierrez proved themselves reliable artists. The chorus is well trained and good.

This is a fully organized opera company with four prima donnas, four primo tenors, four primo baritones, four basso profundos, four comedians, fifteen second-part singers, a chorus of forty schooled voices, and orchestra of twenty-five musicians under direction of Senor Vincent d'Allesio.

To-night, "La Traviata."

A change of opera every night. See programme for the week in the Orpheum's advertisement elsewhere.

Last opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

Bijou Theatre.

Ben Cotton and his daughter, Idalene Cotton, are the attractions at the Bijou Theatre in a series of comedy dramas, supported by their own company Ben, who ranks as the best negro performer on the stage, plays a darky character in each of the plays that are to be given, while the talented Miss Idalene does the soubrette and heroines.

There is a certain geniality and go in the Cottons and their pieces that make them both popular favorites.

To-night and Thursday, Black Diamonds, a comedy drama.

Friday night and Saturday matinee, Wild Flowers, a sensational play.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy in the funniest of all comedies, Muldoon's Picnic. What was at first only a sketch, has been elaborated so as to include Morosco's whole company. The piece now is full of fun, catching songs, nimble dances and humorous situations.

LeRoy ranks as one of the best Muldoons on the Eastern stage, and the flavor of Kelly's Mulcahy has a local celebrity. The piece has a good cast, and its fun and humor is irresistibly presented.

In the third act, young Leslie Morosco does an artistic tight-wire act, changing his costume on the wire, and finishing with a grand Japanese slide for life, from the dome of the theatre to the stage, and Miss Minnie Tittel, Jessie Norton and others add specialities.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen still continues his improvements at the Vienna. He is having the stage stocked with entire new scenery, and a family restaurant opens on the Sutter street front this week.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, and is making a very popular family theatre.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions this week at the Vienna: M'lle Garretta and her bevy of trained pigeons, cockatoos, parrots and, for the first time, her Australian emu; the three famed gymnasts, La Martine Brothers; Miss Minnie Pierce, aerial artiste; Helen Conklin, Chas. Morrell and his banjo, Annis Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week, The Crimes of a Great City, a sensational melodrama. Mr. Hosmer appears in his great characters of "A party by the name of Johnson" and "Old Kirby," giving force and strength to his dramatic scenes, and humor and naturalness to his drunken ones. In E N. Thayer, Walter Von Rosen, Robert E. Vernon, Miss Lillian Lawrence, and the company generally, he has good material in his casts.

Mr. Hosmer has made himself very popular with a large class of our theatre-goers, and full houses are the rule.

The pier scene in the third act, in which a steamer is seen to arrive and depart and a ship's boat rescue a drowning man is a very effective one.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," will be next week's bill.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week are: Chas. Reese, Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher, Geo. Drew, Jennie Hayward, Della Turner and Lou Hayden.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

HARRY KERNELL'S SPECIALTY COM

THEIR FIRST VISIT TO CALIFORNIA,

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino's fine spectacular piece, entitled Sapho, is the great feature of the bill this week. It is full of new effects and musical specialties and is a great go. Levino is an artist in his line of business.

The Buffalo Trio, formed of those clever performers and harmonious vocalists, Mason, Miller and Mason, and Miss Flora Hastings, the popular vocalist, are the new faces this week.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Hayes and Marion, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

On Friday night, March 1st, Jack McCauley and Dick Townsend in an eight-round contest.

The Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, sketch team, and Ida Chester, will be added to the Cremorne Company next week.

Central Park—The First Circus.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

The patronage has been excellent since the opening night. Even the rain has had but little if any effect upon the numbers in attendance.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Kittie Wilson, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Kittie Wilson, the character vocalist and male impersonator, and Louis O'Dell, vocalist, comedian and dancer, put in new appearances this week.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Louis O'Dell in his pleasing parlor pastime. This is followed by the laughable comedy, entitled Thompson's Dead. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Dark Deeds.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Mr. James Tiernan, the great baritone, and Musical Fletcher, the universal favorite, are the new people added to the strong bill presented this week.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, James Tiernan, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpieces. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill, as it has proved a great attraction.

Barnum and Bailey will open the regular circus season of four weeks in grand style, with an entirely new show, in Madison Square Garden, New York, March 25th. The whole show will be given at once, with the hippodrome and circus together, instead of exhibiting the circus part for a time and afterwards putting in the races.

OUTCOME OF THE WALKING MATCH.

The gross returns for admissions to the six-days' race were $12 400 50 of which, by agreement, half goes to the men making 525 miles. Hart's share is 60 per cent, $5 720 15; Moore's, 40 per cent, $2 480 10. None of the rest are entitled to anything but fares and expenses advanced to the Eastern walkers, which was to be taken out if they came in a winner. But it is supposed that those who stuck to the track for the six days and nights received a certain compensation from the management.

Cartwright left for Omaha Thursday to engage in a race there. Vint, Old Sport, Howarth and others are also going, and so is Oofty Goofty, who has decided to adopt the sawdust track as his walk in life.

Oofty's working head is about the size of the dome of the City Hall. He is full of plaints and complaints, and wants redress. He says he got up from his "mattrass" many times when he wanted to sleep on, so much, just to oblige Hall and entertain the people. "I vos der great'raction," says Oofty, "und bedcher life I ought to get some of dat brise moneys."

The management, having to pay everything out of their half, made but little money on the race, as the expenses were multiform and enormous in the aggregate. It must be admitted that Manager Hart engineered the race with rare judgment and in the best manner.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Manager Robinson, of the Oakland Club, has signed Mr. A. Fudger as pitcher for the coming season. He comes from the South. The Oaklands take a trip South preparatory to the opening of the season here. They play their first game in Merced Sunday.

Cort's Standard, Portland, Feb 25 h, new people: Millar Bros., Herne and Howard, Miss Bessie Bell, Jennie Melville, Nellie Lewis, Allen & Forres, Jennie Dixon and Millie Davenport.

The three La Martine Bros., M'lle Garretta (whose Australian emu debuts as a performer) Miss Minnie Pierce and Miss Helen Conklin are the novelty features at the Vienna this week.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Co. open at the Orpheum March 4 h. This will be their first visit to California.

The ball at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

STOLEN TICKETS.

Frederick Warde Loses $1600 in Railroad Fares.

Frederick Warde, the actor, has made known to the Southern Pacific Company that he is out $1600 worth of railroad tickets, stolen from him while in his hotel at San Diego on Friday night of last week. Mr. Warde had on Friday purchased tickets for his troupe, which numbers sixteen persons, from San Diego to St. Paul, via Portland. He bought new tickets for his people from San Diego to this city, and now awaits the capture of the thief who enjoys possession of his $1600 worth of railroad fares.

Civilian—What do you think of the new dynamite cruiser, the Vesuvius? Naval Officer (judiciously)—Well she's a pretty fair sort of a vessel. Civilian (testily)—Why, what's the matter with her. Naval Officer—The cruiser is swift enough and all that sort of thing, but I give you my word as a gentleman that her dancing accommodations are simply wretched, shamefully inadequate.

The looking glass is the only truth teller that is universally popular. But this is because we interpret its reflections to suit ourselves, and not literally.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

A Hole in the Ground, the great success at the Bush, has been re-engaged for next week—positively its last in this city. Manager Leavitt has canceled the dates of McNish, Ramge & Arno's Minstrels at the Bush to make the extra week for Hoyt's best laugh-provoker.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company will put in a farewell week of March 11th at the Bush, in Olivette and a new programme of operas.

Mrs. Potter and Mrs. Langtry have both stepped down from their high horses, Cleopatra and Lady Macbeth, in New York, being unable to run them successfully. Mrs. Potter is playing this week in the play, 'Twixt Axe and Crown, at the Grand Opera House, and Mrs. Langtry in the old-fashioned drama of Clancarty, which has but a feeble interest for the theatre-goers of to-day.

The Bijou has in store for us, next week, Royce and Lansing's Musical Comedy Company and Swiss Bell Ringers, who have been sojourning in the Southern part of the state lately; Edwin Thorne, for week of the 11th; Mme. Pyke and company for week of the 18 h, cutting Thorne's season in two by right of prior dates, and then Thorne for two weeks more to follow.

Katie Putnam closes her season next week.

Maguire's Opera House, Butte, Montana, which was burned last July, was reopened on Thursday. The new theatre is erected on the site of the old one.

Sol Smith Russell comes to the Baldwin in his new piece after Fred Warde.

The Standard is on the cold side of Bush street, theatrically. Theatre-goers have shown a decided preference to drop into A Hole in the Ground on the other side of the street rather than take in the nagging scolds of A Jealous Wife or see Ill-Treated Il Trovatore ill-treated at the Standard.

Spanish Opera Company's dates: Oakland, 4 5; San Jose, 6; Stockton, 7; Sacramento, 8-9-10 and Bush Street Theatre the week of 11th.

There is one donkey in town that for a time refused to support the press. He holds the fort at the Alcazar, and he has four legs. Sometimes he knows his cue and goes on. More times he won't and don't.

The Grismers are getting Youth ready for the Alcazar patrons. It will follow The Calthorpe Case and will be produced on a grand scale. The Veteran Guard of California, G. A. R., will assist in the battle scene.

Sra. Alemany took her benefit Wednesday, and at the end of the drinking song in Galatea was showered with bouquets and white doves by her admirers. It is the custom in Europe to throw the doves from the boxes onto the stage, but it is a long time since it has been done in San Francisco. In the short concert which followed the fair prima donna sang the Kiss Waltz (by Arditi) divinely and had to repeat it. The last number was La Paloma. All we can say is it has never been sung here before. This must have been the feeling also of another enthusiastic admirer, for he threw his hat onto the stage when the little lady made her reappearance. We suppose that is the Spanish way of conceding to an artist such as she is the first place.

Charles Coghlan denies the report that he has joined the blue ribbon army.

John A. Stevens is at work on a new play, which will be called Breach of Trust. Good title.

W. T. Carleton is having the biggest season he has ever encountered. He is about thirty thousand dollars ahead up to date.

Lewis Morrison's Faust has certainly caught on in Philadelphia. It is playing to good houses at Herrmana's Broad St. Theatre, where it will remain until the week of March 11th.

Edgar Strakosch and Frank H. Paul will conduct a Spring season of English opera with a company comprising the strongest elements of the late Kellogg Opera Co. Hattie Avery will be the prima donna.

The Little Tycoon is doing a phenomenal business in the West and South. R. E. Graham has returned to the cast and as General Knickerbocker has scored a greater success than ever. The San Francisco engagement of The Little Tycoon begins March 18 h at the Bush Street Theatre.

It is said that Mrs. W. J. Florence will retire permanently from the stage at the close of this season.

There is no mistaking the fact that Mrs. Langtry's legs, as they are to some extent exposed in the costume of Rosalind, are not a howling success. They are straight, to be sure, but, oh my, how narrow!

This week will be the last of the Spanish Opera Company at the Orpheum. To-night, benefit of Senor Labrada, Gerra Santa (Michael Strogoff); Zampa for Saturday matinee; La Tempestad for Saturday night; Sunday evening, the Grand Duchess and benefit of Senor Gutierrez; Sunday matinee, Traviata.

Hoyt is writing a play which he will arrange for Stockwell, "A Texas Steer."

EVENING EDITION

FRIDAY ..... MARCH 1, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco and the only paper that publishes their full programmes

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

"A Hole in the Ground," that has done the best business ever recorded at the Bush, remains for a third week. It is presented with all the impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Ramden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle has been filled with fashionable audiences, and three weeks of great business is assured it.

Week of March 4th, re-engaged and farewell week of "A Hole in the Ground."

Week of March 11th: Pastor & Cantelli's Spanish Opera Company, for one week only, in a repertoire of new operas.

See cast in programme advertisement.

Baldwin Theatre.

Frederick Warde commenced his engagement at the Baldwin this week as Belphegor in The Mountebank, supported by his own company, with E. J. Henderson, Adele Belgarde and Stella Boniface in the leads. The play is a standard one of the emotional class, though it has not been performed in this city for a long time.

Mr. Warde's work is good and well sustained throughout, and at times he rises to a high pitch of dramatic power. The support is generally good and the play is well worth seeing. The old melodramas have still a great hold on the people.

An extra performance on Sunday night, when Damon and Pythias will be given.

Next week a diversified bill: William Tell, Virginius and Gaston Cadol.

Alcazar Theatre.

Joe. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This week's bill has been Michael Strogoff, a strong, picturesque and intensely dramatic play, that has opportunities for scenic as well as dramatic sensations that have been carefully taken advantage of by the management. The play is produced in a spectacular form, and is staged with great effect.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are very acceptable in their parts which they play to the evident satisfaction of the large audiences.

No star better understands the value of a sufficient number of people on the stage and handsome settings than does Mr. Grismer, and he finds a ready helper in Manager Wallenrod, and as a consequence we are given the stage pictures complete in every detail.

Next week Mr. Grismer presents for the first time in America the piece he purchased the rights to in the East, a late London success, The Caithorpe Case. It is a society drama of "Jim the Penman" style, full of stirring incidents, built on a good plot well woven together, and moving quickly from one dramatic climax to another.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company, that have proved a deservedly drawing card, are in their last week here.

To-night, for the benefit of Senor Labrada, the opera of Guerra Santa will be sung.

A change of opera every night. See programme for the week in the Orpheum's advertisement elsewhere.

Last opera matinees Saturday and Sunday.

pany, headed by that talented and versatile performer, will be next week's attraction at the Orpheum. The company consists of the Brantz Brothers, gymnasts; the three Garnos, funny acrobats; Lieut. Travis, ventriloquist; Fred. Huber and Miss Kitty Allyne, sketch team; Madalene Rose, ventriloquist artiste; the Darrows, musical clowns, and Miss Lillie Belbini and Miss Emilie Peare, vocalists.

With the return of the specialty season the prices will be reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents.

Bijou Theatre.

Ben Cotton and his daughter, Idalene Cotton, are the attractions at the Bijou Theatre in a series of comedy dramas, supported by their own company. Ben, who ranks as the best negro performer on the stage, plays a darky character in each of the plays that are to be given, while the talented Miss Idalene does the soubrette and heroines.

There is a certain geniality and go in the Cottons and their pieces that make them both popular favorites.

To-night and Saturday matinee, Wild Flowers, a comedy drama.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy in the funniest of all comedies, Muldoon's Picnic. What was at first only a sketch, has been elaborated so as to include Morosco's whole company. The piece now is full of fun, catching songs, nimble dances and humorous situations.

LeRoy ranks as one of the best Muldoons on the Eastern stage, and the flavor of Kelly's Mulcahy has a local celebrity. The piece has a good cast, and its fun and humor is irresistibly presented.

In the third act, young Leslie Morosco does an artistic tight-wire act, changing his costume on the wire, and finishing with a grand Japanese slide for life, from the dome of the theatre to the stage, and Miss Minnie Tittel, Jessie Norton and others add specialties.

Next week the same comedians will bring out the three-act humorous Irish comedy-drama of "Flirtations."

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen still continues his improvements at the Vienna. He is having the stage stocked with entire new scenery, and a family restaurant opens on the Sutter street front this week.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, and is making a very popular family theatre.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions this week at the Vienna: Mlle Garretta and her bevy of trained pigeons, cockatoos, parrots and, for the first time, her Australian emu; the three famed gymnasts, La Martine Brothers; Miss Minnie Pierce, aerial artiste; Helen Conklin, Chas. Morrell and his banjo, Annie Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week, The Crimes of a Great City, a sensational melodrama. Mr. Hosmer appears in his great characters of "A party by the name of Johnson" and "Old Kirby," giving force and strength to his dramatic scenes, and humor and naturalness to his drunken ones. In E. N. Thayer, Walter Von Rosen, Robert E. Vernon, Miss Lillian Lawrence, and the company generally, he has good material in his casts.

Mr. Hosmer has made himself very popular with a large class of our theatre-goers, and full houses are the rule.

The pier scene in the third act, in which a steamer is seen to arrive and depart and a ship's boat rescue a drowning man is a very effective one.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," will be next week's bill.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week are: Chas. Reese, Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher, Geo Drew, Jennie Hayward, Della Turner and Lou Hayden.

Charles Reese is a comedian, vocalist, dancer and mimic, and is clever as he is versatile. He assumes the stage management, and next week contributes to the Union's stage "Faro Bill," a frontier piece from his own pen.

STARTLING NOVELTY & MONSTER AT

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Mr. James Tiernan, the great baritone, and Musical Fletcher, the universal favorite, are the new people added to the strong bill presented this week.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, James Tiernan, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino's fine spectacular piece, entitled Sapho, is the great feature of the bill this week. It is full of new effects and musical specialties and is a great go. Levino is an artist in his line of business.

The Buffalo Trio, formed of those clever performers and harmonious vocalists, Mason, Miller and Mason, and Miss Flora Hastings, the popular vocalist, are the new faces this week.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Hayes and Marion, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

On Friday night, March 1st, Jack McCauley and Dick Townsend in an eight-round contest.

The Gottlob's Lavender & Thompson, sketch team, and Ida Chester, will be added to the Cremorne Company next week.

Central Park—The First Circus.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

The patronage has been excellent since the opening night. Even the rain has had but little if any effect upon the numbers in attendance.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique.

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Kittie Wilson, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Kittie Wilson, the character vocalist and male impersonator, and Louis O'Dell, vocalist, comedian and dancer, put in new appearances this week.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Louis O'Dell in his pleasing parlor pastime. This is followed by the laughable comedy, entitled Thompson's Dead. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Dark Deeds.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Next week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, will make his first ap-

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The California Sporting and Dramatic News is in embryo in this city. It is to be a handsome twelve page illustrated weekly journal, edited by W. A. Daley, and published by a joint stock company.

The Fifteenth Grand Carnival will be given by the Italian Mutual Benevolent Society at the Bush Baith Hall, 119 121 Eddy street, Monday evening, March 4. Valuable prizes are offered for both ladies and gentlemen.

A letter under date of Feb. 27th from Butte City has the following bit of news regarding the Theatre Comique: "This is a fine big house and very lively. There is lots of business. The weather is not very cold."

It was a great game of baseball that between the Hole in the Ground and the Frederick Warde Companies, played on the Oakland ground yesterday. The features of the game were the beautifully had playing of W. H. Gunning, Harry McDowell and Julian Mitchell, the Umpire of the Hole Co., the heavy batting of Coan. Mitchell and the work of Mr. Corbett at first. The Hole in the Ground boys scored 15 go-as-you-please runs to the Warde's 13. Umpire. George Van Haltren—and he is still lives.

Manager Doyle, of Doyle & Isaacs, Los Angeles Museum, is in town. They have covered their museum with an iron roof, and will convert it into a regular vaudeville theatre about the middle of April. Mr. Doyle is here on business.

Manager Robinson, of the Oakland Club, has signed Mr. A. Fudger as pitcher for the coming season. He comes from the South. The Oaklands take a trip South preparatory to the opening of the season here. They play their first game in Merced Sunday.

Cort's Standard, Portland, Feb. 25th, new people: Millar Bros., Herne and Howard, Miss Bessie Bell, Jennie Melville, Nellie Lewis, Allen & Forres, Jennie Dixon and Millie Davenport.

The three La Martine Bros., M'lle Garretta (whose Australian emu debute as a performer), Miss Minnie Pierce and Miss Helen Conklin are the novelty features at the Vienna this week.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Co. open at the Orpheum March 4th. This will be their first visit to California.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

OUTCOME OF THE WALKING MATCH.

The walkers are shaking the S. F. sawdust from their feet. Cartwright left for Omaha to engage in a race there. Vint, Old Sport, Howarth and others are also going, and so is Oofty Goofty, who has decided to adopt the sawdust track as his walk in life.

Oofty's walking head is about the size of the dome of the City Hall. He is full of plaints and complaints, and wants wampum. He says he got up from his "madrass" many times when he wanted to sleep o, so much, just to oblige Hall and entertain the people. "I vos der great 'traction," says Oofty, "und believer me I ought to get some of dat brise moneys."

Landlord (looking out of window)—There comes Widow Jenkins' boy, and I do believe he's coming to pay back rent. I'll go to the door myself. Little boy (at the door)—Ma sent me for a receipt. Landlord—All right my little lad; step right in and I'll write it out. Little boy—We're goin to have company to-morrer, an' ma wants it for lemon jell.

Little Boy—Do hotel clerks get very big salaries, Kentucky Colonel—Not often. "Then how can they afford such big diamonds?" "Well, you see, they don't have to pay anything for their licker."

Brown—"Women rule the world! Just think of it, even our silver dollar has a woman's face on it." Smith—"Yes, and every one I take home has a woman's hand on it pretty quick."

In Vienna, The Yeoman of the Guard is [illegible] Gondoliers, since the title of

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Horace Thomas, well known in newspaper and theatrical circles, is the press and advertising agent for the Conried Opera Co. Thomas is no doubting one. He always makes his work a success.

The theatrical competition between the Fresno rival managers, Fiske and Rigg, has been a very hot one. J. D. Fiske, to out-general his rival, went quietly to work and placed nearly all the theatres under contract between here and San Diego to play only his attractions. This virtually gives him command of the Southern circuit, as he can now handle large companies and play them on the circuit for two or three weeks and small ones for twelve weeks or longer, without losing a night.

Marie Burroughs, reported ready to star next season in a new comedy, denies the soft impeachment.

Mabel Bert, who was leading lady to McKee Rankin, will now play Rachel in Held by the Enemy.

The collapse of the Fifth Avenue Opera Company has served to bring chorus girls together in a protective association. The best of legal talent has been engaged to prosecute wild-cat managers from swindling the girls, and a test case is to be made with Mr. Wm. J. Comley for his Royal Tramp fiasco.

Len Grover has afflicted the soul of Herrmann with a joke, the point of which Herrmann's clairvoyance isn't equal to detecting. The great magician, having been irritated by a comparison of himself with Kellar, Grover said, perhaps in a spirit of condolence, "Why, YOU oughtn't to be jealous of Kellar. Suppose people do say he is the best conjuror, doesn't everybody admit that yours is the superior and most expensive apparatus?" Strangely enough the one and only didn't seem to detect any compliment in the remark.

A Hole in the Ground, the great success at the Bush, has been re-engaged for next week—positively its last in this city. Manager Leavitt has canceled the dates of McNish, Ramza & Arno's Minstrels at the Bush to make the extra week for Hoyt's best laugh-provoker.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company will put in a farewell week of March 11th at the Bush, in Olivette and a new programme of operas.

Mrs. Potter and Mrs. Langtry have both stepped down from their high horses, Cleopatra and Lady Macbeth, in New York, being unable to run them successfully. Mrs. Potter is playing this week in the play, 'Twixt Axe and Crown, at the Grand Opera House, and Mrs. Langtry in the old-fashioned drama of Clancarty, which has but a feeble interest for the theatre-goers of to-day.

The Bijou has in store for us, next week, Royce and Lansing's Musical Comedy Company and Swiss Bell Ringers, who have been sojourning in the Southern part of the state lately; Edwin Thorne, for week of the 11th; Mme. Pyke and company for week of the 18th, cutting Thorne's season in two by right of prior dates, and then Thorne for two weeks more to follow.

Katie Putnam closes her season next week.

Maguire's Opera House, Butte, Montana, which was burned last July, was reopened on Thursday. The new theatre is erected on the site of the old one.

The Standard is on the cold side of Bush street, theatrically. Theatre-goers have shown a decided preference to drop into A Hole in the Ground on the other side of the street rather than take in the nagging scolds of A Jealous Wife or see ing Ill-Treated Il Trovatore ill-treated at the Standard.

Spanish Opera Company's dates: Oakland, 4 5; San Jose, 6; Stockton, 7; Sacramento, 8-9-10 and Bush Street Theatre the week of 11th.

There is one donkey in town that for a time refused to support the press. He holds the fort at the Alcazar, and he has four legs. Sometimes he knows his cue and goes on. More times he won't and don't.

The Grismers are getting Youth ready for the Alcazar patrons. It will follow The Calthorpe Case and will be produced on a grand scale. The Veteran Guard of California, G. A. R., will assist in the battle scene.

Charles Coghlan denies the report that he has joined the blue ribbon army.

John A. Stevens is at work on a new play, which will be called Breach of Trust. Good title.

Lewis Morrison's Faust has certainly caught on in Philadelphia. It is playing to good houses at Herrmann's Broad St. Theatre, where it will remain until the week of March 11th.

The Little Tycoon is doing a phenomenal business in the West and South. R. E. Graham has returned to the cast and as General Knickerbocker has scored a greater success than ever. The San Francisco engagement of The Little Tycoon begins March 18th at the Bush Street Theatre.

The Conried Opera Co. sing "The King's Fool," their star piece, for the Saturday and Sunday nights at the Oakland Theatre.

It is said that Mrs. W. J. Florence will retire permanently from the stage at the close of this season.

Advice from New Orleans allege that Rice and Dixey's Adonis lately played to $6,000 for the week in that city, and that the managers invested $8,000 in faro during

EVENING EDITION

SATURDAY.....MARCH 2, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

"A Hole in the Ground," that has done the best business ever recorded at the Bush, remains for a third week. It is presented with all the improvements of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Ramden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle has been filled with fashionable audiences, and three weeks of great business is assured it.

Week of March 4th: re-engaged and farewell week of "A Hole in the Ground."

Week of March 11th: Pastor & Cantelli's Spanish Opera Company, for one week only, in a repertoire of new operas.

See cast in programme advertisement.

Baldwin Theatre.

Frederick Warde commenced his engagement at the Baldwin this week as Belphegor in The Mountebank, supported by his own company, with E. J. Henderson, Adele Belgarde and Stella Boniface in the leads. The play is a standard one of the emotional class, although it has not been performed in this city for a long time.

Mr. Warde's work is good and well sustained throughout, and at times he rises to a high point of dramatic power. The support is generally good and the play is well worth seeing. The old melodramas have still a great hold on the people.

An extra performance on Sunday night, when Damon and Pythias will be given.

Next week a diversified bill: William Tell, Virginius and Gaston Cadol.

Alcazar Theatre

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This week's bill has been Michael Strogoff, a strong, picturesque and intensely dramatic play, that has opportunities for scenic as well as dramatic sensations that have been carefully taken advantage of by the management. The play is produced in a spectacular form, and is staged with great effect.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are very acceptable in their parts which they play to the evident satisfaction of the large audiences.

Next week Mr. Grismer presents for the first time in America the piece he purchased the rights to in the East, a late London success, The Caithorpe Case. It is a society drama of "Jim the Penman" style, full of stirring incidents, built on a good plot well woven together, and moving quickly from one dramatic climax to another.

L. R. Stockwell returns from the East in time to play his original character in Youth, when it is produced March 11th.

Orpheum Opera House.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company, that have proved a deservedly drawing card, are in their last nights here.

To-night, the opera of Guerra Santa will be sung.

Traviata will be given for Sunday matinee, and the Grand Duchess for Sunday night. It will be a great treat to see Alemany as the Grand Duchess.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company headed by that talented and versatile [illegible] attraction at Braatz Brothers, gymnasts; the three Garnos, funny acrobats, Lieut. Travis, ventriloquist; Fred. Huber and Miss Kitty Allyne, sketch team; Madalene Rose, ventriloquist artiste; the Darrows, musical clowns, and Miss Lillie Selbini and Miss Emilie Peare, vocalists.

With the return of the specialty season the prices will be reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents.

Bijou Theatre.

Ben Cotton and his daughter, Idalene Cotton, are the attractions at the Bijou Theatre in a series of comedy dramas, supported by their own company. Ben, who ranks as the best negro performer on the stage, plays a darky character in each of the plays that are to be given, while the talented Miss Idalene does the soubrette and heroines.

There is a certain geniality and go in the Cottons and their pieces that make them both popular favorites.

To-night and Saturday matinee, Wild Flowers, a comedy drama.

Royce & Lansing's Musical Comedy Company and Swiss Bell Ringers next week.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy in the funniest of all comedies, Muldoon's Picnic. What was at first only a sketch, has been elaborated so as to include Morosco's whole company. The piece now is full of fun, catching songs, nimble dances and humorous situations.

LeRoy ranks as one of the best Muldoons on the Eastern stage, and the flavor of Kelly's Mulcahy has a local celebrity. The piece has a good cast, and its fun and humor is irresistibly presented.

In the third act, young Leslie Morosco does an artistic tight-wire act, changing his costume on the wire, and finishing with a grand Japanese slide for life, from the dome of the theatre to the stage, and Miss Minnie Tittel, Jessie Norton and others add specialties.

Next week the same comedians will bring out the three-act humorous Irish comedy-drama of "Flirtations."

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen still continues his improvements at the Vienna. He is having the stage stocked with entire new scenery, and a family restaurant opens on the Sutter street front this week.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, and is making a very popular family theatre.

Manager Woods presents a change of bill and strong attractions this week at the Vienna: M'lle Garretta and her bevy of trained pigeons, cockatoos, parrots and, for the first time, her Australian emu; the three famed gymnasts, La Martine Brothers; Miss Minnie Pierce, aerial artiste; Helen Conklin, Chas. Morrell and his banjo, Annis Suits, Harry Orndorff, Geo. H. Wood and others.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page.

Next week, the new people are Prof. R. E. F. Burns, mesmerist; Girard Leon, Prof. Ferguson, musical specialties; Conchita and Minnie Ellsworth.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week, The Crimes of a Great City, a sensational melodrama. Mr. Hosmer appears in his great characters of "A party by the name of Johnson" and "Old Kirby," giving force and strength to his dramatic scenes, and humor and naturalness to his drunken ones. In E. N. Thayer, Walter Von Rosen, Robert E. Vernon, Miss Lillian Lawrence, and the company generally, he has good material in his casts.

Mr. Hosmer has made himself very popular with a large class of our theatre-goers, and full houses are the rule.

The pier scene in the third act, in which a steamer is seen to arrive and depart and a ship's boat rescue a drowning man is a very effective one.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the management on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," will be next week's bill.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week are: Chas. Reese, Ada Clifton, Ned Thatcher, Geo Drew, Jennie Hayward, Della Turner and Lou Hayden.

Charles Reese is a comedian, vocalist, dancer and mimic, and is clever as he is versatile. He assumes the stage management, and next week contributes to the Union's stage "Faro Bill," a frontier piece from his own pen.

HARRY KERNELL'S SPECIALTY CO
THEIR FIRST VISIT TO CALIFORNIA,

Ned Thatcher and George Drew are good dialogue artists, that set the house in a roar with their fun.

Ned Barry, motto vocalist; Maggie Burnell, Antonio Martinez, Fred. Gardner, Clarence Boyd, Jessie Bernard, Jennie Heywood, Fanny Sheldon and others add their strength to the company.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Dolph Levino's fine spectacular piece, entitled Sapho, is the great feature of the bill this week. It is full of new effects and musical specialties and is a great go. Levino is an artist in his line of business.

The Buffalo Trio, formed of those clever performers and harmonious vocalists, Mason, Miller and Mason, and Miss Flora Hastings, the popular vocalist, are the new faces this week.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; Hayes and Marion, comedians, and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add largely to the prosperity of the Cremorne.

The Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, sketch team, and Ida Chester, will be added to the Cremorne Company next week.

Central Park—The First Circus.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

The patronage has been excellent since the opening night. Even the rain has had but little if any effect upon the numbers in attendance.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Travers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, and Louis O'Dell, vocalist, comedian and dancer, put in new appearances this week.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Louis O'Dell in his pleasing parlor pastime. This is followed by the laughable comedy, entitled Thompson's Dead. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Dark Deeds.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Next week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, will make his first ap-

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Mr. James Tiernan, the great baritone, and Musical Fletcher, the universal favorite, are the new people added to the strong bill presented this week.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, James Tiernan, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The Standard advertises "the most laughable comedy of the day, entitled Is Marriage a Failure?" on its bills, in the largest type, as the attraction this week; and the Chronicle gives the announcement dead away by telling its readers in its notes that it is Buckstone's old comedy of "Married Life," reproduced under a spurious title "to take advantage," as the Chronicle says, "of the interesting subject under discussion lately." It gives the performance a kindly notice to sugar-coat the pill—but it is a pill to take nevertheless.

Horace Thomas, well known in newspaper and theatrical circles, is the press and advertising agent for the Conried Opera Co. Thomas is no doubting one. He always makes his work a success.

The theatrical competition between the Fresno rival managers, Fiske and Riggs, has been a very hot one. J. D. Fiske, to out-general his rival, went quietly to work and placed nearly all the theatres under contract between here and San Diego to play only his attractions. This virtually gives him command of the Southern circuit, as he can now handle large companies and play them on the circuit for two or three weeks and small ones for twelve weeks or longer, without losing a night.

Marie Burroughs, reported ready to star next season in a new comedy, denies the soft impeachment.

Mabel Bert, who was leading lady to McKee Rankin, will now play Rachel in Held by the Enemy.

The collapse of the Fifth Avenue Opera Company has served to bring chorus girls together in a protective association. The best of legal talent has been engaged to prosecute wild-cat managers from swindling the girls, and a test case is to be made with Mr. Wm. J. Comley for his Royal Tramp fiasco.

Len Grover has afflicted the soul of Herrmann with a joke, the point of which Herrmann's clairvoyance isn't equal to detecting. The great magician, having been irritated by a comparison of himself with Kellar, Grover said, perhaps in a spirit of condolence, "Why, YOU oughtn't to be jealous of Kellar. Suppose people do say he is the best conjuror, doesn't everybody admit that yours is the superior and most expensive apparatus?" Strangely enough the one and only didn't seem to detect any compliment in the remark.

A Hole in the Ground, the great success at the Bush, has been re-engaged for this week—positively its last in this city. Manager Leavitt has canceled the dates of McNish, Ramzo & Arno's Minstrels at the Bush to make the extra week for Foyte's [illegible] Joker.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company will put in a farewell week of March 11th at the Bush, in Olivette and a new programme of operas.

Mrs. Potter and Mrs. Langtry have both stepped down from their high horses, Cleopatra and Lady Macbeth, in New York, being unable to run them successfully. Mrs. Potter is playing this week in the play, Twixt Axe and Crown, at the Grand Opera House, and Mrs. Langtry in the old-fashioned drama of Clancarty, which has but a feeble interest for the theatre-goers of to-day.

The Bijou has in store for us, this week, Rowe and Lansing's Musical Comedy Company and Swiss Bell Ringers, who have been sojourning in the Southern part of the state lately; Edwin Thorne, for week of the 11th; Marc Pyke and company for week of the 18th, cutting Thorne's season in two by right of prior dates, and then Thorne for two weeks more to follow.

Maguire's Opera House, Butte, Montana, which was burned last July, was reopened on Thursday. The new theatre is erected on the site of the old one.

Spanish Opera Company's dates: Oakland, 4-5; San Jose, 6; Stockton, 7; Sacramento, 8-9-10 and Bush Street Theatre the week of 11th.

The Grismers are getting Youth ready for the Alcazar patrons. It will follow the Calthorpe Case and will be produced on a grand scale. The Veteran Guard of California, G. A. R., will assist in the

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Farini's Australian Circus and McMahon's World's Circus, that have been giving united performances on the Central Park lot, have spread their big tent on the corner of Geary and Filmore streets, and will give, this week, the first regular circus performances ever given in the Western Addition portion of the city. Popular prices. See ad. elsewhere in FIGARO.

The California Sporting and Dramatic News is in embryo in this city. It is to be a handsome twelve-page illustrated weekly journal, edited by W. A. Daley, and published by a joint stock company.

The Fifteenth Grand Carnival will be given by the Italian Mutual Benevolent Society at the B'nai B'rith Hall, 119 121 Eddy street, to-night. Valuable prizes are offered for both ladies and gentleman.

A letter under date of Feb. 27th from Butte City has the following bit of news regarding the Theatre Comique: "This is a fine big house and very lively. There is lots of business. The weather is not very cold."

It was a great game of baseball, that between the Hole in the Ground and the Frederick Warde Companies, played on the Oakland ground on Friday. The features of the game were the beautifully bad playing of W. H. Gunning, Harry McDowell and Julian Mitchell, the Umpire of the Hole Co., the heavy batting of Coan, Mitchell and the work of Mr. Corbett at first. The Hole in the Ground boys scored 15 go-as-you-please runs to the Warde's 13. Umpire, George Van Haltren—and he is still lives.

Manager Doyle, of Doyle & Isaacs, Los Angeles Museum, is in town. They have covered their museum with an iron roof, and will convert it into a regular vaudeville theatre about the middle of April. Mr. Doyle is here on business.

Manager Robinson, of the Oakland Club, has signed Mr. A. Fudger as pitcher for the coming season. He comes from the South. The Oaklands take a trip South preparatory to the opening of the season here. They play their first game in Merced Sunday.

Advice from New Orleans allege that Rice and Dixey's Adonis lately played to $6 000 for the week in that city, and that the managers invested $8,000 in faro during that brief period.

Cort's Standard, Portland, Feb. 25th, new people: Millar Bros., Herne and Howard, Miss Bessie Bell, Jennie Melville, Nellie Lewis, Allen & Forres, Jennie Dixon and Millie Davenport.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Co. open at the Orpheum this week. This will be their first visit to California.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

THE HEAVY STAGE VILLAIN.

He Suffers all Sorts of Ignominy and Has no Redress.

A writer in the London Playgoer describes the stage villain of the London stage as a gentleman who wears a clean collar and smokes a cigarette. That is how we know he is a villain. In real life it is difficult to tell a villain from an honest man, and this gives rise to mistakes; but on the stage villains wear clean collars and smoke cigarettes, and thus all fear of blunder is avoided. He has no power of repartee. The good people in the play say rude and insulting things to him, but he can never answer them—can never think of anything clever to say in return. "Ha, ha; wait till Monday week," is the most brilliant retort that he can make, and he has to get into a corner by himself to think of even that.

The stage villain's career is always easy and prosperous to within a minute of the end of an act or the play as the plot requires. Then he gets suddenly let in by the comic man. It always happens so. Yet the villain is intensely surprised each time. He never seems to learn anything from experience. A few years ago he used to be blessed with a hopeful and philosophical temperament, which enabled him to bear up under these constantly recurring disappointments. It was "no matter," he would say. Crushed for the moment though he might be, his buoyant heart never lost courage. He had a simple, child-like faith in providence. "A time will come," he would remark, and this idea consoled him. Of late, however, this trusting hopefulness appears to have forsaken him. We are sorry for this; we always regarded it as one of the finest traits in his character.

The stage villain's love for the heroine is sublime in its steadfastness. Nothing can alter his affection. She hates him, and insults and taunts him to an extent that is withering and unladylike. Every time he attempts to explain his devotion to her the hero comes in and knocks him down, or the comic man catches him making love to her and tells the "villagers" or the "guests," and they come around and nag him. We should think that the villain must grow to positively dislike the comic man before the piece is over. Notwithstanding all this he still hankers after her and swears she shall be his.

Really, the villain is not a bad-looking fellow, and, from what we know of the market, we should say there are plenty of other girls who would jump at him; yet, for the sake of settling down with this dismal young female for his wife, he is prepared to go through a laborious and exhausting course of crime and to be bullied and insulted by everyone he meets. His love sustains him under it all. He robs and forges and cheats and lies, and murders and arsons. If there were other crimes he could commit to win her love he would, for her sweet sake, commit

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Lenvitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Dates have been moved to give A Hole in the Ground, that has done the best of business, an extra week here. It is presented with all the impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage. Its great success is deserved.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Ramden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle has been filled with fashionable audiences, and three weeks of great business is assured it.

—o—

Next week, Pastor & Canteli's Madrid Spanish Opera Company, for one week only, in a repertoire of new operas. This company is one of the best opera troupes we have had here since the Patti season, and in a first-class theatre, like the Bush, we look forward to seeing the dress circle crowded with fashionable and cultured audiences during the Madrid Opera Company's week. Their merits deserve it.

Seats on sale Thursday.

Baldwin Theatre.

Frederick Warde appears for the first three nights of this week as William Tell, in the strong, well-written play of that title, embracing the familiar story of the Swiss patriot's heroism. The subject has been the theme of song and story, play and opera. The bold, vigorous character will find a worthy representative in Mr. Warde.

Virginius for Thursday and Friday evenings, William Tell for Saturday matinee and Gaston Cadol for Saturday night, Mr. Warde's last night.

Alcazar Theatre

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This week Mr. Grismer presents for the first time in America the piece he purchased the rights to in the East, a late London success, The Calthorpe Case. It is a society drama of "Jim the Penman" style, full of stirring incidents, built on a good plot well woven together, and moving quickly from one dramatic climax to another.

Mr. Grismer assumes the eccentric part of Squire Hereford, and as he will create the role he will give us no doubt a most acceptable rendering of a high comedy part.

All the leading people in fact have parts out of which much can be made.

L. R. Stockwell returns from the East in time to play his original character in Youth, when it is produced March 11th.

Orpheum Opera House.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company, headed by that talented and versatile performer, will be this week's attraction at the Orpheum. The company consists of the Braatz Brothers, gymnasts; the three Garnos, funny acrobats; Lieut. Travis, ventriloquist; Fred. Huber and Miss Kitty Allyne, sketch team; Madalene Ross, ventriloquist artiste; the Darrows, musical clowns, and Miss Lillie Belbini and Miss Emilie Peare, vocalists.

With the return of the specialty season the prices will be reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy will bring out the three-act humorous Irish comedy-drama of "Flirtations."

If last week's piece was full of fun this will be more so. The most is made out of every situation, and from the beginning to the end there is not a dull line.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen still continues his improvements at the Vienna. He is having the stage stocked with entire new scenery, and a family restaurant opened on the Sutter St. front last week.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, and is making a very popular family theatre.

This week, the new people are Prof. R. E. F. Burns, mesmerist; Girard Leon, Prof. Ferguson, musical specialties; Conchita and Minnie Ellsworth.

Mr. Burns is billed for only one week. He has the reputation of being really very clever in his line of business. Prof. Ferguson is an eccentric musical artist, direct from the Hub. Our favorite Conchita will receive a hearty greeting from her old friends. Girard Leon, with Jack and Jill, is a strong card. Add to these Minnie Ellsworth, Harry Orndorff and just everyday Geo. H. Wood, as entertainers, and what can mortal man ask more.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," will be this week's bill, with a strong company in support, to Mr. Hosmer's Bill Sykes.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week are: McCoy & McEvoy, the two Irish thrushes; Miss Nelty Andes, the Eastern cantatrice, and Cogill & Cowyer, break-neck artists.

Charles Reese is a comedian, vocalist, dancer and mimic, and is clever as he is versatile. He assumes the stage management, and this week contributes to the Union's stage "Faro Bill," a frontier piece from his own pen.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Eight more new stars will be added to the Cremorne Company this week: Prof. Gus Peterson, the celebrated Eastern illusionist, in his origtnal entertainment of Black Art; the Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, sketch team; Ida Chester, and Martin Murphy and Frank Frayne, the lightning boxers, in a grand glove contest. On Friday night either one of the two will engage in an eight round contest with an unknown.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; the Buffalo Trio, Flora Hastings and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add their attractions to the Cremorne's bill.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Geary and Fillmore streets. The first regular circus to show in the Western Addition portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique.

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

This week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, will make their first appearances.

This being inaugural week Mr. Chas. Morrell has been elected to sit in the chair a la Harrison.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Tommy Morris in one of his specialties. This is followed by the laughable comedy, A Box and Bag of Fun. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Moving Cleveland.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Mr. James Tiernan, the great baritone, and Musical Fletcher, the universal favorite, have made a great hit and are retained among the Eureka favorites.

The fine sketch artists, Chas. Berkeley and May Howard, are always successful in their efforts to please.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, James Tiernan, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

For their fifth week Berkeley & Howard are billed to present their challenge sketch, Caught in His Own Act, including Berkoley's latest topical song, "Charley's A B C"

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill, as it has proved a great attraction.

Gentleman (to barber)—Have you one of those nickel weighing machines in the place? Barber—Yes sah, right da' in the carnah. Gentleman weighs himself. Barber—Have a shave, sah? Gentleman — No, I want to take a bath. Barber (to boy) — Alexander, git a bath ready for dis gemman. (After the gentleman has removed from the bath-room.) "Eberything all right, sah?" Gentleman — Oh, yes. Barber — Does yo' wan'ter weigh yo'self ag'in, sah?

Civilian—What do you think of the new dynamite cruiser, the Vesuvius? Naval Officer (dubiously)—Well she's a pretty fair sort of a vessel. Civilian (testily) — Why, what's the matter with her. Naval Officer—The cruiser is swift enough and all that sort of thing, but I give you my word as a gentleman that her dancing accommodations are simply wretched, shamefully inadequate.

Mrs. Winks—Folks say Mr. Weed the cigar manufacturer, was converted at the revival last night. Mr. Winks — Guess it's true. I stepped in this morning for my favorite brand of two-for-five cigars, and I noticed the card "Pure Havana" had been moved over to the fifteen cent box.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The Brantz Bros. are remarkable gymnasts. We have never had their equal in equipoise and head-to-head balancing here before. To stand them on their heads has no terrors for them. They are used to it.

The Davison Brothers will make a few more of their startling walks at the Cliff House, March 9-10 and 16-17. It is just a year ago that they made their famous walk from the Cliff House to Seal Rocks when the wind was blowing almost a gale. Weather permitting they will draw large crowds.

John C. Klein, late the Examiner's special correspondent in Samoa, who has gained fame as the "American" who was charged by the Germans with leading the natives under Mataafa in their victorious defence, will detail his experiences in Samoa, illustrated with stereopticon views, at Irving Hall, on Wednesday night. The lecture will be one of great interest. James H. Love, his business manager, has arranged to have it repeated in the leading interior cities.

A great improvement has been made in ventriloquial automatal figures, as shown by those used by the artists of Harry Kernell's company. One of them actually gets up and dances off the stage in a most natural manner, winking at the audience as he goes.

Farini's Australian Circus and McMahon's World's Circus, that have been giving united performances on the Central Park lot, have spread their big tent on the corner of Geary and Filmore streets, and will give, this week, the first regular circus performances ever given in the Western Addition portion of the city. Popular prices. See ad. elsewhere in FIGARO.

The California Sporting and Dramatic News is in embryo in this city. It is to be a handsome twelve-page illustrated weekly journal, edited by W. A. Daley, and published by a joint stock company.

A letter under date of Feb. 27th from Butte City has the following bit of news regarding the Theatre Comique: "This is a fine big house and very lively. There is lots of business. The weather is not very cold."

Manager Doyle, of Doyle & Isaacs, Los Angeles Museum, is in town. They have covered their museum with an iron roof, and will convert it into a regular vaudeville theatre about the middle of April. Mr. Doyle is here on business.

Advice from New Orleans allege that Rice and Dixey's Adonis lately played to $9,000 for the week in that city, and that the managers invested $8,000 in faro during that brief period.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Co. open at the Orpheum this week. This will be their first visit to California.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

OUR BASEBALL SEASON.

The California Baseball League—consisting of the Oakland, San Francisco, Sacramento and Stockton Clubs—have adopted their schedule of games for the coming season; which opens with the San Franciscos pitted against the Stocktons in this city and the Oaklands against the Sacramentos in Sacramento, on March [illegible].

Games will be played on the League ground, at Haight St. Park, every Sunday, Saturday and Thursday, and each alternate Sunday in Sacramento and [illegible].

On holidays the Sacramentos will play the Stocktons in Stockton in the forenoon, and, the teams taking the 1 o'clock train, will play an afternoon game in Sacramento. A similar programme will be carried out on holidays by the Oaklands and San Franciscos—Oakland having the morning games.

The season extends to November 24th. Players and umpires will be appointed by President Mone.

The box sheet will be opened at the office of the secretary on the 13th inst. No seats will be reserved prior to that.

There is already a large request for reserved seats, and it is safe to predict that the attendance at the opening game will test the enlarged seating capacity of the grounds, and that the coming season will eclipse all former ones of the League in financial as well as ball-playing records.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The business returns for Morosco's, last week, nearly tied the banner week of the theatre. It was a red-letter week.

Charles Thornton opens a season at South San Francisco in Stormy Waters, under the management of John H. Armstrong.

Manager Huffman will soon lower the side galleries of the People's Theatre and re-arrange the seats so that its seating capacity will be largely increased. The complaint is, We want more room.

Modjeska plays Marie Stuart at Fiske's Fresno Opera House March 9th. The advance sale of seats is already very large.

The new international railway pool promises to affect the theatrical business something like the action of the Inter-State Commerce law did. It will make it harder to get Eastern companies to come here.

Pauline Markham received a very large offer from Koster & Bial, N. Y., to create the leading part in their burlesque of Antony and Cleopatra, which she refused.

Annie Deland was compelled to forego her contemplated tour with three of the plays of the late John Brougham. Her backer backed out when it came to depositing the requisite amount of cash.

Edward Harrigan has just completed a new three-act comedy, which was read to his manager, Martin Hanley. It has not yet been christened, but it will be his opening play for next season.

The Royce-Lansing Musical Comedy Company at the Bijou is pronounced by the Examiner to be "not a strong one, musically or otherwise." They are there for this week only.

A story is told of a little midget who was taken to a matinee performance of Kate Castleton's A Paper Doll, which amused it immensely. At night her mother and father fairly burst with laughter, when the little tot after her prayer said: "God bless papa and mamma, but for goodness sake don't say I told you."

The Little Tycoon is doing a phenomenal business in the West and South. R. E. Graham has returned to the cast and as General Knickerbocker has scored a greater success than ever. The San Francisco engagement of The Little Tycoon begins March 18th at the Bush Street Theatre.

The Standard advertises "the most laughable comedy of the day, entitled Is Marriage a Failure?" on its bills, in the largest type, as the attraction this week; and the Chronicle gives the announcement dead away by telling its readers in its notice that it is Buckstone's old comedy of "Married Life," reproduced under a spurious title "to take advantage," as the Chronicle says, "of the interesting subject under discussion lately." It gives the performance a kindly notice to sugar-coat the pill—but it is a pill to take nevertheless.

The theatrical competition between the Fresno rival managers, Fiske and Riggs, has been a very hot one. J. D. Fiske, to out-general his rival, went quietly to work and placed nearly all the theatres under contract between here and San Diego to play only his attractions. This virtually gives him command of the Southern circuit, as he can now handle large companies and play them on the circuit for two or three weeks and small ones for twelve weeks or longer, without losing a night.

Marie Burroughs, reported ready to star next season in a new comedy, denies the soft impeachment.

The Grismers are getting Youth ready for the Alcazar patrons. It will follow The Calthorpe Case and will be produced on a grand scale. The Veteran Guard of California, G. A. R., will assist in the battle scene.

Spanish Opera Company's dates: Oakland, 4-5; San Jose, 6; Stockton, 7; Sacramento, 8-9-10, and Bush Street Theatre the week of 11th.

A Hole in the Ground, the great success at the Bush, has been re-engaged for this week—positively its last in this city. Manager Leavitt has canceled the dates of McNish, Ramzo & Arno's Minstrels at the Bush to make the extra week for Hoyt's best laugh-provoker.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company will put in a farewell week of March 11th at the Bush, in Olivette and a new programme of operas.

The Bijou has in store for us, this week, Royce and Lansing's Musical Comedy Company and Swiss Bell Ringers, who have been sojourning in the Southern part of the state lately; Edwin Thorne, for week of the 11th; Mme. Pyke and company for week of the 18th, cutting Thorne's season in two by right of prior dates, and then Thorne for two weeks more to follow.

Within a short time Pauline Hall, Lena Merville, Veronica Jarbeau and Isabelle Urquhart have been interviewed on the subject of tights. Mlles. Bonfanti, Cappellini, Paris and Cernabba have given interviewers their opinion on the weight of ballet skirts. Kate Castleton, Flora Walsh and Georgie Parker, have signed printed articles on soubrette underwear. Rose Coghlan has discussed whether marriage is a failure. Georgia Cayvan has discoursed on real tears and stage tears, and Mary Anderson has given a piece of her mind, in print, on society actresses who dare to go on boards after taking ten lessons in elocution. The theatrical reporter that goes one better on these attempts, gets the cake.

Duncan B. Harrison will not produce his new play this season. The Paymaster has so far been a very poor paymaster this season, and the money be expected to make from it was to have gone in the new play.

A CATCH.

I said to Fate, Let be,
Since I have done with thee,
Or heap upon my head
The ashes of the dead—
And huddle out of sight
The thing that once was me.
For when his head is white,
And he is poor and old,
'Tis time his grave was made;
Fetch mattock then, and spade,
And let the bell be tolled,
And so, sweet fool, good night!

EVENING EDITION

TUESDAY.....MARCH 5, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Dates have been moved to give A Hole in the Ground, that has done the best of business, an extra week here. It is presented with all the impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage. Its great success is deserved.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Ramden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

The handsome dress circle has been filled with fashionable audiences, and three weeks of great business is assured it.

—o—

Next week, Pastor & Cantelli's Madrid Spanish Opera Company, for one week only, in a repertoire of new operas. This company is one of the best opera troupes we have had here since the Patti season, and in a first-class theatre, like the Bush, we look forward to seeing the dress circle crowded with fashionable and cultured audiences during the Madrid Opera Company's week. Their merits deserve it.

Seats on sale Thursday.

Baldwin Theatre.

Frederick Warde appears for the first three nights of this week as William Tell, in the strong, well-written play of that title, embracing the familiar story of the Swiss patriot's heroism. The subject has been the theme of song and story, play and opera. The bold, vigorous character will find a worthy representative in Mr. Warde.

Virginius for Thursday and Friday evenings, William Tell for Saturday matinee and Gaston Cadol for Saturday night.

William Tell is familiar to us more by reading than by acting. Mr. Warde plays the patriot's role with force and feeling; Miss Belgrade plays with much spirit, and Mr. Weaver is also very good, and the company generally are even in support.

For Sunday evening, the last appearance of Mr. Warde, Richard III.

Alcazar Theatre

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This week Mr. Grismer presents for the firs time in America the piece he purchased the rights to in the East, a late London success, The Calthorpe Case. It is a society drama of "Jim the Penman" style, full of stirring incidents, built on a good plot well woven together, and moving quickly from one dramatic climax to another.

Miss Phoebe Davies has captured the honors of the piece, playing better than she has ever before She is ably seconded by Arthur Branscombe. Mr. Grismer and Miss Brandon are doing good work with the somewhat dull comedy parts. Fanny Young as Mrs. Yorke, the invalid wife, gives every evidence of her ability as an actress in the more serious roles.

Orpheum Opera House.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company, headed by that talented and versatile performer, will be this week's attraction at the Orpheum. The company consists of the Braatz Brothers, gymnasts; the three Carnos, funny acrobats; Lieut. Travis, ventriloquist; Fred. Huber and Miss Kitty Allyne, sketch team; Madalene Ross, ventriloquial artiste; the Darrows, musical clowns; Miss Lillie Selbini, revolving globe performer, and Miss Emilie Peare, vocalist.

This is an excellent specialty company, and their work is for the most part entirely new: Kernell, in his funny new specialty; the Carnos, in their comic musical act; the Braatz Bros., in their wonderful gymnastic act, and Travis and M'lle Rosa, in their ventriloquial act, all introduce decided novelties.

The audience heartily enjoy the comic portions. After all man likes to laugh, even though he knows it is the greatest nonsense that pleases him, and the situations, as a rule, only possible in mimic life. Kernell's merry-makers just fill the bill to a nicety.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy will bring out the three-act humorous Irish comedy-drama of "Flirtations."

If last week's piece was full of fun this will be more so. The most is made out of every situation, and from the beginning to the end there is not a dull line.

Next week, the attraction will be Michael Strogoff, with Darrell Vinton in the title-role.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen still continues his improvements at the Vienna. He is having the stage stocked with entire new scenery, and a family restaurant opened on the Sutter St. front last week.

Mr. Geo. H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has the management of the Vienna, and is making a very popular family theatre.

This week, the new people are Prof. R. E. F. Burns, mesmerist; Girard Leon, Prof. Ferguson, musical specialties; Conchita and Minnie Ellsworth.

Mr. Burns is billed for only one week. He has the reputation of being really very clever in his line of business. Prof. Ferguson is an eccentric musical artist, direct from the Hub. Our favorite Conchita will receive a hearty greeting from her old friends. Girard Leon, with Jack and Jill, is a strong card. Add to these Minnie Ellsworth, Harry Orndorff and just everyday Geo. H. Wood, as entertainers, and what can mortal man ask more.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," is this week's bill, with a good company in support, to Mr. Hosmer's strong impersonation of Bill Sykes.

All its many characters are brought out, as will be seen by referring to the cast, and their assumptions are creditably sustained.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week The Octoroon will be the attraction. Some fine specialty people have been engaged, and the piece will be given with the usual careful stage effects.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week are: McCoy & McEvoy, the two Irish thrushes; Miss Nelty Andes, the Eastern cantatrice, and Cogill & Cowyer, break-neck artists.

Charles Reese is a comedian, vocalist, dancer and mimic, and is clever as he is versatile. He contributes to the Union's stage "Faro Bill," a frontier piece from his own pen as the leading attraction this week.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Eight more new stars will be added to the Cremorne Company this week: Prof. Gus Peterson, the celebrated Eastern illusionist, in his original entertainment of Black Art; the Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, sketch team; Ida Chester, and Martin Murphy and Frank Frayne, the lightning boxers, in a grand glove contest. On Friday night either one of the two will engage in an eight round contest with an unknown.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; the Buffalo Trio, Flora Hastings and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add their attractions to the Cremorne's bill.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Geary and Filmore streets. The first regular circus to show in the Western Addition portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

This week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, will make their first appearances.

This being inaugural week Mr. Chas. Morrell has been elected to sit in the chair a la Harrison.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Tommy Morris in one of his specialties. This is followed by the laughable comedy, A Box and Bag of Fun. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Moving Cleveland.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Mr. James Tiernan, the great baritone, and Musical Fletcher, the universal favorite, have made a great hit and are retained among the Eureka favorites.

The fine sketch artists, Chas. Berkeley and May Howard, are always successful in their efforts to please.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, James Tiernan, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

For their fifth week Berkeley & Howard are billed to present their challenge sketch, Caught in His Own Act, including Berkeley's latest topical song, "Charley's A B C."

Herbert Kelsey, the æsthetic leading man of the Lyceum Company, lives in a pretty flat on 19th street, in New York, and with the exception of Dorlan's oyster house, on 23d street, never goes to a resort or restaurant. The other evening he was out very late, and feeling tremendously hungry stepped into a Sixth avenue eating house and called for a steak, baked potatoes and two eggs, fried only on one side. The waiter, knowing his customer, sang out: "Slaughter in the pan, two Murphy's wid der coats on, ond two white wings wid de sunny side up." Mr. Kelsey suddenly lost his appetite and was taken home in a hansom.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Mecvo, the danseuse, are new this week. The bill is very full this week.

Billy Arnold, Lida Gardner and Camille Kenyon open at Cort's Standard Theatre, Portland, on the 18th.

The Brantz Bros. are remarkable gymnasts. We have never had their equal in equipoise and head-to-head balancing here before. To stand them on their heads has no terrors for them. They are used to it.

The Davison Brothers will make a few more of their startling walks at the Cliff House, March 9-10 and 16-17. It is just a year ago that they made their famous walk from the Cliff House to Seal Rocks when the wind was blowing almost a gale. Weather permitting they will draw large crowds.

John C. Klein, late the Examiner's special correspondent in Samoa, who has gained fame as the "American" who was charged by the Germans with leading the natives under Mataafa in their victorious defence, will detail his experiences in Samoa, illustrated with stereopticon views, at Irving Hall, this, Wednesday evening. The lecture will be one of great interest. James H. Love, his business manager, has arranged to have it repeated in the leading interior cities.

A great improvement has been made in ventroloquial automatal figures, as shown by those used by the artists of Harry Kernell's company. One of them actually gets up and dances off the stage in a most natural manner, winking at the audience as he goes.

Farini's Australian Circus and McMahon's World's Circus, that have been giving united performances on the Central Park lot, have spread their big tent on the corner of Geary and Filmore streets, and will give, this week, the first regular circus performances ever given in the Western Addition portion of the city. Popular prices. See ad. elsewhere in FIGARO.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

Accident to a Trapeze Performer.

A thrilling accident occurred during a matinee at the Grand Opera House, Newark, March 5th. The Austin Sisters, Rose and Aimee, had concluded an act upon the trapeze, and Aimee prepared to finish the performance by walking head down across a twenty-four-foot board thirty feet above the auditorium. The distance to the end of the long board had been accomplished, then for a moment the girl hesitated, and before the first backward step could be taken her right heel lost its hold on the board. A terrified scream followed and Aimee fell into the net with her body half hanging over the side. A dozen hands helped her to a chair and the curtain was lowered. After half an hour she recovered sufficiently to be removed to a hotel.

The Standard advertises "the most laughable comedy of the day, entitled Is Marriage a Failure?" on its bills, in the largest type, as the attraction this week; and the Chronicle gives the announcement dead away by telling its readers in its notice that it is Buckstone's old comedy of "Married Life," reproduced under a spurious title "to take advantage," as the Chronicle says, "of the interesting subject under discussion lately." It gives the performance a kindly notice to sugar-coat the pill—but it is a pill to take nevertheless.

Ski running, a Scandinavian sport, is becoming popular in Minnesota. The performer slides down hill on long wooden skates, or foot toboggans, and at a prepared point makes a leap into space. Ninety five feet is the longest ski-jump on record in Norway.

First Actor—Does Montague Vere de Vere kindel any enthusiasm in his new role? Second Actor — No, he doesn't. "That's strange; he is such a dry stick I should think he would." "Maybe he will soon be is fired by the manager."

Sol Smith Russell comes to the Bald-[illegible] a few days after Fred Wade

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Miss Lottie Stockmeyer (professionally known as Lottie Walton) and Mr. H. Norman will be married on Saturday, March 9th. Our best wishes go with the happy pair.

Mr. Neil Warner will have a grand testimonial benefit given him at the Alcazar on Thursday afternoon, March 14. All those interested in the matter are determined to make the affair a success.

L. R. Stockwell left New York to-day, March 6th. He will have just time to get here for Monday night's performance.

A grand entertainment will be given at the Grand Opera House on Sunday afternoon, March 17th, for the benefit of the Parnell and O'Brien Fund. The programme for the entertainment will be the presentation of The King's Fool by the Conrad Opera Co. and an Irish patriotic drama, entitled The Color of Gold, written by Wm. E. Fitzpatrick of this city. Mayor Pond is expected to preside at the entertainment, which, judging from the interest already manifested, will undoubtedly be a great success and net a large amount for the Fund.

Chas. H. Day has severed his connection with the Haverly Minstrels.

Help, an Irish drama, disappeared very mysteriously while playing an engagement in Hoboken last week. A man with a badge and legal papers was on the trail. Can this be the play T. J. Farron purchased from Murphy last year?

Charles Frohman has rechristened the Park Theatre, Cleveland, and in the future it will be known as the Lyceum. His lease is for five years.

Abbey, Schoeffel & Grau will play Coquelin four weeks and Bernhardt for the same length of time, next Summer, at the Gaiety Theatre, London.

An iron pin fell from the flies of the Howes Opera House, Bridgeport, Conn., recently, and fractured the skull of J. W. McAllister, of the Barry & Fay Co. Mr. McAllister was taken to the Sisters' Hospital, where he now lies in a precarious condition.

Cora Tinnie, one of the handsomest girls of Rice's Corsair Company, will be seen in comedy next season.

The Taming of the Shrew, the best production Daly has ever given, is underlined at his New York theatre for revival.

E. E. Rice denies that a brace of the aristocratic citizens of New Orleans were $8 000 smarter than Henry E. Dixey and himself.

Bill Nye and James Whitcomb Riley are talking, walking and lecturing their way toward San Francisco as best they may. When they "spoke" in Philadelphia the Item thus itemized them: "Mr. Nye isn't beautiful. Neither is an earthquake. They resemble one another, though, in their ability to 'pet there.' Mr. Riley isn't beautiful, either, but his muse is, and as he clothes her with graceful rhymes and glowing sentiment, Mr. Riley is lost sight of in the beauty of his muse. Mr. Nye has a muse, but he spells it mews. Bill hasn't much hair to speak of, but what he lacked in hair he made up in collar. The glimmer of his hairless dome of thought was merged into the sheen of his shirt-bosom and the steely glitter of a white collar as high as a Delmonico dinner. He didn't wear any diamonds, for he says their brilliancy interferes with his large and active Waterbury thicker."

The business returns for Morosco's, last week, nearly tied the banner week of the theatre. It was a red-letter week.

Charles Thornton opens a season at South San Francisco in Stormy Waters, under the management of John H. Armstrong.

Manager Huffman will soon lower the side galleries of the People's Theatre and re-arrange the seats so that its seating capacity will be largely increased. The complaint is, We want more room.

Modjeska plays Marie Stuart at Fiske's Fresno Opera House March 9th. The advance sale of seats is already very large.

The new international railway pool promises to affect the theatrical business something like the action of the Inter-State Commerce law did. It will make it harder to get Eastern companies to come here.

Pauline Markham received a very large offer from Koster & Bial, N. Y., to create the leading part in their burlesque of Antony and Cleopatra, which she refused.

Edward Harrigan has just completed a new three-act comedy, which was read to his manager, Martin Hanley. It has not yet been christened, but it will be his opening play for next season.

The Royce-Lansing Musical Comedy Company at the Bijou is pronounced by the Examiner to be "not a strong one, musically or otherwise." They are there for this week only.

The Little Tycoon is doing a phenomenal business in the West and South. R. E. Graham has returned to the east and as General Knickerbocker has scored a greater success than ever. The San Francisco engagement of The Little Tycoon begins March 18th at the Bush Street Theatre.

The Grismers are getting Youth ready for the Alcazar patrons. It will follow The Calthorpe Case and will be produced on a grand scale. The Veteran Guard of California, G. A. R., will assist in the battle scene.

Lena Merville and Rose Coghlan have property in Yonkers. Madeline Lucette has a villa at New Rochelle. Nellie McHenry has property in a half-dozen towns in the northwest, besides her pretty villa in the Navesink Highlands in the Jerseys. Maggie Mitchell owns land in Long Branch and New York. Lotta owns outright more than $300,000 worth of property on Manhattan Island, and a $180,000 mortgage on the biggest hat manufactory in America. Kate Castleton looks over her own acres from Castle Castleton near Oakland, California, and Annie Summerville looks as if she owned the earth. Langtry has a cattle ranch, and so has Modjeska. Emelia Summerville owns a few lots near Winchester, and hopes soon to get the whole country. Mary Anderson owns a great deal of real estate and sees that the rents are paid. Loie Fuller says she owns an orange grove in Florida, and Annie Perkins a rice field. So most of our actresses build other castles in the air.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company will put in a farewell week of March 11th at the Bush, in Olivette and a new programme of operas.

EVENING EDITION

WEDNESDAY.....MARCH 6, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Dates have been moved to give A Hole in the Ground, that has done the best of business, an extra week here. It is presented with all the impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

George Richards is inimitable as the imposed upon stranger, and plays the part as studiously and effectively as ever, carefully avoiding the besetting sin of prolonged parts, overacting. Frank Lawton is the same crisp and smart station agent, with the remarkable whistling propensities. Julian Mitchell blows in and out as of old as the all-broke-up baseball Umpire. The hotel runners do the same honest work as baggage grabbers. Nettie Lyford and Alice Evans prove themselves charming soubrettes as the chief engineers of the lunch counter and the telegraph desk, and Lillian Ramsden distinguishes herself by her artistic dancing.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line, and is one of the most enjoyable ones we have had here.

Next week, Pastor & Canteli's Madrid Spanish Opera Company, for one week only, in a repertoire of new operas. This company is one of the best opera troupes we have had here since the Patti season, and in a first-class theatre, like the Bush, we look forward to seeing the dress circle crowded with fashionable and cultured audiences during the Madrid Opera Company's week. Their merits deserve it.

Seats now on sale.

Baldwin Theatre.

Frederick Warde appears for the first three nights of this week as William Tell in the strong, well-written play of that title, embracing the familiar story of the Swiss patriot's heroism. The subject has been the theme of song and story, play and opera. The bold, vigorous character will find a worthy representative in Mr. Warde.

William Tell is familiar to us more by reading than by acting. Mr. Warde plays the patriot's role with force and feeling; Miss Belgrade plays with much spirit, and Mr. Weaver is also very good, and the company generally are even in support.

Mr. Warde appears in his strongest part, that of Virginius for Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday matinee, and Gaston Cadol for Saturday night.

For Sunday evening, the last appearance of Mr. Warde, Richard III.

Next week, Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This week Mr. Grismer presents for the first time in America the piece he purchased the rights to in the East, a late London success, The Calthorpe Case. It is a society drama of "Jim the Penman" style, full of stirring incidents, built on a good plot well woven together and moving quickly from one dramatic climax to another.

Miss Phoebe Davies has captured the honors of the piece, playing better than she has ever before. She is ably seconded by Arthur Branscombe. Mr. Grismer and Miss Brandon are doing good work with the somewhat dull comedy parts. Fanny Young as Mrs. Yorke, the invalid wife, gives every evidence of her ability as an actress in the more serious roles.

Orpheum Opera House.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company, headed by that talented and versatile performer, will be this week's attraction at the Orpheum. The company consists of the Braatz Brothers, gymnasts; the three Carnos, funny acrobats; Lieut. Travis, ventriloquist; Fred. Huber and Miss Kitty Allyne, sketch team; Madalene Rose, ventriloquial artiste; the Darrows, musical clowns, Miss Lillie Selbini, revolving globe performer, and Miss Emilie Peare, vocalist.

This is an excellent specialty company, and their work is for the most part entirely new: Kernell, in his funny new specialty; the Carnos, in their comic musical act; the Braatz Bros., in their wonderful gymnastic act, and Travis and M'lle Rosa, in their ventriloquial act, all introduce decided novelties.

The audience heartily enjoy the comic portions. After all man likes to laugh, even though he knows it is the greatest nonsense that pleases him, and the situations, as a rule, only possible in mimic life. Kernell's merry-makers just fill the bill to a nicety.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy will bring out the three-act humorous Irish comedy-drama of "Flirtation."

The play has sharply outlined characters that have the elements of grotesqueness and humor in them, and the situations are extremely funny. Its best points are greeted with peals of laughter.

If last week's piece was full of fun this is more so. The most is made out of every situation, and from the beginning to the end there is not a dull scene.

Next week, the attraction will be Michael Strogoff, with Darrell Vinton in the title-role.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

This week, the new people are Prof. R. E. F. Burns, mesmerist; Girard Leon, Prof. Ferguson, musical specialties; Conchita and Minnie Ellsworth.

Mr. Burns certainly makes his subjects do the most inexplicable things. Prof. Ferguson is an eccentric musical artist, direct from the Hub. Our favorite Conchita receives a hearty greeting from her old friends. Girard Leon and his trick donkies are funny. Add to these Minnie Ellsworth, Harry Orndorff and just everyday Geo. H. Wood, as entertainers, and what can mortal man ask more.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," is this week's bill, with a good company in support, to Mr. Hosmer's strong impersonation of Bill Sykes.

All its many characters are brought out, as will be seen by referring to the cast, and their assumptions are creditably sustained.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week Mr. Hosmer puts in his fourth and last week as Luke Fielding, in the melodrama of A Dark Deed. The piece will be given with the usual careful stage effects.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week are: McCoy & McEvoy, the two Irish thrushes; Miss Nelly Andes, the Eastern cantatrice, and Cogill & Cowyer, break-neck artists.

Charles Reese, a comedian, vocalist, dancer and mimic, is clever as he is versatile. He contributes to the Union's stage "Faro Bill," a frontier piece from his own pen, as the leading attraction this week. It is graphically drawn, written and acted

Ned Thatcher and George Drew are good dialogue artists, that set the house in a roar with their fun.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Eight more new stars will be added to the Cremorne Company this week: Prof. Gus Peterson, the celebrated Eastern illusionist, in his original entertainment of Black Art; the Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, sketch team; Ida Chester, and Martin Murphy and Frank Frayne, the lightning boxers, in a grand glove contest. On Friday night either one of the two will engage in an eight round contest with an unknown.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; the Buffalo Trio, Flora Hastings and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add their attractions to the Cremorne's bill.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Geary and Fillmore streets. The first regular circus to show in the Western Addition portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

This week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, will make their first appearances.

This being inaugural week Mr. Chas. Morrell has been elected to sit in the chair a la Harrison.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Tommy Morris in one of his specialties. This is followed by the laughable comedy, A Box and Bag of Fun. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Moving Cleveland.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Mr. James Tiernan, the great baritone, and Musical Fletcher, the universal favorite, have made a great hit and are retained among the Eureka favorites.

The fine sketch artists, Chas. Berkeley and May Howard, are always successful in their efforts to please.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, James Tiernan, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

For their fifth week Berkeley & Howard are billed to present their challenge sketch, Caught in His Own Act, including Berkeley's latest topical song, "Charley's A B C."

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill, as it has proved a great attraction.

Herbert Kelsey, the æsthetic leading man of the Lyceum Company, lives in a pretty flat on 19th street, in New York, and with the exception of Dorlan's oyster house, on 23d street, never goes to a resort or restaurant. The other evening he was out very late, and feeling tremendously hungry stepped into a Sixth avenue eating house and called for a steak, baked potatoes and two eggs, fried only on one side. The waiter, knowing his customer, sang out: "Slaughter in the pan, two Murphy's wid der coats on, and two white wings wid de sunny side up." Mr. Kelsey suddenly lost his appetite and was taken home in a hansom.

The more we see of others the more respectfully we bow to the looking-glass.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Wilson and Cameron's Australian Specialty Company will give us a showing of their qualities at the Orpheum on March 18th.

Manager Frank Hall has taken the large hall on Market street, formerly known as the Wonderland and Lyceum Theatre, for the purpose of giving a 27-hour race between Gus Guerrero, Frank Hart, E. C. Moore and Thos. Howarth. The race will commence at 9 o'clock Saturday night and end Sunday night at 12 o'clock. This contest is the outcome of a deal of bad blood existing among the late racing competitors, stirred up mostly by Guerrero's reiterated assertions that he can beat the best man among them, or a combination of them all against him, in a 24-hour match. Mr. Hall will manage the race and has rechristened the building for the nonce Academy Hall.

Clinton's Theatre Royal, Portland, March 4th: Barth & Lorraine, Edith Lenoir, Winchell Twin Sisters, Martin & Lonsdale, Alice Mansfield and Lang's Marquis, new. All the old favorites retained.

Cort's Standard, Portland, March 4th: Drummond & Rowe, S G Beasley, Ernie Cantona, the Cooks, Florence Wood, and the Pierces are the new people.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular boy King and Miss Lizzie Mayo, the soubrette, are new. The bill is very full this week.

Billy Arnold, Lida Gardner and Camille Kenyon open at Cort's Standard Theatre, Portland, on the 18th.

The Baker Bros. are remarkable gymnasts. We have never had their equal for quickness and head-to-head balancing ever before. To stand them on their heads has no terrors for them. They are used to it.

The Davison Brothers will make a few more of their startling works at the Cliff House, March 9-10 and 16-17. It is just a year ago that they made their famous swim from the Cliff House to Seal Rocks and the wind was blowing almost a gale. Weather permitting they will draw large crowds.

A great improvement has been made in ventroloquial automatal figures, as shown by those used by the artists of Harry Kernell's company. One of them actually gets up and dances off the stage in a most natural manner, winking at the audience as he goes.

Farini's Australian Circus and McMahon's World's Circus, that have been giving crowded performances on the Central Park lot, have spread their big tent on the corner of Geary and Fillmore streets, and will give, this week, the first regular circus performances ever given in the Western Additions portion of the city. Popular prices. See ad. elsewhere in FIGARO.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are availed to good advantage in well selected songs in the echo.

The Standard advertises "the most original comedy of the day, entitled Is Marriage a Failure?" on its bills, in the meantime playing as the attraction this week; and the Chronicle gives the announcement a send-away by telling its readers in regard to the Burkhardt's old comedy "Married Life," reproduced under a new name to "take advantage," as the Chronicle says, "of the interesting divorce discussion lately." It gives the performance a kindly notice to sugar-coat the pill—but it is a pill to take nevertheless.

Skee running, a Scandinavian sport, is becoming popular in Minnesota. The performers slides down hill on long wooden shoes, or feet boards, and at a prepared spot makes a leap into space. Ninety five feet is the longest skee jump on record in Norway.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Henry Abbey has given orders not to book any more of his attractions in St. Louis. He has no use for that city because of the treatment the critics tendered to Mary Anderson.

Venetian Nights is the title of a first part entertainment, the words and music of which are by Will H. Shade. Manager W. S. Cleveland will stage it elaborately next season.

The Griesmers are getting Youth ready for the Alcazar patrons. It will follow The Calthorpe Case and will be produced on a grand scale. The Veteran Guard of California, G. A. R., will assist in the battle scene.

Effie Shannon has been released by Augustin Daly, and she has found a place in the Robert Ellsmere cast.

David D. Lloyd, the author of The Woman Hater, is to write a new play for W. H. Crane.

Chas. Frohman has purchased a German comedy for Herr Conreid which Mr. Gillette will localize. Mr. Frohman has engaged E. H. Vanderfelt for a leading part in Shenandoah, and has also James Barrowe for the cast.

Mrs. Langtry will probably take the lease of the London Haymarket Theatre for her Summer engagement.

At the present ratio there will be over one hundred new plays produced next season. It is safe to predict that one-half of them will fail.

Bill Nye and James Whitcomb Riley are talking, walking and lecturing their way toward San Francisco as best they may. When they "spoke" in Philadelphia the Item thus itemized them: "Mr. Nye isn't beautiful. Neither is an earthquake. They resemble one another, though, in their ability to 'get there.' Mr. Riley isn't beautiful, either, but his muse is, and as he clothes her with graceful rhymes and glowing sentiment, Mr. Riley is lost sight of in the beauty of his muse. Mr. Nye has a muse, but he spells it mews. Bill hasn't much hair to speak of, but what he lacked in hair he made up in collar. The glimmer of his hairless dome of thought was merged into the sheen of his shirt-bosom and the steely glitter of a white collar as high as a Delmonico dinner. He didn't wear any diamonds, for he says their brilliancy interferes with his large and active Waterbury thicker."

Mlle. Rhea is reading a new play. She will appear in New York next season.

The business returns for Morosco's, last week, nearly tied the banner week of the theatre. It was a red-letter week.

Emily Soldene has returned from Europe with a trunk full of new comic operas, one or two of which she hopes to see produced in New York.

The Coquelin-Hading company is not drawing full houses at Palmer's Theatre and their second New York engagement is disappointing financially.

The Madrid Spanish Opera Company will put in a farewell week of March 11th at the Bush. See in extra ad. programme of operas.

Miss Lottie Stockmeyer (professionally known as Lottie Walton) and Mr. H. Norman will be married on Saturday, March 9th. Our best wishes go with the happy pair.

Mr. Neil Warner will have a grand testimonial benefit given him at the Alcazar on Thursday afternoon, March 14. All those interested in the matter are determined to make the affair a success.

L. R. Stockwell left New York on March 6th. He will have just time to get here for Monday night's performance.

A grand entertainment will be given at the Grand Opera House on Sunday afternoon, March 17th, for the benefit of the Parnell and O'Brien Fund. The programme for the entertainment will be the presentation of The King's Fool by the Conrad Opera Co. and an Irish patriotic drama, entitled The Color of Gold, written by Wm. E. Fitzpatrick of this city. Mayor Pond is expected to preside at the entertainment, which, judging from the interest already manifested, will undoubtedly be a great success and net a large amount for the Fund.

Charles Thornton opens a season at South San Francisco in Stormy Waters, under the management of John H. Armstrong.

Manager Huffman will soon lower the side galleries of the People's Theatre and re-arrange the seats so that its seating capacity will be largely increased. The complaint is, We want more room.

Chas. H. Day has severed his connection with the Haverly Minstrels.

Modjeska plays Marie Stuart at Fiske's Fresno Opera House March 9th. The advance sale of seats is already very large.

The Royce-Lansing Musical Comedy Company at the Bijou is pronounced by the Examiner to be "not a strong one, musically or otherwise." They are there for this week only.

The Little Tycoon is doing a phenomenal business in the West and South. R. E. Graham has returned to the east and as General Knickerbocker has scored a greater success than ever. The San Francisco engagement of The Little Tycoon begins March 18th at the Bush Street Theatre.

The life of Maggie Mitchell is soon to be published in book form. It will treat on her theatrical career, and it will be published under her own supervision.

Clara Morris is doing an immense business through Texas.

EVENING EDITION

THURSDAY.....MARCH 7, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Dates have been moved to give A Hole in the Ground, that has done the best of business, an extra week here. It is presented with all the impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line. Those who have not seen it have missed a great treat.

Next week, Pastor & Canteli's Madrid Spanish Opera Company, for one week only, in a repertoire of new operas. This company is one of the best opera troupes we have had here since the Patti season, and in a first-class theatre, like the Bush, we look forward to seeing the dress circle crowded with fashionable and cultured audiences during the Madrid Opera Company's week. Their merits deserve it.

"Campanone," Ricci's musical opera, the theme of which is the preparation and dress rehearsal of Maestro Campanone's grand opera, is the bill for Monday night. The performance of this opera by the Spanish Company, both in singing and acting, is one of marked excellence. Senor Labrada, as the enthused composer and musical director, is inimitable—a performance above all comparison. Srs. Alemany and Srta. Gallardo as the rival primas and Senor Frances as the tenor of the opera give admirable characterizations, and Sr. Vargas, the little tailor with a big bass voice, can be credited with doing one of the best buffo parts we ever had here.

Tuesday, Von Suppe's popular 3-act opera of Donna Juanita.

Campanone will be sung for the last time at Wednesday matinee.

Seats now on sale.

Baldwin Theatre.

Mr. Warde appears in his strongest part, that of Virginius for Thursday, Friday and Sunday evenings, and Saturday matinee.

Mr. Warde's impersonation of Virginius is too well known to need any additional words of praise, only to say Mr. Warde has reserved the best for the last

Gaston Cadol will be the bill for Saturday night.

Next week, Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This week Mr. Grismer presents for the first time in America the piece he purchased the rights to in the East, a late London success, The Calthorpe Case. It is a society drama of "Jim the Penman" style, full of stirring incidents, built on a good plot well woven together, and moving quickly from one dramatic climax to another.

Miss Phoebe Davies has captured the honors of the piece, playing better than she has ever before. She is ably seconded by Arthur Branscombe. Mr. Grismer and Miss Brandon are doing good work with the somewhat dull comedy parts. Fanny Young as Mrs. Yorke, the invalid wife, gives every evidence of her ability as an actress in the more serious roles.

Orpheum Opera House.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company, headed by that talented and versatile performer, will be this week's attraction at the Orpheum. The company consists of the Braatz Brothers, gymnasts; the three Carnos, funny acrobats; Lieut. Travis, ventriloquist; Fred. Huber and Miss Kitty Allyne, sketch team; Madalene Ross, ventrilcquial artiste; the Darrows, musical clowns; Miss Lillie Sel-their work is for the most part entirely new: Kernell, in his funny new specialty; the Carnos, in their comic musical act; the Braatz Bros., in their wonderful gymnastic act, and Travis and M'lle Rosa, in their ventriloquial act, all introduce decided novelties.

The audience heartily enjoy the comic portions. After all man likes to laugh, even though he knows it is the greatest nonsense that pleases him, and the situations, as a rule, only possible in mimic life. Kernell's merry-makers just fill the bill to a nicety.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy will bring out the three-act humorous Irish comedy-drama of "Flirtation."

The play has sharply outlined characters that have the elements of grotesqueness and humor in them, and the situations are extremely funny. Its best points are greeted with peals of laughter.

If last week's piece was full of fun this is more so. The most is made out of every situation, and from the beginning to the end there is not a dull scene.

Next week, the attraction will be Michael Strogoff, with Darrell Vinton in the title-role.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

This week, the new people are Prof. R. E. F. Burns, mesmerist; Girard Leon, Prof. Ferguson, musical specialties; Conchita and Minnie Ellsworth.

Mr. Burns certainly makes his subjects do the most inexplicable things. Prof. Ferguson is an eccentric musical artist, direct from the Hub. Our favorite Conchita receives a hearty greeting from her old friends. Girard Leon and his trick donkies are funny. Add to these Minnie Ellsworth, Harry Orndorff and just everyday Geo. H. Wood, as entertainers, and what can mortal man ask more.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," is this week's bill, with a good company in support, to Mr. Hosmer's strong impersonation of Bill Sykes.

All its many characters are brought out, as will be seen by referring to the cast, and their assumptions are creditably sustained.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week Mr. Hosmer puts in his fourth and last week as Luke Fielding, in the melodrama of A Dark Deed. The piece will be given with the usual careful stage effects.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week are: McCoy & McEvoy, the two Irish thrushes; Miss Nelty Andes, the Eastern cantatrice, and Cogill & Cowyer, break-neck artists.

Charles Reese, a comedian, vocalist, dancer and mimic, is clever as he is versatile. He contributes to the Union's stage "Faro Bill," a frontier piece from his own pen, as the leading attraction this week. It is graphically drawn, written and acted

Ned Thatcher and George Drew are good dialogue artists, that set the house in a roar with their fun.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Eight more new stars will be added to the Cremorne Company this week: Prof. Gus Peterson, the celebrated Eastern illusionist, in his original entertainment of Black Art; the Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, sketch team; Ida Chester, and Martin Murphy and Frank Frayne, the lightning boxers, in a grand glove contest. on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; the Buffalo Trio, Flora Hastings and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add their attractions to the Cremorne's bill.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Geary and Filmore streets. The first regular circus to show in the Western Addition portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Travers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

This week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, will make their first appearances.

This being inaugural week Mr. Chas. Morrell has been elected to sit in the chair a la Harrison.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Tommy Morris in one of his specialties. This is followed by the laughable comedy, A Box and Bag of Fun. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Moving Cleveland.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Mr. James Tiernan, the great baritone, and Musical Fletcher, the universal favorite, have made a great hit and are retained among the Eureka favorites.

The fine sketch artists, Chas. Berkeley and May Howard, are always successful in their efforts to please.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, James Tiernan, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

For their fifth week Berkeley & Howard are billed to present their challenge sketch, Caught in His Own Act, including Berkoley's latest topical song, "Charley's A B C."

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill, as it has proved a great attraction.

STARTLING NOVELTY MONSTER

Nitika, who used to be in a juvenile opera company in New York, has captured Odessa and makes her debut in opera at Moscow on April 24. The Russian papers all print in good faith an absurd story, concocted for her by that unscrupulous romancer, Manager Maplesun, about getting captured by Indians, making her escape, and walking from Buffalo to New York. The gall of the thing is as intensely funny to us as the pretentious little stories we swallow must be to the home residents of their hero's.

Herrmann has invested a good deal of money in a cable railroad. It is generally understood that when the system is in running order every person who drops a nickel in the slot will get a bouquet of flowers or an Omelette au Diable at the end of the trip.

The late Oliver Ditson left $15,000 for the founding of a home for poor singers.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Bakersfield is to have a variety theatre, opening Saturday night. Company: Charley Rice, Cora Everett, Gus Saville, Eva St. Clair, Rose Elmore, Chas. Colburn and Annie Monroe.

The Stirk Family did not go to Australia after all. They have gone to Portland.

Manager Frank Hall has taken the large hall on Market street, formerly known as the Wonderland and Lyceum Theatre, for the purpose of giving a 27-hour race between Gus Guerrero, Frank Hart, E. C. Moore and Thos. Howarth. The race will commence at 9 o'clock Saturday night and end Sunday night at 12 o'clock. This contest is the outcome of a deal of bad blood existing among the late racing competitors, stirred up mostly by Guerrero's reiterated assertions that he can beat the best man among them, or a combination of them all against him, in a 24-hour match. Mr. Hall will manage the race and has rechristened the building for the nonce Academy Hall.

Clinton's Theatre Royal, Portland, March 4th: Barth & Lorraine, Edith Lundin, Winchell Twin Sisters, Martin & Lonsdale, Alice Mansfield and Lang's Comiques, new. All the old favorites retained.

Cort's Standard, Portland, March 4 th: Drummond & Rowe, S G. Beasley, Eddie Fontenau, the Cooks, Florence Wood, and the Pierces are the new people.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the danseuse, are new. The bill is very full this week.

Billy Arnold, Lida Gardner and Camille Kenyon open at Cort's Standard Theatre, Portland, on the 18th.

The Braatz Bros. are remarkable gymnasts. We have never had their equal in equipoise and head-to-head balancing here before. To stand them on their heads has no terrors for them. They are used to it.

The Davison Brothers will make a few more of their startling walks at the Cliff House, March 9-10 and 16-17. It is just a year ago that they made their famous walk from the Cliff House to Seal Rocks when the wind was blowing almost a gale. Weather permitting they will draw large crowds.

A great improvement has been made in ventriloqual automatal figures, as shown by those used by the artists of Harry Kernell's company. One of them actually gets up and dances off the stage in a most natural manner, winking at the audience as he goes.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

The Grand Opera House.

The interior of the Grand Opera House is to be completely changed and renovated under the supervision of the master carpenter, Thomas H. Andrews. An entire new stage with all the modern accessories and improvements will be built. Two new drop curtains will be painted as soon as suitable subjects have been selected.

The boxes and the entire inside of the house will be reconstructed. All of the upholstery, including the chairs, will be renewed, and new carpets laid. The lobby will be converted into a conservatory and palms will be planted in the metal urns. The whole building will be lighted by means of incandescent lights.

The work will commence as soon as the Conried engagement is completed. A large force will be set to work and the men will be employed night and day until everything is finished. Mr. Andrews will construct the stage himself, and the house will be ready for Mary Anderson and A Winter's Tale April 22 nd.

It is not yet decided as to who will

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

L. R. Stockwell, who was to have started on his return from New York on March 6th, finds his managerial duties in looking after business of the Alcazar in the East will keep him there for several weeks longer.

Mr. Neil Warner will have a grand testimonial benefit given him at the Alcazar on Thursday afternoon, March 14. Othello, with a very strong cast, has been chosen as the feature of the performance. Frederick Warde will come down from Sacramento to play Iago, Mr. Warner playing the jealous Moor. All those interested in the matter are determined to make the affair a success.

The Grismers produce Youth for the Alcazar patrons next week on a grand scale. The Veteran Guard of California, G. A. R., will assist in the battle scene.

Mme. Tussaud's famous wax works were sold in London to a syndicate.

Up to Feb. 24th 580,000 people had been to see Denman Thompson's The Old Homestead in New York.

The business returns for Morosco's, last week, nearly tied the banner week of the theatre. It was a red-letter week.

It is said that Mrs. W. J. Florence will retire permanently from the stage at the close of this season.

Boito's opera, Nero, the product of ten years' work, is to be produced in Milan during the carnival of 1890.

A grand entertainment will be given at the Grand Opera House on Sunday afternoon, March 17th, for the benefit of the Parnell and O'Brien Fund. The programme for the entertainment will be the presentation of The King's Fool by the Conrad Opera Co. and an Irish patriotic drama, entitled The Color of Gold, written by Wm. E. Fitzpatrick of this city. Mayor Pond is expected to preside at the entertainment, which, judging from the interest already manifested, will undoubtedly be a great success and net a large amount for the Fund.

The American prima donna, Mme. Hastreiter, has made such a success in Rome that she is likely to go the grand opera of Paris.

Louis James has engaged Mabel Amber for his lone tour next season. She is now Mantell's leading lady, and was formerly in the stock at Daly's.

Manager Huffman will soon lower the side galleries of the People's Theatre and re-arrange the seats so that its seating capacity will be largely increased. The complaint is, We want more room.

Chas. H. Day has severed his connection with the Haverly Minstrels.

"He, She, Him and Her" is coming to San Francisco—It is a play.

The Paris critics are unusually severe on Victorien Sardou for wasting his abilities on such a trifling and uninteresting comedy as "Marquise," which was produced at the Vaudeville Theatre.

Modjeska plays Marie Stuart at Fiske's Fresno Opera House March 9th. The advance sale of seats is already very large.

Maurice Barrymore may go starring next season. His already remarkable success in Captain Swift at the Madison Square Theatre, N. Y., will naturally place his services in greatly increased demand.

The Little Tycoon is doing a phenomenal business in the West and South. R. E. Graham has returned to the east and as General Knickerbocker has scored a greater success than ever. The San Francisco engagement of The Little Tycoon begins March 18th at the Bush Street Theatre.

Mme. Nordica, Ella Russell and Mme. Scalchi have signed contracts for opera at Covent Garden this season. Mme Hastreiter is also negotiating terms with a view to a revival of Gluck's Orpheo, in which she has just made such a wonderful success in Rome.

Hattie Richmond, of Fanny Davenport's company, lately at Chicago was sent to the Bridewell for having divested herself of all clothing and then disturbed the public peace. She is believed to be insane.

At the present ratio there will be over one hundred new plays produced next season. It is safe to predict that one-half of them will fail.

Mlle. Rhea has completed negotiations for a new play on a historical subject which will admit of handsome scenery and costumes. The accomplished actress is delighted with the principal role. It will be her piece de resistance next season.

It is said that Mrs. Langtry applied to Lawrence Barrett for the position of leading support to Edwin Booth next season.

Effie Shannon and Rose Eytinge have retired from Augustin Daly's Company. It is rumored that other changes in that popular organization are in prospect.

Selina Delaro's charming novel, Bella Demonia, is published in the March issue of Lippincott's Magazine. The story is very interesting and will have an extensive sale. It is dedicated to Mr. A. M. Palmer.

The Grand Opera House in Duluth Minn. is to be rebuilt, and Geo. B. Haycock, will be its manager. The theatre will be completed in August.

Henry Pitt, known on the stage as Henry Clayton, died recently in Chicago. He leaves a widow (an albino) and three children.

Laura Moore will be the chief singer of Francis Wilson's new company.

said Pasha.

The only novelty this week is a work of native production at the Star Theatre. Said Pasha is musically somewhat of a disappointment, the repitition of waltz rhythms being wearisome, and there is little beyond these Viennese waltzes in the opera. Neither is the libretto of a very high order. The orchestration is not novel, and often inartistic, yet the opera as a whole is of the muscular variety that forces laughter. It gives great opportunities for brilliant costuming, which are taken splendid advantage of, and the tableaux are all effective. Mr. Edwin Stevens, a comedian new to the metropolis, brought out a good deal of fun. He is much like DeWolf Hopper in build and method and at once made himself a favorite. Said Pasha does not promise to become very popular.—[Dunlop's Stage News.

EVENING EDITION

FRIDAY.....MARCH 8, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Dates have been moved to give A Hole in the Ground, that has done the best of business, an extra week here. It is presented with all the impersonators of the company in parts suited to bring out their best lines of acting, from comedian George Richards to those charming "tailor-made" girls. It is a fountain of humor and a well-spring of gladness bubbling with ripples of laughter, and is the best anti-dyspeptic on the stage.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line. Those who have not seen it have missed a great treat.

Next week, Pastor & Canteli's Madrid Spanish Opera Company, for one week only, in a repertoire of new operas. This company is one of the best opera troupes we have had here since the Patti season, and in a first-class theatre, like the Bush, we look forward to seeing the dress circle crowded with fashionable and cultured audiences during the Madrid Opera Company's week. Their merits deserve it.

"Campanone," Ricci's musical opera, the theme of which is the preparation and dress rehearsal of Maestro Campanone's grand opera, is the bill for Monday night. The performance of this opera by the Spanish Company, both in singing and acting, is one of marked excellence. Senor Labrada, as the enthused composer and musical director, is inimitable—a performance above all comparison. Srs. Alemany and Srta. Gallardo as the rival primas and Senor Frances as the tenor of the opera give admirable characterizations, and Sr. Vargas, the little tailor with a big bass voice, can be credited with doing one of the best buffo parts we ever had here.

Campanone will be sung for the last time at Wednesday matinee.

Seats now on sale.

Baldwin Theatre.

Mr. Warde appears in his strongest part, that of Virginius for Thursday, Friday and Sunday evenings, and Saturday matinee.

Mr. Warde's impersonation of Virginius is too well known to need any additional words of praise, only to say Mr. Warde has reserved the best for the last.

Gaston Cadol will be the bill for Saturday night.

Next week, Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation.

Alcazar Theatre

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies are playing a successful engagement here, assisted by the Alcazar company, who are rendering excellent support.

This week Mr. Grismer presents for the first time in America the piece he purchased the rights to in the East, a late London success, The Calthorpe Case. It is a society drama of "Jim the Penman" style, full of stirring incidents, built on a good plot well woven together, and moving quickly from one dramatic climax to another.

Miss Phoebe Davies has captured the honors of the piece, playing better than she has ever before. She is ably seconded by Arthur Branscombe. Mr. Grismer and Miss Brandon are doing good work with the somewhat dull comedy parts. Fanny Young as Mrs. Yorke, the invalid wife, gives every evidence of her ability as an actress in the more serious roles.

Next week's attraction will be the grand spectacular drama Youth.

Orpheum Opera House.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company, headed by that talented and versatile performer, will be this week's attraction at the Orpheum. The company consists of the Braatz Brothers, gymnasts; the three Carnos, funny acrobats; Lieut. Travis, ventriloquist; Fred. Huber and Miss Kitty Allyne, sketch team; Madalene Rose, ventriloquial artiste; the Darrows, musical clowns; Miss Lillie Selbini, revolving globe performer, and Miss [illegible], vocalist.

in their comic musical act; the Braatz Bros., in their wonderful gymnastic act, and Travis and M'lle Rosa, in their ventriloquial act, all introduce decided novelties.

The audience heartily enjoy the comic portions. After all man likes to laugh, even though he knows it is the greatest nonsense that pleases him, and the situations, as a rule, only possible in mimic life. Kernell's merry-makers just fill the bill to a nicety.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy will bring out the three act humorous Irish comedy-drama of "Flirtation."

The play has sharply outlined characters that have the elements of grotesqueness and humor in them, and the situations are extremely funny. Its best points are greeted with peals of laughter.

If last week's piece was full of fun this is more so. The most is made out of every situation, and from the beginning to the end there is not a dull scene.

Next week, the attraction will be Michael Strogoff, with Darrell Vinton in the title-role.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

This week, the new people are Prof. R. E. F. Burns, mesmerist; Girard Leon, Prof. Ferguson, musical specialties; Conchita and Minnie Ellsworth.

Mr. Burns certainly makes his subjects do the most inexplicable things. Prof. Ferguson is an eccentric musical artist, direct from the Hub. Our favorite Conchita receives a hearty greeting from her old friends. Girard Leon and his trick donkies are funny. Add to these Minnie Ellsworth, Harry Orndorff and just everyday Geo. H. Wood, as entertainers, and what can mortal man ask more.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

For next week the new people are: Post and Gross, the refined song and dance artists; Bob Harrison, comedian and punster; Capt. Martin and Ed. Loring, skilful swordsmen; Charles Unger, musical artist, and the phenomenal Paul LaDrew.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," is this week's bill, with a good company in support, to Mr. Hosmer's strong impersonation of Bill Sykes.

All its many characters are brought out, as will be seen by referring to the cast, and their assumptions are creditably sustained.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week Mr. Hosmer puts in his fourth and last week as Luke Fielding, in the melodrama of A Dark Deed. The piece will be given with the usual careful stage effects.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week are: McCoy & McEvoy, the two Irish thrushes; Miss Nelty Andes, the Eastern cantatrice, and Cogill & Cowyer, break-neck artists.

Charles Reese, a comedian, vocalist, dancer and mimic, is clever as he is versatile. He contributes to the Union's stage "Faro Bill," a frontier piece from his own pen, as the leading attraction this week. It is graphically drawn, written and acted.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety. All the old favorites are retained, and this week everyone introduces new specialties.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Eight more new stars will be added to the Cremorne Company this week: Prof. Gus Peterson, the celebrated Eastern illusionist, in his original entertainment of Black Art; the Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, sketch team; two will engage in an eight-round contest with an unknown.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; the Buffalo Trio, Flora Hastings and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add their attractions to the Cremorne's bill.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Geary and Filmore streets. The first regular circus to show in the Western Addition portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

This week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, will make their first appearances.

This being inaugural week Mr. Chas. Morrell has been elected to sit in the chair a la Harrison.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Tommy Morris in one of his specialties. This is followed by the laughable comedy, A Box and Bag of Fun. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Moving Cleveland.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Mr. James Tiernan, the great baritone, and Musical Fletcher, the universal favorite, have made a great hit and are retained among the Eureka favorites.

The fine sketch artists, Chas. Berkeley and May Howard, are always successful in their efforts to please.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, James Tiernan, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

For their fifth week Berkeley & Howard are billed to present their challenge sketch, Caught in His Own Act, including Berkeley's latest topical song, "Charley's A B C."

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill,

STARTLING NOVELTY AND MONSTER AT

Kajanka will be produced in Columbus, Ohio, on Sept. 16th. The Miller Brothers, the owners of this monster spectacle, promise a production that will eclipse anything ever done by the Kiralfys, or any one else. The scenery will require two special cars, and when completed will cost over $10,000. The play will be seen at Niblo's Garden, for six weeks, beginning Dec. 21.

It is said that the London managers of Nadjy have arranged with Manager Aronson to have clever Fanny Rice, who has made such a hit in the title role of that opera at the Casino, appear as Nadjy with the English company, at the Avenue Theatre, London, for a few weeks in the Spring, during the revival of Erminie at the Casino.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Harry Kernell can't have any kernel corns on his feet. He dances too lightly to have incumbrances of that kind.

The story about Goldie Angelo, the variety actress, dropping dead in Missoula, resolves itself into the fact that she only dropped dead her angelic name, took another, and went to the Theatre Comique, Spokane Falls. The name was too goody-good. She could not sustain it.

Faranta's Theatre at New Orleans was burned on the 7th inst. Loss $50 000. It was a popular 10 and 25-cent admission place of amusement.

The Vadis Sisters come here with Reilly & Wood's great show that comes to the Bush in a few weeks.

That old California minstrel boy, Billy Birch, has organized Birch's Minstrel Co. in New York. They are playing at Tony Pastor's.

Sells Brothers' Circus opens in this city April 28th. They make a trip through the Southern portion of the state, starting from their Winter quarters in Stockton, before opening here.

John Cort has purchased the Palace Theatre, Port Townsend, W. T., and will make extensive improvements in it prior to its opening under his management on the 18th.

The Perry Bros. have closed their Club Theatre, Los Angeles, temporarily, and will take a comedy company on the road in the interval.

Bakersfield is to have a variety theatre, opening Saturday night. Company: Charley Rice, Cora Everett, Gus Saville, Eva St. Clair, Rose Elmore, Chas. Colburn and Annie Monroe.

Manager Frank Hall has taken the large hall on Market street, formerly known as the Wonderland and Lyceum Theatre, for the purpose of giving a 27-hour race between Gus Guerrero, Frank Hart, E. C. Moore and Thos. Howarth. The race will commence at 9 o'clock Saturday night and end Sunday night at 12 o'clock. This contest is the outcome of a deal of bad blood existing among the late racing competitors, stirred up mostly by Guerrero's reiterated assertions that he can beat the best man among them, or a combination of them all against him, in a 24-hour match. Mr. Hall will manage the race and has rechristened the building for the nonce Academy Hall.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the danseuse, are new. The bill is very full this week.

The Davison Brothers will make a few more of their startling walks at the Cliff House, March 9-10 and 16-17. It is just a year ago that they made their famous walk from the Cliff House to Seal Rocks when the wind was blowing almost a gale. Weather permitting they will draw large crowds.

A great improvement has been made in ventriloquial automatal figures, as shown by those used by the artists of Harry Kernell's company. One of them actually gets up and dances off the stage in a most natural manner, winking at the audience as he goes.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

The Grand Opera House.

The interior of the Grand Opera House is to be completely changed and renovated under the supervision of the master carpenter, Thomas H. Andrews. An entire new stage with all the modern accessories and improvements will be built. Two new drop curtains will be painted as soon as suitable subjects have been selected.

The boxes and the entire inside of the house will be reconstructed. All of the upholstery, including the chairs, will be renewed, and new carpets laid. The lobby will be converted into a conservatory and palms will be planted in the metal urns. The whole building will be lighted by means of incandescent lights.

The work will commence as soon as the Oberon engagement is completed. A large force will be set to work and the men will be employed night and day until everything is finished. Mr. Andrews will construct the stage himself, and the house will be ready for Mme. Anderson

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The peculiar position the second Mrs. Dion Boucicault, nee Miss Louise Thorndyke, was placed by the decree of the court granting a divorce to Boucicault's first wife, Agnes Robertson, after their twenty years separation, has been removed by the second marriage of Boucicault with his second wife, which stands without any legal impediments.

Mary Anderson, while playing in A Winter Night's Tale at Albaugh's Opera House, Washington, on the 8th, fainted in the dance scene. The performance was finished, though the balance of the engagement was canceled by the advice of her physician, who say she is suffering from nervous prostration, the result of overwork.

Modjeska did a big week's business in Los Angeles.

H. B. Clawson, the Salt Lake manager, has been in town looking out for a suitable lot to build a theatre and hotel on.

The Peck's Bad Boy Co., with J. J. Williams as the boy, will play as far East as Omaha. They have played to good business over the Northern Pacific route.

The Hudson-Eckert Juvenile Opera Co., that organized in this city about a year ago, and played the Northern circuit and Eastward over the Northern road successfully, until they met bad biz. in big Chicago and had the theatre closed over their heads, are playing their way back to California again over the Southern road. They are booked for the San Diego circuit for the week of the 18th.

Oakland has A Hole in the Ground on Monday and Tuesday nights.

John D. Hopkins, a well known Eastern manager, is in the city. He manages Reilly & Wood's new specialty company, a very strong combination that comes to the Bush shortly.

J. J. Rosenthal, advance representative of Spencer's Little Tycoon Opera Co., that ran over 400 nights in Philadelphia alone, is in town getting out the announce work for this most successful opera. It opens at the New Bush Street Theatre on the 18th.

Modjeska says that when Mary Anderson fails in love she will show fire and passion enough. "She hasn't met the right man yet, but she will meet him," said Madame; "and when she does that will remedy all her defects."

Loie Fuller and the Morris Co. write that business has been "great" since they arrived in the West India Islands, especially during their stay at Jamaica.

The recent ruffianly attacks upon Mary Anderson by the so-called critics of St. Louis is not creditable to the Mound City newspapers.

Barnum and Bailey, with energetic Jack Hamilton at the fore, will begin their four weeks' season at the Madison Square Garden, N. Y., March 25th. The circus, hippodrome and entire show will be given at once.

Leo Delibes' new opera, "Cassia," is founded upon a Norwegian legend.

Mrs. Nat C. Goodwin is alleged to be uncertain whether it will be a boy or a girl, but the wiseacres say that the matter will be decided early in May.

Rosa Lee was lately singing in a pantomime in a Glasgow Theatre, when the "flyman" fell from the top "fly" to the stage and was instantly killed. Miss Lee, after noting the situation, stepped forward so as to cast her shadow on the dead man and finished her song.

Rose Coghlan is fond of blue dresses, Mrs. Langtry, Agnes Booth and Minnie Maddern prefer black. Annie Pixley affects gray, Louise Dillon likes checks and Grace Henderson glistens in mauve.

L. R. Stockwell, who was to have started on his return from New York on March 6th, finds his managerial duties in looking after business of the Alcazar in the East will keep him there for several weeks longer.

Mr. Neil Warner will have a grand testimonial benefit given him at the Alcazar on Thursday afternoon, March 14. Othello, with a very strong cast, has been chosen as the feature of the performance. Frederick Warde will come down from Sacramento to play Iago, Mr. Warner playing the jealous Moor. All those interested in the matter are determined to make the affair a success.

The Grismers produce Youth for the Alcazar patrons next week on a grand scale. The Veteran Guard of California, G. A. R., will assist in the battle scene.

Mme. Tussaud's famous wax works were sold in London to a syndicate.

Up to Feb. 24th 580 000 people had been to see Denman Thompson's The Old Homestead in New York.

The business returns for Morosco's, last week, nearly tied the house record of the theatre. It was a red-letter week.

It is said that Mrs. W. J. Florence will retire permanently from the stage at the close of this season.

Manager Huffman will soon lower the side galleries of the People's Theatre and re-arrange the seats so that its seating capacity will be largely increased. The complaint is, We want more room.

Chas. H. Day has severed his connection with the Haverly Minstrels.

"He, She, Him and Her" is coming to San Francisco—It is a play.

Clara Morris is doing an immense busi[illegible] through Texas.

The Little Tycoon is doing a phenomenal business in the West and South. R. E. Graham has returned to the east and as General Knickerbocker has scored a greater success than ever. The San Francisco engagement of The Little Tycoon begins March 18th at the Bush Street Theatre.

At the present ratio there will be over one hundred new plays produced next season. It is safe to predict that one-half of them will fail.

It is said that Mrs. Langtry applied to Lawrence Barrett for the position of leading support to Edwin Booth next season.

Effie Shannon and Rose Eytinge have retired from Augustin Daly's Company. It is rumored that other changes in that popular organization are in prospect.

Laura Moore will be the chief singer of Francis Wilson's new company.

Effie Ellslers new play is called Our Governess.

EVENING EDITION

SATURDAY.....MARCH 9, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Sunday is the last night of A Hole in the Ground. It will leave an enviable record of a big three week's business.

The whole performance is greatest of successes in the humorous line. Those who have not seen it have missed a great treat.

—o—

Next week, Pastor & Cantelli's Madrid Spanish Opera Company, for one week only, in a repertoire of new operas. This company is one of the best opera troupes we have had here since the Patti season, and in a first-class theatre, like the Bush, we look forward to seeing the dress circle crowded with fashionable and cultured audiences during the Madrid Opera Company's week. Their merits deserve it.

"Campanone," Ricci's musical opera, the theme of which is the preparation and dress rehearsal of Maestro Campanone's grand opera, is the bill for Monday night. The performance of this opera by the Spanish Company, both in singing and acting, is one of marked excellence. Senor Labrada, as the enthused maestro and musical director, is inimitable—a performance above all comparison. Mrs. Alemany and Srta. Gallardo as the rival primas and Senor Frances as the tenor of the opera give admirable characterizations, and Mr. Vargas, the little man with a big bass voice, can be credited with doing one of the best buffo parts we ever had here.

Tuesday, Von Suppe's popular 3-act opera of Donna Juanita.

Campanone will be sung for the last time at Wednesday matinee.

Seats now on sale.

Baldwin Theatre.

Mr Warde appears in his strongest part, that of Virginius for Sunday night.

Mr Warde's impersonation of Virginius is too well known to need any additional words of praise, only to say Mr. Warde has reserved the best for the last.

Gaston Cadol will be the bill for to-night.

Next week, Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, supported by his own company.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with [illegible] a line of successes with his new play in the East.

Grismer Theatre

This week Mr. Grismer presented for the first time in America the piece he purchased the rights to in the East, a late London success, The Lights o' London, which has held the stage [illegible]

Miss Phoebe Davies captured the honors of the week, playing better than she has ever played. She was ably seconded by Mr. Grismer as Wm. Brandon.

Mr. Grismer and Phoebe Davies produce next week's attraction the grand spectacular drama, Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate [illegible].

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, [illegible] to appear in the battle scenes. There will be a touch of realism in this, as the [illegible] will be composed of men who have [illegible] the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

Neil Warner, an excellent actor and popular man, will be the recipient of a testimonial benefit at this theatre, tendered by the management and the profession generally, on Thursday afternoon. Frederick Warde has generously tendered his services, and will make a flying trip from Sacramento to play Iago to Mr. Warner's Othello. Other strong features will grace the bill.

Orpheum Opera House.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company, headed by that talented and versatile entertainer have been this week's attraction at the Orpheum. The company consists of the Braatz Brothers, gymnasts; the three Carnos, comic acrobats; Lieut. Travis, ventriloquist; Fred. Huber and Miss Kitty Allyne, sketch artists; Madalene Ross, ventriloquial artiste; Geo. Darrows, musical clowns; Miss Lillie Selbini, revolving globe performer, and Miss Emilie Peare, vocalist.

This is an excellent specialty company, and [illegible] is for the most part entirely new. Kernell, in his funny new specialty; the Carnos, in their comic musical act; the Braatz Bros., in their wonderful gymnastic act, and Travis, and M'lle Ross, in their ventriloquial act, all introduce decided novelties.

The audience heartily enjoy the comic portions. After all man likes to laugh, even though he knows it is the greatest nonsense that pleases him, and the situations, as a rule, only possible in mimic life. Kernell's merry-makers just fill the bill to a nicety.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week, Jas. T. Kelly and Walter Le Roy brought out the 3 act humorous Irish comedy-drama of "Flirtation."

The play has sharply outlined characters that have the elements of grotesqueness and humor in them, and the situations are extremely funny. Its best points are greeted with peals of laughter.

Next week the attraction will be the heroic and picturesque play of Michael Strogoff, with Darrell Vinton in the title-role. The cast embraces a goodly array of talent well adapted to give melodrama effective representations, and the play will be staged with the usual care of Morosco's productions.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

This week, the new people are Prof. R. E. F. Burns, mesmerist; Girard Leon, Prof. Ferguson, musical specialties; Conchita and Minnie Ellsworth. Add to these Minnie Ellsworth, Harry Orndorff and just everyday George H. Wood, as entertainers, and what can mortal man ask more.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

For next week the new people are: Post and Gross, the refined song and dance artists; Bob Harrison, comedian and punster; Capt. Martin and Ed. Loring, skilful swordsmen; Charles Unger, musical artist; the phenomenal Paul LaDrew, and Miss Marie Lertes, soubrette.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' novel, "Oliver Twist," was this week's bill, with a good company in support, to Mr. Hosmer's strong impersonation of Bill Sykes.

All its many characters were brought out, as will be seen by referring to the cast, and their assumptions were creditably sustained.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week Mr. Hosmer puts in his fourth and last week as Luke Fielding, in the melodrama of A Dark Deed. The piece will be given with new scenery and stage appointments.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people this week were: McCoy & McEvoy, the two Irish thrushes; Miss Nelty Ames, the Eastern cantatrice, and Cogill & Cowyer, break-neck artists.

Charles Reese, the comedian, vocalist, dancer and mimic, is clever as he is versatile. He contributed to the Union's stage "Faro Bill," a frontier piece from his own pen, as the leading attraction this week. It is graphically drawn, written and acted

Ada Clifton, a pleasing soubrette; Ned Thatcher and George Drew, good dialogue artists; Ned Barry, motto vocalist; Maggie Bursell, Antonio Martinez, Marie Leona, Clarence Boyd, Eva Mackey, Jennie Heywood, Fanny Sheldon and others add their strength to the company.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Charles Reese's laughable comedy of "50 Minutes in Confusion" will be the feature of next week's bill, and the Price Brothers, Dutch comiques, and Maria Titus, put in new appearances. A sensation of the Athletic Club order will be the female glove contests introduced in the opening comedy.

All the old favorites are retained, and next week everyone introduces new specialties.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Eight more new stars will be added to the Cremorne Company this week: Prof. Gus Peterson, the celebrated Eastern illusionist, in his original entertainment of Black Art; the Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, sketch team; Ida Chester, and Martin Murphy and Frank Frayne, the lightning boxers, in a grand glove contest.

Miss Susie Levino, one of the best vocalists on the variety stage; the funny comedian, Johnnie Cain; the Buffalo Trio, Flora Hastings and Paul La Drew are the other people, who will add their attractions to the Cremorne's bill.

Next week the new people are: Lassard and Lucifer, acrobats; Ellwood, the great; Johnson and Dee, blackface comedians; Alice Clark, song and dance artiste; Gibbons and Ford, musical team, and Mabel Harrison, vocalist.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Geary and Fillmore streets. The first regular circus to show in the Western Addition portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

This week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, will make their first appearances.

This being inaugural week Mr. Chas. Morrell has been elected to sit in the chair a la Harrison.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in a musical first part, with an original finale. Tommy Morris in one of his specialties. This is followed by the laughable comedy, A Box and Bag of Fun. The evening winds up with the lively comedy sketch, entitled Moving Cleveland.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Mr. James Tiernan, the great baritone, and Musical Fletcher, the universal favorite, have made a great hit and are retained among the Eureka favorites.

The fine sketch artists, Chas. Berkeley and May Howard, are always successful in their efforts to please.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Mamie Sanford, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, James Tiernan, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

For their fifth week Berkeley & Howard are billed to present their challenge sketch, Caught in His Own Act, including Berkeley's latest topical song, "Charley's A B C."

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Harry Kernell can't have any kernel corns on his feet. He dances too lightly to have incumbrances of that kind.

The story about Goldie Angelo, the variety actress, dropping dead in Missoula, resolves itself into the fact that she only dropped dead her angelic name, took another, and went to the Theatre Comique, Spokane Falls. The name was too goody-good. She could not sustain it.

Faranta's Theatre at New Orleans was burned on the 7th inst. Loss $50,000. It was a popular 10 and 25-cent admission place of amusement.

The Vadis Sisters come here with Reilly & Wood's great show that comes to the Bush in a few weeks.

That old California minstrel boy, Billy Birch, has organized Birch's Minstrel Co. in New York. They are playing at Tony Pastor's.

Sells Brothers' Circus opens in this city April 28th. They make a trip through the Southern portion of the state, starting from their Winter quarters in Stockton, before opening here.

John Cort has purchased the Palace Theatre, Port Townsend, W. T., and will make extensive improvements in it prior to its opening under his management on the 18th.

The Perry Bros. have closed their Club Theatre, Los Angeles, temporarily, and will take a comedy company on the road in the interval.

The Brantz Bros. are remarkable gymnasts. We have never had their equal in equipoise and head-to-head balancing here before. To stand them on their heads has no terrors for them. They are used to it.

Bakersfield has a new variety theatre, opened Saturday night. Company: Charley Rice, Cora Everett, Gus Saville, Eva St. Clair, Rose Elmore, Chas. Colburn and Annie Monroe.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the danseuse, are new. The bill is very full this week.

The Davison Brothers will make another of their startling walks at the Cliff House, Saturday and Sunday. It is just a year ago that they made their famous walk from the Cliff House to Seal Rocks when the wind was blowing almost a gale. Weather permitting they will draw large crowds.

A great improvement has been made in ventriloquial automatal figures, as shown by those used by the artists of Harry Kernell's company. One of them actually gets up and dances off the stage in a most natural manner, winking at the audience as he goes.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

The Grand Opera House.

The interior of the Grand Opera House is to be completely changed and renovated under the supervision of the master carpenter, Thomas H. Andrews. An entire new stage with all the modern accessories and improvements will be built. Two new drop curtains will be painted as soon as suitable subjects have been selected.

The boxes and the entire inside of the house will be reconstructed. All of the upholstery, including the chairs, will be renewed, and new carpets laid. The lobby will be converted into a conservatory and palms will be planted in the metal urns. The whole building will be lighted by means of incandescent lights. The work will commence as soon as the married engagement is completed. A large force will be set to work and the men will be employed night and day until everything is finished. Mr. Andrews will construct the stage himself, and the house will be ready for Mary Anderson and A. Wenter's Lake April 22nd.

It is not yet decided as to who will have the management of the house in the future.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The peculiar position the second Mrs. Dion Boucicault, nee Miss Louise Thorndyke, was placed in by the decree of the court granting a divorce to Boucicault's first wife, Agnes Robertson, after their twenty years separation, has been removed by the second marriage of Boucicault with his second wife, which stands without any legal impediments.

Mary Anderson, while playing in A Winter Night's Tale at Albaugh's Opera House, Washington, on the 8th, fainted in the dance scene. The performance was finished, though the balance of the engagement was canceled by the advice of her physician, who say she is suffering from nervous prostration, the result of overwork.

Modjeska did a big week's business in Los Angeles.

H. B. Clawson, the Salt Lake manager, has been in town looking out for a suitable lot to build a theatre and hotel on.

The Peck's Bad Boy Co., with J. J. Williams as the boy, will play as far East as Omaha. They have played to good business over the Northern Pacific route.

The Hudson-Eckert Juvenile Opera Co., that organized in this city about a year ago, and played the Northern circuit and Eastward over the Northern road successfully, until they met bad biz. in big Chicago and had the theatre closed over their heads, are playing their way back to California again over the Southern road. They are booked for the San Diego circuit for the week of the 18th.

Oakland has A Hole in the Ground on Monday and Tuesday nights, Fresno on Wednesday and Los Angeles the rest of the week.

John D. Hopkins, a well known Eastern manager, is in the city. He manages Reilly & Wood's new specialty company, a very strong combination that comes to the Bush shortly.

J. J. Rosenthal, advance representative of Spencer's Little Tycoon Opera Co., that ran over 400 nights in Philadelphia alone, is in town getting out the announce work for this most successful opera. It opens at the New Bush Street Theatre on the 18th.

Modjeska says that when Mary Anderson fails in love she will show fire and passion enough. "She hasn't met the right man yet, but she will meet him," said Madame; "and when she does that will remedy all her defects."

The recent ruffianly attacks upon Mary Anderson by the so-called critics of St. Louis is not creditable to the Mound City newspapers.

Barnum and Bailey, with energetic Jack Hamilton at the fore, will begin their four weeks' season at the Madison Square Garden, N. Y., March 25th. The circus, hippodrome and entire show will be given at once.

Leo Delibes' new opera, "Cassia," is founded upon a Norwegian legend.

Mrs. Nat C. Goodwin is alleged to be uncertain whether it will be a boy or a girl, but the wiseacres say that the matter will be decided early in May.

Rosa Lee was lately singing in a pantomime in a Glasgow Theatre, when the "flyman" fell from the top "fly" to the stage and was instantly killed. Miss Lee, after noting the situation, stepped forward so as to cast her shadow on the dead man and finished her song.

Rose Coghlan is fond of blue dresses, Mrs. Langtry, Agnes Booth and Minnie Maddern prefer black, Annie Pixley affects gray, Louise Dillon likes checks and Grace Henderson glistens in mauve.

L. R. Stockwell, who was to have started on his return from New York on March 6th, finds his managerial duties in looking after business of the Alcazar in the East will keep him there for several weeks longer.

Mr. Neil Warner will have a grand testimonial benefit given him at the Alcazar on Thursday afternoon, March 14. Othello, with a very strong cast, has been chosen as the feature of the performance. Frederick Warde will come down from Sacramento to play Iago, Mr. Warner playing the jealous Moor. All those interested in the matter are determined to make the affair a success.

The Griemers produce Youth for the Alcazar patrons this week on a grand scale. The Veteran Guard of California, G. A. R., will assist in the battle scene.

Up to Feb. 24th 580 000 people had been to see Denman Thompson's The Old Homestead in New York.

The business returns for Morosco's, last week, nearly tied the banner week of the theatre. It was a red-letter week.

It is said that Mrs. W. J. Florence will retire permanently from the stage at the close of this season.

Manager Huffman will soon lower the side galleries of the People's Theatre and re-arrange the seats so that its seating capacity will be largely increased. The complaint is, We want more room.

Chas. H. Day has severed his connection with the Haverly Minstrels.

"He, She, Him and Her" is coming to San Francisco—It is a play.

The Little Tycoon has done a phenomenal business in the West and South. R. E. Graham has returned to the east and as General Knickerbocker has scored a greater success than ever. The San Francisco engagement of The Little Tycoon begins March 18th at the Bush Street Theatre.

At the present ratio there will be over one hundred new plays produced next season. It is safe to predict that one-half of them will fail.

It is said that Mrs. Langtry applied to Lawrence Barrett for the position of leading support to Edwin Booth next season.

Effie Shannon and Rose Eytinge have retired from Augustin Daly's Company. It is rumored that other changes in that popular organization are in prospect.

Laura Moore will be the chief singer of Francis Wilson's new company.

EVENING EDITION

MONDAY.....MARCH 11, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Pastor & Cantelli's Madrid Spanish Opera Company are here for this week only, in a repertoire of new operas. This company is one of the best opera troupes we have had here since the Patti season, and in a first-class theatre, like the Bush, we look forward to seeing the dress circle crowded with fashionable and cultured audiences during the Madrid Opera Company's week. Their merits deserve it.

"Campanone," Ricci's musical opera, the theme of which is the preparation and dress rehearsal of Maestro Campanone's grand opera, is the bill for Monday night. The performance of this opera by the Spanish Company, both in singing and acting, is one of marked excellence. Senor Labrada, as the enthused maestro and musical director, is inimitable—a performance above all comparison. Sra. Alemany and Srta. Gallardo as the rival primas and Senor Frances as the tenor of the opera give admirable characterizations, and Sr. Vargas, the little man with a big bass voice, can be credited with doing one of the best buffo parts we ever had here.

Campanone will be sung for the last time at Wednesday matinee.

Manager Leavitt presents next week a great attraction in Willard Spencer's great comic opera success, The Little Tycoon; which has recorded runs of 463 nights in Philadelphia, 109 nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc.

Baldwin Theatre.

This week, Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, supported by his own company. This is a regular well-constructed play in action and story of very different material from the sketchy work we have been accustomed to see this comedian in.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with recording a line of successes with his new comedy in the East.

Alcazar Theatre

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies produce for this week's attraction the grand spectacular drama Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate staging.

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, have volunteered to appear in the battle scenes. There will be a touch of realism in this, as the "army" will be composed of men who have braved the dangers of the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

Neil Warner, an excellent actor and popular man, will be the recipient of a testimonial benefit at this theatre, tendered by the management and the profession generally, on Thursday afternoon. Frederick Warde has generously tendered his services, and will make a flying trip from Sacramento to play Iago to Mr. Warner's Othello. The whole play will be given, with the addition of the second act of The Calthorpe Case, with Mr. Grismer, Phoebe Davies and the Alcazar Co. in the cast, and the appearance of the Vienna Lady Fencers from the Conried Opera Company.

Orpheum Opera House.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company, headed by that talented and versatile performer, will be this week's attraction at the Orpheum. The company consists of the Braatz Brothers, gymnasts; the three Carnos, funny acrobats; Lieut. Travis, ventriloquist; Fred. Huber and Miss Kitty Allyne, sketch team; Madalene Ross, ventriloquial artiste; the Darrows, musical clowns; Miss Lillie Selbini, revolving globe performer, and Miss Emilie Peare, vocalist.

This is an excellent specialty company, and their work is for the most part entirely new: Kernell, in his funny new specialty; the Carnos, in their comic musical act; the Braatz Bros., in their wonderful gymnastic act, and Travis, Mlle Ross, in their ventriloquial act, all introduce decided novelties.

The audience heartily enjoy the comic portions. After all man likes to laugh, even though he knows it is the greatest nonsense that pleases him, and the situations, as a rule, only possible in mimic life. Kernell's merry-makers just fill the bill to a nicety, and the big Orpheum is nightly filled.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week the attraction will be the heroic and picturesque play of Michael Strogoff, with Darrell Vinton in the title-role. The cast embraces a goodly array of talent well adapted to give melodrama effective representations, and the play will be staged with the usual care of Morosco's productions.

This is one of the plays that will never grow old or lose its drawing powers. Star and piece will make money for Manager Morosco and amuse and interest his audiences.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

For this week the new people are: Post and Gross, the refined song and dance artists; Bob Harrison, comedian and punster; Capt. Martin and Ed. Loring, skilful swordsmen; Charles Unger, musical artist; the phenomenal Paul LaDrew, Miss Marie Lertes, soubrette, Henry Bronson and Walter Sanford. Add to these Conchita, Harry Orndorff and just everyday George H. Wood, as entertainers, and there is a bill for you.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week Mr. Hosmer puts in his fourth and last week as Luke Fielding, in the melodrama of A Dark Deed. The piece will be given with new scenery and stage appointments.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week a new melodrama by Mr. B. Frank Dearborn, entitled Fern, the Waif, will be the attraction.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Charles Reese's laughable comedy of "50 Minutes in Confusion" will be the feature of this week's bill, and the Price Brothers, Dutch comiques, and Maria Titus, put in new appearances. A sensation of the Athletic Club order will be the female glove contests introduced in the opening comedy. The contest will be between two female pugilists, the champions of Alameda and 'Frisco, for a purse of $500.

Ada Clifton, a pleasing soubrette; Ned Thatcher and George Drew, good dialogue artists; Ned Barry, motto vocalist; Maggie Bursell, McCoy & McEvoy, Nelty Andes and others add their strength to the company.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Nine new stars for this week, and all or them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well to the tastes of their patrons.

This week the new people are: Lassard and Lucifer, acrobats; Ellwood, the great; Johnson and Dee, blackface comedians; Alice Clark, song and dance artiste; Gibbons and Ford, musical team, and Mabel Harrison, vocalist.

The Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, Ida Chester, Mabel Harrison and the funny comedian, Johnny Cain, add their attractions to the Cremorne's bill.

Western Addition The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Geary and Filmore streets. The first regular circus to show in the Western Addition portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

ARTISTS PLAY SEATTLE, TACOMA AND VICTORIA NOTIFIED that they can break the jump by writing and receiving dates. Good Salary to Good People.

This week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, continue the bright particular stars.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in an Ethiopian musical first part, with an original finale. Charles Morrell with his African harp and Tommy Morris in another of his amusing sketches fill in the middle part of the programme. The laughable comedy, The Two Tourists, follows after, the leading characters impersonated by Morrell, Morris and Matt Trayers, with a musical finale.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Ed. Soldene, female impersonator, is the new face this week.

Misses May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Zola Vera, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Ed. Soldene, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

Berkeley & Howard are a fine team, and they have established themselves firmly in the good graces of the Eureka patrons. For this week they present the nautical sketch, The Sailor's Return, introducing the nautical duet "The Minute Gun at Sea."

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill, as it has proved a great attraction.

The Eureka gives a matinee every Sunday at 2 P. M

Mr. A. P. Dunlop, of Dunlop's Stage News has been requested by Mr. Heberd, of L Europe Artiste to become the American representative of that world-famous publication. L Europe Artiste is the standard organ of the lyric and dramatic stages of France and its favor is courted by all the leading performers on either. A more severe censor and a more powerful friend does not exist in the press of Europe. Its American headquarters will be at Mr. Dunlop's office, 1257 Broadway.

For the benefit of the society for aiding self-supporting women a series of tableaux, representing scenes in Ben Hur will be given at Palmer's Theatre, New York, on the afternoon of the 14th under direction of Robert Fraser.

Virginia Dreher, formerly of Daly's company, and now Mrs. Postlethwaite, lately returned from Europe for the purpose of inspecting cradles in Louisville, her native city.

The Redmund-Barry Company report that show business is in such a condition in the South that a free circus would not draw an audience.

Harriet Avery (Mrs. Edgar Strakosch) has been engaged by Manager John Mc Cault to take the place of Laura Moore.

It is reported that Mrs. Annie Yeamans will leave Harrigan's Company at the close of the season.

Myers' Opera House, Janesville, Wis., was totally destroyed by fire a few days ago. Loss, $50,000; no insurance.

A French revision of Little Lord Fountleroy has been accepted by Manager Dumorel for early production in Paris. Mme. Nordica, Ella Russell and Mme. Scalchi have signed contracts for opera at Covent Garden this season. Mme. Hastreiter is also negotiating terms with a view to a revival of Gluck's Orpheo, in which she has just made such a wonderful success in Rome.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

The telegraph tells us that John L. Sullivan has extended his New York booze to a protracted tare in Bridgeport and New Haven. He started in to drink nothing but beer, as "it was harmless," but a long contest with the feather-weight has completely knocked the champion out. The wires say he rolls around the saloons and looks like a broken-up man. His face is bloated, his hands unsteady and his protracted spree has told against him heavily.

Harry Kernell's company return East without playing the coast. They close at the Orpheum Sunday night; play in Oakland 18-19-20, Stockton 21, Sacramento 22-23-24, Salt Lake 27; thence Eastward.

The Zanfretta Combination, headed by the pantomime family of that name, open at the Orpheum next week.

Thos. H. Andrews has eight complete sets of scenery, 13x21, painted by Wm. T. Porter, for sale at a very low figure. See ad.

Harry Kernell can't have any kernel corns on his feet. He dances too lightly to have incumbrances of that kind.

The story about Goldie Angelo, the variety actress, dropping dead in Missoula, resolves itself into the fact that she only dropped dead her angelic name, took another, and went to the Theatre Comique, Spokane Falls. The name was too goody-good. She could not sustain it.

Faranta's Theatre at New Orleans was burned on the 7th inst. Loss $50 000. It was a popular 10 and 25-cent admission place of amusement.

The Vadis Sisters come here with Reilly & Wood's great show that comes to the Bush in a few weeks.

That old California minstrel boy, Billy Birch, has organized Birch's Minstrel Co. in New York. They are playing at Tony Pastor's.

Selle Brothers' Circus opens in this city April 28th. They make a trip through the Southern portion of the state, starting from their Winter quarters in Stockton, before opening here.

John Cort has purchased the Palace Theatre, Port Townsend, W. T., and will make extensive improvements in it prior to its opening under his management on the 18th.

The Perry Bros. have closed their Club Theatre, Los Angeles, temporarily, and will take a comedy company on the road in the interval.

The Brantz Bros. are remarkable gymnasts. We have never had their equal in equipoise and head-to-head balancing here before. To stand them on their heads has no terrors for them. They are used to it.

Bakersfield has a new variety theatre, opened Saturday night. Company: Charley Rice, Cora Everett, Gus Saville, Eva St. Clair, Rose Elmore, Chas. Colburn and Annie Monroe.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the danseuse, are new. The bill is very full this week.

The Davison Brothers will make another of their startling walks at the Cliff House, Saturday and Sunday. It is just a year ago that they made their famous walk from the Cliff House to Seal Rocks when the wind was blowing almost a gale. Weather permitting they will draw large crowds.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

The Little Tycoon has done a phenomenal business in the West and South. R. E. Graham has returned to the east and as General Knickerbocker has scored a greater success than ever. The San Francisco engagement of The Little Tycoon begins March 18th at the Bush Street Theatre.

Austin and Stone, of Boston, will build a new cheap theatre on Eighth street, above Race, in Philadelphia. It will be ready for next season.

Broadway fairly swarms with short, squat, snub-nosed English actors, most of them in search of immediate employment. Anybody believing in the transmigration of species would swear that all the pug dogs which failed to collar prize ribbons at the late show had taken to the stage. So says a New York scribe who is not above pred-

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

The item published in the Music and Drama to the effect that Joseph R. Grismer was to take the sole management of a well known theatre in this city early next year, "which has acquired its popularity within the past three years," points so directly to the Alcazar that Manager Wallenrod wishes it known that there is no truth in the report as far as the Alcazar is concerned.

The Conried Company made a very favorable impression in their production of "The King's Fool" at the Grand. The scenery and stage appointments are fine, and the performance is very creditable. Harry De Lorme, a San Francisco favorite, sings the tenor role.

The Grand Opera House, since Mascot L. C. Fraser has taken the active management of its affairs, is coming actively to the front in the dramatic field. On April 22nd it will re-open with a new and improved stage, new boxes and an entirely renovated auditorium, with Mary Anderson as the attraction. After the Anderson season attractions are booked for the Grand right along up to September.

Rumor has it that the Jersey Lily is now Mrs. Freddie Gebhardt, but so far it lacks confirmation. The true facts remain about as uncertain as the Samoan question.

Youth is up for a two weeks' run. It will be followed by The Duke's Motto, which will close the Grismer-Davies engagement.

The fifth of the Lick Lectures course will be delivered this evening by Rev. Charles W. Wendt. His subject will be "A Tribute to Thomas Starr King, March 4, 1864-1889."

Osmond Tearle is making so much money in the English provinces that he has declined an offer to take William Terriss' place at the London Adelphi during the absence of the latter in America.

Charles Coghlan's wife is in London on the quiet trying to arrange with Gus Harris to get the Drury Lane Theatre for Mrs. Langtry next Autumn. Harris' terms are high, but probably Langtry will meet them. If Langtry gets the theatre it is her intention to revive Henry VIII on a grander scale than it was ever done in London, the Jersey taking the part of Catharine of Arragon. In making this arrangement Langtry counts on Mary Anderson staying in America another year.

J. S. Sargent, the American artist, is painting a full-length picture of Ellen Terry as Lady Macbeth for the London Spring exhibition. Terry is represented in the act of crowning herself, her arms being raised gracefully over her head.

Rumor has it that a storm is brewing among the principals at Daly's Theatre, N. Y., and that several changes will be made in the company at the end of the season.

Austin Corbin, the railroad king, is to build a new theatre for Edward Harrigan, to be finished by next season. It will be on Broadway near 45th street, N. Y.

A ballet girl at the Chatelet Theatre, Paris, recently received the visit of a Provincial Notary, armed with the necessary documents to prove her to be the only child of a Marquis recently deceased, and the sole heiress of an estate worth several millions of francs. The child was changed while out at nurse. The dying confession of the foster mother and certain positive proofs have established her identity.

The Hudson-Eckert Juvenile Opera Co., that organized in this city about a year ago, and played the Northern circuit and Eastward over the Northern road successfully, until they met bad biz. in big Chicago and had the theatre closed over their heads, are playing their way back to California again over the Southern road. They are booked for the San Diego circuit for the week of the 18th.

Oakland has A Hole in the Ground on Monday and Tuesday nights, Fresno on Wednesday and Los Angeles the rest of the week.

John D. Hopkins, a well known Eastern manager, is in the city. He manages Reilly & Wood's new specialty company, a very strong combination that comes to the Bush shortly.

J. J. Rosenthal, advance representative of Spencer's Little Tycoon Opera Co., that ran over 400 nights in Philadelphia alone, is in town getting out the announce work for this most successful opera. It opens at the New Bush Street Theatre on the 18th.

Modjeska says that when Mary Anderson falls in love she will show fire and passion enough. "She hasn't met the right man yet, but she will meet him," said Madame; "and when she does that will remedy all her defects."

Barnum and Bailey, with energetic Jack Hamilton at the fore, will begin their four weeks' season at the Madison Square Garden, N. Y., March 25th. The circus, hippodrome and entire show will be given at once.

Mr. Neil Warner will have a grand testimonial benefit given him at the Alcazar on Thursday afternoon, March 14. Othello, with a very strong cast, has been chosen as the feature of the performance. Frederick Warde will come down from Sacramento to play Iago, Mr. Warner playing the jealous Moor. All those interested in the matter are determined to make the affair a success.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Pastor & Cantelli's Madrid Spanish Opera Company are here for this week only, in a repertoire of new operas. This company is one of the best opera troupes we have had here since the Patti season, and in a first-class theatre, like the Bush, should be crowded with fashionable and cultured audiences—weather permitting. Their merits deserve it.

"Campanone," Mezza's musical opera, the theme of which is the preparation and dress rehearsal of Maestro Campanone's grand opera, was the bill for Monday night. The performance of this opera by the Spanish Company, both in singing and acting, is one of marked excellence. Senor Labrada, as the enthused maestro and musical director, is in himself a performance above all comparison. Sra. Alomany and Srta. Gallardo as the rival primas and Senor Frances as the tenor of the opera give admirable characterizations, and Sr. Vargas, the little man with a big bass voice, can be credited with doing one of the best buffo parts we ever had here.

To-night, Von Suppe's popular 3-act opera of Donna Juanita,

Campanone will be sung for the last time at Wednesday matinee.

Wednesday night, The Grand Mogol, by Audran, composer of The Maecot, with its famous snake-charming scene and tuneful numbers. This is another opera in which the company appear to great advantage.

Manager Leavitt presents next week a great attraction in Willard Spenser's great comic opera success, The Little Tycoon; which has recorded runs of 463 nights in Philadelphia, 109 nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc.

The action of Little Tycoon takes place in New York and Newport, and its characters are American. It is interpreted by one of the best of singing and acting companies on the stage, and its recorded runs attest its unrivaled popularity.

The costumes, scenery and elegance of its stage settings The Little Tycoon comes to us accredited with excelling any opera on the stage.

Baldwin Theatre.

This week, Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, supported by his own company. This is a regular well-constructed play in action and story of very different material from the sketchy work we have been accustomed to see this comedian in.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with recording a line of successes with his new comedy. The play, though light in action and motive, is the best that Mr. Russell has ever appeared in, and he charms and delights his audiences with his natural pathos and humor so artistically blended. His support is good, above the average of the star comedians who visit us; Miss Merri Osburn as Scollops and Byron Douglas doing excellent work.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies produce for this week's attraction the grand spectacular drama Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate staging.

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, have volunteered to appear in the battle scenes. There is a touch of realism in this, as the "army" will be composed of men who have braved the dangers of the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

To speak first of the play and then of the characters, is in order this week. While we are surrounded by rumors of war, all the scenes where the troops are seen, have been more warmly applauded than usual, and the battle scenes impart a more serious feeling.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are the three around whom much of the interest of the piece centres, and they all play [illegible] quently strong; his points are all telling and effective. The support is, as usual, excellent, and the piece is up for a two weeks' run.

Neil Warner, an excellent actor and popular man, will be the recipient of a testimonial benefit at this theatre, tendered by the management and the profession generally, on Thursday afternoon. Frederick Warde has generously tendered his services, and will make a flying trip from Sacramento to play Iago to Mr. Warner's Othello. In addition, the second act of The Calthorpe Case, with Mr. Grismer, Phoebe Davies and the Alcazar Co. in the cast, and a musical olio by Miss Ada Glasca, Miss Helen Bertram, Miss Della Fox, of the Conried Opera Company, and Miss Millie Flynn, one of Prof. Speranza's pupils. Harry Kernell also contributes a specialty.

See programme announcement.

Orpheum Opera House.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company, headed by that talented and versatile performer, are in their farewell week at the Orpheum.

This is an excellent specialty company, and their work is for the most part entirely new: Kernell, in his funny new specialty; the Carnos, in their comic musical act; the Braatz Bros., in their wonderful gymnastic act, and Travis, and M'lle Rosa, in their ventriloquial act, all introduce decided novelties.

Harry Kernell is the best monologue artist we have had here. He is amusing without being tiresome.

The audience heartily enjoy the comic portions. After all man likes to laugh, even though he knows it is the greatest nonsense that pleases him, and the situations, as a rule, only possible in mimic life. Kernell's merry-makers just fill the bill to a nicety, and the big Orpheum is nightly filled.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Illustrated catalogue free. No extra pay.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week the attraction is the heroic and picturesque play of Michael Strogoff, with Darrell Vinton in the title-role. The cast embraces a goodly array of talent well adapted to give melodrama effective representations, and the play has been staged with the usual care of Morosco's productions. The people on the South side are all ready to swear by Darrell Vinton, and are ready to go with him to Irkutak, "For God, My Country and the Czar!"

In the support James M. Brophy, W. J. Elleford, Miss Essie Tittel, Lottie Beaumont and Helen Harlow are notably good.

This is one of the plays that will never grow old or lose its drawing powers. Star and piece will make money for Manager Morosco and amuse and interest his audiences.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

For this week the new people are: Post and Gross, the refined song and dance artists; Bob Harrison, comedian and punster; Capt. Martin and Ed. Loring, skilful swordsmen; Charles Unger, musical artist; the phenomenal Paul LaDrew, Miss Marie Lertes, soubrette, Henry Bronson and Walter Sanford. Add to these Conchita, Harry Orndorff and just everyday George H. Wood, as entertainers, and there is a bill for you.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week Mr. Hosmer puts in his fourth and last week as Luke Fielding, in the melodrama of A Dark Deed. The piece will be given with new scenery and stage appointments.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week a new melodrama by Mr. B. Frank Dearborn, entitled Fern, the Waif, will be the attraction. Mr. Dearborn comes from the East and his line of business is comedy.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Charles Reese's laughable comedy of "50 Minutes in Confusion" will be the feature of this week's bill, and the Price Brothers, Dutch comiques, and Maria Titus, put in new appearances. A sensation of the Athletic Olub order will be the female glove contests introduced in the opening comedy. The contest will be between two female pugilists, the champions of Alameda and 'Frisco, for a purse of $500.

STARTLING NOVELTY ★ MONSTER

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Friday night is set apart for the benefit of Hattie Stewart, when many volunteers will appear.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Nine new stars for this week, and all or them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well to the tastes of their patrons.

This week the new people are: Lassard and Lucifer, acrobats; Ellwood, the great; Johnson and Dee, blackface comedians; Alice Clark, song and dance artiste; Gibbons and Ford, musical team, and Mabel Harrison, vocalist.

The Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, Ida Chester, Flora Hastings and the funny comedian, Johnny Cain, add their attractions to the Cremorne's bill.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Mission and Twenty-third streets. The first regular circus to show in that portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

This week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, continue the bright particular stars.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in an Ethiopian musical first part, with an original finale. Charles Morrell with his African harp and Tommy Morris in another of his amusing sketches fill in the middle part of the programme. The laughable comedy, The Two Tourists, follows after, the leading characters impersonated by Morrell, Morris and Matt Trayers, with a musical finale.

The laughable farce, Nic-Nax, with all the company in the cast, conoludes the bill and the evening's fun.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Ed. Soldene, female impersonator, is the new face this week.

Misses May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Zola Vera, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Ed. Soldene, [illegible] alty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

Berkeley & Howard are a fine team, and they have established themselves firmly in the good graces of the Eureka patrons. For this week they present the nautical sketch, The Sailor's Return, introducing the nautical duet, "The Minute Gun at Sea."

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill, as it has proved a great attraction.

The Eureka gives a matinee every Sunday at 2 P. M.

A French revision of Little Lord Fountleroy has been accepted by Manager Dumorel for early production in Paris. By the way, Paris will applaud the play — in English — during the Exhibition, when the principal characters will be taken by Edmund Gurney, Henry Morell, George Dalziel, brother of Davison Dalziel, of

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

T. Henry French will be here with the "Fauntleroy" Company.

Kate Mayhew is rehearsing Howard P. Taylor's new play, Little Pauper, for the Standard next week. Howard is directing the rehearsing. This is better than reviving old chestnuts under ficticious names.

If war comes it is rumored that the authorities will keep the female fencers here as a military breastwork of defence.

It is rumored that Henry Widmer, the popular leader, intends leaving his position with Augustin Daly to join his wife, Kate Mayhew, in looking out for the Standard. If Mr. Widmer is wise he will do no such thing.

The Philadelphia Record says: "Out in California the people consider Mrs. Potter to be the greatest living actress and 'The Rag Baby' the greatest of modern plays." We object to the Potter portion of the item. Her engagement here was a rank failure. As to Hoyt's bright and witty plays, we are pleased that the San Francisco public have preceptive intelligence enough to fully appreciate their amusing qualities. There are but few publics who have not the mental calibre to do so, and, judging from the item quoted, we suspect the Philadelphia Record represents one of them.

The item published in the Music and Drama to the effect that Joseph R. Grismer was to take the sole management of a well known theatre in this city early next year, "which has acquired its popularity within the past three years," points so directly to the Alcazar that Manager Wallenrod wishes it known that there is no truth in the report as far as the Alcazar is concerned

The Grand Opera House, since Mascot L. C. Fraser has taken the active management of its affairs, is coming actively to the front in the dramatic field. On April 22nd it will re-open with a new and improved stage, new boxes and an entirely renovated auditorium, with Mary Anderson as the attraction. After the Anderson season attractions are booked for the Grand right along up to September.

Youth is up for a two weeks' run. It will be followed by The Duke's Motto, which will close the Grismer-Davies engagement.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Harry Kernell's company return East without playing the coast. They close at the Orpheum Sunday night; play in Oakland 18-19-20, Stockton 21, Sacramento 22-23-24, Salt Lake 27; thence Eastward.

The Zanfretta Combination, headed by the pantomime family of that name, open at the Orpheum next week.

The Vadie Sisters come here with Reilly & Wood's great show that comes to the Bush in a few weeks.

John Cort has purchased the Palace Theatre, Port Townsend, W. T., and will make extensive improvements in it prior to its opening under his management on the 18th.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the danseuse, are new. The bill is very full this week.

The Davison Brothers will make another of their startling walks at the Cliff House, Saturday and Sunday. It is just a year ago that they made their famous walk from the Cliff House to Seal Rocks when the wind was blowing almost a gale. Weather permitting they will draw large crowds.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected rags in the olio.

Sells Brothers' Circus opens in this city April 28th. They make a trip through

BASEBALL NOTES.

We are luckily having the wind-up of the rains before the California League baseball season opens on the 24 h inst.,—there can't be much more water left above.

Reserved seats for opening game now on sale at the office of the league, at Will & Finck's, 820 Market street, and the demand is great. Manager Harris, secretary of the league and club manager, will be found in his cosy office, as above, from 9 o'clock until noon and from 1 to 3 o'clock daily. In Mr. Harris' absence from the city during the season, Manager Robinson, captain of the Oakland Club, and journalist to boot, will adorn the office.

The San Franciscos ve. the Stocktons open the ball on the 24th. The Stockton people are making energetic preparations for their excursion to San Francisco on the occasion.

The Haight street grounds have undergone a general overhauling and plowing up, and will be in first-class condition for the game. The league promises to make their grounds the finest in the country.

We published last week the full members of the clubs except the Sacramentos. Manager Gillis has since filled in. The full team now stands as follows, some being placed as alternates: Pitchers—E. L. Breckenridge, W. B. Goodenough, A. G. Hapeman, W. W. Veach. Catchers—Wm. McLaughlin, Frank Graves, Charles Krehmeyer. First base—Krehmeyer, Veach. Second base—Louis J. Sylvester. Shortstop—William Newbert. Third base—"Trick" McSorley. Left field—Fred. B. Jevne. Centre field—Veach, Krehmeyer, Goodenough. Right Field—Breckenridge, Graves, McLaughlin. The engrafted new talent will help warm up things.

President Mone has received official notice of his appointment as a member of the committee of arrangements to receive the Spaulding aggregation on their return to New York. He is one of the can't get aways. Too much at stake for the opening of the greatest baseball season in the Union, right here in 'Frisco.

The Oaklands will cross bats on the ball field for the first time this season next Sunday on the Oakland grounds. They will play against the Tribunes, the leading amateur club of that city.

Manager Gillis is the first in the field with season tickets. He has sold an unexpected number in Sacramento already. They are waking up early there.

The private boxes at the Haight Street Park are being renovated by their owners.

The opening games of the amateur clubs of the league will be between the Golden Rules and the Reports. The Will & Fincks will have as pitchers Dow and Noble, and Parker will do the catching.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Pastor & Cantell's Madrid Spanish Opera Company are here for this week only, in a repertoire of new operas. This company is one of the best opera troupes we have had here since the Patti season, and in a first-class theatre, like the Bush, should be crowded with fashionable and cultured audiences—weather permitting. Their merits deserve it.

"Campanone," Mazza's musical opera, the theme of which is the preparation and dress rehearsal of Maestro Campanone's grand opera, was the bill for Monday night. The performance of this opera by the Spanish Company, both in singing and acting, was one of marked excellence.

The very satisfactory rendition of Von Suppe's popular 3-act opera of Donna Juanita on Tuesday night was an additional proof of the calibre and artistic merits of the Madrid Opera Company.

Wednesday night, The Grand Mogol, by Audran, composer of The Mascot, with its famous snake-charming scene and funeful numbers. This is another opera in which the company appear to great advantage.

Audran's charming masterpiece, The Mascot, will be sung Thursday evening.

Friday evening both prima donnas appear: Alemany as the statuetic Galatea in the opera of that name, and Goyzueta as Corita in the third act of Campanone.

Chrispini e La Comare will be the bill for Saturday matinee.

For the last performances, Boccaccio will be sung Saturday night, and the grand opera of La Tempestad will be given on Sunday night.

Manager Leavitt presents next week a great attraction in Willard Spenser's great comic opera success, The Little Tycoon; which has recorded runs of 463 nights in Philadelphia, 109 nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc.

The action of Little Tycoon takes place in New York and Newport, and its characters are American. It is interpreted by one of the best of singing and acting companies on the stage, and its recorded runs attest its unrivaled popularity.

In costumes, scenery and elegance of its stage settings The Little Tycoon comes to us accredited with excelling any opera on the stage.

Baldwin Theatre.

This week, Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, supported by his own company. This is a regular well-constructed play in action and story of very different material from the sketchy work we have been accustomed to see this comedian in.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with recording a line of successes with his new comedy. The play, though light in action and motive, is the best that Mr. Russell has ever appeared in, and he charms and delights his audiences with his natural pathos and humor so artistically blended. His support is good, above the average of the star comedians who visit us; Miss Merri Osburn as Scollops and Byron Douglas doing excellent work

Alcazar Theatre

Jos. R. Grismer, and Phoebe Davies produce for this week's attraction the grand spectacular drama Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate staging.

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, have volunteered to appear in the battle scenes. There is a touch of realism in this, as the "army" will be composed of men who have braved the dangers of the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

To speak first of the play and then of the characters, is in order this week. While we are surrounded by rumors of war, all the scenes where the troops are seen, have been more warmly applauded than usual, and the battle scenes impart a more serious feeling.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are the three around whom much of the interest of the piece centres, and they all play with force and feeling.

Mr. Grismer, as the hero, Frank Darlington, gives us his best work; he is natural, consequently strong; his points are all telling and effective. The support is, as usual, excellent, and the piece is in for a two weeks' run ment and the profession generally, on Thursday afternoon. Frederick Warde has generously tendered his services, and will make a flying trip from Sacramento to play Iago to Mr. Warner's Othello. In addition, the second act of The Calthorpe Case, with Mr. Grismer, Phoebe Davies and the Alcazar Co. in the cast, and a musical olio by Miss Ada Glasca, Miss Helen Bertram, Miss Della Fox, of the Conried Opera Company, and Miss Millie Flynn, one of Prof. Sperandi's pupils. Harry Kernell also contributes a specialty.

See programme announcement.

Orpheum Opera House.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company, headed by that talented and versatile performer, are in their farewell week at the Orpheum.

This is an excellent specialty company, and their work is for the most part entirely new: Kernell, in his funny new specialty; the Carnos, in their comic musical act; the Braatz Bros., in their wonderful gymnastic act, and Travis, and M'lle Rosa, in their ventriloquial act, all introduce decided novelties.

Harry Kernell is the best monologue artist we have had here. He is amusing without being tiresome.

The audience heartily enjoy the comic portions. After all man likes to laugh, even though he knows it is the greatest nonsense that pleases him, and the situations, as a rule, only possible in mimic life. Kernell's merry-makers just fill the bill to a nicety, and the big Orpheum is nightly filled.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week the attraction is the heroic and picturesque play of Michael Strogoff, with Darrell Vinton in the title-role. The cast embraces a goodly array of talent well adapted to give melodrama effective representations, and the play has been staged with the usual care of Morosco's productions. The people on the South side are all ready to swear by Darrell Vinton, and are ready to go with him to Irkutsk, "For God, My Country and the Czar!"

In the support James M. Brophy, W. J. Elleford, Miss Essie Tittel, Lottie Beaumont and Helen Harlow are notably good.

This is one of the plays that will never grow old or lose its drawing powers. Star and piece will make money for Manager Morosco and amuse and interest his audiences.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

For this week the new people are: Post and Gross, the refined song and dance artists; Bob Harrison, comedian and punster; Capt. Martin and Ed. Loring, skilful swordsmen; Charles Unger, musical artist; the phenomenal Paul LaDrew, Miss Marie Lertes, soubrette, Henry Bronson and Walter Sanford. Add to these Conchita, Harry Orndorff and just everyday George H. Wood, as entertainers, and there is a bill for you.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week Mr. Hosmer puts in his fourth and last week as Luke Fielding, in the melodrama of A Dark Deed. The piece will be given with new scenery and stage appointments.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week a new melodrama by Mr. B. Frank Dearborn, entitled Fern, the Waif, will be the attraction. Mr. Dearborn comes from the East and his line of business is comedy.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Charles Reese's laughable comedy of "50 Minutes in Confusion" will be the feature of this week's bill, and the Price Brothers, Dutch comiques, and Maria Titus, put in new appearances. A sensation of the Athletic Club order will be the female glove contests introduced in the opening comedy. The contest will be between two female pugilists, the champions of Alameda and 'Frisco, for a purse of $100.

Ada Clifton, a pleasing soubrette; Ned Thatcher and George Drew, good dialogue artists; Ned Barry, motto vocalist; Maggie Bursell, McCoy & McEvoy, Nelty Andes and others add their strength to the company.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Friday night is set apart for the benefit of Hattie Stewart, when many volunteers will

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Nine new stars for this week, and all or them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well to the tastes of their patrons.

This week the new people are: Lassard and Lucifer, acrobats; Ellwood, the great; Johnson and Dee, blackface comedians; Alice Clark, song and dance artiste; Gibbons and Ford, musical team; Maude Cleveland and Mabel Harrison, vocalists.

The Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, Ida Chester, Flora Hastings and the funny comedian, Johnny Cain, add their attractions to the Cremorne's bill.

Johnnie Cain's opening farce, The Coonville Offspring, is very funny. Sandwiched in an olio, full of female specialties, is the Gottlobs' Dutch farce of Smeakase. The whole concludes with Johnson and Dee's farce-act "Why Did He Skip?" with all the company in the cast.

Manager Hallinan and his right bower, Ed. Homan, keep up a fine line of attractions for the Cremorne.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Mission and Twenty-third streets. The first regular circus to show in that portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

This week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, continue the bright particular stars.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in an Ethiopian musical first part, with an original finale. Charles Morrell with his African harp and Tommy Morris in another of his amusing sketches fill in the middle part of the programme. The laughable comedy, The Two Tourists, follows after, the leading characters impersonated by Morrell, Morris and Matt Trayers, with a musical finale.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Ed. Soldene, female impersonator, is the new face this week.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The reserved seats for the opening game of the California League clubs, Stocktons vs. San Franciscos, on the 24th, are on sale at Secretary Harris' office, at Will & Finck's, 820 Market street. The demand is lively.

The following gentlemen have been appointed by President Mone to act as umpires for the California League games, and have courageously accepted the hap-hazardous positions: B. F. Young and John Sheridan, with Eugene Van Court as alternate. These officials will not be informed at what grounds they will act until twenty-four hours before a game. That is merciful,

The scorers for the League's baseball season will be: Waller Wallace for Saturday's games in this city and all Oakland games; H. W. Batchelder and J. W. Stapleton for games coming off here on Thursdays, Sundays and holidays; W. H. Young for games played in Sacramento, and Gibson P. Kelly for those played in Stockton.

We are luckily having the wind-up of the rains before the Califiornia League baseball season opens on the 24th inst,—there can't be much more water left above.

The Haight street grounds have undergone a general overhauling and plowing up, and will be in first-class condition for the game. The league promises to make their grounds the finest in the country.

The Oaklands will cross bats on the ball field for the first time this season next Sunday on the Oakland grounds. They will play against the Tribunes, the leading amateur club of that city.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Harry Kernell's company return East without playing the coast. They close at the Orpheum Sunday night; play in Oakland 18-19-20, Stockton 21, Sacramento 22-23-24, Salt Lake 27; thence Eastward.

The Zanfretta Combination, headed by the pantomime family of that name, open at the Orpheum next week.

The Vadis Sisters come here with Reilly & Wood's great show that comes to the Bush in a few weeks.

John Cort has purchased the Palace Theatre, Port Townsend, W. T., and will make extensive improvements in it prior to its opening under his management on the 18th.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the danseuse, are new. The bill is very fall this week.

The Davison Brothers will make another of their startling walks at the Cliff House, Saturday and Sunday. It is just a year ago that they made their famous walk from the Cliff House to Seal Rocks when the wind was blowing almost a gale. Weather permitting they will draw large crowds.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

Sells Brothers' Circus opens in this city [illegible] 24th. They make a trip through the Southern portion of the state, starting from their Winter quarters in Stockton, before opening here.

Mary Anderson's Condition.

Mary Anderson is in Philadelphia and has placed herself under the care of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, who thinks that she may be able to play after a week's rest. While on her Western trip Miss Anderson began to show signs of failing strength. The chief trouble was with her head. Miss Anderson still has nine weeks to play this season. If she does not suffer a relapse she will keep her engagement in Philadelphia. At any rate, her loss by sickness this season will reach $50,000. Should she recover enough to be able to play she will come to San Francisco and close the season here. Then she will go abroad for a six months' rest.

Mrs. Langtry Ill.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Mrs. Langtry fainted several times to-day while undergoing a surgical operation and is so sick she will not play again till next

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

On account of the inclement weather the proposed benefit to Mr. Neil Warner has been postponed until Thursday afternoon, March 21st. Mark Thall is taking an active part in the preparations and is determined that the event shall really be a benefit to the sterling actor, who through a chain of untoward circumstances finds himself stranded on our Pacific Coast. There are land pilots as well as sea pilots, and Mr. Warner's pilot never succeeds, unfortunately, in finding deep water. His cruise is strewn with shipwrecks and for the present he is out of commission. Master Pilot Thall will steer him straight to home and little ones.

The wind and the rain have distributed the theatrical paper in little and big wads all over town.

The Little Tycoon is having a big sale of seats.

We have had quite a spell of weather, which has been a dampener on theatrical business through the week, but we are happy to state that the rainfall has been general throughout the city. No part of it has been neglected. The water under the wharves seems to have a greater depth to it than that lying on the streets in the Mission and Potrero. Which indicates more rain fell on the city front than in those outlying districts. Yet all have had enough.

The Cricket on the Hearth does not cherrup cheerfully in Maggie Mitchell's household, as she wants a divorce from her husband, Henry T. Paddock. Miss Mitchell is 57 years old, and was married to Mr. Paddock since October, 1868. She is worth about $400,000, and this fortune is now managed by her leading man, Mr. Chas. Mace, whose theatrical name is Charles Abbott. He is a South Boston man and the husband of an actress named Nellie Taylor. Miss Mitchell has been on the stage for nearly forty years. She is the half sister of Mrs. John W. Albaugh, who was divorced many years since from James W. Collier. Miss Mitchell charges her husband with infidelity, and that he has wasted $100,000 of her property. Paddock, who is a prosperous real estate broker at 137 Broadway, says absolutely nothing, but his friends stand out for $25,000. The proceedings are the talk of New York; the female part of the profession upholding Miss Mitchell's action, while the male part cotton to Hank Paddock.

M. Henry Meilhac, "de l'Academie Francaise," is putting the last touches to a comedy in four acts to be called Montvez vos Billets (Show Your Tickets), in which tourists of many nationalities will figure in all the characters. An English version of the play, entitled Globe Trotters, is also nearly finished.

An echo of the gossip which some time ago furnished conversation fodder in many London clubs just reaches this country. It will be remembered that a couple of months ago Miss Phœbe Russell suddenly and unexpectedly left Daly's Company and went to Europe. It was generally known that there was some trouble in which Mr. Daly, Miss Rehan and Miss Russell figured as principals, and the story told now is that Miss Rehan saw Mr. Daly speaking with Miss Russell on the deck of the steamer going over, and that she took such a dislike to her that at a rehearsal some time after, Miss Rehan patted Miss Russell so vigorously on the cheek that it was plainly seen both ladies could not remain in the same company. Russell had to go.

General Sherman and General Daniel E. Sickels are both inveterate "first-nighters." The first always talks loud, disturbing the entire audience, and the latter, always dressed in immaculate evening costume, comes during the first act and attracts so much attention that he greatly annoys the actors.

Alan Dale estimates that within the last ten years jewelry to the amount of $75,000,000 has been stolen from actresses and singers.

T. Henry French will be here with the "Fauntleroy" Company.

Kate Mayhew is rehearsing Howard P. Taylor's new play, Little Pauper, for the Standard next week. Howard is directing the rehearsing. This is better than reviving old chestnuts under ficticious names.

A Hole in the Ground is in Los Angeles

If war comes it is rumored that the authorities will keep the female fencers here as a military breastwork of defence.

The Philadelphia Record says: "Out in California the people consider Mrs. Potter to be the greatest living actress and 'The Rag Baby' the greatest of modern plays." We object to the Potter portion of the item. Her engagement here was a rank failure. As to Hoyt's bright and witty plays, we are pleased that the San Francisco public have preceptive intelligence enough to fully appreciate their amusing qualities. There are but few publics who have not the mental calibre to do so, and, judging from the item quoted, we suspect the Philadelphia Record represents one of them.

The Grand Opera House, since Mascot L. C. Fraser has taken the active management of its affairs, is coming actively to the front in the dramatic field. On April 22nd it will re-open with a new and improved stage, new boxes and an entirely renovated auditorium, with Mary Anderson as the attraction. After the Anderson

FRIDAY.....MARCH 15, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Pastor & Cantelli's Madrid Spanish Opera Company are in their last nights here. The weather has been very much against them, or a company composed of such operatic artists of merit and versatility as this one would have done much better business.

This evening both prima donnas appear: Alemany as the statuetic Galatea in the opera of that name, and Goyzueta as Corita in the third act of bright Campanone.

Chrispini e La Comare will be the bill for Saturday matinee.

Saturday night the grand opera of La Tempestad; a great performance, that brings out all the strength of the company in grand opera.

Audran's charming masterpiece, The Mascot, was sung Thursday evening in such a charming manner that it was demanded by general request. It will constitute the bill for the farewell performance, Sunday night.

—o—

Manager Leavitt presents next week a great attraction in Willard Spenser's great comic opera success, The Little Tycoon; which has recorded runs of 463 nights in Philadelphia, 109 nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc.

The action of Little Tycoon takes place in New York and Newport, and its characters are American. It is interpreted by one of the best of singing and acting companies on the stage, and its recorded runs attest its unrivaled popularity.

In costumes, scenery and elegance of its stage settings The Little Tycoon comes to us accredited with excelling any opera on the stage.

Baldwin Theatre.

This week, Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, supported by his own company. This is a regular well-constructed play in action and story of very different material from the sketchy work we have been accustomed to see this comedian in.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with recording a line of successes with his new comedy. The play, though light in action and motive, is the best that Mr. Russell has ever appeared in, and he charms and delights his audiences with his natural pathos and humor so artistically blended. His support is good, above the average of the star comedians who visit us; Miss Merri Osburn as Scollops and Byron Douglas doing excellent work.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies produce for this week's attraction the grand spectacular drama Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate staging.

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, have volunteered to appear in the battle scenes. There is a touch of realism in this, as the "army" will be composed of men who have braved the dangers of the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

To speak first of the play and then of the characters, is in order this week. While we are surrounded by rumors of war, all the scenes where the troops are seen, have been more warmly applauded than usual, and the battle scenes impart a more serious feeling.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are the three around whom much of the interest of the piece centres, and they all play with force and feeling.

Mr. Grismer, as the hero, Frank Darlington, gives us his best work; he is natural, consequently strong; his points are all telling and effective. The support is, as usual, excellent, and the piece is up for a two weeks' run.

Neil Warner, an excellent actor and popular man, will be the recipient of a testimonial benefit at this theatre, tendered by the management and the profession generally, on Thursday afternoon. Mr. John W. Thompson has tendered his services to play Iago to Mr. Warner's Othello. In addition, the second act of The Calthorpe Case, with Mr. Grismer, Phoebe Davies and the Alcazar Co. in the cast, and a musical olio by Miss Ada Glasca, Miss Helen Bertram, Miss Della Fox, of the Conried Opera Company, and Miss Millie Flynn, one of Prof. Speranza's pupils.

See programme announcement.

Orpheum Opera House.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company, headed by that talented and versatile artist, Harry Kernell, is the attraction this week. This is an excellent specialty company, and their work is for the most part entirely new: Kernell, in his funny new specialty; the Carnos, in their comic musical act; the Braatz Bros., in their wonderful gymnastic act, and Travis, and M'lle Rosa, in their ventriloquial act, all introduce decided novelties.

Harry Kernell is the best monologue artist we have had here. He is amusing without being tiresome.

The audience heartily enjoy the comic portions. After all man likes to laugh, even though he knows it is the greatest nonsense that pleases him, and the situations, as a rule, only possible in mimic life. Kernell's merry-makers just fill the bill to a nicety, and the big Orpheum is nightly filled.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week the attraction is the heroic and picturesque play of Michael Strogoff, with Darrell Vinton in the title-role. The cast embraces a goodly array of talent well adapted to give melodrama effective representations, and the play has been staged with the usual care of Morosco's productions. The people on the South side are all ready to swear by Darrell Vinton, and are ready to go with him to Irkutsk, "For God, My Country and the Czar!"

In the support James M. Brophy, W. J. Elleford, Miss Essie Tittel, Lottie Beaumont and Helen Harlow are notably good.

This is one of the plays that will never grow old or lose its drawing powers. Star and piece will make money for Manager Morosco and amuse and interest his audiences.

Next week the attraction will be the great sensational drama, entitled The Wages of Sin. This will also be the last week of Mr. Darrell Vinton's engagement.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

For this week the new people are: Post and Gross, the refined song and dance artists; Bob Harrison, comedian and punster; Capt. Martin and Ed. Loring, skilful swordsmen; Charles Unger, musical artist; the phenomenal Paul LaDrew, Miss Marie Lertes, soubrette, Henry Bronson and Walter Sanford. Add to these Conchita, Harry Orndorff and just everyday George H. Wood, as entertainers, and there is a bill for you.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page. Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week Mr. Hosmer puts in his fourth and last week as Luke Fielding, in the melodrama of A Dark Deed. The piece was given with new scenery and stage appointments, and both star and company have done their usual good work in the play.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week a new melodrama by Mr. B. Frank Dearborn, entitled Fern, the Waif, will be the attraction. Mr. Dearborn comes from the East and his line of business is comedy.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Charles Reese's laughable comedy of "50 Minutes in Confusion" will be the feature of this week's bill, and the Price Brothers, Dutch comiques, and Maria Titus, put in new appearances. A sensation of the Athletic Club order will be the female glove contests introduced in the opening comedy. The contest will be between two female pugilists, the champions of Alameda and 'Frisco, for a purse of $500.

Ada Clifton, a pleasing soubrette; Ned Thatcher and George Drew, good dialogue artists; Ned Barry, motto vocalist; Maggie Bursell, McCoy & McEvoy, Nelty Andes and others add their strength to the company.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Friday night is set apart for the benefit of Hattie Stewart, when many volunteers will appear.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Nine new stars for this week, and all or them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well to the tastes of their patrons.

This week the new people are: Lassard and Lucifer, acrobats; Ellwood, the great; Johnson and Dee, blackface comedians; Alice Clark, song and dance artiste; Gibbons and Ford, The Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, Ida Chester, Flora Hastings and the funny comedian, Johnny Cain, add their attractions to the Cremorne's bill.

Johnnie Cain's opening farce, The Coonville Offspring, is very funny. Sandwiched in an olio, full of female specialties, is the Gottlobs' Dutch farce of Smeakase. The whole concludes with Johnson and Dee's farce-act "Why Did He Skip?" with all the company in the cast.

Manager Hallinan and his right bower, Ed. Homan, keep up a fine line of attractions for the Cremorne.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Mission and Twenty-third streets. The first regular circus to show in that portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

This week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, continue the bright particular stars.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in an Ethiopian musical first part, with an original finale. Charles Morrell with his African harp and Tommy Morris in another of his amusing sketches fill in the middle part of the programme. The laughable comedy, The Two Tourists, follows after, the leading characters impersonated by Morrell, Morris and Matt Trayers, with a musical finale.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

Ed. Soldene, female impersonator, is the new face this week.

Misses May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Zola Vera, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Ed. Soldene, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

Berkeley & Howard are a fine team, and they have established themselves firmly in the good graces of the Eureka patrons. For this week they present the nautical sketch, The Sailor's Return, introducing the nautical duet "The Minute Gun at Sea."

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill, as it has proved a great attraction.

Friend — Charley, we want you to assist at our coming amateur theatrical entertainment. Charley — Can't do it possibly, Fred. My old bachelor uncle is very sick, and my first duty is there. Friend—Sorry, old boy, but of course it's business before pleasure.

Miss Uppercrust (out shopping) — What a beautiful woman! Mrs. Uppercrust — Yes, but she doesn't amount to anything — moves in some vulgar set or other. I just heard her ask the price of a bonnet before trying it on.

Mr. Staylate—Y-a-as, I hate those—ah—simple-minded country people that show everything they feel. Miss Westend—It is a mere matter of training. One of the first things I was taught was the art of appearing interested when bored half to death.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

John Cort is putting another story on the Standard Theatre, Seattle, and adding a capacious gallery to it, besides making other improvements that will make his Seattle theatre one of the finest variety houses on the coast. It will have a seating capacity of 1200.

Dick Foster, who has been seriously ill, is getting better.

John Cort's company playing at Seattle this week is one of remarkable strength. It consists of the Stirk Family, six in number, Sanford & West, Doyle & Le Clair, Kelly & Murphy, Jennie Fowler, Laura Garland, the Pavenelli Troupe, Thorne & Carleton, Kittie O'Neil, Lang & Sharp, McKee & Franks, and a large number of single and lady specialists, making a company near forty strong.

Sells Bros. and Barrett's Circus, S. H. Barrett manager, opens its season at Pasadena April 4th. Route: Santa Anna, 5; San Diego, 6; Riverside, 8; San Bernardino, 9; Pomono, 10; Los Angeles, 11; San Buenaventura, 12; Santa Barbara, 13; Bakersfield, 15; Tulare, 16; Hanford, 17; Fresco, 18; Merced, 19; Modesto, 20; opening in this city on the 25th.

Chas. B. Nelson will be John Cort's business manager for his Port Townsend theatre, opening next week, and Edward Kelly will succeed Mr. Nelson as stage manager of Cort's Standard Theatre, Portland.

Harry Kernell's company return East without playing the coast. They close at the Orpheum Sunday night; play in Oakland 18-19-20, Stockton 21, Sacramento 22-23-24, Salt Lake 27; thence Eastward.

The Zanfretta Combination, headed by the pantomime family of that name, open at the Orpheum next week.

John Cort has purchased the Palace Theatre, Port Townsend, W. T., and will make extensive improvements in it prior to its opening under his management on the 18th.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the danseuse, are new. The bill is very full this week.

The Davison Brothers will make another of their startling walks at the Cliff House, to-morrow, Sunday. It is just a year ago that they made their famous walk from the Cliff House to Seal Rocks when the wind was blowing almost a gale. Weather permitting they will draw large crowds.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The reserved seats for the opening game of the California League clubs, Stockton vs. San Francisco, on the 24th, are on sale at Secretary Harris' office, at Will & Finck's, 820 Market street. The demand is lively.

The following gentlemen have been appointed by President Mone to act as umpires for the California League games, and have courageously accepted the hap-hazardous positions: B. F. Young and John Sheridan, with Eugene Van Court as alternate. These officials will not be informed at what grounds they will act until twenty-four hours before a game. That is merciful,

The scorers for the League's baseball season will be: Waller Wallace for Saturday's games in this city and all Oakland games; H. W. Batchelder and J. W. Stapleton for games coming off here on Thursdays, Sundays and holidays; W. H. Young for games played in Sacramento, and Gibson P. Kelly for those played in Stockton.

We are luckily having the wind-up of the rains before the California League baseball season opens on the 24th inst,—there can't be much more water left above.

The Haight street grounds have undergone a general overhauling and plowing up, and will be in first-class condition for the game. The league promises to make their grounds the finest in the country.

Sweet Lavender is approaching its end at the Lyceum New York and Fersol an old play of Sardou's, which was done at the

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Manager M. B. Leavitt will probably go East next week stopping en route at Denver to arrange about the erection of a new theatre there from plans prepared by Architect Woods. He will play his Eastern attractions going and coming over the U. P. road, making Denver his first point for the companies coming this way. The Denver theatre will be an elegant and commodious one, a worthy initiatory to his Golden Gate route leading to the Pacific Coast.

McFadden's Uncle Tom Co. at Seattle 16 and 17.

Dan Sullivan has a five-act Irish drama which he thinks of playing on the road after the Lenten devotions are over.

Ovide Musin's season of five performances will begin April 8th at the Bijou.

The Little Lord Fauntleroy Co. arrived in town to-day.

Prof. W. T. Eckert and his Juvenile Opera Co. arrived in town the middle of the week. Mr. Eckert disbanded the company on arrival.

On account of the inclement weather the proposed benefit to Mr. Neil Warner has been postponed until Thursday afternoon, March 21st, Mark Thall is taking an active part in the preparations and is determined that the event shall really be a benefit to the sterling actor, who through a chain of untoward circumstances finds himself stranded on our Pacific Coast. There are land pilots as well as sea pilots, and Mr. Warner's pilot never succeeds, unfortunately, in finding deep water. His cruise is strewn with shipwrecks and for the present he is out of commission. Master Pilot Thall will steer him straight to home and little ones.

Youth is up for a two weeks' run. It will be followed by The Duke's Motto, which will close the Grismer-Davies engagement.

The wind and the rain have distributed the theatrical paper in little and big wads all over town.

A Hole in the Ground is in Los Angeles.

We have had quite a spell of weather, which has been a dampener on theatrical business through the week, but we are happy to state that the rainfall has been general throughout the city. No part of it has been neglected. The water under the wharves seems to have a greater depth to it than that lying on the streets in the Mission and Potrero. Which indicates more rain fell on the city front than in those outlying districts. Yet all have had enough.

The Cricket on the Hearth does not cherrup cheerfully in Maggie Mitchell's household, as she wants a divorce from her husband, Henry T. Paddock. Miss Mitchell is 57 years old, and was married to Mr. Paddock since October, 1868. She is worth about $400,000, and this fortune is now managed by her leading man, Mr. Chas. Mace, whose theatrical name is Charles Abbott. He is a South Boston man and the husband of an actress named Nellie Taylor. Miss Mitchell has been on the stage for nearly forty years. She is the half sister of Mrs. John W. Albaugh, who was divorced many years since from James W. Collier. Miss Mitchell charges her husband with infidelity, and that he has wasted $100,000 of her property. Paddock, who is a prosperous real estate broker at 137 Broadway, says absolutely nothing, but his friends stand out for $25 000. The proceedings are the talk of New York; the female part of the profession upholding Miss Mitchell's action, while the male part cotton to Hank Paddock.

An echo of the gossip which some time ago furnished conversation fodder in many London clubs just reaches this country. It will be remembered that a couple of months ago Miss Phœbe Russell suddenly and unexpectedly left Daly's Company and went to Europe. It was generally known that there was some trouble in which Mr. Daly, Miss Rehan and Miss Russell figured as principals, and the story told now is that Miss Rehan saw Mr. Daly speaking with Miss Russell on the deck of the steamer going over, and that she took such a dislike to her that at a rehearsal some time after, Miss Rehan patted Miss Russell so vigorously on the cheek that it was plainly seen both ladies could not remain in the same company. Russell had to go.

T. Henry French will be here with the "Fauntleroy" Company.

The Grand Opera House, since Mascot L. C. Fraser has taken the active management of its affairs, is coming actively to the front in the dramatic field. On April 22nd it will re-open with a new and improved stage, new boxes and an entirely renovated auditorium, with Mary Anderson as the attraction. After the Anderson season attractions are booked for the Grand right along up to September.

This is the last week of the regular season at Palmer's Theatre, New York. Next week the McCaull Company open there in Boccaccio and stays seven months.

John Wild is presenting Running Wild in the South. He has had the second and third acts of the piece rewritten and now appears in black face through the entire performance.

Under the arrangement by which Edward Harrigan has been occupying the Park Theatre, the owners of the building received twenty per cent. of the gross receipts of each performance as rental.

Mrs. Langtry will not act in London, England, next season, notwithstanding the reports which have been so industriously circulated by her press agent. America

Mary Anderson's Condition.

Mary Anderson is in Philadelphia and has placed herself under the care of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, who thinks that she may be able to play after a week's rest. While on her Western trip Miss Anderson began to show signs of failing strength. The chief trouble was with her head. Miss Anderson still has nine weeks to play this season. If she does not suffer a relapse she will keep her engagement in Philadelphia. At any rate, her loss by sickness this season will reach $20 000. Should she recover enough to be able to play she will come to San Francisco and close the season here. Then she will go abroad for a six months' rest.

On Monday of this week Booth and Barrett appeared in Othello in Trenton, New Jersey. A special train carried 400 students from Princeton College to attend the performance.

W. A. Mestayer will revive The Tourists next season with novel features. Theresa Vaugh will be a member of the company.

EVENING EDITION

SATURDAY.....MARCH 16, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Pastor & Canteli's Madrid Spanish Opera Company are in their last nights here. The weather has been very much against them, or a company composed of such operatic artists of merit and versatility as this one would have done much better business.

Saturday night the grand opera of La Tempestad; a great performance, that brings out all the strength of the company in grand opera.

Audran's charming masterpiece, The Mascot, was sung Thursday evening in such a charming manner that it was demanded by general request. It will constitute the bill for the farewell performance, Sunday night.

—o—

Manager Leavitt presents next week a great attraction in Willard Spenser's great comic opera success, The Little Tycoon; which has recorded runs of 463 nights in Philadelphia, 109 nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc.

The action of Little Tycoon takes place in New York and Newport, and its characters are American. It is interpreted by one of the best of singing and acting companies on the stage, and its recorded runs attest its unrivaled popularity.

In costumes, scenery and elegance of its stage settings The Little Tycoon comes to us accredited with excelling any opera on the stage.

Baldwin Theatre.

This week, Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, supported by his own company. This is a regular well-constructed play in action and story of very different material from the sketchy work we have been accustomed to see this comedian in.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with recording a line of successes with his new comedy. The play, though light in action and motive, is the best that Mr. Russell has ever appeared in, and he charms and delights his audiences with his natural pathos and humor so artistically blended. His support is good, above the average of the star comedians who visit us; Miss Merri Osburn as Scollops and Byron Douglas doing excellent work.

Alcazar Theatre.

Joe. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies produce for this week's attraction the grand spectacular drama Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate staging.

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, have volunteered to appear in the battle scenes. There is a touch of realism in this, as the "army" will be composed of men who have braved the dangers of the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

To speak first of the play and then of the characters, is in order this week. While we are surrounded by rumors of war, all the scenes where the troops are seen, have been more warmly applauded than usual, and the battle scenes impart a more serious feeling.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are the three around whom much of the interest of the piece centres, and they all play with force and feeling.

Mr. Grismer, as the hero, Frank Darlington, gives us his best work; he is natural, consequently strong; his points are all telling and effective. The support is, as usual, excellent, and the piece is up for a two weeks' run.

Neil Warner, an excellent actor and popular man, will be the recipient of a testimonial benefit at this theatre, tendered by the management and the profession generally, on Thursday afternoon. Mr. John W. Thompson has tendered his services to play Iago to Mr. Warner's Othello. In addition, the second act of The Calthorpe Case, with Mr. Grismer, Phoebe Davies and the Alcazar Co. in the cast, and a musical olio by Miss Ada Glasco, Miss Helen Barham, Miss Della Fox, of the Conried Opera Company, and Miss Millie Flynn, one of Prof Speranza's pupils.

No programme announcement.

Orpheum Opera House.

Harry Kernell's Specialty and Comedy Company, headed by that talented and versatile performer, are in their farewell week at the Orpheum.

This is an excellent specialty company, and their work is for the most part entirely new: [illegible] in his funny new specialty; the Carnos in their wonderful gymnastic act, and Travis, and M'lle Rosa, in their ventriloquial act, all introduce decided novelties.

Harry Kernell is the best monologue artist we have had here. He is amusing without being tiresome.

The audience heartily enjoy the comic portions. After all man likes to laugh, even though he knows it is the greatest nonsense that pleases him, and the situations, as a rule, only possible in mimic life. Kernell's merry-makers just fill the bill to a nicety, and the big Orpheum is nightly filled.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

This week the attraction is the heroic and picturesque play of Michael Strogoff, with Darrell Vinton in the title-role. The cast embraces a goodly array of talent well adapted to give melodrama effective representations, and the play has been staged with the usual care of Morosco's productions. The people on the South side are all ready to swear by Darrell Vinton, and are ready to go with him to Irkutsk, "For God, My Country and the Czar!"

In the support James M. Brophy, W. J. Elleford, Miss Essie Tittel, Lottie Beaumont and Helen Harlow are notably good.

This is one of the plays that will never grow old or lose its drawing powers. Star and piece will make money for Manager Morosco and amuse and interest his audiences.

Next week the attraction will be the great sensational drama, entitled The Wages of Sin. This will also be the last week of Mr. Darrell Vinton's engagement.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

For this week the new people are: Post and Gross, the refined song and dance artists; Bob Harrison, comedian and punster; Capt. Martin and Ed. Loring, skilful swordsmen; Charles Unger, musical artist; the phenomenal Paul LaDrew, Miss Marie Lertes, soubrette, Henry Bronson and Walter Sanford. Add to these Conchita, Harry Orndorff and just everyday George H. Wood, as entertainers, and there is a bill for you.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

See programme announcement on this page.

Eleven new stars at the Vienna next week: The Brothers Leo (Munis and Charles), the Stanley Sisters, the Buffalo Trio (sketch artists), Miss Effie Hull (soubrette and song stress), J. C. Miller (buffo vocalist and character artist) and Miss Jennie Mason.

The entertainment commences with the famous Yankee comedian, Wm. A. Mason, in Joshua Whitcomb, and ends with the only Conchita's original spectacular optical delusion comedy, La Salon du Diable.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week Mr. Hosmer puts in his fourth and last week as Luke Fielding, in the melodrama of A Dark Deed. The piece was given with new scenery and stage appointments, and both star and company have done their usual good work in the play.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week a new melodrama by Mr. B. Frank Dearborn, entitled Fern, the Waif, will be the attraction. Mr. Dearborn comes from the East and his line of business is comedy.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

Charles Reese's laughable comedy of "50 Minutes in Confusion" will be the feature of this week's bill, and the Price Brothers, Dutch comiques, and Maria Titus, put in new appearances. A sensation of the Athletic Club order will be the female glove contests introduced in the opening comedy. The contest will be between two female pugilists, the champions of Alameda and 'Frisco, for a purse of $500.

Ada Clifton, a pleasing soubrette; Ned Thatcher and George Drew, good dialogue artists; Ned Barry, motto vocalist; Maggie Bursell, McCoy & McEvoy, Nelty Andes and others add their strength to the company.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Next week, the three Romalo Bros., wonderful acrobats; Adele Purvis, in a novel specialty on the swinging slack wire; the comedy sketch artists, George Wills and Grace Barron, and the charming vocalists and dancer, Miss Ida Chester, are the new attractions.

Manager Foster has arranged for an amateur night every Friday night, commencing March [illegible] to show their ability can do so by giving in their names to the stage director. Prizes will be given to the best amateurs in his or her line of business.

The performance will commence every evening with Mr. Chas. Reese's comedy, entitled The $10,000 Beauty.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Nine new stars for this week, and all or them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well to the tastes of their patrons.

This week the new people are: Lassard and Lucifer, acrobats; Ellwood, the great; Johnson and Dee, blackface comedians; Alice Clark, song and dance artiste; Gibbons and Ford, musical team; Maude Cleveland and Mabel Harrison, vocalists.

The Gottlob's, Lavender & Thompson, Ida Chester, Flora Hastings and the funny comedian, Johnny Cain, add their attractions to the Cremorne's bill.

Johnnie Cain's opening farce, The Coonville Offspring, is very funny. Sandwiched in an olio, full of female specialties, is the Gottlobs' Dutch farce of Smeakase. The whole concludes with Johnson and Dee's farce-act "Why Did He Skip?" with all the company in the cast.

Manager Hallinan and his right bower, Ed. Homan, keep up a fine line of attractions for the Cremorne.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Mission and Twenty-third streets. The first regular circus to show in that portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Lescor, Jennie Melvo, Miss Colburn, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Josie Meyer, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

This week, Mr. Charles Morrell, the favorite comedian and banjoist, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the character danseuse and comedienne, continue the bright particular stars.

The entertainment commences with the entire company in an Ethiopian musical first part, with an original finale. Charles Morrell with his African harp and Tommy Morris in another of his amusing sketches fill in the middle part of the programme. The laughable comedy, The Two Tourists, follows after, the leading characters impersonated by Morrell, Morris and Matt Trayers, with a musical finale.

The laughable farce, Nic-Nax, with all the company in the cast, conoludes the bill and the evening's fun.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

STARTLING NOVELTY AND MONSTER AT

Ed. Soldene, female impersonator, is the new face this week.

Misses May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Zola Vera, Jessie Eldridge, Charles Berkeley, Ed. Soldene, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

Berkeley & Howard are a fine team, and they have established themselves firmly in the good graces of the Eureka patrons. For this week they present the nautical sketch, The Sailor's Return, introducing the nautical duet "The Minute Gun at Sea."

The Spanish Can-Can is retained on the bill, as it has proved a great attraction.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

John Cort is putting another story on the Standard Theatre, Seattle, and adding a capacious gallery to it, besides making other improvements that will make his Seattle theatre one of the finest variety houses on the coast. It will have a seating capacity of 1200.

Dick Foster, who has been seriously ill, is getting better.

John Cort's company playing at growing Seattle is one of remarkable strength. It consists of the Stirk Family, six in number, Sanford & West, Doyle & Le Clair, Kelly & Murphy, Jennie Fowler, Laura Garland, the Pavenelli Troupe, Thorne & Carleton, Kittie O'Neil, Lang & Sharp, McKee & Franks, and a large number of single and lady specialists, making a company near forty strong.

Sells Bros. and Barrett's Circus, S. H. Barrett manager, opens its season at Pasadena April 4th. Route: Santa Anna, 5; San Diego, 6; Riverside, 8; San Bernardino, 9; Pomono, 10; Los Angeles, 11; San Buenaventura, 12; Santa Barbara, 13; Bakersfield, 15; Tulare, 16; Hanford, 17; Fresco, 18; Merced, 19; Modesto, 20; opening in this city on the 25th.

Chas. B. Nelson will be John Cort's business manager for his Port Townsend theatre, opening this week, and Edward Kelly will succeed Mr. Nelson as stage manager of Cort's Standard Theatre, Portland.

Harry Kernell's company return East without playing the coast. They closed at the Orpheum Sunday night; play in Oakland 18-19-20, Stockton 21, Sacramento 22-23-24, Salt Lake 27; thence Eastward.

The Zanfretta Combination, headed by the pantomime family of that name, open at the Orpheum this week.

John Cort has purchased the Palace Theatre, Port Townsend, W. T., and has made extensive improvements in it prior to its opening under his management this week.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the danseuse, are new. The bill is very full this week.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The reserved seats for the opening game of the California League clubs, Stocktons vs. San Franciscos, on the 24th, are on sale at Secretary Harris' office, at Will & Finck's, 820 Market street. The demand is lively.

The following gentlemen have been appointed by President Mone to act as umpires for the California League games, and have courageously accepted the hazardous positions: B. F. Young and John Sheridan, with Eugene Van Court as alternate. These officials will not be informed at what grounds they will act until twenty-four hours before a game. That is merciful,

The scorers for the League's baseball season will be: Waller Wallace for Saturday's games in this city and all Oakland games; H. W. Batchelder and J. W. Stapleton for games coming off here on Thursdays, Sundays and holidays; W. H. Young for games played in Sacramento, and Gibson P. Kelly for those played in Stockton.

We are luckily having the wind-up of the rains before the California League baseball season opens on the 24th inst.—there can't be much more water left above.

The Haight street grounds have undergone a general overhauling and plowing up, and will be in first-class condition for the game. The league promises to make their grounds the finest in the country.

Teresa Klink Hammer, the best juvenile actress in Berlin, has been engaged for Amberg's Theatre.

Mr. Augustin Daly revived The Taming of the Shrew on March 7th.

A stock company has been formed in New Orleans to endow the Cresent City with a new opera house.

W. J. Scanlan continues to purchase real

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Manager M. B. Leavitt leaves for the East to-morrow stopping en route at Denver to arrange about the erection of a new theatre there from plans prepared by Architect Woods. He will play his Eastern attractions going and coming over the U. P. road, making Denver his first point for the companies coming this way. The Denver theatre will be an elegant and commodious one, a worthy initiatory to his Golden Gate route leading to the Pacific Coast.

McFadden's Uncle Tom Co. were at Seattle 16 and 17.

Dan Sullivan has a five-act Irish drama which he thinks of playing on the road after the Lenten devotions are over.

Ovide Musin's season of five performances will begin April 8th at the Bijou.

The Little Lord Fauntleroy Co. has arrived in town.

Prof. W. T. Eckert and his Juvenile Opera Co. arrived in town the middle of the week. Mr. Eckert disbanded the company on arrival.

On account of the inclement weather the proposed benefit to Mr. Neil Warner has been postponed until Thursday afternoon, March 21st, Mark Thall is taking an active part in the preparations and is determined that the event shall really be a benefit to the sterling actor, who through a chain of untoward circumstances finds himself stranded on our Pacific Coast. There are land pilots as well as sea pilots, and Mr. Warner's pilot never succeeds, unfortunately, in finding deep water. His cruise is strewn with shipwrecks and for the present he is out of commission. Master Pilot Thall will steer him straight to home and little ones.

Youth is up for a two weeks' run. It will be followed by The Duke's Motto, which will close the Grismer-Davies engagement.

The wind and the rain have distributed the theatrical paper in little and big wads all over town.

The Little Tycoon has had a big sale of seats.

A Hole in the Ground was in Los Angeles the week it rained.

We have had quite a spell of weather, which has been a dampener on theatrical business the week past, but we are happy to state that the rainfall has been general throughout the city. No part of it has been neglected. The water under the wharves seems to have a greater depth to it than that lying on the streets in the Mission and Potrero. Which indicates more rain fell on the city front than in those outlying districts. Yet all have had enough.

The Cricket on the Hearth does not cherrup cheerfully in Maggie Mitchell's household, as she wants a divorce from her husband, Henry T. Paddock. Miss Mitchell is 57 years old, and was married to Mr. Paddock since October, 1868. She is worth about $400,000, and this fortune is now managed by her leading man, Mr. Chas. Mace, whose theatrical name is Charles Abbott. He is a South Boston man and the husband of an actress named Nellie Taylor. Miss Mitchell has been on the stage for nearly forty years. She is the half sister of Mrs. John W. Albaugh, who was divorced many years since from James W. Collier. Miss Mitchell charges her husband with infidelity, and that he has wasted $100,000 of her property. Paddock, who is a prosperous real estate broker at 137 Broadway, says absolutely nothing, but his friends stand out for $25,000. The proceedings are the talk of New York; the female part of the profession upholding Miss Mitchell's action, while the male part cotton to Hank Paddock.

T. Henry French will be here with the "Fauntleroy" Company.

John Wild is presenting Running Wild in the South. He has had the second and third acts of the piece rewritten and now appears in black face through the entire performance.

Under the arrangement by which Edward Harrigan has been occupying the Park Theatre, the owners of the building received twenty per cent. of the gross receipts of each performance as rental.

On Monday of last week Booth and Barrett appeared in Othello in Trenton, New Jersey. A special train carried 400 students from Princeton College to attend the performance.

W. A. Mestayer will revive The Touriste next season with novel features. Theresa Vaugh will be a member of the company.

Gossip says that the site for the new Harrigan Theatre has not yet been decided, and that the talk about it is only a bluff to reduce the rent of the house now used, which is a percentage of the gross receipts. Others say that the new theatre will be a copy of the old Broadway House opposite the New York Hotel, and that the building will be five stories high. Genial Mart Hanley will, however, tell five thousand stories about it before it is half finished.

Frank Dupree, at one time in charge of the dramatic department of The New York Tribune, has been engaged by Charles Frohman, and will be business manager of the Robert Elsmere Company, which appears at Albany, March 25th.

Adolf Auerbach has sued the tenor Perotti to recover $950, which he claims is due him for securing Perotti's engagement at the Metropolitan. Justice Lawrence on Tuesday granted an attachment against the tenor's property.

Pauline Markham is shortly to begin a Spring tour of the interior towns.

Grace Hinton, who has been playing the Princess in The Danicheffs with a road company, has just separated from her husband, Dan Emerson, the banjo player.

It is officially stated that Adelina Patti has been guaranteed $4,250 by Henry E.

The latest craze in Gotham at present is for everything Russian, and many pretty actresses promenade Broadway in Russia pelisse trimmed with Russian furs, wear Russian leather bags, and it is said, daily with tiny cigarettes, when at home, made of Russian tobacco. Miss Grace Henderson last week gave a tea party in which that distinctly Russian tea kettle, the Samover, was used, and with it the salvers, the open sugar baskets and lemon fork which makes the outfit for a Russian "tea." Amelia Summerville, who, by the way, is now called "The Lady of Westchester," gave one of these teas with caviar sandwiches, and hired a bearded Cossack to chant Russian melodies to keep up the delusion. Herrmann, the magician, has sent to St. Petersburg for a droshky, having already bought two pretty Russian ponies, and Lotta is next summer to appear in the Park in Russian fashion, three ponies harnessed abreast, with trappings ornamented with tinkling silver bells.

EVENING EDITION

MONDAY.....MARCH 18, 1889

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt presents this week a great attraction in Willard Spenser's great comic opera success, The Little Tycoon; which has recorded runs of 463 nights in Philadelphia, 109 nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc.

The action of Little Tycoon occurs on an Atlantic steamer and Newport; its characters are American. It is interpreted by one of the best of singing and acting companies on the stage, and its recorded runs attest its unrivaled popularity.

In costumes, scenery and elegance of its stage settings The Little Tycoon comes to us accredited with excelling any opera on the stage.

Baldwin Theatre.

This is the last week of Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, at the Baldwin. This is a regular well-constructed play in action and story of very different material from the sketchy work we have been accustomed to see this comedian in.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with recording a line of successes with his new comedy. The play, though light in action and motive, is the best that Mr. Russell has ever appeared in, and he charms and delights his audiences with his natural pathos and humor so artistically blended. His support is good, above the average of the star comedians who visit us; Miss Merri Osburn as Scollops and Byron Douglas doing excellent work.

An elaborate production of Little Lord Fauntleroy, Mrs. Burnett's dramatic idyl that has achieved such a success in the East, will be next week's attraction at the Baldwin.

Seats on sale Thursday.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies produce for this week's attraction the grand spectacular drama Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate staging.

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, have volunteered to appear in the battle scenes. There is a touch of realism in this, as the "army" will be composed of men who have braved the dangers of the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are the three around whom much of the interest of the piece centres, and they all play with force and feeling.

Mr. Grismer, as the hero, Frank Darlington, gives us his best work; he is natural, consequently strong; his points are all telling and effective. The support is, as usual, excellent.

This is the last week of Youth.

Neil Warner, an excellent actor and popular man, will be the recipient of a testimonial benefit at this theatre, tendered by the management and the profession generally, on Thursday afternoon. Mr. John W. Thompson has tendered his services to play Iago to Mr. Warner's Othello. In addition, the second act of The Calthorpe Case, with Mr. Grismer, Phoebe Davies and the Alcazar Co. in the cast, and a musical olio by Miss Ada Glasca, Miss Helen Bertram, Miss Della Fox, of the Conried Opera Company, and Miss Millie Flynn, one of Prof Speranza's pupils.

See programme announcement.

Next week's attraction will be The Duke's Motto, and it will also be the last week of the Grismer-Davies engagement.

Orpheum Opera House.

The world-renowned Zanfretta Family, pantomimists, vocalists and dancers, head the list of attractions at the Orpheum this week.

Beside these there are Wilson & Cameron, Australian comiques and grotesque dancers; the celebrated Donaldson Bros., contortionists; the greatest wire walker in the world, Frank La Mondue; Dunbar Bros., the conquerors of fire and electricity, and Miss Josephine Soltesz, mezzo-soprano.

This week the great Alex Zanfretta will produce his original pictorial Indian pantomime, The Commanche; or, Life in the Far West.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week the attraction will be the great sensational drama, entitled The Wages of Sin. This will also be the last week of Mr. Darrell Vinton's engagement.

In the support James M. Brophy, W. J. Elleford, Miss Essie Tittel, Lottie Beaumont, Helen Harlow and the rest of the stock company, who are well drilled and play their parts always with tact and good judgment.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

Eleven new stars at the Vienna this week; The Brothers Leo (Munis and Charles), the Stanley Sisters, the Buffalo Trio (sketch artists), Miss Effie Hull (soubrette and song stress), J. C. Miller (buffo vocalist and character artist) and Miss Jennie Mason.

The entertainment commences with the famous Yankee comedian, Wm. A. Mason, in Joshua Whitcomb, and ends with the only Conchita's original spectacular optical delusion comedy, La Salon du Diable.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

See programme announcement on this page.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week a new melodrama by Mr. B. Frank Dearborn, entitled Fern, the Waif, will be the attraction. Mr. Dearborn comes from the East and his line of business is comedy.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

This week, the three Romalo Bros., wonderful acrobats; Adele Purvis, in a novel specialty on the swinging slack wire; the comedy sketch artists, George Wills and Grace Barron, and the charming vocalists and dancer, Miss Ida Chester, are the new attractions.

Manager Foster has arranged for an amateur night every Friday night, commencing March 22nd. Any amateur, male or female, wishing to show their ability can do so by giving in their names to the stage director. Prizes will be given to the best amateurs in his or her line of business.

The performance will commence every evening with Mr. Chas. Reese's comedy, entitled The $10,000 Beauty.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Nine new stars for this week, and all or them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well to the tastes of their patrons.

This week the new people are: The three Romalo Bros., sensational acrobats; Adele Purvis, the Queen of the wire, and the two Irish thrushes, Billy McCoy and Miss Minnie McEvoy.

Johnnie Cain's laughable skit, entitled The Little Fly Coon, with the entire Cremorne Co. in the cast, will be presented for the first time this week.

Manager Hallinan and his right bower, Ed. Homan, keep up a fine line of attractions for the Cremorne.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Mission and Twenty-third streets. The first regular circus to show in that portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Tommy Morris, Charles Morrell, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Edith Morrison is the new face this week.

The entertainment commences with the entire company as the Original Orators, with an original grand finale. Charles Morrell with his African harp and Tommy Morris in another of his amusing sketches fill in the middle part of the programme. The laughable farce, The Day We Celebrate, with all the company in the cast, conoludes the bill and the evening's fun.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and cosiest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

The Gottlobs—Fred and Amy—musical artists, Lillie Mason and Jessie Carlton are the new faces this week.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Zola Vera, Jessie Carlton, Lillie Mason, Chas. Berkeley, Amy and Fred Gottlob, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

Berkeley & Howard are a fine team, and they have established themselves firmly in the good graces of the Eureka patrons. For this week they present the picturesque crazyosity, The Spooney Blacksmith, introducing favorite operatic music, with Berkeley's musical anvil accompaniment.

Fred Gottlob's laughable sketch, Smeerkase, is the strong card this week.

It is now a settled thing that Florence and Jefferson will combine their strength next year. Their repertoire has not yet been decided upon, but it is probable that they will do The Rivals, Cricket on the Hearth, Dombey and Son, and Falstaff. In the former Mr. Florence will do Sir Lucius O'Trigger and John Peerybingle. In Dombey and Son Mr. Jefferson will be Sol Gills. Mr. Florence will receive $1,000 per week from Jefferson, and the company will be known as the Jefferson-Florence Combination.

While young James Duff was arranging with European composers for light operas for Chicago, and while Millward Adams was on his way to Europe, Marcus Meyer slipped into Craig-y-nos Castle with a tiny Mexican dog under his arm and engaged Patti for Abbey. Adams may, however, induce Nilsson to cross over once more. The Chicago Auditorium people have already engaged Mme. Scalchi.

Hans Guido von Bulow sailed for New York March 13th, where he will remain for five weeks, giving sixteen performances, for which he will receive $10,000.

Sol Berliner has offered John Gilbert a very large salary to create a part in A Noble Son, which is to be produced at Niblo's Garden, May 13th.

Hoyt's new play, A Midnight Bell, was advertised in New York by a bronze bell, which chimed prettily outside the Bijou Opera House at intervals, attracting a great deal of attention.

This week a new dramatic paper will be published in New York. It will, however, only contain the names of professional people at liberty, and will be mailed to every theatre and manager in the United States. Its name will be The Register, and the requisition fee will only be one dollar. The Register will be a very useful sheet for managers.

Fred Maeder's new military drama The Skirmish Line, which was produced at New Orleans a short time since, will be done at the Philadelphia Academy of Music, April.

The Stowaway, with its brace of safe-cracking burglars played to very large audiences in Boston last week. The crooks, however, did not make the success.

Emily Lytton will play Minui the adventuress, in French and Sanger's Little Lord Fauntleroy Company in San Francisco.

Boston has signified her approval of the Yoeman of the Guard, and is the only city in the country where it has been an unqualified success.

When Little Lord Fauntleroy is put on at the Baldwin the play will be running simultaneously in London, New York and San Francisco.

Held by the Enemy, Legal Wreck Gillette is coming to San Francisco in May, with Charles Frohman and David Belasco.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

On account of the inclement weather the proposed benefit to Mr. Neil Warner has been postponed until Thursday afternoon, March 21st. Mark Thall is taking an active part in the preparations and is determined that the event shall really be a benefit to the sterling actor, who through a chain of untoward circumstances finds himself stranded on our Pacific Coast. There are land pilots as well as sea pilots, and Mr. Warner's pilot never succeeds, unfortunately, in finding deep water. His cruise is strewn with shipwrecks and for the present he is out of commission. Master Pilot Thall will steer him straight to home and little ones.

Youth is up for a two weeks' run. It will be followed by The Duke's Motto, which will close the Grismer-Davies engagement.

The Little Tycoon has had a big sale of seats.

A Hole in the Ground was in Los Angeles the week it rained.

T. Henry French will be here with the "Fauntleroy" Company.

Manager M. B. Leavitt leaves for the East to-morrow stopping en route at Denver to arrange about the erection of a new theatre there from plans prepared by Architect Woods. He will play his Eastern attractions going and coming over the U. P. road, making Denver his first point for the companies coming this way. The Denver theatre will be an elegant and commodious one, a worthy initiatory to his Golden Gate route leading to the Pacific Coast.

McFadden's Uncle Tom Co. were at Seattle 16 and 17.

Dan Sullivan has a five-act Irish drama which he thinks of playing on the road after the Lenten devotions are over.

Ovide Musin's season of five performances will begin April 8th at the Bijou.

The Little Lord Fauntleroy Co. has arrived in town.

W. A. Mestayer will revive The Tourists next season with novel features. Theresa Vaugh will be a member of the company.

Gossip says that the site for the new Harrigan Theatre has not yet been decided, and that the talk about it is only a bluff to reduce the rent of the house now used, which is a percentage of the gross receipts. Others say that the new theatre will be a copy of the old Broadway House opposite the New York Hotel, and that the building will be five stories high. Genial Mart Hanley will, however, tell five thousand stories about it before it is half finished.

Teresa Klink Hammer, the best juvenile actress in Berlin, has been engaged for Amberg's Theatre.

Mr. Augustin Daly revived The Taming of the Shrew on March 7th.

A stock company has been formed in New Orleans to endow the Cresent City with a new opera house.

W. J. Scanlan continues to purchase real estate in New York. He is a large holder of improved property in the "booming" west side district.

Sweet Lavender is approaching its end at the Lyceum New York and Fereol an old play of Sardou's, which was done at the Union Square Theatre in 1877, will follow

Mary Anderson's Condition.

Mary Anderson is in Philadelphia and has placed herself under the care of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, an eminent physician. While on her Western trip Miss Anderson began to show signs of failing strength, and suffered from attacks of nervous prostration accompanied by pains in the head. In Washington she fainted on the stage and prematurely closed her season there. By the command of her physician she has cancelled all her dates. Her company has been disbanded. All persons are prohibited from seeing her except her maid and her nurse. That Miss Anderson is seriously sick from nervous prostration, overwork and insomnia, and is suffering from mental trouble that has given her great pain, there can be no doubt; but all the later bulletins deny the sensational reports of her insanity. The latest dispatch says that a steady improvement is noticeable in the condition of the patient in the last twenty-four hours. Miss Anderson's sudden ending of her season will be a great disappointment to Manager Hayman, who had the Grand Opera House engaged for her season in this city, which was to have

LATEST EUROPEAN THEATRICALS.

Paris is all aflame with excitement over the great success of Emma Eames, a beautiful American debutante last week. The Paris papers are full of her praises. Auguste Vitu has exhausted prose in her admiration. Her voice, he says, is pure, brilliant and powerful, reaching without apparent effort the furthermost corners of the opera house. In conclusion he says: "Not for years has the Grand Opera House been the scene of such a successful debut." Corully in the Gauloise, Sarcey in the Temps and Victor Wilder in Gil Blas all ring the changes of her praise in even more glowing terms, and without a single dissenting voice the press pronounces her great. The Americans in Paris are delighted with her success. Miss Eames has signed a six months' contract with Messrs. Pitt & Gaillard at a ridiculously small figure. In addition to Juliette she will appear in Faust and L'Africaine.

Richard Mansfield's gorgeous production of Richard III at the Globe Theatre, London, on the 16th inst., is wired as a complete success in scenic splendor and historical correctness, and the papers speak favorably of the vigor and dramatic power of his impersonation of Richard, and of his splendid conception of the character. The play is reputed to have cost $75,000 to stage it, and it must have a six months' run to repay him. Its historical scenes are grand in their effects. The Tower of London and the battle scenes have never had such staging before. The leading roles are diplomatically given to English actors, though the portion of his American company in the cast won much favor in their smaller parts by contrast. The Chronicle dispatch says, D. W. Harkins (who is a strong Richard himself, as he proved here during the McKee Rankin management at the California) played the small part of Stanley "excellently." Frankan made a good Lord Mayor and Crompton did himself credit as Hastings; Miss Beatrice Cameron looked very pretty as Lady Anne, but did not seem to quite grasp the spirit and dignity or scope of the character. Her acting was interesting, but lacked substance. As for the new English members of the company, Mary Rorke made a pathetic Elizabeth; Lablache has little to recommend him but a massive frame and the operatic reputation of his grandfather, but did fairly well as Richmond; Fernandez was a stupid Buckingham; Bessie Hatton, daughter of Joseph Hatton, made a pretty graceful Prince Edward. Mansfield got an immense reception, and at the close of the play made a short speech. Baroness Burdett-Coutts applauded from a box.

Sardou's new play, Belle Maman, was produced on the 15th inst, at the Gymnase, Paris. It is considered too much of a farce even for Paris. Judging from the comments of the critics, Daly has not struck a bargain in paying $10,000 for the American rights.

Patti Rosa produces her new play at Birmingham on April 8th. Chas. Wyndham wants her to play another engagement at the Strand, London, beginning on Easter Monday.

Palmer wants Haddon Chambers, author of Captain Swift, to write a new play for him.

The new play, The Bookmaker, by J. W. Pigott, who was in New York with Wallack's company last year, will be produced in London to-night, with Edward Terry in the leading character.

Marie Van Zandt makes her first appearance at Berlin on the 20th in Lakme.

Mrs. Laugtry is negotiating with Irving for a Lyceum summer season if she fails to secure the Drury Lane.

It is the intention of Grace Hawthorne to go to Paris and give a series of performances of Camille.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt presents this week a great attraction in Willard Spenser's great comic opera success, The Little Tycoon; which has recorded runs of 463 nights in Philadelphia, 100 nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc.

The action of Little Tycoon occurs on an Atlantic steamer and at Newport; its characters are American. It is interpreted by one of the best of singing and acting companies on the stage, and its recorded runs attest its unrivaled popularity.

In costumes, scenery, and in stage effects the last act of The Little Tycoon surpasses any light opera on the stage. It is in this act that the famed quick transformation scene occurs from General Knickerbocker's drawing-room to the Japanese fete grounds. Done as if by magic. Flashing at once by the aid of electricity, with light, while a huge Japanese umbrella floats slowly down from the invisible flies brilliant with its incandescent electric lights. The scene is one of rare beauty.

The Little Tycoon is a success. The Call says: "The Little Tycoon is essentially an American work, original in its conception, clever in its wording and sparkling with bright music. It is pleasant to witness so good a performance as that at Leavitt's popular new Bush-street Theatre last evening, heightened no doubt by the very large attendance, which filled all the seats with very little standing-room left, and what is more a fashionable house and warm-hearted assemblage comprising the upper-ten of our city. From the commencement of the first bars of the overture to the finale the production was credited a 'go,' popular, and pronounced something different from what has been seen for a long time on the stages of the different theatres. The author and composer, Mr. Willard Spenser, has produced a good comic opera, and merits the success which he has attained in the East and on his tournee to this Coast."

The Chronicle says that "The Little Tycoon proves a bright and amusing work," and classifies it as "a lively, kaleidoscopic entertainment, with a little of everything from a topical song to grand opera." It notices the company individually on their merits and states that it "works well together and everybody plays with enthusiasm."

The Examiner is not taken with the argument and the libretto of the "Tycoon," but talks pleasantly of its "charming numbers, which are liberally repeated," and says that "the pretty scenes, the pretty girls, and what was pleasant in the music attracted every one."

The Little Tycoon has only two weeks at the Bush.

Baldwin Theatre.

This is the last week of Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, at the Baldwin. This is a regular well-constructed play in action and story of very different material from the sketchy work we have been accustomed to see this comedian in.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with recording a line of successes with his new comedy. The play, though light in action and motive, is the best that Mr. Russell has ever appeared in, and he charms and delights his audiences with his natural pathos and humor so artistically blended. His support is good, above the average of the star comedians who visit us; Miss Merri Osburn as Scollops and Byron Douglas doing excellent work

An elaborate production of Little Lord Fauntleroy, Mrs. Burnett's dramatic idyl that has achieved such a success in the East, will be next week's attraction at the Baldwin.

Seats on sale Thursday.

Alcazar Theatre.

Jos. E. Grismer and Phoebe Davies produce for this week's attraction the grand spectacular drama Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate staging.

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, has volunteered to appear in the battle scenes. There is a touch of realism in this, as the "army" will be composed of men who have braved the dangers of the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are the three around whom much of the interest of the piece centres, and they all play [illegible]

gives us his best work; he is natural, consequently strong; his points are all telling and effective. The support is, as usual, excellent.

This is the last week of Youth.

Neil Warner, an excellent actor and popular man, will be the recipient of a testimonial benefit at this theatre, tendered by the management and the profession generally, on Thursday afternoon. The Dagger Scene from Macbeth will be given, Mr. Neil Warner as Macbeth, and Miss Marion Joseph, a talented young amateur, as Lady Macbeth.

In addition, the second act of The Calthorpe Case, with Mr. Jos. E. Grismer, Miss Phoebe Davies and the Alcazar Co. in the cast, and a musical olio by Miss Ada Glasca, Miss Helen Bertram, Miss Della Fox, of the Conried Opera Company, and Miss Millie Flynn, one of Prof Speranza's pupils.

See programme announcement.

Next week's attraction will be The Duke's Motto, and it will also be the last week of the Grismer-Davies engagement.

Orpheum Opera House.

The world-renowned Zanfretta Family, pantomimists, vocalists and dancers, head the list of attractions at the Orpheum this week.

Beside these there are Wilson & Cameron, Australian comiques and grotesque dancers; the celebrated Donaldson Bros., contortionists; the greatest wire walker in the world, Frank La Mondue; Dunbar Bros., sensational aerial artists; La Petite Aimee, the wonderful child artist; Dante Bros., the conquerors of fire and electricity, and Miss Josephine Soltesz, mezzo-soprano.

This week the great Alex Zanfretta will produce his original pictorial Indian pantomime, The Comanche; or, Life in the Far West.

All the people are good, and the entire performance is a success.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week the attraction will be the grea sensational drama, entitled The Wages of Sin. This will also be the last week of Mr. Darrell Vinton's engagement.

In the support James M. Brophy, W. J. Elleford, Miss Essie Tittel, Lottie Beaumont, Helen Harlow and the rest of the stock company, who are well drilled and play their parts always with tact and good judgment.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

Eleven new stars at the Vienna this week: The Brothers Leo (Munis and Charles), the Stanley Sisters, the Buffalo Trio (sketch artiste), Miss Effie Hull (soubrette and song stress), J. C. Miller (buffo vocalist and character artist) and Miss Jennie Mason.

The entertainment commences with the famous Yankee comedian, Wm. A. Mason, in Joshua Whitcomb, and ends with the only Conchita's original spectacular optical delusion comedy, La Salon du Diable.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

See programme announcement on this page.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week a new melodrama by Mr. B. Frank Dearborn, entitled Fern, the Waif, will be the attraction. Mr. Dearborn comes from the East and his line of business is comedy.

Fern, the Waif, introduces many new and pleasing situations, also the author in the role of Ah Bing, the heathen Chinee, both author and play are well received.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

This week, the three Romalo Bros., wonderful acrobats; Adele Purvis, in a novel specialty on the swinging slack wire; the comedy sketch artists, George Wills and Grace Barron, and the charming vocalists and dancer, Miss Ida Chester, are the new attractions.

Manager Foster has arranged for an amateur night every Friday night, commencing March 22nd. Any amateur, male or female, wishing to show their ability can do so by giving in their names to the stage director. Prizes will be given to the best amateurs in his or her line of business.

The performance will commence every evening with Mr. Chas. Reese's comedy, entitled The $10 000 Beauty.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Nine new stars for this week, and all or them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well to the tastes of their patrons.

This week the new people are: The three Romalo Bros., sensational acrobats; Adele Purvis, the Queen of the wire, and the two Irish thrushes, Billy McCoy and Miss Minnie McEvoy.

Johnnie Cain's laughable skit, entitled The Little Fly Coon, with the entire Cremorne Co. in the cast, will be presented for the first time this week.

Manager Hallinan and his right bower, Ed. Homan, keep up a fine line of attractions for the Cremorne.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Mission and Twenty-third streets. The first regular circus to show in that portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Tommy Morris, Charles Morrell, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Edith Morrison is the new face this week.

The entertainment commences with the entire company as the Original Orators, with an original grand finale. Charles Morrell with his African harp and Tommy Morris in another of his amusing sketches fill in the middle part of the programme. The laughable farce, Out of Work, follows after, the leading characters impersonated by Morrell, Morris and Matt Trayers, with a musical finale.

The seasonable farce, The Day We Celebrate, with all the company in the cast, concludes the bill and the evening's fun.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and cosiest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

The Gottlobs—Fred and Amy—musical artists, Lillie Mason and Jessie Carlton are the new faces this week.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Zola Vera, Jessie Carlton, Lillie Mason, Chas. Berkeley, Amy and Fred Gottlob, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

Berkeley & Howard are a fine team, and they have established themselves firmly in the good graces of the Eureka patrons. For this week they present the picturesque crazyosity, The Spooney Blacksmith, introducing favorite operatic music, with Berkeley's musical anvil accompaniment.

Fred. Gottlob's interlude sketch, Smeerkase, flavors the olio.

SPECIAL PROGRAMME and BEAUTIFUL SOUV SENTATION TO EACH OF OUR PATRONS

The latest craze in Gotham at present is for everything Russian, and many pretty actresses promenade Broadway in Russia pelisses trimmed with Russian furs, wear Russian leather bags, and it is said, dally with tiny cigarettes, when at home, made of Russian tobacco. Miss Grace Henderson last week gave a tea party in which that distinctly Russian tea kettle, the Samover, was used, and with it the salvers, the open sugar baskets and lemon fork which makes the outfit for a Russian "tea." Amelia Summerville, who, by the way, is now called "The Lady of Westchester," gave one of these teas with caviar sandwiches, and hired a bearded Cossack to chant Russian melodies to keep up the delusion. Herrmann, the magician, has sent to St. Petersburg for a droshky, having already bought two pretty Russian ponies, and Lotta is next summer to appear in the Park in Russian fashion, three ponies harnessed abreast, with trappings ornamented with tinkling

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Reilly & Wood's Big Show will open at the New Bush Street Theatre Monday, April 1st. This is indeed a great show. Among its many stars are the Vadis Twin Sisters, whose wonderful performance upon the revolving trapeze has created such a sensation both in Europe and America. Miss Lizzie makes a leap from the dome of the theatre. She has accomplished the most wonderful dives of any artist in the world. In Seville, Spain, 195 feet; London, 150 feet; Hippodrome, Paris, 148 feet; Music Hall, Buffalo, 115 feet, and the Academy of Music, N. Y., 95 feet.

To his already large bill at the Standard, Seattle, Manager Cort has added twelve new stars: The four Gerry Sisters, Grant & Martyn, the Suanettes, Jas. T. Kelley, Amy Sanford and Gardner & Bernard.

Harry Kernell's company return East without playing the coast. They closed at the Orpheum Sunday night; play in Oakland 18-19-20, Stockton 21, Sacramento 22-23-24, Salt Lake 27; thence Eastward.

The Zanfretta Combination, headed by the pantomime family of that name, open at the Orpheum this week.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the dansense, are new. The bill is very full this week.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

Another monster hanger from John Cort's Standard Theatre, Portland, for week of March 18th: Lida Gardner's Female Mastodon Burlesque Co., comprising 20 great artists, headed by Billy Arnold; also Filson & Errol, Australian sketch team; Miss Kittie O'Neil, Talbot & Cunningham, Lyura Ashby, Frank Clark, burlesque; Annie Devere, Harry Parker, end man and comedian; Carrie Delmar, Lizzie Arnold, Kenyon Sisters, Wm. J. Kelley, Irish comedian, vocalist and dancer, direct from the East. The special features are the Big 8 song and dance, grand Amazon march by 15 young ladies and Lida Gardner's fairy burlesque, Prince Faithful.

Frank Binney, the refined specialty artist, vocalist and dancer, assumed the management of the Arion Theatre, Butte City, Monday, March 18th, for Managers Gordon & Ritchie. Miss Kittie Chapman is engaged as stock soubrette. Our best wishes attend Mr. Binney in his new field of labor.

Chas. B. Nelson will be John Cort's business manager for his Port Townsend theatre, opening this week, and Edward Kelly will succeed Mr. Nelson as stage manager of Cort's Standard Theatre, Portland.

MOODY MARCUS MAYER.

Marcus must have been in a swelling mood of self-importance when he talked to a reporter in Philadelphia just after Mary Anderson was stricken down with nervous prostration. A Philadelphia dispatch says:

The English company which has been supporting Mary Anderson has been sent out of this city to New York. There were over fifty in the party, and they left with vinegary feelings toward Marcus Mayer, assistant manager. The cause for this may in the following interview with Mayer, which was published on Saturday night:

Mayer was asked, "What will become of the company?"

"What's that got to do with it?" he replied. "You might as well ask me what becomes of the bill-stickers. The company is a thing. You make me mad by asking such questions. Suppose the company should appear at the Opera House on Monday night, who would go to see them? Nobody. You newspaper people consider these cattle and ignore the star all the time. That's no proper way. I'm a newspaper man myself. As a matter of fact, Abbey will ship the company back to New York to-morrow, and will then ship those who want to go home back to England. A good many, I suppose, will try to catch on in this country until next season, when Miss Anderson may engage them."

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Last week Mrs. Langtry postponed her opening in Philadelphia, on account of her sickness, until Tuesday night of this week, hoping to be well enough to appear on that date; but the wires tell us this morning that she is still too ill to do so, and has postponed her opening until Monday next. Langtry is down with a severe case of tonsilitis; Mary Anderson is ill from nervous prostration; but we still have the Potter on deck, notwithstanding the hazardous work she has done in her razzed raimented Cleopatra season in Winter.

The prettiest song of the day, "Love Comes Like a Summer Sigh," in The Little Tycoon, is charmingly sung by Miss Catherine Linyard.

L. R. Stockwell, comedian, manager and ambassador theatrical, has returned from his mission in New York after having booked many attractions that will appear in the future at the Alcazar. He reports the California colony in New York and the profession generally anxiously enquiring about our climate and the theatrical prospects here for the summer solstice.

Geo. Colton, advance representative of Mme. Janauschek, who opens at the Alcazar April 1st, is in town.

Dolly Dimple dimples.

Charles Wyndham, the Kendals, Wilson Barrett, Salvini, Sarah Bernhardt, Adelina Patti, Miss Millward and Wm. Terriss and Herr Sonnenthal, together with their respective companies, will tour the United States next season.

The Minnie Lee Minstrels lately lay down to rest at Atlanta, Ga.

Blanche Marsden has sued W. J. Conley, manager of his defunct opera company; for damages arising from breach of contract.

The only umbrella to be seen to-night is the great Japanese one aglow with incandescent lights in the fete scene at the Bush. It is a hazardous prediction, but we make it.

The wires state that in consequence of Mrs. Langtry's illness and forced cancellation of her engagement at the Walnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, this week, that theatre has been temporarily closed, and the advance sales money refunded. They also tell how the actress struggled to keep her dates there. She had everything ready to leave on the train, and had reached the hallway of her New York house, when she fainted and was borne back to her room. Her physician commands rest and quietude indefinitely as the first requisites to a restoration from her relapse to health.

The Irish harp embossed in gold on the back of Teddy's Japanese suit, when that sturdy Milesian gets himself up as a Japanese in The Tycoon, is a quaint conceit.

On account of the inclement weather the worthy benefit to Neil Warner has been postponed until to-morrow, Thursday afternoon. Mark Thall is taking an active part in the preparations and is determined that the event shall really be a benefit to the sterling actor, who through a chain of untoward circumstances finds himself stranded on our Pacific Coast. There are land pilots as well as sea pilots, and Mr. Warner's pilot never succeeds, unfortunately, in finding deep water. His cruise is strewn with shipwrecks and for the present he is out of commission. Master Pilot Thall will steer him straight to home and little ones.

Youth is up for a two weeks' run. It will be followed by The Duke's Motto, which will close the Grismer-Davies engagement.

"Now, That is What I Think, Don't You?" that R. E. Graham gets a great many recalls for his clever and cleverly sung topical song in The Little Tycoon.

T. Henry French will arrive here on Friday.

Manager M. B. Leavitt left for the East to-day stopping en route at Denver to arrange about the erection of a new theatre there from plans prepared by Architect Woods. He will play his Eastern attractions going and coming over the U. P. road, making Denver his first point for the companies coming this way. The Denver theatre will be an elegant and commodious one, a worthy initiatory to his Golden Gate route leading to the Pacific Coast.

The question of the day—"Have you seen The Little Flycoon?"

Sells Bros. and Barrett's Circus, S. H. Barrett manager, opens its season at Pasadena April 4th. Route: Santa Anna, 5; San Diego, 6; Riverside, 8; San Bernardino, 9; Pomono, 10; Los Angeles, 11; San Buenaventura, 12; Santa Barbara, 13; Bakersfield, 15; Tulare, 16; Hanford, 17; Fresno, 18; Merced, 19; Modesto, 20; opening in this city on the 25th.

Gossip says that the site for the new Harrigan Theatre has not yet been decided, and that the talk about it is only a bluff to reduce the rent of the house now used, which is a percentage of the gross receipts. Others say that the new theatre will be a copy of the old Broadway House opposite the New York Hotel, and that the building will be five stories high. Genial Mart Hanley will, however, tell five thousand stories about it before it is half finished.

FIGARO is the Official Journal of all the Leading Theatres in San Francisco, and the only paper that publishes their full programmes.

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt presents this week a great attraction in Willard Spenser's great comic opera success, The Little Tycoon; which has recorded runs of 463 nights in Philadelphia, 169 nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc.

The action of Little Tycoon occurs on an Atlantic steamer and at Newport; its characters are American. It is interpreted by one of the best of singing and acting companies on the stage, and its recorded runs attest its unrivaled popularity.

In costumes, scenery, and in stage effects the last act of The Little Tycoon surpasses any light opera on the stage. It is in this act that the famed quick transformation scene occurs from General Knickerbocker's drawing-room to the Japanese fete grounds. Done as if by magic. Flashing at once by the aid of electricity, with light, while a huge Japanese umbrella floats slowly down from the invisible flies brilliant with its incandescent electric lights. The scene is one of rare beauty.

The Little Tycoon is a success. The Call says: "The Little Tycoon is essentially an American work, original in its conception, clever in its wording and sparkling with bright music. It is pleasant to witness so good a performance as that at Leavitt's popular new Bush-street Theatre last evening, heightened no doubt by the very large attendance, which filled all the seats with very little standing-room left, and what is more a fashionable house and warm-hearted assemblage comprising the upper-ten of our city. From the commencement of the first bars of the overture to the finale the production was credited a 'go,' popular, and pronounced something different from what has been seen for a long time on the stages of the different theatres. The author and composer, Mr. Willard Spenser, has produced a good comic opera, and merits the success which he has attained in the East and on his tournee to this Coast."

The Chronicle says that "The Little Tycoon proves a bright and amusing work," and classifies it as "a lively, kaleidoscopic entertainment, with a little of everything from a topical song to grand opera." It notices the company individually on their merits and states that it "works well together and everybody plays with enthusiasm."

The Examiner is not taken with the argument and the libretto of the "Tycoon," but talks pleasantly of its "charming numbers, which are liberally repeated," and says that "the pretty scenes, the pretty girls, and what was pleasant in the music attracted every one."

The Little Tycoon has only two weeks at the Bush.

Baldwin Theatre.

This is the last week of Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, at the Baldwin. This is a regular well-constructed play in action and story of very different material from the sketchy work we have been accustomed to see this comedian in.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with recording a line of successes with his new comedy. The play, though light in action and motive, is the best that Mr. Russell has ever appeared in, and he charms and delights his audiences with his natural pathos and humor so artistically blended. His support is good, above the average of the star comedians who visit us; Miss Merri Osburn as Scollops and Byron Douglas doing excellent work

An elaborate production of Little Lord Fauntleroy, Mrs. Burnett's dramatic idyl that has achieved such a success in the East, will be next week's attraction at the Baldwin.

Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

This is the last week of Youth.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies present the grand spectacular drama, Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate staging.

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, have volunteered to appear in the battle scenes. There is a touch of realism in this, as the "army" will be composed of men who have braved the dangers of the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are the three around whom much of the interest of the piece centres, and they all play [illegible]

gives us his best work; he is natural, consequently strong; his points are all telling and effective. The support is, as usual, excellent.

Neil Warner, an excellent actor and popular man, will be the recipient of a testimonial benefit at this theatre, tendered by the management and the profession generally, tomorrow afternoon. The Dagger Scene from Macbeth will be given, Mr. Neil Warner as Macbeth, and Miss Marion Joseph, a talented young amateur, as Lady Macbeth.

In addition, the second act of The Calthorpe Case, with Mr. Jos. R. Grismer, Miss Phoebe Davies and the Alcazar Co. in the cast, and a musical olio by Miss Ada Glasca, Miss Helen Bertram, Miss Della Fox, of the Conried Opera Company, and Miss Millie Flynn, one of Prof Speranza's pupils.

See programme announcement.

Next week's attraction will be The Duke's Motto, and it will also be the last week of the Grismer-Davies engagement.

Orpheum Opera House.

The world-renowned Zanfretta Family, pantomimists, vocalists and dancers, head the list of attractions at the Orpheum this week.

Beside these there are Wilson & Cameron, Australian comiques and grotesque dancers; the celebrated Donaldson Bros., contortionists; the greatest wire walker in the world, Frank La Mondue; Dunbar Bros., sensational aerial artists; La Petite Aimee, the wonderful child artist; Dante Bros., the conquerors of fire and electricity, and Miss Josephine Soltesz, mezzo-soprano.

This week the great Alex Zanfretta will produce his original pictorial Indian pantomime, The Comanche; or, Life in the Far West.

All the people are good, and the entire performance is a success.

With the return of the specialty season the prices are reduced to 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

This week the attraction will be the grea sensational drama, entitled The Wages of Sin. This will also be the last week of Mr. Darrell Vinton's engagement.

In the support James M. Brophy, W. J. Elleford, Miss Essie Tittel, Lottie Beaumont, Helen Harlow and the rest of the stock company, who are well drilled and play their parts always with tact and good judgment.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

Eleven new stars at the Vienna this week: The Brothers Leo (Munis and Charles), the Stanley Sisters, the Buffalo Trio (sketch artists), Miss Effie Hull (soubrette and song stress), J. C. Miller (buffo vocalist and character artist) and Miss Jennie Mason.

The entertainment commences with the famous Yankee comedian, Wm. A. Mason, in Joshua Whitcomb, and ends with the only Conchita's original spectacular optical delusion comedy, La Salon du Diable.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

See programme announcement on this page.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week a new melodrama by Mr. B. Frank Dearborn, entitled Fern, the Waif, will be the attraction. Mr. Dearborn comes from the East and his line of business is comedy.

Fern, the Waif, introduces many new and pleasing situations, also the author in the role of Ah Bing, the heathen Chinee, both author and play are well received.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

The performance will commence every evening with Mr. Chas. Reese's comedy, entitled The $10,000 Beauty.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Full houses are the rule here.

SPECIAL PROGRAMME and BEAUTIFUL S SENTATION TO EACH OF OUR PATR

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Nine new stars for this week, and all or them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well to the tastes of their patrons.

This week the new people are: The three Romalo Bros., sensational acrobats; Adele Purvis, the Queen of the wire, and the two Irish thrushes, Billy McCoy and Miss Minnie McEvoy.

Johnnie Cain's laughable skit, entitled The Little Fly Coon, with the entire Cremorne Co. in the cast, will be presented for the first time this week.

Manager Hallinan and his right bower, Ed. Homan, keep up a fine line of attractions for the Cremorne.

Western Addition—The First Circus.

Farini's Australian Circus, united with McMahon's World's Circus, are giving a short circus season this week in their big tent on the corner of Mission and Twenty-third streets. The first regular circus to show in that portion of the city.

McMahon, the champion equestrian, one of the best in the business, is a host in himself. Farini's company are noted for their talent and skill, and the bill embraces a full ring performance with a deal of talent in it.

Tickets only 25 cents. Ample seating accommodations will be provided. Two performances a day, afternoon and evening.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Tommy Morris, Charles Morrell, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Edith Morrison is the new face this week.

The entertainment commences with the entire company as the Original Orators, with an original grand finale. Charles Morrell with his African harp and Tommy Morris in another of his amusing sketches fill in the middle part of the programme. The laughable farce, Out of Work, follows after, the leading characters impersonated by Morrell, Morris and Matt Trayers, with a musical finale.

The seasonable farce, The Day We Celebrate, with all the company in the cast, concludes the bill and the evening's fun.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coolest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Manager Walterstein runs a very strong company.

The Gottlobs—Fred and Amy—musical artists, Lillie Mason and Jessie Carlton are the new faces this week.

May Howard, Laura White, Lillie Howard, Stella Walton, Zola Vera, Jessie Carlton, Lillie Mason, Chas. Berkeley, Amy and Fred Gottlob, Geo. C. Dunham and others appear in a round of specialties, acts and afterpiece. The specialty people are all good, and do their best to make the evening enjoyable.

Berkeley & Howard are a fine team, and they have established themselves firmly in the good graces of the Eureka patrons. For this week they present the picturesque crazyosity, The Spooney Blacksmith, introducing favorite operatic music, with Berkeley's musical anvil accompaniment.

Fred. Gottlob's interlude sketch, Smeerkase, flavors the olio.

The Eureka gives a matinee every Sunday at

LATEST EUROPEAN THEATRICALS.

Paris is all aflame with excitement over the great success of Emma Eames, a beautiful American debutante last week. The Paris papers are full of her praises. Auguste Vitu has exhausted prose in her admiration. Her voice, he says, is pure, brilliant and powerful, reaching without apparent effort the furthermost corners of the opera house. In conclusion he says: "Not for years has the Grand Opera House been the scene of such a successful debut." Corully in the Gauloise, Sarcey in the Temps and Victor Wilder in Gil Blas all ring the changes of her praise in even more glowing terms, and without a single dissenting voice the press pronounces her great. The Americans in Paris are delighted with her success. Miss Eames has signed a six months' contract with Messrs. Pitt & Gaillard at [illegible] to Juliette she will appe[illegible] L'Africaine.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Manager Fred Ritchie, of the Theatre Comique, Butte City, has returned to Butte from his Eastern trip. During his absence Mr. Ritchie has purchased an enormous lot of goods for their new garden, which Messrs. Gordon & Ritchie intend opening in fine style about April 1st.

Manager Frank Walterstein will leave shortly on an extended trip through the East and Europe. During his absence his brother will take charge of his interests at the Eureka Music Hall.

We are to have two out-door spectacular productions this Spring, something after the style of Kiralfy's Nero on Staten Island. D. R. McNeil will present the "Fall of Pompeii" at Central Park, and John F. Bragg produces Paine's spectacle of the "Siege of Sebastopol" on a lot near Golden Gate Park. "The Siege of Sebastopol" is to be given on a grand scale. The inclosure is 275x400 feet; the lake alone is 260x75 feet. 300 people are engaged in the production, and $1,000 worth of fireworks will be consumed every night. Three performances a week will be given, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The company come direct from Australia, and everything will be in readiness the last of April.

After playing a fine engagement in Chicago, Prof. Fernando Fleury goes to the New London Theatre, St. Louis, playing a return date, from there to Kansas City, and then he will take the long jump to New York. The Prof. sends regards to all friends on the coast.

Pleasure Theatre, Butte, Mon., March 18th: Geyer & Lord, Miss May Forrest, the celebrated Marrellis, Stanley in his wire act, Liston, musical wonder; Steve Martin, Goodrich & Goodwin, Ripley & Earle, Rose Kellogg, Dollie Merton, the Kherns (Oscar and Sallie), Ella Summerton, Master Haney, Mabel Rivers and Shannon & Lavake.

Nelson's Great World Show opens at the Orpheum Monday, April 1st, headed by the pyramid-building and pyramid-falling Nelson Family, now augmented to seven in number. Manager Pierce assures us that the company consists of a collection of talented artists in the specialty and vaudeville lines that have created a sensation in every city they have shown in, and says he wants the public on this coast to know that fact—hence his special programme ad in FIGARO. Read it.

Reilly & Wood's Big Show will open at the New Bush Street Theatre Monday, April 1st. This is indeed a great show. Among its many stars are the Vaidis Twin Sisters, whose wonderful performance upon the revolving trapeze has created such a sensation both in Europe and America. Miss Lizzie makes a leap from the dome of the theatre. She has accomplished the most wonderful dives of any artist in the world. In Seville, Spain, 165 feet; London, 150 feet; Hippodrome, Paris, 148 feet; Music Hall, Buffalo, 115 feet, and the Academy of Music, N. Y., 95 feet.

To his already large bill at the Standard, Seattle, Manager Cort has added twelve new stars: The four Gerry Sisters, Grant & Martyn, the Suanettes, Jas. T. Kelley, Amy Sanford and Gardner & Bernard.

Tony Pastor has engaged the English specialists, Millie Hylton and Ray & Volte for his traveling company.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the danseuse, are new. The bill is very full this week.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

Chas. B. Nelson will be John Cort's business manager for his Port Townsend theatre, opening this week, and Edward Kelly will succeed Mr. Nelson as stage manager of Cort's Standard Theatre, Portland.

The question of the day—"Have you seen The Little Flycoon?"

Sells Bros. and Barrett's Circus, S. H. Barrett manager, opens its season at Pasadena April 4th. Route: Santa Anna, 5; San Diego, 6; Riverside, 8; San Bernardino, 9; Pomono, 10; Los Angeles, 11; San Buenaventura, 12; Santa Barbara,

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Harrie R. Pierce, manager of Nelson's Great World Combination, is here paving the way for its opening at the Orpheum on Monday evening, April 1st.

There is a deal of discontent existing in the company at the Standard, and, strange to say, it arises from a too promising management.

Thirty of Mary Anderson's English company sailed from New York on the 20th for England.

May Frances Stetson, the actress who single-handed managed a farm in Dakota for two years, is writing a play.

After Dark will have its presentation at the People's, N. Y., on May 20th. Mr. Brady says the production will be very elaborate, and the concert hall scene will serve to introduce a number of specialty stars, for negotiations with Billy Emerson, Harry Kernell and Bobby Gaylor are now in progress. Harley Merry is at work on the scenes and promises a great set in the London Bridge, the gambling hall and the railroad tunnel.

Last week Mrs. Langtry postponed her opening in Philadelphia, on account of her sickness, until Tuesday night of this week, hoping to be well enough to appear on that date; but a telegram now informs us that she is still too ill to do so, and has postponed her opening until Monday next. Langtry is down with a severe case of tonsilitis; Mary Anderson is ill from nervous prostration; but we still have the Potter on deck, notwithstanding the hazardous work she has done in her razeed raimented Cleopatra season in Winter.

The prettiest song of the day, "Love Comes Like a Summer Sigh," in The Little Tycoon, is charmingly sung by Miss Catherine Linyard.

L. R. Stockwell, comedian, manager and ambassador theatrical, has returned from his mission in New York after having booked many attractions that will appear in the future at the Alcazar. He reports the California colony in New York and the profession generally anxiously enquiring about our climate and the theatrical prospects here for the summer solstice.

J. P. Colton, advance representative of Mme. Janauschek, who opens at the Alcazar April 1st, is in town.

The wires state that in consequence of Mrs. Langtry's illness and forced cancellation of her engagement at the Walnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, this week, that theatre has been temporarily closed, and the advance sales money refunded. They also tell how the actress struggled to keep her dates there. She had everything ready to leave on the train, and had reached the hallway of her New York house, when she fainted and was borne back to her room. Her physician commands rest and quietude indefinitely as the first requisites to a restoration from her relapse to health.

The Irish harp embossed in gold on the back of Teddy's Japanese suit, when that sturdy Milesian gets himself up as a Japanese in The Tycoon, is a quaint conceit.

Youth is up for a two weeks' run. It will be followed by The Duke's Motto, which will close the Grismer-Davies engagement.

Pauline Hall is no longer Mrs. White. She says marriage is a failure and wants no more of it.

"Now, That is What I Think, Don't You?" that R. E. Graham gets a great many recalls for his clever and cleverly sung topical song in The Little Tycoon.

T. Henry French will arrive here on Friday.

Manager M. B. Leavitt left for the East yesterday, to stop en route at Denver to arrange about the erection of a new theatre there from plans prepared by Architect Woods. He will play his Eastern attractions going and coming over the U. P. road, making Denver his first point for the companies coming this way. The Denver theatre will be an elegant and commodious one, a worthy initiatory to his Golden Gate route leading to the Pacific Coast.

The only umbrella to be seen to-night is the great Japanese one aglow with incandescent lights in the fete scene at the Bush. It is a hazardous prediction, but we make it.

A new passenger steamer on Lake Erie has been christened "Fedora" in honor of Miss Fanny Davenport.

Francis Wilson has been "fired" by Rudolph Aronson. Now both "comedians" are indulging in a war of words.

Notwithstanding the denial of Augustin Daly it is a fact that Mrs. Yeamans has been engaged for his company next season.

Claude de la Moxie, the popular young actor, is about to appear in comedy. He is summoned as a defendant in a divorce case.

Sardou's new play, Belle Maman, was produced on the 15th inst. at the Gymnase, Paris. It is considered too much of a farce even for Paris. Judging from the comments of the critics, Daly has not struck a bargain in paying $10,000 for the American rights.

Patti Rosa produces her new play at Birmingham on April 8th. Chas. Wyndham wants her to play another engagement at the Strand, London, beginning on Easter Monday.

Palmer wants Haddon Chambers, author of Captain Swift, to write a new play for him.

Woolson Morse' new and original comic opera, King Cole II, is in active preparation and will be produced at Herrmann's Broad Street Theatre in Philadelphia, April 1st. The lyrics are by J. Cheever Goodwin, author of Evangeline, and beyond doubt the cleverest dramatic verse written in America. Mr. Morse is best known as the composer of Cinderella at School. The lines are on nursery themes and the opera contains thirty-six very pretty new musical numbers. Herrmann, the famous magician is the lessee of the Broad Street Theatre, and as this is his first production he proposes to make it a very elaborate affair. Matt Morgan is designing the costumes and will paint one of the scenes, while the services of the best artists in the country will be drawn on to make King Cole II a very brilliant production.

Louis Harrison's clever comedy The Noblest Roman of them all, will be brought out early next season.

Neil Burgess has made a very great success in A County Fair and if he likes may remain at Proctor's New 23d Street Theatre for a year or more.

Estelle Clayton is a stage beauty with a refined and winsome face, such as the cigarette men like to adorn their wares with. She appeared at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York, several months ago in "The Quick or the Dead"—that had nothing quick about it except its failure. The spirituelle beauty disappeared, died with the play; but she is to be resurrected. Hi Henry is to do it, "Mr. Hi Henry of Hi Henry's Minstrels." This is the flaming announcement of his intent that appears in the New York dramatic papers: "For the coming season the gifted and versatile society star, in her new and positively successful drama from the pen of the most brilliant author of the day, written with the special effort of bringing into marked prominence the dazzling conspicuousness of Miss Clayton's unexampled dramatic genius which has out-paragoned all the world's ne plus ultra and conetary splendors during the past season. This enviable beauty, in whose description words fail to convey the truth, will wear the largest and costliest solitaire diamond on the American stage, and in the full triumph of her imperious way will travel in her own private boudoir car under the sole management of Mr. Hi Henry of Hi Henry's Minstrels." Poor overcircussed, solitaire Estelle!

Next season Lawrence Barrett expects to make William Young's tragerty of Ganelon his chief reliance, although he may present some of the plays in his old repertory on Saturday night.

A report comes from a very creditable source that James Brown Potter has applied for a bill of separation from his wife. Mrs. Potter acquiesces in the matter.

During Mr. Edwin Booth's season with Mme. Modjeska the repertory will include Hamlet, Richelieu, Merchant of Venice, Macbeth, Much Ado About Nothing, The Fool's Revenge, and Marie Stuart. The last two pieces will be given on the same night, Mr. Booth appearing in the former and Mme. Modjeska in the latter. Much Ado should be a very interesting revival as Mr. Booth has not played Benedick for some time and Modjeska's Beatrice is one of her best parts.

There are rumors about Daly's Theatre, N. Y. of impending changes which may very seriously alter the personnel of the company. Exactly what these changes are no one knows, but an actor in the company said during the course of last week that everybody in the troup was trembling in his or her shoes, fearing a catastrophe. It is generally understood that Mr. Daly contemplates a very radical change, anyway, from the style of work he has been doing. He has resolved to turn his back on the German farce-writers and to aim to a higher level of comedy. It is probably this that would cause him to let some of his present people go and engage others. This may be

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt presents this week a great attraction in Willard Spenser's great comic opera success, The Little Tycoon; which has recorded runs of 468 nights in Philadelphia, 100 nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc.

The action of Little Tycoon occurs on an Atlantic steamer and at Newport; its characters are American. It is interpreted by one of the best of singing and acting companies on the stage, and its recorded runs attest its unrivaled popularity.

In costumes, scenery, and in stage effects the last act of The Little Tycoon surpasses any light opera on the stage. It is in this act that the famed quick transformation scene occurs from General Knickerbocker's drawing-room to the Japanese fete grounds. Done as if by magic. Flashing at once by the aid of electricity, with light, while a huge Japanese umbrella floats slowly down from the invisible flies brilliant with its incandescent electric lights. The scene is one of rare beauty.

The Little Tycoon is a success. The Call says: "The Little Tycoon is essentially an American work, original in its conception, clever in its wording and sparkling with bright music. It is pleasant to witness so good a performance as that at Leavitt's popular new Bush-street Theatre last evening, heightened no doubt by the very large attendance, which filled all the seats with very little standing-room left, and what is more a fashionable house and warm-hearted assemblage comprising the upper ten of our city. From the commencement of the first bars of the overture to the finale the production was credited a 'go,' popular, and pronounced something different from what has been seen for a long time on the stages of the different theatres. The author and composer, Mr. Willard Spenser, has produced a good comic opera, and merits the success which he has attained in the East and on his tournee to this Coast."

The Chronicle says that "The Little Tycoon proves a bright and amusing work," and classifies it as "a lively, kaleidoscopic entertainment, with a little of everything from a topical song to grand opera." It notices the company individually on their merits and states that it "works well together and everybody plays with enthusiasm."

The Examiner is not taken with the argument and the libretto of the "Tycoon," but talks pleasantly of its "charming numbers, which are liberally repeated," and says that "the pretty scenes, the pretty girls, and what was pleasant in the music attracted every one."

The Little Tycoon has only two weeks at the Bush.

Baldwin Theatre.

This is the last week of Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, at the Baldwin. This is a regular well-constructed play in action and story of very different material from the sketchy work we have been accustomed to see this comedian in.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with recording a line of successes with his new comedy. The play, though light in action and motive, is the best that Mr. Russell has ever appeared in, and he charms and delights his audiences with his natural pathos and humor so artistically blended. His support is good, above the average of the star comedians who visit us; Miss Merri Osburn as Scollops and Byron Douglas doing excellent work

An elaborate production of Little Lord Fauntleroy, Mrs. Burnett's dramatic idyl that has achieved such a success in the East, will be next week's attraction at the Baldwin.

Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

This is the last week of Youth.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies present the grand spectacular drama, Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate staging.

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, have volunteered to appear in the battle scenes. There is a touch of realism in this, as the "army" will be composed of men who have braved the dangers of the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are the three around whom much of the interest of the piece centres, and they all play with force and feeling.

Mr. Grismer, as the hero, Frank Darlington, gives us his best work; he is natural, consequently strong; his points are all telling and effective. The support is, as usual, excellent.

Next week's attraction will be The Duke's Motto, and it will also be the last week of the Grismer-Davies engagement.

Orpheum Opera House.

Pastor & Cantelli's Madrid Spanish Opera Co. have been re-engaged by the Management of the Orpheum for their farewell nights in San Francisco. There is no question about the merits of this company or their thorough knowledge of the music and requirements of the operas in their repertoire.

To-night the popular opera of Campanone.

The specialty artists are: Wilson & Cameron, Australian comiques and grotesque dancers; the celebrated Donaldson Bros., contortionists; Frank La Mondue, the wire-walker; Dunbar Brothers, sensational aerial artists; La Petite Aimee, child artist; Dante Brothers, fire kings, and Miss Josephine Soltesz, mezzo-soprano.

The prices are 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

Manager Morosco caters most popularly for this east-side theatre—his years of success attest that—and is indefatigable in his efforts to present his immense patronage with the best available dramatic attractions.

This week the attraction is the great sensational drama, entitled "The Wages of Sin," in which Mr. Darrell Vinton puts in the last nights of his engagement.

In the support James M. Brophy, W. J. Elleford, Miss Essie Tittel, Lottie Beaumont, Helen Harlow and the rest of the stock company, who are well drilled and play their parts always with tact and good judgment, do good work.

Mr. E. J. Holden, the young California actor, commences an engagement next week as Jacob McCloskey in that picturesque American drama, The Octoroon, with its startling episodes of Southern life.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

Eleven new stars at the Vienna this week: The Brothers Leo (Munis and Charles), the Stanley Sisters, the Buffalo Trio (sketch artists), Miss Effie Hull (soubrette and song stress), J. C. Miller (buffo vocalist and character artist) and Miss Jennie Mason.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week a new melodrama by Mr. B. Frank Dearborn, entitled Fern, the Waif, will be the attraction. Mr. Dearborn comes from the East and his line of business is comedy.

Fern, the Waif, introduces many new and pleasing situations, also the author in the role of Ah Bing, the heathen Chinee, both author and play are well received.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week's attraction will be The Pearl of Savoy, with Mr. B. Frank Dearborn as the Commander.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

This week, the three Romalo Bros., wonderful acrobats; Adele Purvis, in a novel specialty on the swinging slack wire; the comedy sketch artists, George Wills and Grace Barron, and the charming vocalists and dancer, Miss Ida Chester, are the new attractions.

Manager Foster has arranged for an amateur night every Friday night, commencing March 22nd. Any amateur, male or female, wishing to show their ability can do so by giving in their names to the stage director. Prizes will be given to the best amateurs in his or her line of business.

The performance will commence every evening with Mr. Chas. Reese's comedy, entitled The $10 000 Beauty.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Matinees every Sunday.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Nine new stars for this week, and all or them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well to the tastes of their patrons.

This week the new people are: The three Romalo Bros., sensational acrobats; Adele Purvis, the Queen of the wire, and the two Irish thrushes, Billy McCoy and Miss Minnie McEvoy.

Johnnie Cain's laughable skit, entitled The Little Fly Coon, with the entire Cremorne Co. in the cast, will be presented for the first time this week.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Travers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Tommy Morris, Charles Morrell, and the popular comedians, Burns & Travers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Edith Morrison is the new face this week.

The entertainment commences with the entire company as the Original Orators, with an original grand finale. Charles Morrell with his African harp and Tommy Morris in another of his amusing sketches fill in the middle part of the programme. The laughable farce, Out of Work, follows after, the leading characters impersonated by Morrell, Morris and Matt Trayers, with a musical finale.

The seasonable farce, The Day We Celebrate, with all the company in the cast, concludes the bill and the evening's fun.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many years has been a popular one.

Eureka Music Hall.

This is one of the neatest and coziest little theatres in the city, and good management has made it one of the most popular of our minor theatres for years past. Mana runs a very strong company.

SPECIALTY SQUIBS.

Jimmy Kennovan, the old-time pedestrian, died at the Almshouse March 21st. Kennovan's reputation for feats of strength in physical endurance is well known. His first walk was in this city with John Phillips for $500, and Jimmy won. He made his last walk when nearly 60 years old in a six days' go-as-you-please match against Dan O'Leary for $3 000. The old man received his first defeat and retired from the track. Kennovan has kept a cigar stand at the City Hall for several years, but old age and sickness conquered the old man's courageous spirit, and he was sent to the almshouse at his own request at the rge of 77.

The Vienna celebrated its 50th anniversary performance under its new management with a band parade and a full house.

Fountain Theatre, Kansas City, March 18th: Pickett & Primrose, Minnie Dunne, Cummings & O'Brien, Walt. McDonald, the Lawrences, Sig. Zano, Ackland & Lamar, Lew Bloom, Mlle. Aimee, Prof. Greenbaum, Bruns & Nina and Geo. H. Diamond.

Manager Frank Walterstein will leave shortly on an extended trip through the East and Europe. During his absence his brother will take charge of his interests at the Eureka Music Hall.

We are to have two out-door spectacular productions this Spring, something after the style of Kiralfy's Nero on Staten Island. D. R. McNeil will present the "Fall of Pompeii" at Central Park, and John E. Bragg produces Paine's spectacle of the "Siege of Sebastopol" on a lot near Golden Gate Park. "The Siege of Sebastopol" is to be given on a grand scale. The inclosure is 275x400 feet; the lake alone is 260x75 feet. 300 people are engaged in the production, and $1,000 worth of fireworks will be consumed every night. Three performances a week will be given, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The company come direct from Australia, and everything will be in readiness the last of April.

Nelson's Great World Show opens at the Orpheum Monday, April 1st, headed by the pyramid-building and pyramid-falling Nelson Family, now augmented to seven in number. Manager Pierce assures us that the company consists of a collection of talented artists in the specialty and vaudeville lines that have created a sensation in every city they have shown in, and says he wants the public on this coast to know that fact—hence his special programme ad in FIGARO. Read it.

Rowley & Wood's Big Show will open at the New Bush Street Theatre Monday, April 1st. This is indeed a great show. Among its many stars are the Vaidis Twin Sisters, whose wonderful performance upon the revolving trapeze has created such a sensation both in Europe and America. Miss Lizzie makes a leap from the dome of the theatre. She has accomplished the most wonderful dives of any artist in the world. In Seville, Spain, 165 feet; London, 150 feet; Hippodrome, Paris, 148 feet; Music Hall, Buffalo, 115 feet, and the Academy of Music, N. Y., 95 feet.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company, including seven lady specialists. Charley Morrell, the popular banjo king, and Miss Jennie Melvo, the danseuse, are new. The bill is very full this week.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

May Frances Stetson, the actress who single-handed managed a farm in Dakota for two years, is writing a play.

After Dark will have its presentation at the People's, N. Y., on May 20th. Mr. Brady says the production will be very elaborate, and the concert hall scene will serve to introduce a number of specialty stars, for negotiations with Billy Emerson, Harry Kernell and Bobby Gaylor are now in progress. Harley Merry is at work on the scenes and promises a great set in the London Bridge, the gambling hall and the railroad tunnel.

Notwithstanding the denial of Augustin Daly, it is a fact that Mrs. Yeamans has been engaged for his company next season.

Patti Rosa produces her new play at Birmingham on April 8th. Chas. Wyndham wants her to play another engagement.

PROFESSIONAL PICKINGS.

Edwin Thorne's company has collapsed, and his two weeks at the Bijou will be filled by Harry Barrymore and a local company for the week of March 25th in "Stricken Blind," and W. F. Rochester and company for the week of April 1st in the musical comedy of "The Mustard Plaster"—that ought to draw; it has never failed to do it. By the way, is there nothing but doleful and dolefully named plays left for us? Howard Taylor's new play, "The Little Pauper," that was unfortunately put on this week at the Standard has prophetically met a pauper's fate, and lies dead on the stage of a dead theatre. Sol Smith Russell has bidden his geniality under the tribulations of "A Poor Relation," when he could have done so much better in something else. And in future at the Bijou we are to have the plays above mentioned. Give us some pleasantly titled plays, with something more cheerful in them.

William H. is going to try it in a balloon. William H. Crane has decided upon the play he will star in next season, when his partnership with Stuart Robson has expired. "Billy" has secured "The Balloon," a comedy now running at the Strand Theatre, London. It is said to be funny, and it is to be hoped that it will go off lively.

Thirty of Mary Anderson's English company sailed from New York on the 20th for England.

Messrs. Proctor and Turner opened their Twenty-Third Street Theatre, N. Y., March 12th. The house is a gem. The opening play was A Country Fair, with the greatest actor in his line, Neil Burgess, as Abigail Prue, a spinster of uncertain age but of positive convictions. The hit made by play and Burgess is of such proportions that a year's run is looked for. Hundreds of persons are being turned away at every performance of the quaint comical play.

The Irish harp embossed in gold on the back of Teddy's Japanese suit, when that sturdy Milesian gets himself up as a Japanese in The Tycoon, is a quaint conceit.

Next week we have The Duke's Motto, which will close the Grismer-Davies engagement at the Alcazar.

The Yale students amused themselves by pelting the "Zozo" Co., playing at New Haven, with pennies.

The constant-go-as-you-please-all-around-the-world traveler, Marcus Mayer, is resting for a few days in New York.

Perhaps Sophie Eyre will do a play called "The Witch" at Palmers, N. Y., before the end of the season.

After seeing Fanny Davenport as Tosca one can recall the saying of Edwin Forrest and apply it, without much stretch of praise, to this actress: "I act Hamlet and Macbeth, but by God, sir, I am Lear!" Miss Davenport acted Fedora and Camille, but she is Tosca.—[Eddy's Squibs.

Robert Mantell presented a $500 gold watch and chain to his manager, Augustus Pitou, as a token of his regard. The gift was a genuine surprise to Mr. Pitou.

Pauline Hall is no longer Mrs. White. She says marriage is a failure and wants no more of it.

"Now, That is What I Think, Don't You?" that R. E. Graham gets a great many recalls for his clever and cleverly sung topical song in The Little Tycoon.

Rose Foote, the soubrette of the Hanlon's Fantasma Co., was married to Edwin Warner, the business manager of that organization, during their recent engagement in Baltimore.

Manager J. Wesley Rosenquest has decided never to allow another benefit or any other Sunday performance to be given at either the Bijou Opera House or Fourteenth Street Theatre, N. Y.

Charles Jackson, who plays the part of the jockey in A Country Fair, is a nephew of Joseph Jefferson and resembles the famous comedian very much. He is a promising young actor.

What Irving is doing in London and Mrs. Potter and Mrs. Langtry have done and Manager Daly is now doing in New York—playing Shakespeare to profit—Mlle. Rhea is doing on the road. As in the cases above cited, she is presenting "Much Ado About Nothing," with an excellent cast, and her Beatrice is spoken of by the press as a splendid bit of comedy acting.

The prettiest song of the day, "Love Comes Like a Summer Sigh," in The Little Tycoon, is charmingly sung by Miss Catherine Linyard.

L. R. Stockwell, comedian, manager and ambassador theatrical, has returned from his mission in New York after having booked many attractions that will appear in the future at the Alcazar. He reports the California colony in New York and the profession generally anxiously enquiring about our climate and the theatrical prospects here for the summer solstice.

J. P. Colton, advance representative of Mme. Janauschek, who opens at the Alcazar April 1st, is in town.

A new passenger steamer on Lake Erie has been christened "Fedora" in honor of Miss Fanny Davenport.

Francis Wilson has been "fired" by Rudolph Aronson. Now both "comedians" are indulging in a war of words.

James C. Duff is due in New York from London March 23. He has with him the MANAGER ALFRED SINGER'S SEASON COLLAPSES.

FIGARO had this paragraph on Thursday: "There is a deal of discontent existing in the company at the Standard, and, strange to say, it arises from a too promising management." We knew that there had been revolts in the Standard company on account of the repeatedly broken promises on the part of Manager Singer to dole out at least a portion of the salaries due the members thereof; and that Rochester and others struck on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, but were promisingly persuaded to go on with the play and their hearts would be surely made lighter from money raised on the ranch, etc., etc., and that the long promised spondulix would be sure to come in certain sums, at least. But we did not publish the matter out of a regard for the company, hoping that something would materialize out of all these promises for their benefit.

At rehearsal on Thursday Rochester took the lead and refused to go on further, and denounced Manager Singer for the course he had pursued in vigorous terms. Singer again promised to raise the money at 7 o'clock in the evening. Before that hour the doors of the Standard were closed, and a notice was pinned on them to the effect that in consequence of Miss Mayhew's sudden indisposition the theatre would remain closed until further notice. 'Sick? Sic transit gloria Singer," said one of the company when he read it. The season, which has proven to be one of the worst of the speculative ones, had not completed its fourth week, and was badly managed from the start.

It has now come to pass that Mrs. Chas. Coghlan has secured the lease of the London Haymarket Theatre for Mrs. Langtry, who will play there all next year. Her date at the Fifth Avenue Theatre has been given to Julia Marlowe.

Rose Coghlan is an Episcopalian. In regard to marriage she says: "In ordinary society the wife stays at home, the husband roams as he pleases. The actress gets a chance to move about and see the world. Some men might hesitate to marry her because of that. But I say again it depends on the individuals interested. I have one decided view about marriage—it should last till death."

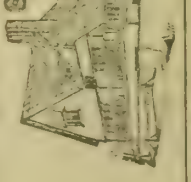
Miss Fanny Davenport's success in La Tosca has been so great that she has determined to make precisely the same tour next season, playing in the same theatres and at about the same time. Her managers, Sawyer and Erlanger, estimate that the net profits of La Tosca for the two seasons will reach $200,000. Miss Davenport is now engaging her company for next season when nothing but La Tosca will be played.

Wesley Sisson Business Manager of Palmer's New York Theatre, has the Fauntleroy rights for Australia, and is going to send a company there at once.

Maurice Barrymore will be the leading man at Palmer's Theatre He is under a five year's contract to Manager A. M. Palmer.

The Jefferson-Florence company open the next regular season of the Star Theatre in October, and play a return date there in March, 1890

M. Coquelin plays his farewell engagement at the Star Theatre New York on March 25



Mme. Hading sailed for Paris last Saturday.

Augustin Daly has an eccentric comedy in preparation which will soon follow The Taming of the Shrew.

James C. Duff is due in New York from London March 23. He has with him the

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt presents this week a great attraction in Willard Spenser's great comic opera success, The Little Tycoon; which has recorded runs of 463 nights in Philadelphia, 100 nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc.

The action of Little Tycoon occurs on an Atlantic steamer and at Newport; its characters are American. It is interpreted by one of the best singing and acting companies on the stage, and its recorded runs attest its unrivaled popularity.

The costumes, scenery and in stage effects the last act of The Little Tycoon surpasses any light opera on the stage. It is in this act that the famed quick transformation scene occurs from General Knickerbocker's drawing-room to the Japanese fete grounds. Done as if by magic. Flashing at once by the aid of electricity, with light, while a huge Japanese umbrella floats slowly down from the invisible dies brilliant with its incandescent electric lights. The scene is one of rare beauty.

The Little Tycoon is a success. The Call says: "The Little Tycoon is essentially an American work, original in its conception, clever in its wording and sparkling with bright music. It is pleasant to witness so good a performance as that at Leavitt's popular new Bush-street Theatre last evening, heightened no doubt by the very large attendance, which filled all the seats with very little standing-room left, and what is more a fashionable house and warm-hearted assemblage comprising the upper ten of our city. From the commencement of the first bars of the overture to the finale the production was credited a 'go,' popular, and pronounced something different from what has been seen for a long time on the stages of the different theatres. The author and composer, Mr. Willard Spenser, has produced a good comic opera, and merits the success which he has attained in the East and on his tournee to this Coast."

The Chronicle says that "The Little Tycoon proves a bright and amusing work," and classifies it as "a lively, kaleidoscopic entertainment, with a little of everything from a topical song to grand opera." It notices the company individually on their merits and states that it "works well together and everybody plays with enthusiasm."

The Examiner is not taken with the argument and the libretto of the "Tycoon," but talks pleasantly of its "charming numbers, which are liberally repeated," and says that "the pretty scenes, the pretty girls, and what was pleasant in the music attracted every one."

The Little Tycoon has only two weeks at the Bush.

Baldwin Theatre.

This is the last week of Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, at the Baldwin. This is a regular well-constructed play in action and story of very different material from the sketchy work we have been accustomed to see this comedian in.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with recording a line of successes with his new comedy. The play, though light in action and motive, is the best that Mr. Russell has ever appeared in, and he charms and delights his audiences with his natural pathos and humor so judiciously blended. His support is good, above the average of the star comedians who visit us. Miss Merri Osburn as Scollops and Byron Douglas doing excellent work.

An elaborate production of Little Lord Fauntleroy, Mrs. Burnett's dramatic idyl that has achieved such success in the East, will be next week's attraction at the Baldwin.

Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

This is the last week of Youth.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies present the grand spectacular drama, Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate staging.

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, have volunteered to appear in the battle scenes. There is a touch of realism in this, as the "army" will be composed of men who have braved the dangers of the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are the three around whom much of the interest of the piece centres, and they all play

Mr. Grismer, as the hero, Frank Darlington, gives us his best work; he is natural, consequently strong; his points are all telling and effective. The support is, as usual, excellent.

Next week's attraction will be The Duke's Motto, and it will also be the last week of the Grismer-Davies engagement.

Orpheum Opera House.

Pastor & Cantelli's Madrid Spanish Opera Co have been re-engaged by the Management of the Orpheum for their farewell nights in San Francisco. There is no question about the merits of this company or their thorough knowledge of the music and requirements of the operas in their repertoire.

To-night the gem opera, in three acts, Jugar Con Fuego (to play with fire).

The specialty artists are: Wilson & Cameron, Australian comiques and grotesque dancers; the celebrated Donaldson Bros., contortionists; Frank La Mondue, the wire-walker; Dunbar Brothers, sensational aerial artists; La Petite Aimee, child artist; Dante Brothers, fire kings, and Miss Josephine Soltesz, mezzo-soprano.

The prices are 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

Manager Morosco caters most popularly for this east-side theatre—his years of success attest that—and is indefatigable in his efforts to present his immense patronage with the best available dramatic attractions.

This week the attraction is the great sensational drama, entitled "The Wages of Sin," in which Mr. Darrell Vinton puts in the last nights of his engagement.

In the support James M. Brophy, W. J. Elleford, Miss Essie Tittel, Lottie Beaumont, Helen Harlow and the rest of the stock company, who are well drilled and play their parts always with tact and good judgment, do good work.

Mr. E. J. Holden, the young California actor, commences an engagement next week as Jacob McCloskey in that picturesque American drama, The Octoroon, with its startling episodes of Southern life.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

Eleven new stars at the Vienna this week: The Brothers Leo (Munis and Charles), the Stanley Sisters, the Buffalo Trio (sketch artists), Miss Effie Hull (soubrette and song stress), J. C. Miller (buffo vocalist and character artist) and Miss Jennie Mason.

The entertainment commences with the famous Yankee comedian, Wm. A. Mason, in Joshua Whitcomb, and ends with the only Conchita's original spectacular optical delusion comedy, La Salon du Diable.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

See programme announcement on this page.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342 1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week a new melodrama by Mr. B. Frank Dearborn, entitled Fern, the Waif, will be the attraction. Mr. Dearborn comes from the East and his line of business is comedy.

Fern, the Waif, introduces many new and pleasing situations, also the author in the role of Ah Bing, the heathen Chinee, both author and play are well received.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week's attraction will be The Pearl of Savoy, with Mr. B. Frank Dearborn as the Commander.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

This week, the three Romalo Bros., wonderful acrobats; Adele Purvis, in a novel specialty on the swinging slack wire; the comedy sketch artists, George Wills and Grace Barron, and the charming vocalists and dancer, Miss Ida Chester, are the new attractions.

Manager Foster has arranged for an amateur night every Friday night, commencing March 22nd. Any amateur, male or female, wishing to show their ability can do so by giving in their names to the stage director. Prizes will be given to the best amateurs in his or her line of business.

The performance will commence every evening with Mr. Chas. Reese's comedy, entitled The $10,000 Beauty.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Full houses are the rule here.

Matinees every Sunday.

Ballinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Nine new stars for this week, and all or them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well

Edith Jennesse, formerly of Hoyt's "Rag Baby" Company, was married in New York to Solomon Lichtenstein, of sporting fame.

Enrico Tamberlick, the greatest tenor of this country, is dead, aged sixty-nine. He was the contemporary of Rubini and Mario, and has had no equal in such operas as "Il Poliuto" and "William Tell."

Harlem is to have a magnificent theatre at the corner of Seventh avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street. It is to cost a quarter of a million and will open for business next October.

Tony Pastor goes to Europe in June.

Harrigan and Hart are again friends, and will probably act together at Harrigan's new theatre next season.

Billy Birch, the popular and veteran minstrel, is to have a testimonial benefit at the Fourteenth St. Theatre, N. Y., on the 28th.

Through the energy of Mr. Morris Reno, the able manager of the symphony and oratorio concerts, N. Y., is to have a new music hall worthy of the name. It is to be located on Seventh avenue and Forty-seventh st., and is estimated to cost nearly three-quarters of a million.

A report from Cleveland last Monday says that Pat Rooney, while suffering from the effects of an overdose of "tonsil varnish," became so rampageous that Mrs. Rooney and company returned to this city, thus closing the tour. Mrs. Rooney is a pretty Jewess.

Von Bulow, the pianist, was lately accosted by an old but undesirable acquaintance, who greeted him with "How are you? I know you don't remember my name." To Effie Ellsler's Western tour opened with a boom at the Tabor Opera House in Denver March 11th to $845. After Denver she visited Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, and on April 8th will begin a 5 weeks' season in this city at the Alcazar where she is a great favorite. Frank Burbeck, late of the Possible Case Co.; O'Kane Hillis, recently with "Michael Strogoff;" Miss Judith Berolde, who played at Niblo's with Miss Claxton; James Wallis, who supported Miss Clayton at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, and Miss Jessie Stuart have been added to her already strong company.

"The Stowaway" is booked as one of the attractions at the New California Theatre. It will prove a great attraction. The features are a full-rigged yacht at sea, genuine burglars will blow open a safe, and a night view of old London.

Edwin Thorne's company has collapsed, and his two weeks at the Bijou will be filled by Harry Barrymore and a local company for the week of March 25th in "Stricken Blind," and W. F. Rochester and company for the week of April 1st in the musical comedy of "The Mustard Plaster"—that ought to draw; it has never failed to do it. By the way, is there nothing but doleful and dolefully named plays left for us? Howard Taylor's new play, "The Little Pauper," that was unfortunately put on this week at the Standard has prophetically met a pauper's fate, and lies dead on the stage of a dead theatre. Sol Smith Russell has bidden his geniality under the tribulations of "A Poor Relation," when he could have done so much better in something else. And in future at the Bijou we are to have the plays above mentioned. Give us some pleasantly titled plays, with something more cheerful in them.

"Now, That is What I Think, Don't You?" that R. E. Graham gets a great many recalls for his clever and cleverly sung topical song in The Little Tycoon.

Messrs. Proctor and Turner opened their Twenty-Third Street Theatre, N. Y., March 12th. The house is a gem. The opening play was A Country Fair, with the greatest actor in his line, Neil Burgess, as Abigail Prue, a spinster of uncertain age but of positive convictions. The hit made by play and Burgess is of such proportions that a year's run is looked for. Hundreds of persons are being turned away at every performance of the quaint comical play.

The Irish harp embossed in gold on the back of Teddy's Japanese suit, when that sturdy Milesian gets himself up as a Japanese in The Tycoon, is a quaint conceit.

Next week we have The Duke's Motto, which will close the Grismer-Davies engagement at the Alcazar.

After seeing Fanny Davenport as Tosca one can recall the saying of Edwin Forrest and apply it, without much stretch of praise, to this actress: "I act Hamlet and Macbeth, but by God, sir, I am Lear!" Miss Davenport acted Fedora and Camille, but she is Tosca.—[Eddy's Squibs.

Pauline Hall is no longer Mrs. White. She says marriage is a failure and wants no more of it.

The prettiest song of the day, "Love Comes Like a Summer Sigh," in The Little Tycoon, is charmingly sung by Miss Catherine Linyard.

Francis Wilson has been "fired" by Rudolph Aronson. Now both "comedians" are indulging in a war of words.

The question of the day—"Have you seen The Little Flycoon?"

Wesley Sisson Business Manager of Palmer's New York Theatre, has the Fauntleroy rights for Australia, and is going to send a company there at once.

Maurice Barrymore will be the leading man at Palmer's Theatre He is under a five year's contract to Manager A. M. Palmer.

The Jefferson-Florence company open the next regular season of the Star Theatre in October, and play a return date there in March, 1890

M. Coquelin plays his farewell engagement at the Star Theatre New York on March 25.

Mme. Hading sailed for Paris last Saturday.

Augustin Daly has an eccentric comedy in preparation which will soon follow The Taming of the Shrew.

Twenty genuine Bedouin Arabs, secured by Mr. Geo. Starr for Barnum & Bailey's Circus, have arrived from Antwerp.

A company styled Dockstader's Minstrels and pretending to come from New York have been troubling New Bedford mariners with chestnuts at ten cents a head for admission.

Mary Anderson's favorite game is chess.

The Berlin Opera management have lost over $17,000 in a month through increasing the rates of admission.

Colonel John A. McCaull will sail for Liverpool next month.

Three centuries ago the first plays given in London were acted on Sundays "out of prayer hours."

Carrie Turner is to play the heroine of H. C. Miner's Union Jack next season.

Florence Osborne, a pretty widow, was married a week ago in Cincinnati to Charles W. Fletcher, formerly of Clara Morris' company. Two days later Fletcher deserted his bride and joined the United States Army. Now it is claimed that Fletcher is the legal husband of Helen Waltesa and that his real name is C. W. McKown.

The Phœtes are back from Australia and report that the Silbon company are only doing moderate business there.

The first Sunday baseball game of the season by the California League clubs comes off to-morrow at the Haight Street Grounds between the San Franciscos and the Stocktons.

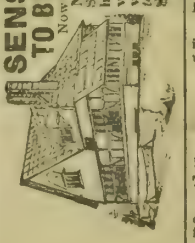
The Comique is carrying a talented variety company this week. Miss Edith Morrison was the new star and she has made herself a favorite. Charlie Morrell is a great addition to the company. His banjo specialties are of the best. The Comique is always in the line.

The Vienna celebrated its 50th anniversary performance under its new management with a band parade and a full house.

Manager Frank Walterstein will leave shortly on an extended trip through the East and Europe. During his absence his brother will take charge of his interests at the Eureka Music Hall.

We are to have two out-door spectacular productions this Spring, something after the style of Kiralfy's Nero on Staten Island. D R. McNeil will present the "Fall of Pompeii" at Central Park, and John F. Bragg produces Paine's spectacle of the "Siege of Sebastopol" on a lot near Golden Gate Park. "The Siege of Sebastopol" is to be given on a grand scale. The inclosure is 275x400 feet; the lake alone is 260x75 feet. 300 people are engaged in the production, and $1,000 worth of fireworks will be consumed every night. Three performances a week will be given, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The company come direct from Australia, and everything will be in readiness the last of April.

Nelson's Great World Show opens at the Orpheum Monday, April 1st, headed by the pyramid-building and pyramid-falling Nelson Family, now augmented to seven in number. Manager Pierce assures us that the company consists of a collection of talented artists in the specialty and vaudeville lines that have created a sensation in every city they have shown in, and says he wants the public on this coast to know that fact—hence his special programme ad in FIGARO. Read it.



Reilly & Wood's Big Show will open at the New Bush Street Theatre Monday, April 1st. This is indeed a great show. Among its many stars are the Vaidis Twin Sisters, whose wonderful performance upon the revolving trapeze has created such a sensation both in Europe and America. Miss Lizzie makes a leap from the dome of the theatre. She has accomplished the most wonderful dives of any artist in the world. In Seville, Spain, 165 feet; London, 150 feet; Hippodrome, Paris, 148 feet; Music Hall, Buffalo, 115 feet, and the Academy of Music, N. Y., 95 feet.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

She—Henry, do you know what this day is? He—No. She—It is the anniversary of my marriage. Kiss me. He—But, my dear, we have only been married five months. She—I mean the anniversary of my first, don't you know. He—Oh!

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Manager Leavitt presents this week a great attraction in Willard Spenser's great comic opera success, The Little Tycoon, which has registered runs of 463 nights in Philadelphia, [illegible] nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc.

The action of Little Tycoon occurs on an Atlantic steamer and at Newport; its characters are all American. It is interpreted by one of the best of singing and acting companies on the stage, and its recorded runs attest its unrivaled popularity.

The costumes, scenery, and in stage effects the last act of The Little Tycoon surpasses any light opera on the stage. It is in this act that the famed quick transformation scene occurs from General Knickerbocker's drawing-room to the Japanese fete grounds. Done as if by magic. Flashing at once by the aid of electricity, with light, while a huge Japanese umbrella floats slowly down from the invisible flies brilliant with its incandescent electric lights. The scene is one of rare beauty.

The Little Tycoon is a success. The Call says: "The Little Tycoon is essentially an American work, original in its conception, clever in its wording and sparkling with bright music. It is pleasant to witness so good a performance as that at Leavitt's popular new Bush-street Theatre last evening, heightened no doubt by the very large attendance, which filled all the seats with very little standing-room left, and what is more a fashionable house and warm-hearted assemblage comprising the upper-ten of our city. From the commencement of the first bars of the overture to the finale the production was credited a 'go,' popular, and pronounced something different from what has been seen for a long time on the stages of the different theatres. The author and composer, Mr. Willard Spenser, has produced a good comic opera, and merits the success which he has attained in the East and on his tournee to this Coast."

The Chronicle says that "The Little Tycoon proves a bright and amusing work," and classifies it as "a lively, kaleidoscopic entertainment, with a little of everything from a topical song to grand opera." It notices the company individually on their merits and states that it "works well together and everybody plays with enthusiasm."

The Examiner is not taken with the argument and the libretto of the "Tycoon," but talks pleasantly of its "charming numbers, which are liberally repeated," and says that "the pretty scenes, the pretty girls, and what was pleasant in the music attracted every one."

The Little Tycoon has only two weeks at the Bush.

Baldwin Theatre.

This is the last week of Sol Smith Russell in his new comedy, A Poor Relation, at the Baldwin. This is a regular well-constructed play in action and story of very different material from the sketchy work we have been accustomed to see this comedian in.

Mr. Russell is a natural comedian and a cultured and finished actor, and is credited with recording a line of successes with his new comedy. The play, though light in action and motive, is the best that Mr. Russell has ever appeared in, and he charms and delights his audiences with his natural pathos and humor so artistically blended. His support is good, above the average of the star comedians who visit us; Miss Merri Osburn as Scollops and Byron Douglas doing excellent work.

An elaborate production of Little Lord Fauntleroy, Mrs. Burnett's dramatic idyl that has achieved such a success in the East, will be next week's attraction at the Baldwin.

Seats now on sale.

Alcazar Theatre.

This is the last week of Youth.

Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies present the grand spectacular drama, Youth, with a strong cast and elaborate staging.

The Veteran Guard of California G. A. R., of which Mr. Grismer is an honored member, have volunteered to appear in the battle scenes. There is a touch of realism in this, as the "army" will be composed of men who have braved the dangers of the battle fields when their country most needed their services.

Phoebe Davies, Ethel Brandon and Fanny Young are the three around whom much of the interest of the piece centres, and they all play with force and feeling.

Mr. Grismer, as the hero, Frank Darlington gives us his best work; he is natural, consequently strong; his points are all telling and effective. The support is, as usual, excellent.

Next week's attraction will be The Duke's [illegible] and it will also be the last week of the

Orpheum Opera House.

Pastor & Cantelli's Madrid Spanish Opera Co. have been re-engaged by the Management of the Orpheum for their farewell nights in San Francisco. There is no question about the merits of this company or their thorough knowledge of the music and requirements of the operas in their repertoire.

To-night the gem opera, in three acts, Jugar Con Fuego (to play with fire).

Sunday matinee, Crispino E La Comare.

Sunday evening, La Mascot.

The specialty artists are: Wilson & Cameron, Australian comiques and grotesque dancers; the celebrated Donaldson Bros., contortionists; Frank La Mondue, the wire-walker; Dunbar Brothers, sensational aerial artists; La Petite Aimee, child artist; Dante Brothers, fire kings, and Miss Josephine Soltesz, mezzo-soprano.

The prices are 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Morosco's Amphitheatre.

Manager Morosco caters most popularly for this east-side theatre—his years of success attest that—and is indefatigable in his efforts to present his immense patronage with the best available dramatic attractions.

This week the attraction is the great sensational drama, entitled "The Wages of Sin," in which Mr. Darrell Vinton puts in the last nights of his engagement.

In the support James M. Brophy, W. J. Elleford, Miss Essie Tittel, Lottie Beaumont, Helen Harlow and the rest of the stock company, who are well drilled and play their parts always with tact and good judgment, do good work.

Mr. E. J. Holden, the young California actor, commences an engagement next week as Jacob McCloskey in that picturesque American drama, The Octoroon, with its startling episodes of Southern life.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

Eleven new stars at the Vienna this week: The Brothers Leo (Munis and Charles), the Stanley Sisters, the Buffalo Trio (sketch artists), Miss Effie Hull (soubrette and songstress), J. C. Miller (buffo vocalist and character artist) and Miss Jennie Mason.

The entertainment commences with the famous Yankee comedian, Wm. A. Mason, in Joshua Whitcomb, and ends with the only Conchita's original spectacular optical delusion comedy, La Salon du Diable.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

See programme announcement on this page.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

The new people for next week are: Hayes & Marion, song and dance artists; Prof. Gustave Peterson, necromancer and magician; Miss Florence Clayton, vocalist; Miss Kittie Lillian and Miss Jennie Haywood. Two amusing comedy sketches, The Gripsack and Next Door Neighbors, roundjoint the bill.

Wilson & Cameron's minstrels are underlined to follow opening the week of April 1st.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week a new melodrama by Mr. B. Frank Dearborn, entitled Fern, the Waif, will be the attraction. Mr. Dearborn comes from the East and his line of business is comedy.

Fern, the Waif, introduces many new and pleasing situations, also the author in the role of Ah Bing, the heathen Chinee, both author and play are well received.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Next week's attraction will be The Pearl of Savoy, with Mr. B. Frank Dearborn as the Commander.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

This week, the three Romalo Bros., wonderful acrobats; Adele Purvis, in a novel specialty on the swinging slack wire; the comedy sketch artists, George Wills and Grace Barron, and the charming vocalists and dancer, Miss Ida Chester, are the new attractions.

Manager Foster has arranged for an amateur night every Friday night, commencing March 22nd. Any amateur, male or female, wishing to show their ability can do so by giving in their names to the stage director. Prizes will be given to the best amateurs in his or her line of business.

The performance will commence every evening with Mr. Chas. Reese's comedy, entitled The $10,000 Beauty.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Full houses are the rule here.

The new people for next week are: The Stanley Sisters, Bertha Warring, Fannie Kemble and Tobin & Lord. Chas. Reese will produce another eye-opener, entitled Venus and Adonis.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

Nine new stars for this week, and all or them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well to the tastes of their patrons.

This week the new people are: The three Romalo Bros., sensational acrobats; Adele Purvis, the Queen of the wire, and the two Irish thrushes, Billy McCoy and Miss Minnie McEvoy.

Johnnie Cain's laughable skit, entitled The Little Fly Coon, with the entire Cremorne Co. in the cast, will be presented for the first time this week.

Manager Hallinan and his right bower, Ed. Homan, keep up a fine line of attractions for the Cremorne.

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaude- and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Tommy Morris, Charles Morrell, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

Miss Edith Morrison is the new face this week.

The entertainment commences with the entire company as the Original Orators, with an original grand finale. Charles Morrell with his African harp and Tommy Morris in another of his amusing sketches fill in the middle part of the programme. The laughable farce, Out of Work, follows after, the leading characters impersonated by Morrell, Morris and Matt Trayers, with a musical finale.

The seasonable farce, The Day We Celebrate, with all the company in the cast, concludes the bill and the evening's fun.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is a neat, compact minor theatre, and for many Colonel Sinn knocked a dude down in a Milwaukee hotel lobby on Thursday for making an insulting comment as his wife, Cora Tanner, entered the door.

Treasurer Maguire, of the Bijou, New York, has been presented with a very valuable setter dog by Senator Rogers, of San Francisco.

Tony Pastor has engaged the English specialists Millie Hylton and Ray and Volte for his traveling company.

Manager Rudolph Aronson has secured Sivak Gula's Austrian Court band of twenty executants for Summer-roof garden concert at the Casino, New York.

Mlle. Franciscina Paris, the premiere danseuse, has been engaged for next season by Bolossy Kiralfy.

M. Rubinstein proposes to give forty orchestral concerts in this country next Winter.

Enrico Tamberlick, the greatest tenor of this country, is dead, aged sixty-nine. He was the contemporary of Rubini and Mario, and has had no equal in such operas as "Il Poliuto" and "William Tell."

Harlem is to have a magnificent theatre at the corner of Seventh avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street. It is to cost a quarter of a million and will open for business next October.

Tony Pastor goes to Europe in June.

Harrigan and Hart are again friends, and will probably act together at Harrigan's new theatre next season.

Billy Birch, the popular and veteran minstrel, is to have a testimonial benefit at the Fourteenth St. Theatre, N. Y., on the 28th.

Through the energy of Mr. Morris Reno, the able manager of the symphony and oratorio concerts, N. Y., is to have a new music hall worthy of the name. It is to be located on Seventh avenue and Forty-seventh st., and is estimated to cost nearly three-quarters of a million.

A report from Cleveland last Monday states that Pat Rooney, while suffering from the effects of an overdose of "tonsil varnish," became so rampageous that Mrs. Rooney and company returned to this city, thus closing the tour. Mrs. Rooney is a pretty Jewess.

Von Bulow, the pianist, was lately accosted by an old but undesirable acquaintance, who greeted him with "How are you? I bet you don't remember my name." To which the pianist responded "You've won your bet," and passed on.

Carrie Turner is to play the heroine of H. C. Miner's Union Jack next season.

Nat Goodwin's success in A Gold Mine has been as quick as it is substantial.

A Midnight Bell has made such a hit at the Bijou Opera House New York, that Manager Rosenquest will give it an uninterrupted run for the remainder of the season.

It is whispered that Mr. and Mrs. Mc Kee Rankin will jointly star the country next season in a new play.

Leonard Grover, the playwright, is an enthusiast on aerial navigation and has invented an air ship that in the near future will astonish the world.

Jennie A. Eutace a member of one of the Madison Square Jim the Penman Companies, was lately married to Legrand

Effie Ellsler's Western tour opened with a boom at the Tabor Opera House in Denver March 11th to $845. After Denver she visited Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, and on April 8th will begin a 5 weeks' season in this city at the Alcazar where she is a great favorite. Frank Burbeck, late of the Possible Case Co.; O'Kane Hillis, recently with "Michael Strogoff;" Miss Judith Berolde, who played at Niblo's with Miss Claxton; James Wallis, who supported Miss Clayton at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, and Miss Jessie Stuart have been added to her already strong company.

Edwin Thorne's company has collapsed, and his two weeks at the Bijou will be filled by Harry Barrymore and a local company for the present week in "Stricken Blind," and W. F. Rochester and company for the week of April 1st in the musical comedy of "The Mustard Plaster"—that ought to draw; it has never failed to do it. By the way, is there nothing but doleful and dolefully named plays left for us? Howard Taylor's new play, "The Little Pauper," that was unfortunately put on last week at the Standard has prophetically met a pauper's fate, and lies dead on the stage of a dead theatre. Sol Smith Russell has hidden his geniality under the tribulations of "A Poor Relation," when he could have done so much better in something else. And in future at the Bijou we are to have the plays above mentioned. Give us some pleasantly titled plays, with something more cheerful in them.

"Now, That is What I Think, Don't You?" that R. E. Graham gets a great many recalls for his clever and cleverly sung topical song in The Little Tycoon.

The Irish harp embossed in gold on the back of Teddy's Japanese suit, when that sturdy Milesian gets himself up as a Japanese in The Tycoon, is a quaint conceit.

This week we have The Duke's Motto, which will close the Grismer-Davies engagement at the Alcazar.

After seeing Fanny Davenport as Tosca one can recall the saying of Edwin Forrest and apply it, without much stretch of praise, to this actress: "I act Hamlet and Macbeth, but by God, sir, I am Lear!" Miss Davenport acted Fedora and Camille, but she is Tosca.—[Eddy's Squibs.

Pauline Hall is no longer Mrs. White. She says marriage is a failure and wants no more of it.

The prettiest song of the day, "Love Comes Like a Summer Sigh," in The Little Tycoon, is charmingly sung by Miss Catherine Linyard.

Francis Wilson has been "fired" by Rudolph Aronson. Now both "comedians" are indulging in a war of words.

The question of the day—"Have you seen The Little Flycoon?"

Wesley Sisson Business Manager of Palmer's New York Theatre, has the Fauntleroy rights for Australia, and is going to send a company there at once.

Colonel John A. McCaull will sail for Liverpool next month.

Three centuries ago the first plays given in London were acted on Sundays "out of prayer hours."

Richard Stahl says that he will never again present one of his operas in New York. We have heard them all in little things by Offenbach, Suppe, Strauss, Flotow, Verdi, and Lecoq.

Robert Grau has again found a whole dollar and will take out an opera company.

Henry E. Abbey is complaining that Mr. A. M. Palmer has tried to get his stars away from him and that an attempt to open negotiations with Mary Anderson was begun. For such kind of work Mr. Palmer has an excellent man in Wesley Sisson, who is a slick Chicago lawyer.

John T. Sullivan returned from England and the Richard Mansfield company recently and forgot to bring with him either an English accent or an enlarged cranium.

Sarah Bernhardt will begin her season at the Varieties Theatre, Paris, on the 26th, in Dans un Miroir (As In a Looking Glass.)

The hugh bouquets which were wont to ornament the ledges of opera boxes in past seasons are conspicuously absent this year, and flowers are seldom carried, and, except perhaps a small bunch of violets or heliotrope, rarely worn at the opera. The new-

The Phœites are back from Australia and report that the Silbon company are only doing moderate business there.

The first Sunday baseball game of the season by the California League clubs comes off to-morrow at the Haight Street Grounds between the San Franciscos and the Stocktons.

The Comique is carrying a talented variety company this week. Miss Edith Morrison was the new star and she has made herself a favorite. Charlie Morrell is a great addition to the company. His banjo specialties are of the best. The Comique is always in the line.

The Vienna celebrated its 50th anniversary performance under its new management with a band parade and a full house.

Manager Frank Walterstein will leave shortly on an extended trip through the East and Europe. During his absence his brother will take charge of his interests at the Eureka Music Hall.

We are to have two out-door spectacular productions this Spring, something after the style of Kiralfy's Nero on Staten Island. D. R. McNeil will present the "Fall of Pompeii" at Central Park, and John F. Bragg produces Paine's spectacle of the "Siege of Sebastopol" on a lot near Golden Gate Park. "The Siege of Sebastopol" is to be given on a grand scale. The inclosure is 275x400 feet; the lake alone is 260x75 feet. 300 people are engaged in the production, and $1,000 worth of fireworks will be consumed every night. Three performances a week will be given, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The company come direct from Australia, and everything will be in readiness the last of April.

Nelson's Great World Show opens at the Orpheum Monday, April 1st, headed by the pyramid-building and pyramid-falling Nelson Family, now augmented to seven in number. Manager Pierce assures us that the company consists of a collection of talented artists in the specialty and vaudeville lines that have created a sensation in every city they have shown in, and says he wants the public on this coast to know that fact—hence his special programme ad in FIGARO. Read it.

Reilly & Wood's Big Show will open at the New Bush Street Theatre Monday, April 1st. This is indeed a great show. Among its many stars are the Vaidis Twin Sisters, whose wonderful performance upon the revolving trapeze has created such a sensation both in Europe and America. Miss Lizzie makes a leap from the dome of the theatre. She has accomplished the most wonderful dives of any artist in the world. In Seville, Spain, 165 feet; London, 150 feet; Hippodrome, Paris, 148 feet; Music Hall, Buffalo, 115 feet, and the Academy of Music, N. Y., 95 feet.

The bill at the Eureka this week has met with great favor. The ladies are heard to good advantage in well selected songs in the olio.

She—Henry, do you know what this day is? He—No. She—It is the anniversary of my marriage. Kiss me. He—But, my dear, we have only been married five months. She—I mean the anniversary of my first, don't you know. He—Oh!

Leavitt's New Bush Street Theatre.

Willard Spenser's everywhere successful comic opera success, The Little Tycoon; which has recorded runs of 403 nights in Philadelphia, 109 nights in New York, eleven weeks in Baltimore, four weeks in Boston, etc., is in its last week here.

The action of Little Tycoon occurs on an Atlantic steamer and at Newport; its characters are American. It is interpreted by one of the best of singing and acting companies on the stage, and its recorded runs attest its unrivaled popularity.

In costumes, scenery, and in stage effects the last act of The Little Tycoon surpasses any light opera on the stage. It is in this act that the famed quick transformation scene occurs from General Knickerbocker's drawing-room to the Japanese fete grounds. Done as if by magic. Flashing at once by the aid of electricity, with light, while a huge Japanese umbrella floats slowly down from the invisible flies brilliant with its incandescent electric lights. The scene is one of rare beauty.

The Little Tycoon is a success. The Call says: "The Little Tycoon is essentially an American work, original in its conception, clever in its wording and sparkling with bright music. It is pleasant to witness so good a performance as that at Leavitt's popular new Bush-street Theatre last evening, heightened no doubt by the very large attendance, which filled all the seats with very little standing-room left, and what is more a fashionable house and warm-hearted assemblage comprising the upper-ten of our city. From the commencement of the first bars of the overture to the finale the production was credited a 'go.'

All the papers have given it good words of indorsement.

—o—

Manager Leavitt presents another great attraction at his elegant new theatre next week in Reilly & Wood's New Big Show, a congregation of specialty talent that scintillates with stars.

Among the many attractions in the troupe are: The Valdis Twin Sisters in their astonishing aerial act, entitled "Trapezone Rotaire," and Miss Lizzie's great dive from the dome of the theatre, a thrilling and startling performance; the king of ventriloquists, Harry Kennedy, one of the best in his line living; Irma Fox, the magician, in a number of new and difficult tricks; John G. Sparks, the celebrated comedian, who was last here with Harrigan during his engagement at the Bush; and Pat Reilly, the Irish humorist, one of the funniest of stage Irishmen. The troupe has been selected with special care and is one of the best ever congregated together.

Baldwin Theatre.

An elaborate production of Little Lord Fauntleroy, Mrs. Burnett's dramatic idyl that has achieved such a success in the East, will be this week's attraction at the Baldwin.

The play needs no particular introduction; its fame has preceded it. Its pretty fancies and charming sentiments, and, more than all, its touching appeals to every mother's heart, have stamped it with the enviable die of great popularity.

Little Lord Fauntleroy will be played alternately by Wallie Eddinger and Flossie Ethyl, who are both highly spoken of, and the remainder of the company contains some excellent material.

Baldwin Theatre—Ovide Musin's Concerts.

Ovide Musin, the great violinist who created a furore when he was here before with Mme Trebelli, and received at his farewell concert an ovation rarely given to anyone, will give three sacred concerts at the Baldwin Theatre the next three Sunday evenings. In his company are Annie Louise Tanner and other artists in vocal and instrumental music, enumerated in programme announcement adjacent. He will have the assistance of a grand orchestra of thirty musicians, directed by August Hinrichs, Jr.

Manager Johnson announces the season tickets for orchestra and dress circle on sale only on the 26th and 27th at Kohler & Chase's music store. Sale of single night seats com-

Alcazar Theatre.

This week's attraction will be The Duke's Motto, and it will also be the last week of the Grismer-Davies engagement. Phœbe Davies plays Blanche, J. R. Grismer De Legardere, Ethel Brandon Zillah and Fanny Young the Duchess.

The piece is handsomely staged and will be given with all the accessories of music and dancing of the Gitani, and all the other stage effects that made the piece so popular when produced at the old California by Lawrence Barrett ten years or so ago.

Mme. Janauschek will follow the Grismers, opening in Meg Merrilies. The engagement is only for the week of April 1st.

Orpheum Opera House.

Pastor & Canteli's Madrid Spanish Opera Co. have been re-engaged by the Management of the Orpheum for their farewell nights in San Francisco. There is no question about the merits of this company or their thorough knowledge of the music and requirements of the operas in their repertoire.

To-night the romantic opera, in three acts, La Tempestad.

The opera El Proceso del Cancan and a grand concert will be the musical bill for Tuesday night.

The specialty artists are: Wilson & Cameron, Frank La Mondue, the wire-walker; Dunbar Brothers, sensational aerial artists, and the Dante Brothers, fire kings.

Nelson's Great World Combination, headed by the famed pyramidical artists, the Nelson Brothers, now increased to seven in number, open at the Orpheum next week. The company includes the Twin Brothers Wems, the Sisters Coyne, Neiman the ventriloquist, Griffin & Langan, Richard Pitrot and others.

The prices are 25 cents to all parts of the house; though a few reserved seats will be held at 50 cents. Matinees 25 cents all over the house.

The Battles of Vicksburg.

The grand panorama of Battle of Vicksburg is drawing crowds at the Panorama Building, corner of Eddy and Mason streets. It gives a grand view of both battles, the conflict at its height on the land and the bombardment from the river; with the correct positions of the engaging forces and the proper placement of the iron-clads in the bombardment. It is a great painting, and excels the Battle of Waterloo in graphic power and vivid reality. Destruction reigns on every side. The burning buildings, the bursting shells, the desperate charges, the hand-to-hand conflicts, and the dying and wounded, all depict with startling realism one of the hottest conflicts in history. Descriptive lectures of the battle every hour.

Morosco's Ampnitheatre.

Manager Morosco caters most popularly for this east-side theatre—his years of success attest that—and is indefatigable in his efforts to present his immense patronage with the best available dramatic attractions.

Mr. E. J. Holden, the young California actor, commences an engagement this week as Jacob McCloskey in that picturesque American drama, The Octoroon, with its startling episodes of Southern life.

The company are well cast in the piece, the most important characters falling to Miss Essie Tittel, Jessie Norton, James M. Brophy, J. P. Craig and W. J. Elleford.

In addition the Eclipse Genuine Colored Quartette will make their first appearance at this theatre in jubilee songs, negro dances and specialties, depicting old-time plantation life.

Vienna Garden Theatre.

Mr. A. Larsen, assisted by the able management of Mr. George H. Wood, the somewhat different comedian, has placed the Vienna in the front ranks of our popular family theatres.

The new people for this week are: Hayes & Marion, song and dance artists; Prof. Gustave Peterson, necromancer and magician; Miss Florence Clayton, vocalist; Miss Kittie Lillian and Miss Jennie Haywood. Two amusing comedy sketches, The Gripsack and Next Door Neighbors, round out the bill.

This presents a goodly array of talent in a diversified bill of attractions, by sketch, vocal and specialty artists.

See programme announcement on this page.

Business is getting from good to better and big houses rule.

Wilson & Cameron's minstrels are underlined to follow opening the week of April 1st.

Prices, 10 and 20 cents.

The People's Theatre.

The People's Theatre, 1342-1344 Market St., opposite Seventh, has been greatly improved in having its stage lowered, and in its supply of handsome new scenery from the brush of Chas. Morris.

This week's attraction will be The Pearl of Savoy, with Mr. B. Frank Dearborn as the Commander. Miss Lillian Lawrence will essay the role of Marie, the Pearl of Savoy, with good support from the rest of the company.

The People's has assumed a regular place on the theatre list. It has succeeded in making its claim heard, and the promises made by the managment on its re-opening have been faithfully kept.

Matinee on Sunday.

Prices: 10 cents; reserved, 20 cents.

Bella Union Theatre.

The new people for this week are: The Stanley Sisters, Bertha Warring, Fannie Kemble and Tobin & Lord. Chas. Reese will produce another eye-opener, entitled Venus and Adonis.

Willis & Barron, sketch team; Thatcher & Drew, Ada Clifton, Ida Chester, Burnell and Ned Barry present new specialties. The entertainment closes with Ned Barry's descriptive sketch, London Bridge.

Any amateur, male or female, wishing to show their ability can do so by giving in their names to the stage director. Prizes will be given to the best amateurs in his or her line of business every Friday evening.

The Bella Union is playing a large company, and they present a bill full of infinite variety.

Hallinan's Cremorne Theatre.

More new stars for this week, and all of them artists of more than ordinary merit, in a bill bill which has not a weak point in it. The managers of the Cremorne have catered well to the tastes of their patrons.

This week the new people are: Conlon & Dougherty, acrobatic song and dance artists; the great Bursell, the dancing queen; Senor Antonio Martinez, the famous Spanish dancer; Shannon and Miln, rough Irish comedians; Fanny Sheldon, song and dance artiste, and Young Glover (of Charleston, S. C.) and Jem Smith (of London, Eng.), the only one-legged boxers in the world.

The two Irish thrushes, Billy McCoy and Miss Minnie McEvoy, Maude Cleveland, Ruby Everett, Alice Hamilton, Flora Hastings and Mabel Harrison are still reigning favorites.

Johnnie Cain, the odd and funny comedian, contributes his specialties in a manner that brings down the house and the Cremorne plays

Original Theatre Comique

Managers Burns & Trayers' popular vaudeville house is a success. Everything is bright and new. The company consists of Marie Morina, Josie Mayfield, Miss Ravenna, Tommy Morris, Charles Morrell, and the popular comedians, Burns & Trayers, in a varied and entertaining bill of attractions.

The entertainment commences with a few Nonsensical Novelties, with an original grand finale. Charles Morrell with his gripsack full of fun and Tommy Morris in another of his amusing sketches fill in the middle part of the programme. The laughable farce, Sable Serenaders, follows after, the leading characters impersonated by Morrell, Morris and Matt Trayers, with a musical finale.

The laughable farce, Conglomeration, with all the company in the cast, concludes the bill and the evening's fun.

The Comique's company is a strong one. It is

Jumbo, the big elephant, is on his feet again. Barnum has presented his skeleton to the Museum of Natural History, New York. From the showman's point of view it is worth $500 a week for exhibition purposes; and yet Barnum gave him away, notwithstanding the fact that there could be no possible danger of Jumbo eating his head off now if he should ever fail to pay as a drawing attraction. Barnum must be getting a little "off."

Reilly & Wood's Big Show will open at the New Bush Street Theatre Monday, April 1st. This is indeed a great show. Among its many stars are the Vadis Twin Sisters, whose wonderful performance upon the revolving trapeze has created such a sensation here in Europe and America. Miss Lizzie makes a leap from the dome of the theatre. She has accomplished the most wonderful dives of any artist in the world. In Seville, Spain, 165 feet; London, 150 feet; Hippodrome, Paris, 148 feet; Music Hall, Buffalo, 115 feet, and the Academy of Music, N. Y., 95 feet.

Sacramento is to have a six-nights go-as-you-please race—running time from 7:15 to 11:15, four hours every night—in the old Pavilion building, April 2nd to 7th inclusive.
